Science Hall To Be Dedicated

The funds raised last year to match the Ransburg gift for the remodeling of the Administration Building into an art center are now being used to pay for the building of the Science Hall. This building is now nearing completion and trucks are bringing furniture and laboratory equipment to have the building ready for occupancy at the beginning of the second semester.

The building will be dedicated February 22. Details of the dedication will appear in the February issue of the ALUMNI NEWS. We will welcome you on that day to see this building and any others you have not yet seen.

At the time of the regular convocation on Monday, November 25, 1963, Indiana Central College held a memorial service for the late president of the United States. Following is the program:

Indiana Central College
MEMORIAL SERVICE for
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Organ Meditation .............................. Miss Colleen Johnson
(A period of quiet meditation)

Following this Memorial Service members of the student body, faculty, and staff were free to observe this day of mourning in their own way. The Central Council arranged for TV sets to be placed in the auditorium and the downstairs lounge so that all might view the funeral of the President.
College Dedicates New Pipe Organ

The new three-manual Moeller pipe organ installed recently in Ransburg Auditorium at Indiana Central College was dedicated at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, November 3, with a recital by Heinz Wunderlich, organist of the St. Jacobi Church at Hamburg, Germany.

The public was invited to the free concert and to a reception after the program. An appreciative audience filled the auditorium.

Wunderlich is professor of organ at the Staatliche Hochschule fuer Musik at Hamburg. His appearance at Indiana Central was the beginning of a tour he will make of the United States.

The organ is the gift of the late Harper J. Ransburg, Indianapolis industrialist, and Mrs. Ransburg, in memory of their daughter, Miriam Ransburg McLean. The organ was assembled this summer and completed near the time of Mr. Ransburg's death. He had been a member of the board of trustees of Indiana Central College, and he and his family have been generous benefactors of the college.

Born in 1919 in Leipzig, Germany, the city of Bach, Wunderlich inherited the rich tradition of German music. He started his music studies at 16, and at 20 passed an examination with highest honors in organ playing and improvisation. Until 1943 he studied under such great musicians as Karl Straube and David.

His musical career was hampered severely during the years 1943 through 1958 while he lived and worked in East Germany, and where officials often denied him permission to go on recital tours. Nevertheless, his name became known to many music lovers. In 1950 he played the complete works of Bach in a series of 21 recitals in the Moritz Church in Halle/Saale. He also won praise for his concerts on historical keyboard instruments of all kinds, in such places as the Handel Museum in Halle, the Bach Museum in Eisenach, and the Wartburg. He played the organ or the harpsichord at numerous Handel and Bach festivals for international audiences.

In 1958, when Wunderlich was finally able to start his free artistic career, he was appointed organist at the Church of St. Jacobi, where the world-famous Arp Schnitger organ of 1689-93 is under his custody. He also directs a large choir there, which performs mainly the works of Bach.

Letter From '25 Grad

The following excerpts of interest to older alumni are taken from a letter written by Carroll W. Butler, '25, and accompanied by a check in payment of his annual pledge to the Alumni Fund. "I was brought up in the West, came to Arizona Territory and was lead in the senior play with a recital by the Dads Association Meeting in Academic Hall officers were elected as follows: Alva Stoneburner, Pres.; Wm. Stroup, Vice Pres.; George Maple, Sec.; and Dale Robinson, Treas.

The Dads Association Luncheon was served to 87 in the South Dining Room at the same time the mothers were being served in the Nelson House.

The football game with Olivet resulted in Central's defeat in the last few seconds of the game. The family dinner in the Main dining room was served to 192 guests in addition to the students. Dr. Esch addressed the group, comparing the student body to the family.

The day ended with the presentation of Shakespeare's King Henry IV in Ransburg Auditorium.

Harlan Receives Degree

Ben Harlan, Jr., '57, received his master's degree in Business Administration from Butler University in June.

His wife, the former Mary Brock-Jones, '58, resigned from Arsenal Technical High School after teaching English for five years.

They spent the month of October in Europe touring England, Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France.

Ben is with the RCA Record Division, where he has been since his graduation.

Geneva Stunts

Plan ahead and mark these dates, March 19-20.

Central will present its variable talents both nights in Geneva Stunts at 8:00 p.m.

Remember: relaxation as opposed to work.

A.A.U.W. qualified list. Women graduates, including those who graduated with a recognized baccalaureate degree prior to A.A.U.W. listing, are now eligible for membership in the Association.

