GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY CLASS

As all of us well know, time has a way of slipping up on us. It came upon us here at Central this fall with almost shocking suddenness when we realized that the freshmen who were enrolling will make up the membership of the Fiftieth Anniversary Class of the College. Of course we had been thinking about our Golden Anniversary for some time and had been making plans for its celebration. But on the campus now is the first living link with that event. The class of 1955 is already here. The young people who will play the principal part in that historic commencement program as they come forth to receive their degrees in June 1955 have already begun their college careers. The Board of Trustees appointed a Fiftieth Anniversary Committee at its meeting in June and plans are beginning to materialize. More specific and detailed information will be coming to you as the different parts of the program are developed. All of us, with the freshmen now on campus, will be looking forward to June, 1955, and the Golden Anniversary of Indiana Central.

HOMECOMING AND HIGH SCHOOL DAYS

Homecoming is being held on ICC campus while this paper is in the process of being printed. High School Day will be Oct. 20. We are expecting it to be as much of a success as it was last year, the first time it was held in the Fall. All alumni, especially the teachers and pastors, will make an effort to get here with their young people who are of college age. The alumni in all their meetings have pledged themselves to direct all EUB young folks toward Indiana Central. Are you helping to carry out this pledge? May we see you on Oct. 20?

FACULTY CHANGES

The following members of last year's faculty have not returned for this year: Thomas Hout of the sociology department; Elizabeth Hert and Harriet Bunting of the English department; John E. Hill, instructor in speech; Mabel Shalquist, dean of women; Mary Colbert, piano, and Louise Hope, organ. Mary Huey of the home economics department has been appointed dean of women, and Leo Miller of the business department dean of men to replace Dr. Stoneburner, who is now academic dean as well as registrar. Dr. Kellogg, former academic dean, is devoting full time to teaching in the English department. Marvin Henricks, '39; B.D., Bonebrake Seminary, '41; graduate study Univ. of Minn. '39-40; teaching fellowship, University of Southern California, '41-42; I. U. summer '51, is teaching sociology and history. George Shirley, who after two weeks at Central in the fall of '50 was claimed by Uncle Sam, has been released and has returned as teacher of piano and theory. He comes from Missouri, where he earned his B.M. degree at Central College, Fayette, Mo. He was given a master of music degree from Michigan Univ. in June of 1950. He has also studied at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

MEMORIAL FUNDS

In the June 1 issue of the Alumni News there was an article concerning the I. J. Good Memorial Fund and the John A. Cummins Memorial Fund. Immediately after these funds were established by the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association the first contribution was made, to the I. J. Good Fund. The Class of 1926 at their reunion business meeting last June contributed $100 toward these funds, following the suggestion given in the June article. Further information concerning these funds will be coming later.
Greetings, Alumni:

As a new school year is starting, isn't it easy to think back a few years (or several) and recall the events and memories of our years at Central?

What does Central mean to you? How proud of your Alma Mater are you? If you are not proud of it and of its graduates, did you ever stop to try to find out why?

With the passing years, my pride has increased for Indiana Central and for what it means in the lives of its Alumni and present student body.

We should be proud of Central and then be loyal. How about it? Will you join with many others and resolve to be more loyal as an alumnus?

Let's all be more loyal and active from now on. It will surprise you what our association can accomplish if we double our active, loyal, membership.

Your President
Gordon France, '33

ALUMNI IN CHURCH POSITIONS

The newly formed conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, the Indiana Conference South, has chosen a Central alumnus as the Conference Adult Director, the Rev. Don W. Gorbett, '43, pastor of the EUB Church at Georgetown, Ind. Mr. Gorbett has already started on his duties and has sent to the Adult Directors in the local churches a letter and program to help them more fully understand their opportunities and obligations.

Another alumnus, the Rev. K. K. Merryman, '28, was elected superintendent of the newly formed Indiana District of the Indiana Conference South. He and his family now occupy the residence at 4210 Otterbein, Indianapolis 27, formerly occupied by Dr. Virgil G. Hunt while he was superintendent of the White River Conference.

Still another alumnus, Dr. E. Craig Brandenburg, '30, was elected superintendent of the Bedford District of the Indiana Conference South. He will continue to reside in Bedford, where he and his family have lived during his superintendency of the Indiana Conference of the UB Church.

