Music Department Expansion Planned

Indiana Central College is happy to inform its alumni that steps are being taken to expand and improve the music department. Mr. Lowell Boroughs has recently been appointed chairman of the music department and will conduct the band and orchestra.

Mr. Boroughs is a graduate of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and a former member of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. He is a former member of the National Music Camp, Interlocken, Michigan and member of the Phi Beta Mu, national honorary band masters fraternity.

History Head Earns Ph.D.

Roland T. Nelson, associate professor of history at Indiana Central College and acting chairman of the department, received the degree of doctor of philosophy at the December convocation at the University of Chicago.

He completed his studies in American religious and intellectual history, and his dissertation concerned a study of the fundamentalist controversy in American churches. This involved considerable travel and research in libraries and archives, including the Library of Congress in Washington, and collections at Rochester, N.Y., Chicago and Minneapolis.

ternity. He has conducted many music festivals and clinics and his organizations have attained national prominence in performing at state and national MENC (Music Educators National Conference) meetings.

Construction on the Ransburg Fine Arts Center is nearing completion. On the third floor there will be new classrooms, music faculty studios, and practice rooms. The practice rooms and studios have new pianos, new furniture, and nylon wall-to-wall carpeting. The second floor will be devoted to offices, art classrooms, and music organization rehearsal facilities. The first floor will have classrooms and offices, in addition to a 150-seat music recital hall.

Mr. Boroughs has announced that Indiana Central will offer something new this year. A summer music camp and workshop is being scheduled for high school students from June 11 through 15, 1965. It is to be held on campus and will include a band, a choir and a piano workshop. The piano workshop will be directed by Dorothy Munger. Mrs. Munger has had wide experience as a soloist with major symphony orchestras throughout the country and has accompanied outstanding instrumental and vocal artists. She is at present official pianist with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. The choir workshop will be directed by Professor Farrell Scott. Mr. Scott has appeared as soloist with many major Symphony Orchestras and is former conductor of the Indianapolis Symphony Choir. The band workshop will be conducted by Professor Boroughs.

The camp will be climaxed by a combined choir and band concert to be given in the Ransburg Auditorium on the Indiana Central College campus, Tuesday evening, June 15. As a special added attraction there will be a guest soloist with the band, the world-renowned saxophonist, Sigurd Rascher. Mr. Rascher is thought by many to be the outstanding saxophonist of our time. He has appeared with most of the major symphony orchestras in the world.

This past semester “The Messiah” was given on December 8 by the combined choirs of Indiana Central College and Southport High School orchestra, Steven Argyselog, conductor, and special Christmas music by the Southport High School choir, William Schmafeldt, director. The main portion of the program was devoted to an hour’s rendition of excerpts from “The Messiah,” conducted by Professor Scott, with Colleen Johnson, Assistant Professor of Music, at the organ.

On December 13, 1964, the newly formed Indiana Central College Wind Ensemble, conducted by Mr. Boroughs, gave their first concert of the year. The program also featured the well-known Indiana Central vocal group, the Centralaires. During the semester break, January 30 through February 6, the college choir, directed by Professor Scott, was on tour and gave programs in several EUB churches in both Indiana and Illinois.

Several members of the faculty, who are also members of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, an teaching special non-college as well as college students, and lessons are available in most music performing areas.

Our excellent faculty, new facilities and equipment are but some indication of the expected growth in the music department. Mr. Boroughs invites the Indiana Central alumni to refer anyone who might be interested in the music program to contact him directly for further information. They should write Mr. Boroughs, in care of the music department.

ICC Growth

Taken from THE SPOTLIGHT, a Weekly Newspaper serving Indianapolis Southside.

There are a lot of ways to judge a college’s growth. We can tell that Indiana Central College is growing even if we never scanned a single growth statistic. All we have to do is watch the annual homecoming parade down past our office each year. This year’s parade of floats and cars was the biggest and best yet! . . . The Southside should be proud of the great growth Indiana Central College has had in recent years. It is only fitting and proper that such an institution of learning should be located on the booming, exploding Southside. Too much credit cannot be heaped on the shoulders of men such as Dr. I. Lynd Esch, who has done a marvelous job since he came to Indiana Central. At its present rate of growth Indiana Central is certain to be a factor in higher educational circles in the central part of Indiana.

