CENTRAL ALUMNI HONORED

After serving an unexcelled record of 15 years as treasurer of the Indiana Academy of Science, Dr. W. P. Morgan, '19, head of I.C.C. 's biology department, was elected president of the Academy at its annual meeting held at Hanover College on Nov. 3. Dr. Morgan has been a member of the faculty of Indiana Central since 1919, during which time he has trained many able men and women who have taken positions behind teachers' desks, in laboratories, in hospitals, and doctors' offices. His former students are on the faculties of several state and municipal universities. Central is especially proud of the fact that all five of the men of the class of '50 who applied for admission to the I. U. Medical School were accepted. In addition to his work at Central, Dr. Morgan teaches science classes in the evening at I.U. Extension.

Indiana Central is honored by the election of Paul Milhouse, A.B. '32, D.D. '50, as Associate Editor of The Telescope-Messenger. Dr. Milhouse received a B.D. degree from the American Theological Seminary in 1937 and a Th.D. degree from the same institution in 1946. He has served pastorates in Illinois at Elliott, Olney, and Decatur First Church. He is the author of a number of books and articles, including Enlisting and Developing Church Leaders, Warner Press, 1946. Mrs. Milhouse is the former Frances Noblitt, M.131. There are 3 children in the home, Mary 15, Pauline 10, and David 8.

I.C. CHANGES BISHOPS

Indiana Central will miss the frequent visits of her own alumnus, Bishop Fred L. Dennis, but she will welcome as good friends and alumni Bishop J. L. Showers, LL.D. '17, and Mrs. Showers, who received the degree of Doctor of Humanity in 1950. Four of Bishop Dennis' daughters have earned degrees at Central and Joanne expects to receive hers in 1953. Fred, a son, has been a student here.

HELP WANTED

The hardest task in any alumni office is to keep addresses of alumni and former students up to date. At commencement time, 1950, this office had addresses of all 4-year alumni except four. They are Bryan Stewart, '24; Mabel Ashmore Hakam, '30; Clarence Blueler, '30; and James Alley, '36. Any one knowing the address of any one of these please send it to this office. Mail sent out to some others this fall has been returned. Please help us here also: Raymond Daniel, '30; Wm. Ingersoll Barkley '30; Mrs. May Messer Lanie, '30; John Rbt. Banks, '48; and Lloyd Coverstone, '50.

MUSIC, MUSIC, MUSIC

When visiting the General Conference at Dayton on Friday it was "music in our ears" to hear so many people praise the singing of Central's choir on the previous Wednesday night. The choir is doing well under the excellent leadership of Prof. Allan F. Schirmer, who specializes in sacred music. Central may be proud of her many alumni who have gone out to direct and sing in church choirs. Mrs. Ethel Gilliatt, B. Mus. '28, and a former instructor in voice of I.C.C., directs the choir of the First E.U.B. Church of Dayton, in which Virginia Aeppli Freeman, '31, sings. On the first Sunday night of the General Conference a number of groups of the church choirs of Dayton sang before the Conference. Mrs. Gilliatt was the only woman to direct a group.

Beulah Mae Shaw Long, '28, directs the Dayton Fairview E.U.B. Church, of which the Rev. Loren Stine, '28, is the minister. Esther Becker, B. Mus. '43, and teacher of voice at Central from 1932 to 1943, is directing a choir at Hempstead, Long Island. Joseph Ragains, '29, director of music in the schools of Kokomo, is directing the choir of the Methodist Church of that city, in which Darline Clements Ragains, '31, is Cont. on Page 3, Col. 2.
Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Years—yes, we are in a happy season of the year. We are soon to finish writing the history of Association will move forward toward a more definite program each year to aid high school juniors in supporting the Alumni Program, our officers, let me wish for each alumni a happy and successful year in 1951.

As each of us prospers and becomes active in supporting the Alumni Program, our Association will move forward toward a more definite program each year to aid our college. We can get proper information to high school juniors and seniors now to help them decide for Central as their college.

Send your letters, suggestions, news items, dues payments, change of address, and any other data to Miss Cravens, Executive Secretary. These are the little things that together add up to make us a better association.

The Lay Fellowship has a three-fold purpose. All alumni should adopt these same aims: to enlist all our church members and friends to send their young people as students, to pray daily for the college, and to give financial support.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all!