ALUMNI CLUBS ACTIVITIES

The Muncie Area ICC Alumni Club has announced its first meeting of the year for Sept. 30 at 1:30 in the Fountain Square Church cabin on Road 67. This club has been active for several years and has done many fine things for ICC in addition to promoting fellowship among its own members. Other clubs are this year being activated or formed. This is a very interesting year for the college. Dreams of years are beginning to be realized. The President's Column only suggests what is being done to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the college. The groundwork is now being done for the promotion of a financial campaign in Indianapolis this winter for raising funds for a new building, or buildings, on the campus. A little excitement is in the air. The best way for you to keep informed about this and to enjoy the fellowship of other alumni and former students in your neighborhood is to meet together as an alumni club. In every region of Indiana of a twenty-five mile radius, in Illinois of a fifty-mile radius, are enough alumni and former students to form an alumni club. In many other states one or more clubs could be formed. Wouldn't you like to promote such an organization? And won't you volunteer to do so? In the alumni office, names of alumni and former students are filed geographically, as nearly as we can keep the addresses up to date. We can send you a list of names at any time. We will write and mail letters for you. If within reasonable driving distance, some one from the college will come to help with the organization of the club and the making of the constitution. Perhaps your first meeting might be at a time when Pres. Each might be in your locality for a speech or other meeting. Just write a letter to this office volunteering your service. Talk it over with other alumni in your community.

ANNUAL I.C.C. LUNCHEON

The I.C.C. Alumni luncheon will be held as usual this year at 12 noon on Friday of Teachers Association, Oct. 26, in the Bamboo Room of the Washington Hotel. In addition to the usual program of luncheon music, short talks by an alumnus and Coach Nicolas, there will be interesting information given by I.C.C.'s new director of development, Mr. Lowell Brammer, in regard to the imminent financial campaign for the college in the city of Indianapolis. Send your reservations early to the alumni office.

Earl Stoneburner, and Mr. Justin E. Marshall. Members of the Board contributed personally to a fund to be used for the purchase of individual awards for the members of Conference championship teams and invited Alumni to join with them in the project. For the second year the alumni have assisted in the orientation of the freshmen and transfer students. At the Saturday morning assembly Arbon Orohood, '42, teacher at Kingman High School, talked on "The Transition from High School to College;" Max Hoffman, '50, a student at I.U. Medical School, on "Scholastic Honors;" and Gordon France, '33, president of the Alumni Association and serving with Delco-Remy Div., General Motors, on "The Central Heritage." Those members of the local church assisting in the reception for the new students on Sunday night were nearly all ICC alumni. Local alumni are calling on the freshmen who live in the dormitories.

It is taken for granted that every alumnus and former student who has been reading the Alumni News knows that life membership dues is ten dollars and annual dues is two dollars. It is desirable that every alumnus and former student who has not paid his dues will do so soon. This is the only source of funds for the necessary expenses of the association. These expenses include the cost of publishing the Alumni News, of which there will be six issues this year, the salary of the executive secretary, stationery and stamps for sending out letters from time to time, and postal cards. These are only the most important items of expense. There are many other small items. Thus far all alumni and former students fare alike on the receiving end. Those who have not paid their dues are benefiting from the dues paid by others. Everyone wants to "pay his own way," but he is only negligent. Will you, if you have not done so, send in your dues soon? You profit by paying life membership dues. The association profits by your paying regularly your annual dues. The News will publish in the third issue a report on dues paid by classes and again in the sixth issue.

Nelda Elnora to Rhea and Neldon Black. The mother is the former Rhea Stephens, '38.
Born in August was Stephen Edward McBride, the third child of Robert, '48, and Luella Hart McBride, x'47.

Our football season unofficially got under way when the Greyhound varsity met a team composed of alumni and former students. The varsity defeated the alumni 11-6, but they knew they had been through a game. Plans are being made to make this alumni game an annual affair.

After a week of further practice, the team made a fine showing in starting out their bid for a Hoosier College Conference title by downing Taylor 11 to 7. The Taylor team, led by Don Grantz, scored first, but Central came back fast in the third quarter with two quick TDs to put the game on ice.
Coach Bartkiewicz has the makings of possibly the best team Central has fielded since we last won the Conference title in 1947. The reason for this strength is: Abie Carter, Dale Robinson, and Joe Hurrle in the line. All of these boys were All Conference linemen last year. Carter is a transfer student from Canterbury.
In the backfield, we have Bill Crowe, Dave Shaw and Bob Woods. All of these boys averaged better than 6 years a try in our first game.

Not to be overlooked is our cross country team, which is eyeing their second conference title. Art Bright, Joe Butterworth, Tom Hathaway, Dave Jones, Roy Turley, and J. C. White, the members of the team which brought Central their first title last year, are all back.