To qualify for individual membership please call the president of the branch in your locality. She, in turn, will send you the forms which you will need to fill out for membership and information regarding the various study groups and the program of the local branch.

The purpose of the organization, which is common to all branches, is to unite the alumnae of college and universities which have been approved by A.A.U.W. for practical educational work and to concentrate and increase their influence in the community for the solution of social and civic problems as well as to participate in and promote the policies and programs of the organization on the local, state, and regional level.

"Do you wonder why you have to assume this burden?" she asked. "If so, remember that the lives you live, and love, are possible because of other persons who assumed this burden and met responsibility.)"

Miss Adams appealed to her student audience to be interested and active in governmental affairs, "and your government will be the better for it. It takes us all to run the show."

After describing the organization and responsibilities of the mint, Miss Adams said: "All over the world the problems of money are probably the greatest concern. It is one problem common to all and of basic importance in every activity, large or small, to the rich or poor. The story of money is the history of the world. Poverty brings unrest. Economic stagnation and insecurity attract those who would 'take over.'"

Director of Mint Speaks at Convocation

Miss Eva B. Adams, director of the U. S. Bureau of the Mint, spoke in Ransburg Auditorium October 18 before the student body, faculty and visitors. She said that permanent solution of the world's problems probably will depend upon the present generation of college students and their contemporaries.

Author, Poet, Educator
Speaks

Dr. Jesse Stuart, well-known Kentucky educator, spoke at Central's morning convocation October 25. Students and visitors gave rapt attention to his account of a poor boy's struggle to get an education in a backwoods Kentucky community and in colleges where he could work for his maintenance.

He was born in Greenup County in eastern Kentucky, where he still lives with his family. He was graduated from Lincoln Memorial College and did graduate work at Vanderbilt University and Peabody College.

His teaching experience has been varied, from that of a teacher of all eight grades in a one-room country school, a high school teacher, a principal of both a county and a city high school to superintendent of both a county and city school system. His efforts were always to improve the educational opportunities of the youth. He has taught in Kentucky, Ohio, and at the University of Nevada. He most recently taught at the American University of Cairo, Egypt.

He has traveled in many parts of the world for the United States State Department.

Among his some 25 books, 297 stories, 1700 poems and other articles are Taps for Private Tassev, which sold more than a million copies, The Thread That Runs So True, an autobiography, and The Man With the Bull Tongue Plow, a collection of delightful sonnets which grew out of his experience on the farm.

Flute Soloist With Orchestra

The Indianapolis Civic Orchestra gave its first concert of the 1963-64 season in Central's Ransburg Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Monday, November 18.

Guest soloist was Kyril Magg, 18-year-old flutist from Bloomington, Indiana, who won the 1963 National Federation of Music Clubs award and the Maria Morrissey Keith scholarship award.

Conductor was Dr. Victor B. Danek, chairman of the Music Department at Indiana Central.

Copied From the Sierra Leone Outlook

"It was an exciting afternoon on the 4th day of May, 1963, for residents of Rotifunk, when the Hospital Staff, 'Medico XI' met with the E.U.B. School Staff team on their playing grounds for an interesting football match as a special welcome in honour of Dr. Moses M. Mahoi.

"Long before the game started, over two hundred football fans from all sections of town had assembled on the field for the occasion.

"The guest of honor, M. M. Mahoi, M.D., took the kick-off and to the delight of all attendants, an enthusiastic game was in progress, which ended in a defeat for the hospital team, 'Medico XI.'

"After the match, a grand reception was held by the members of the staff in the new clinic hall for Dr. Mahoi, who is now a member of the Rodifunk Hospital staff.

"Mr. L. S. Kamara having introduced Mr. G. S. Carew as chairman of the reception, the Reverend W. B. Challe led the group in a prayer of thanksgiving for Dr. Mahoi's safe arrival.

"Members of the Hospital staff expressed congratulatory sentiments and pledged their fullest cooperation with Dr. Mahoi.

"He then mentioned his appreciation for all that was done to welcome him back, and said that he looked forward to hard work with his brethren for the good of Sierra Leone."

(From Mahoi graduated from Indiana Central with the class of 1960. From Central he went to study at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Then he studied pediatrics at Children's Hospital for Children at Detroit. In September, 1962, he went to London, England, to begin a five-month course leading to a diploma at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. From his study in London he went to serve at the E.U.B. Mission Hospital, Rotifunk, Sierra Leone, West Africa.)