Your President,
Gordon France

FUTURE CENTRALITES

A most delightful and impressive ceremony was performed at the University Heights Church this fall, when Prof. Roy V. Davis, '25, assisted by Dr. Turley, christened 2 of his grandchildren, Janet Sue Davis, second child of Chester, '47, and Muriel Yeadon Davis, ex-'46, and Patricia Lynn Fisher, born July 19, to William, '50, and Ruth Ellen Davis Fisher. Michael Glen came to the home of Phillip, ex-'49, and Nancy Winebrenner McCracken, '49, on June 27. Randal Louis Kraft, born Aug. 9, is the brother of Timothy, 3 years, in the parsonage at Silver Lake, Ind. The Rev. Kenneth, '43, and Olive Black Kraft, '44, are the parents. Carl Wayne was the name given to the son born Aug. 5 to William and Patricia Harper Koons, both of the class of '49. Kenneth, '42, and Hallie Davis Sidebottom, '43, are the parents of Richard Allen, born November 26.

Word has been received of the death of Mychyle Wellington Johnson, A.B. '30; Ph.D., I.U., '36, at Durham, N. C., early in Oct. After leaving I.U., Dr. Johnson was research assistant in the department of genetics, Carnegie Institution. In 1942 he went to Duke University, Durham, where he was assistant professor in the department of biology at the time of his death. Earnest Wesley Emery, A.B.'15; A.M., I.U., '24; D.D., York College, '29, died at his home in Palm Springs, Calif., on Oct. 25, 1950, after three years' illness. Among Emery's many services to society was a term on the African mission field. He was president of York College and the Univ. of Omaha, Neb. After several years as field secretary for Indiana Central, he went to Palm Springs, where for four years he was head of the social studies department of the high school of that city. Clarence Sanchez, ex-'44, died Aug. 12, at his home in Alcalde, New Mexico. After leaving Central, Clarence studied at New Mexico Highlands University, Las Vegas. He served in World War II, then taught school in San Juan Pueblo, N. M.

I.C.C. DINNER AT DAYTON

The I.C.C. dinner held at the Dayton E.U.B. Church on the Friday night of the General Conference was attended by approximately 125 alumni and friends. Leolin Long, '27, welcomed the guests and acted as master of ceremonies. His wife, Beulah Mae, '28, accompanied the group singing led by Glen O'Dell, '31, and vocal numbers by Mrs. Gilliatt. A number of guests were introduced by Pres. Esch, among whom were Dean Ashcraft, Bishops Dennis and Showers, and Dr. Huffman, Pres. of the Board of Trustees. All four responded with speeches, very brief and full of wit, as was expected by all who had been privileged to hear these distinguished men before. Bishop Showers' challenge to the alumni of Indiana Central was such as to make them sit up and think of their relationship to the college.

ONCE TEAMMATES, NOW OPPONENTS

Two of Central's basketball team of last year, Harley Griffith and William McRath, are now coaching in neighboring high schools. Their teams are scheduled to play against each other soon. Bill has already received notice for induction into the Army. A third member of the team, Woody McBride, still an undergraduate (ex-'51) and a G.I., is now in camp at Fort Ord, Calif.
THE GENERAL CONFERENCE AND I.C.C.

The 2nd General Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church is now history. It was held at Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 10-20. They were busy days with much important business to be transacted. Every phase of the work of the denomination was given consideration.

The colleges of the church have reason to be thankful for the actions of the Conference. Those working with program and budget during the year preceding the Conference were aware of the vital importance of the colleges and of their need for increased support. The General Missions and Benevolence Budget presented to and passed by the Conference increases the appropriation to each of the colleges and seminaries. The annual appropriation to Indiana Central has been increased from $22,500 to $35,000. The new appropriation will become effective July 1, 1951.

It should be noted that this increase does not solve the financial problems of the college. Our operating budget is $260,000. In order to balance this budget we must raise approximately $80,000 each year in addition to tuition and fees paid by students and endowment income. Thus it will be seen that even with the increased appropriation the college will continue to need our loyal and generous support. With many of our young men being called into service for a two-year period the next two years will be particularly difficult for schools like ours. Alumni can be of great assistance to the college by encouraging students to attend. Competition for students during the next two years will be very keen. Every additional student that we can get will help us weather this difficult period.

Altho the days ahead will not be easy, the increased appropriation from the General Conference gives us renewed courage for increased loyalty and devotion to our school. The next four years should be the greatest in the history of I.C.C.

I. Lynd Esch, President
Indiana Central College

MEMBERSHIP DUES

Annual and life membership dues have been gradually, though slowly, coming in to your treasurer. The percentage of the members of each class who have paid life dues will be published in the next issue of the News, Feb. 1. Would you like to send in your dues before that date?

AN EDITORIAL

There is a great deal of difference between the true Alumni Booster and the alumni sympathizer. Many give lip service to the Alumni organization and to I.C.C. but never take the time to be a real booster for I.C.C.

