Retired EUB Bishop Provides Lectures

Dr. J. Balmer Showers of Dayton, Ohio, retired bishop, has presented a gift to Indiana Central College to provide a series of three lectures each year on the Christian religion.

The net income from 500 shares of capital stock of the Third National Bank and Trust Company of Dayton is to be used for the lectures, intended to be of special benefit to ministers and pre-theological students but to be open to everyone at Indiana Central.

Dr. Showers lived at Indianapolis while he was bishop of the West Central Area of the EUB Church. After retiring in 1954 he returned to Dayton, his former home. He is a life member of the Indiana Central board of trustees.

The donor stipulated that each person chosen for the lectureship must be a distinguished scholar and recognized leader in the area of the subject of his lectures, and that his doctrinal position must be in accord with that of the EUB Church. The first lectures will be given this spring.

'26 Alumnus Plans Retirement

Russell Settle, AE26, after nearly 36 years with General Motors, has retired to his 80 acre farm on the north side of Indianapolis. There he plans to raise cattle and sheep as well as to experiment with both flowers and vegetables in a small greenhouse, which he will build. He also plans to do some traveling—to Florida, to Alaska, and perhaps to India with a friend, who has invited him to go along to build some churches there.

The Settles have four children, three of whom are married, and five grandchildren.

Of Russell's nearly 36 years with General Motors, 21 years have been with Allison Division of Indianapolis.

The 53-piece Indianapolis Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Victor B. Danek, presented its second concert of the season January 15 in Ransburg Auditorium. Featured on the concert were the sopranos Linda O'Dell Jones and Madelyn Ann Smith.

The orchestral portion of the program included the “Overture and Allegro” by Couperin-Milhaud and the “Soirees Musicales” by the English composer Benjamin Britten.

After the intermission Mrs. Jones was heard in Rachmaninoff's “In the Silence of Night” and the “Alleluja” from Mozart's “Exsultate, Jubilate.” Miss Smith's selections were “With Verdure Clad” from “The Creation” by Haydn and “My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice” from “Samson and Delilah” by Saint-Saëns. The sopranos then united in singing two duets: “Qui Est Home” from Rossini’s “Stabat Mater” and the “Alleluja” from Mozart’s second concert of the season January 15 in Ransburg Auditorium.

First Sutphin Lectures by Illinois Psychologist

Dr. O. Hobart Mowrer, research professor of psychology at the University of Illinois, was the first speaker to appear at Indiana Central College under a grant establishing the Samuel A. Sutphin lectureship in the humanities.

Dr. Mowrer was on the University Heights campus Thursday and Friday, November 2 and 3 for individual and group conferences, and he spoke at the 9:35 a.m. convocations each of those days and also at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The lectureship was made possible by a gift of $2,500 to the college by Mr. Sutphin, retired president of the Beveridge Paper Company of Indianapolis. He made the gift in appreciation of the services of a number of Indiana Central students whom he has employed to read to him in recent years because of his failing eyesight.

Through his interest in the students, some of whom he has helped to undertake postgraduate study, the Indianapolis businessman became interested in the college. He directed that the funds be used to bring to the college campus at least one lecturer each year to stimulate interest in the study of the humanities, which include languages, literature, philosophy and the fine arts.

Dr. Mowrer holds an A.B. degree from the University of Missouri, an honorary master of arts degree from Harvard University, and a Ph. D. in psychology from Johns Hopkins University. He has held research fellowships at Northwestern, Yale and Princeton Universities, and taught at Yale and Harvard before going to Illinois in 1948. During World War II he was with the Office of Strategic Services in Washington.

He is the author of five books and more than a hundred articles in professional and research journals. He is a member of the American Psychological Association, of which he was president in 1953-54, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association of University Professors, Sigma Xi and Phi Delta Kappa. He is a fellow of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology.

Attention, Reunioning Classes

The classes of '12, '17, '22, '27, '32, '37, '42, '47, '52 and '57 will hold their five year reunions on the coming Alumni Day, June 2. The class of 1937 will be celebrating its 25th anniversary. There are 55 members of this class. It is hoped that all of these can return to the campus on that day. Will all the members of those classes that are scheduled for reunions begin now to plan for June 2?