College FM Station to Carry Met Operas

The weekly broadcasts of the Metropolitan Opera this season will be carried for the first time by WICR-FM, the Indiana Central College radio station. It operates on 88.7 megacycles.

This will be the 32nd year for the operation of the Metropolitan Opera radio network. The first program will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, December 7, and there will be one each Saturday through April 18. Verdi's "Aida" will open the series. The 21-opera series will include compositions by Wagner, Massenet, Mozart, Gounod, Bellini and Tchaikovsky.

Veteran announcer Milton Cross, who has not missed a single Metropolitan Opera radio-cast since the first one on December 25, 1931, will be at the microphone to guide the connoisseur and the casual listener through each program.

Nursing Director
Recognized

Miss Virginia Sims, director of nursing at Indiana Central, has been appointed to the Board of Review for Associate-Degree Programs by the administration of the National League for Nursing. She will serve a 3-year term.

Indiana Central instituted an associate degree program in the fall of 1959. The college's program is conducted in cooperation with Community Hospital.
Central Grads Win Scholarships

Three June graduates of Indiana Central College have been awarded scholarships or fellowships for advanced study leading to graduate degrees and at least four others have been admitted to professional graduate schools.

Lahai Sogbandi of Kangama, Kono, Sierra Leone, has been awarded a scholarship by the government of his West African homeland to study at Laval University, Quebec City, Canada. He will receive all expenses toward earning a master of arts degree in French Language and Literature. At Indiana Central he majored in French and history. Upon completion of his graduate studies, Sogbandi plans to return to Sierra Leone to teach French. He came to Indiana Central in 1959 from Sierra Leone, where he graduated from Albert Academy at Freetown in 1951. The preparatory school is one of several educational institutions operated in that land by the Evangelical United Brethren Church, to which Sogbandi and his family belong. His parents (his father is now deceased) lived on a farm near Kangama in the province of Kono.

Richard Hughes of Chesterton, Indiana, a ministerial student, received $1,500 from Walker Scholarship Fund of Minneapolis to study philosophy and theology at Boston University. He was a philosophy major and graduated with honors from Indiana Central June 2.

James J. Miller of Portland, Indiana, has been granted $2,000 by Ohio University, at Athens, for advanced study there. He also majored in philosophy and graduated with honors. At Ohio University he will be a graduate assistant.

Joseph W. Rankin of Muncie, who majored in history and political science, has entered the School of Law at the University of Miami, Florida.

Larry Thompson of South Bend, son of Dr. John Thompson '29 and Faye Findley, '30; Eric C. Wilson of Mishawaka, son of Rev. Wilbur C. Wilson, '38; and Errol L. Matthews of Indianapolis have been accepted by the Indiana University Medical School. All will be working toward M.D. degrees. Matthews and Thompson are honor graduates.

Taylor Goes to Liberia

Gilbert Taylor, '58, a music major and a former director of the Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church Youth Choir, recently began a three year term at the Todee Mission Private School in Monrovia, Liberia, where he will serve as teacher and consultant.

The Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations named Mr. Taylor to the newly created position in August. He will do extensive work in the area of music.

At the time of his appointment Mr. Taylor was continuing graduate study in education and music at Indiana University. He is a former teacher at Indianapolis School 5.

Art Professor Wins Exhibit Prize

Professor Gerald G. Boyce, chairman of the Art Department at ICC, received the $150 Herman C. Kranzert top award at the fall exhibit of the Indiana Artist Club.

His prize-winning oil painting, “Madonna,” was on exhibit at the L. S. Ayres & Co. auditorium in Indianapolis until November 2, when it was turned over to a private citizen who purchased it from Professor Boyce.

Central Hosts Nurses

Fifty high school girls interested in careers as nurses were guests of Central's Department of Nursing and Community Hospital Thursday and Friday during the state teachers' convention.

After registering and having lunch, the girls spent the afternoon at Community Hospital. Miss Caroline Hauenstein, executive secretary of the Indiana State Board of Nurses' Registration and Nursing Education, addressed the group at a banquet in the college dining room in the evening.

Friday morning they saw a movie on nursing careers and talked with Miss Virginia Sims, director of the Nursing Department, at Central. They also attended the student convocation, at which they heard Dr. Jesse Stuart, well-known author and educator, speak. The remainder of the morning was spent in visiting nursing classes on the campus.

The Nursing Department at Central and Community Hospital has been in operation four years and has graduated three classes with a total of 50 students. The college and hospital offers a 21-month program in nursing and prepares students to take the Indiana examination for registration as a nurse.