Being a Central Alumni Booster means more than simply being in sympathy and agreement with I.C.C. and its program. Boosting signifies action, lifting, helping assistance. To be truly in accord with the words, Alumni Booster, one must be active and alert, taking every opportunity to talk, help, and promote I.C.C.

Do you talk I.C.C. to friends and young people? Do you attend I.C.C. functions, activities, and athletic events when possible? Do you keep in touch? Do you follow the teams? Do you give of your time and money to I.C.C.? As an alumnus are you really a Booster for I.C.C.???

singing. Wallace Decker, '47, director of music in the Greenwood Schools, is directing the Methodist Church choir there. Helen Thomas Robinson, '37, directs a number of choirs of the Speedway Christian Church. Eugene Mogle, '40, is minister of music and choir director at the First Meth. Church of Columbus, Ind. The choir of the Univ. Hts. E.U.B. Church is being directed by the chairman of Central's Music department, Dr. Hugo Marple. The members of the choir include Dr. Lynn, '25, and Mrs. Arbogast, Lavonne Thompson Coldren, '32, Delmar Huppert, '31, Mary Ellen Sprague, '32, Marilyn Cummins, ex-45, Wayne and Margaret Foster Newcom, ex-38, Helen Moon, '50, Gerald Boyce, teacher of art in I.C., and Mrs. Boyce, as well as a number of undergraduates of the college.
HOMECOMING AND HIGH SCHOOL DAY A SUCCESS

The weatherman cooperated to the fullest extent in making Homecoming and High School Day an outstanding success, Oct. 14. The sun shone the entire day and the temperature was so pleasant that many preferred to carry their luncheon plates to the campus rather than eat in the dining room. The football queen and her court were comfortable at the game in formals, unless they might have received sunburns. 1054 high school students and parents registered. 165 alumni and former students registered before noon, and it seemed that there were as many more at the ball game who did not register. The game, though close enough to be exciting, ended in victory. A good attendance at, and a good performance of, the play, "Peg O' My Heart," brought a perfect day to an end.

ALUMNI LUNCHEON

The weatherman cooperated again for Teachers Association and the Alumni Luncheon, which was held as usual in the Gold Room of the Hotel Washington. Each year it seems especially good to see alumni who have not attended recently. Prof. Schirmer of the music department entertained with two vocal numbers. Everett Ebbert, '36, new principal of the Anderson High School, gave the brief after-luncheon speech.

PERSONALS

'29 Genevieve Washburn Perkins is teaching in the Marshall, Illinois, schools, where she went after the death of her husband, Lon Perkins, who was teacher of band in Manual Training H.S. of Indianapolis. Her older son is now a student at Illinois Teachers College.

'31 Marvin Sibert has been employed for several years by the Spoon River Valley Schools, as high school coach, as high school principal of London Mills, Ill., and now as principal of a grade and junior high school, one of the new unit districts formed in Illinois. He received a master's degree in education from Illinois Western State Teachers College in '46 and has done further study at the University of Iowa.

'32 The Indiana University School of Music has announced the appointment of Maurice F. Shadley as Assistant Professor of Music and Coordinator of Public Music Services in that institution.

'35 The Bloomington Star-Courier of Nov. 4, 1950, carries a news article entitled "Henry Busche is New Music Teacher at University High." Mr. Busche is teaching Junior High music in the Univ. School and is helping with the band and orchestra. He received the M.A. degree in music from the Univ. of Michigan in 1945 and is now working on his Ph.D. at Indiana Univ. The last five years Mr. Busche has been teaching band and choir at MacMurray College at Jacksonville, Ill....Vaughn Arney, ex-35, has been teaching music in Marshall, Ill.

'37 Robert Liggett is Director of Student Teaching and head of the division of education and psychology at Canterbury College. He received his doctor's degree in education in June, 1950. In his home are two children, Larry Gene, 14 years, and Mary Lynn, 7 months.

Ex-'42 Florence Mae Kerkhoff is now Mrs. William H. Flodder and is employed as a chemist at International Harvester of this city. She has two sons, Dennis and Paul, 2 years.

'50 Harry Parkhill is employed at the National Lock Company of Rockford, Illinois.

GRIDMEN FINISH FIFTH

Successful in tripping only two conference rivals, while bowing to 1 and tying 1, the Central gridmen ended in 5th place in Hoosier College Conference standings. Victories were registered over Franklin and Manchester, while Hanover, Taylor, Canterbury, and Earlham all bested the Red and Grey. Anderson edged out with a 6 to 6 tie. Inadequate depth and experience in the line was posed as the possible answer to the gridder's mediocre showing. Added strength in both line and backfield are expected to place the '51 squad much nearer the top in H.C.C. standings next fall.