Central Gets New Telescope

A new telescope has been donated to Central's Noblitt Observatory by Loren S. Noblitt, who himself made the eight-inch refractor telescope as well as the six-inch telescope which the larger one replaces.

Mr. Noblitt spent forty-seven years in active service as a minister of the EUB Church and as a teacher of mathematics, physics, and astronomy, first at Indiana Central and then at Columbus High School and the Purdue Extension Center at Columbus. During many of these years he carried on teaching and pastoral service simultaneously.

He with his wife spends his winters in Florida. In the summer they live on R. R. 6, Columbus where he has maintained a drive-in “Community Observatory” on the large lawn of their home among the hills southwest of Columbus.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Noblitt studied at Indiana Central in the earlier years of the college, then went east and he was graduated with B.S. and M.S. degrees from New York University. He was a student of astronomy in Columbia University. Over a period of about forty years he has read all that has been written on the subject of grinding of lenses and the making of telescopes in the university and public libraries of New York and New Jersey. In the years up to the present time, he has ground and given the lenses and telescopes to six different schools besides the one at Indiana Central housed in the Noblitt Observatory.

Mrs. Noblitt, the former Minnie Walls, is an ordained minister and teacher, who taught French in Indiana Central in the late twenties.

The Noblitts have one daughter and son-in-law, two sons and a daughter-in-law, all of whom are graduates of Indiana Central.

Why Wait?
Recently a prominent state official in speaking before the alumni of the University of Pennsylvania said that those who have received the opportunity for higher education should be willing to contribute more than just taxes to colleges and universities. He said that the opportunity "imposes upon us a personal obligation to participate in providing similar or improved opportunities for those who follow us."

If this obligation is due a state university, supported to a large degree with tax money, isn't it more obligatory that alumni of a private institution, supported by the church and friends of the institution, repay over the years at least a part of their education. It is common knowledge that Indiana Central College and other such private institutions receive in tuition from each student only about half the cost of his education. Where does the other half come from? It comes from the supporting church and friends of the institution. These paid half the cost of their education of an ICC alumnus, not a member of the EUB Church, but a teacher with a good salary who said, "I don't owe Indiana Central anything. I paid my tuition, every cent." Grateful?

Recently a man was heard to say on the radio, "The three things most desirable by man are health, wealth, and happiness. Wealth is gained by effort. Happiness is a by-product of what we do for others. It comes from giving, not receiving."

May we earn some happiness by giving to the ICC Annual Roll Call?
You have received a letter from William Fisher, your alumni president, concerning the second "Roll Call," the purpose of which is to secure funds to increase faculty salaries. Responses are coming in but not fast enough. You are planning to respond, but have just put off doing so. Why not return your pledge envelope, accompanied either with or without a check? That will save your class agent's sending you another letter and save much work in the alumni office. Nothing will give you more pleasure than responding to the need of your alma mater.

Bailey and Hiatt Elected by Junior High School Section
New president of the Central Division Junior High School Section of the Indiana State Teachers Association is Louise Bailey, language arts teacher at Woodview Junior High, Marion County. She is shown here with past president Lloyd Hiatt, principal at Martinsville. These leaders and other section workers are to be congratulated on the special success of their section in the ISTA convention. Months of careful programming paid off with an overflow attendance and enthusiasm to match.

Mrs. Bailey is the former Louise Dragoo, B.S. in Education '50, and Lloyd Hiatt is an alumnus of '40, the last of the eight Hiatts who graduated from Indiana Central.

Prior to being elected to her current office, Louise held the office of secretary of the group, as did Lloyd.

Theologian Heads Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. Wayne K. Clymer, dean of Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Illinois was guest speaker for Indiana Central College’s Religious Emphasis Week, November 5 to 10.

Dr. Clymer spoke at three chapel sessions and four evening services. He also led three separate discussion groups for students who live on campus, those who live off campus, and those who are married. The over-all theme of his messages was “The Drama of Christian Living.”

During Religious Emphasis Week faculty members led discussions for five Tea and Crumpet Hours. These discussions centered around contemporary ideas in religion, science, sociology, psychology, and music.

Dr. Robert McBride, professor of philosophy and psychology, spoke on “Trends in Contemporary Religious Thought.” Dr. Robert Brooker, professor of chemistry, on “The Nature of Science,” Marvin Henricks, professor of sociology, on “Condition of Religion in American Culture”; Andrew Pickup, instructor of psychology, on “Psychosomatic Illness,” and Miss Colleen Johnson, instructor of music, on “Symbolism in Music.”