Member of Court Chosen as Queen

Nancy Waters, senior, a member of the Campus Queen's court, was crowned as Homecoming Queen between halves of the Greyhound-Chicago Illini football game October 12. She is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Green, a high honor evening student of Acton, Indiana.

Dr. Esch Heads Indianapolis Church Group

Indiana Central President Esch has been elected president of the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis for 1963-64. The federation includes members of the major denominations in Indianapolis and surrounding Marion County. Dr. Esch has been vice president of the federation.

Students' Who's Who

Thirteen Indiana Central seniors will be listed in the 1964 edition of WHO'S WHO among STUDENTS in AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES and COLLEGES.

They were chosen for this distinction by a faculty committee who considered the students' scholastic standing, their participation in academic and extra-curricular activities, their general citizenship and service to the college, and their promise of future usefulness to society. The Centralites honored are Kathleen Boger, Auburn, Indiana; Joyce Brittenham, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Joan Delle Brown, Camlachie, Ontario, Canada; Rebecca Coombs, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Karen Dornfield, Indianapolis; Elizabeth Gilmore, Anderson; John Houlihan, Springfield, Illinois; David Huffman, Kewanna, Indiana; Jack Johnson, Georgetown, Indiana; Steve O'Malley, Indianapolis; Carol Carlson Turley, Logansport; Nancy Waters, Acton; and Malinda Wiles, Paxton, Illinois.

Canadian Players Present Ibsen and Shakespeare

The Canadian Players visited Indiana Central College November 8 and 9 for the fourth year, giving two productions for the first time—one Ibsen and one Shakespeare.

The celebrated actors from Toronto, Ontario, presented “An Enemy of the People,” by the Norwegian playwright, Henrik Ibsen, Friday night as the opening number of the college's sixth annual Artist Series.

Then, as a special attraction they staged Part I of William Shakespeare's "King Henry IV" Saturday night. This was not included in the Artist Series, but season ticket holders had a reduced rate.

The other numbers on the 1963-64 series are: Joseph Fuchs, American violinist, December 6; Odetta, popular folksinger, January 17; Harry Golden, editor, writer and humorous lecturer, February 14; and Orchestra San Pietro, a chamber music group from Naples, Italy, directed by Renato Ruotolo.
Wedding Bells

The Reverend Wayne S. Shipley, ’52, and Martha Blackburn of Alexander City, Ala., were married June 29 in the Chapel of the Holy Spirit in New Orleans, Louisiana. After a honeymoon in Mexico they took up residence in Decatur, Illinois, where the Reverend Shipley is curate of St. John’s Episcopal Church and chaplain to Episcopalians at Millikin University.

Mrs. Shipley is a psychiatric social worker at the Decatur Mental Health Clinic. She received her master’s degree in social work at Tulane University, New Orleans, in June.

The following excerpts are from an article in The Indianapolis Times of August 23 written by staff reporter Dennis Donahue:

“Lahai Sogbandi, 30, left his home town of Kangama, Sierra Leone, in January, 1959, and came to Indiana Central to study French and literature.

“His fiance, Olympia Pabsgarnorn, whom he met during her high school days, remained in Sierra Leone. Both are graduates of Evangelical United Brethren high schools.

“The next 4½ years Sogbandi worked most of his way through Indiana Central while maintaining a “B” average.

“The Sierra Leone government awarded Sogbandi a full scholarship to continue his studies in French at Laval University, Quebec, Canada.

“Sogbandi saved money from his work here and Miss Pabsgarnorn worked at home. Together they accumulated enough money for her steamship fare to Norfolk, Virginia, and her train fare to Indianapolis.

“The marriage is set for 5 p.m. tomorrow in First United Lutheran Church, Indianapolis. The wedding will be in traditional American style... A reception at the church will follow the wedding.”

Several of Central’s faculty and staff with their wives attended the wedding. Among other attendants at the wedding was Paul Bangura, Sierra Leone, best man. From the time of Miss Pabsgarnorn’s arrival in Indianapolis until her wedding she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bangura, who live in one of the student apartments. Bangura is a senior in Indiana Central majoring in biology.

The “Young” Family Achieves

William L. Young, ’29, Superintendent of the North District of the Rocky Mountain Area and living in Aurora, Colorado, has a widely scattered and interesting family.

Betty is the wife of Daniel J. Rothenberger, M.D., ’40, of Redlands, California, and the mother of three children, one of whom has attended Indiana Central.