This week’s program also included morning meditations, a religious book display in the library, and discussions Tuesday and Thursday on marriage, especially interfaith marriage.

The evening services included a reception at the University Heights Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday, a song fest in Kranzert Hall Monday, a formal worship service in the church Tuesday, informal discussions with Dr. Clymer in the church Wednesday, a communion service in the church Thursday, and a dramatic presentation Friday.

Dr. Clymer is a professor of pastoral theology at the Seminary as well as dean. He earned his B.A. degree at Asbury College, M.A. at Columbia University, B.D. at Union Theological Seminary, and Ph. D. at New York University.

Do They Know?

When the alumni and other visitors come to the campus, they Oh! and Ah! and express delight at the new buildings, the athletic field, the parking lots, and the beautifully landscaped campus, but can they realize what other changes have taken place in the last fifteen years?

Do they know that: There are now 46 student organizations on the campus, each with a faculty sponsor and under the supervision of Dr. Parker Jordan, Student Coordinator?

Fifteen years ago there was in the main office one telephone with two extensions? Now there are five trunk lines with 75 extensions.

Then the maintenance department consisted of one man with student assistants and now there are nine full-time men employed besides many student assistants?

Then in the library there were 18,700 books and one professional librarian; now there are 31,500 books and two trained librarians, Edna Miller, ‘28, and Florabelle Williams, ‘49, and a full-time clerical assistant, Mrs. Rella Walden, ’36?

Then there were two full-time secretaries, whereas now there are nine, besides dozens of part-time student secretaries?

Now each residence hall has a trained social director?

The campus students are fed by a national catering service?

There are more students enrolled in the evening division than the day school?

Six new tennis courts just west of the north end of the football field are almost ready for use?

A spacious picnic ground with large oven and several tables has been placed under the tulip and maple trees north of Dailey Hall?

Northeast of the barracks is Esch Field, one of the best Little League baseball fields in the state, equipped with grandstand, bleachers and dugout?

They came from a region adjacent to Indianapolis and were sponsored by the School Music Association. The contests were for solo and ensemble in voice, piano, and strings on January 27; and for woodwinds, brass and percussion instruments on February 3.

Hounds Are Victorious

The Indiana Central Greyhounds have posted one of the most successful seasons in many years in basketball. Thus far the record is 16 wins—3 losses.

Tom Moran, a sophomore forward, is leading the team with a 20.3 per game average and promises to be a steady point getter in Central's last five Hoosier Conference tilts beginning February 6 with Franklin.

Last December the Hounds won their own Capital City Tournament as they posted victories over Marian of Indianapolis and William Penn of Iowa when Moran tossed in 50 points in two games to lead all scorers.

Ten days later the Central five was co-champion of their own Indianapolis Classic with Franklin College. Central defeated McKendree of Illinois 92-77 and Wilmington of Ohio 107-77.

Since that time Taylor University has been the only team to defeat the Hounds as it smacked them 92-79. However, a return bout will be played on Central's floor February 17 at 2:00 p.m.

Moran owned top season scoring performances with his 36 points over William Penn until Emmett Herr, a 6'4" senior center, led the Hounds over conference foe Anderson 92-87 as he scored 38 points and pulled down 25 rebounds.

However, Moran just recently scored 39 points to lead the Hounds over Millikin, Illinois, to regain the season high point mark.

Three overtimes have highlighted Central's season, all of which have been victories. They were a 92-87 conference win over Anderson, double overtime win over Marian 77-75, and a January 29th victory over Millikin 96-94.

Harold Boyd leads the team in rebounds, 12 per game, and is second to Moran in points with a 15 point per game average.

Thus far the Hounds own a 4-1 conference record and have a good chance to win it with five straight victories in a little less than two weeks.

For the first time this season Central played a Saturday afternoon game with Transylvania of Kentucky. This was Alumni "C" Association day and a crowd of about 750 turned out to watch Central win an 80-73 victory.

Another matinee will be played against Taylor February 17.

The wrestling team has posted a 4-2 dual meet record and placed third in a quadrangle meet at Central.