James, ’52, received his BS and MS in Industrial Education from Stout State College, Wisconsin. His wife is the former Virginia Coldren, ’51. He is now associate professor in the Department of Industrial Construction Management at Colorado State University, Ft. Collins, Colorado. After teaching high school manual arts, he was for seven years associated with an architectural firm in Eau Claire, Wisconsin. His teaching now concerns the kind of work he did at Eau Claire—liaison between architect and the contractor on major construction jobs. There are one daughter and two sons.

Virginia, AB54 and RN Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, is the wife of the Reverend Bruce Hilton, Editor of Youth Publications of the EUB Church. She is busy caring for her busy husband and two sons and writing teachers’ helps for Children’s Workers and EUB publications. Her favorite hobby is traveling and mountain climbing, and her chief extra activity in Women’s Society of World Service.

John R., AB59, was granted the Master of Science degree at commencement exercises at Denver University in June. He teaches biology in one of the modern schools specially built for the new team-teaching concept and is head of his department. His wife is the former Lois Kirkham, BS55. They live at 620 Dartmouth Trail, Fort Collins, Colorado.

Toenjes Advertising Manager

John C. Toenjes, a 1963 Evening Division graduate, has been named advertising manager of the Deerfield, Illinois, REVIEW, a weekly publication of the Highland Park Company and one of the North Shore Group Newspapers.

Toenjes went to Deerfield following 17 years with the Indianapolis Times, a Scripps-Howard newspaper. Graduated from Shields High School in Seymour, Indiana, he earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration in ICC’s Evening Division.

He, with his wife and four daughters, lives at 208 South Highland Street, Mt. Prospect, Illinois.
Fall Sports

Tuesday, November 19, the fall banquet was held and brought to a close fall sports for 1963. During the evening the tennis, football, and Hoosier College Championship cross country teams were honored.

The tennis team tied for third in the HCC and had a 5-2 overall record for the season. Jim Hull of South Bend was named captain for the 64 season.

Vasco Walton was selected by his teammates as most valuable football player. Through his system of points earned during a season, Coach Velez selected Dave Scheib and Tom Patterson most valuable backs; John Koontz was selected as most valuable offensive lineman and Dave Weber most valuable defensive line. Walton was also most valuable defensive back, making 105 tackles, 64 assists, 5 pass interceptions and 2 fumble recoveries, one run back for a touchdown. Scheib was leading scorer with 80 points and shared the leading ground gaining with Patterson.

The Hounds won 3 and lost 6 and were 2 and 3 in conference. Four Greyhounds were placed on the HCC All Conference Team. They were: Vasco Walton, John Koontz, Dave Weber and freshman Bruce Quinn, a 138-pound line backer. Dr. Charles Dill, an ICC graduate, was awarded a special trophy from the football team as a token of appreciation for service rendered.

Coach Bright's cross country team turned in another fine season and won the HCC meet at South Grove. The Harriers made a fine showing at the Little State Meet by placing fourth behind Valparaiso, DePauw and Earlham.

John Jarosinski was selected as the most valuable runner and Wayne Mozingo was named most improved runner and honorary captain for the next season.

Christmas Music

The Chapel Choir, joined by the String Orchestra, will present a program of Christmas music on the afternoon of Sunday, December 15, at 4 p.m. The program will be given in Ransburg Auditorium and is open to the public without charge.

Music which is somewhat out of the ordinary will be presented for the Christmas season and should be of interest to many who like something a little different than the familiar carols. Two works will be sung, one, a Cantata, “The Infant Jesus” by Dietrich Buxtehude, accompanied by the String Orchestra and directed by Dr. Victor B. Danek, chairman of the Music Department.

The second work will be “A Ceremony of Carols” by Benjamin Britten. This difficult work was written for women’s voices. It will be directed by Prof. Farrell M. Scott, and accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Munger, both of the Music Faculty.

Christmas Carol

God bless the master of this house,
The mistress also, And all the little children That round the table go, And all your kin and kinsmen That dwell both far and near; I wish you a Merry Christmas And a Happy New Year.

The Strangest Thing

Somehow God weaves the strangest things
Into a pattern fair.
He took an angel song, a star,
A Hebrew peasant pair,
Some shepherds on Judean hills,
And unknown wise men three —
A stable cold and dark and damp,
A manger 'neath an inn—
And now—
A weary world kneels hopefully
Before the Babe of Bethlehem