College Parents Hold Elections

The Dads’ Association reelected officers and the Mothers’ Association chose new leaders at the fall Dads’ Day at Indiana Central College.

The Mothers’ officers are Mrs. George Maple, Speedway, president; Mrs. Fred Major, Hartford City, vice-president; and Mrs. Maurice R. Mitchell, Beech Grove, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Maple has two sons in Indiana Central—Steve, a junior, and Robert, a freshman. Mrs. Major’s son, Leigh, is a sophomore. Mrs. Mitchell has two daughters in ICC—senior Marva and sophomore Connie.

The officers reelected by the dads were Alva Stoneburner, 4115 Otterbein Avenue, president; William R. Stroup, 1136 Banta Road, vice-president; George Maple, the husband of the Mother’s Association president, secretary; and Dale E. Robinson, 4031 South State Avenue, treasurer.

Stoneburner is the father of Michelle (Mickey), a junior coed; Stroup, of Joyce, a senior; and Maple, of Steve and Bob. Robinson is assistant director of admissions.
Report On Alumni Aid

The figures listed below require a bit of explanation. During the recent Capital Campaign, Alumni Roll Call (for teachers’ salaries) was not stressed. The Capital (building fund) effort, at least among alumni, was terminated last spring by the Alumni Association, having decided that the emphasis in the future would be on Annual Roll Call. However, alumni who enrolled as Fellows are now counted as Roll Call participants.

Some alumni are contributing to Roll Call and also paying on their Capital (building) pledges. Others are only completing payments on the latter pledges.

In any case here are the figures from July 1, 1964, to January 25, 1965:

- No. of Contributors: Cash Paymnts
- Annual Roll Call: 368 $5,233.00
- Fellows (alumni): 22 2,165.00
- Capital (building): 144 11,089.00

The figure 144 indicates those who made only capital pledge payments. The $11,089, however, includes their payments plus that of alumni who also gave to Roll Call.

There are over 3,300 living graduates of Indiana Central College, but so far this year only 16% have contributed anything to the college.

It should be of interest to alumni that recently alumni contributions moved into first place among sources of voluntary support of college and universities in the United States, reaching a high of 24.2%, supplanting gifts of nonalumni individuals. Contributions from business and industry ranked fourth.

Indiana Central depends upon voluntary contributions entirely to supplement tuition and fees, which account for about half the cost of education.

Alumni support is an important factor in meeting the needs of a new day. Have you shared with others in this great enterprise for youth? There is still time to do so.

The world is so full of a number of things I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Southport High and Central Choirs Combine

The Music Departments of Indiana Central College and Southport High School united to present a Christmas concert which reached its climax with George Frederick Handel’s Oratorio “The Messiah.”

The concert was given at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 6, in the College auditorium and was open to the public without charge.

Participating were the high school’s 35-piece Symphonette, directed by Steve Argyel; its Concert Choir, directed by Bill Schmalfeldt, and the Indiana Central College Choir, directed by Farrell M. Scott.

Soloists were Elaine Norwood, soprano; Helen Woodr ‘46, contralto; Robert E. Coker, assistant professor of economics, tenor; and William Benedicter Jr., ’53, bass.

The Southport Symphonette played from 2:30 to 3:00 p.m. while the audience was arriving.

In the first portion of the program the Southport choir, accompanied by Barbara Pugh, sang selections from “The Wizard of Oz,” “Still, Still” and “Joseph Dearest, Joseph Mine,” “Reuben and Rachel at Christmas Time,” and “Glory to God in the Highest—The Angels’ Song.”

After the intermission the combined choirs were led in the singing of the famous Christmas oratorio by Professor Scott, with Miss D. Colleen Johnson, assistant professor of music at the college, at the organ.

Central Honored For Participation In Relief Service

The World University Service has notified Indiana Central College that it has been chosen as an outstanding school for its participation in the overseas relief agency in 1963-64.

Margaret Wright, a junior from Fountaintown, Indiana, was chairman of Central’s WUS committee last year. It conducts special drives each semester for funds for the service, which ministers to needy students in foreign lands.

WUS is sponsored by B’nai B’rith Hillel Foundations of American Universities, National Newman Club Federation, U.S. National Student Association, National Student Christian Federation, and National Student Councils of the YMCA and YWCA.
Dr. Smith Edits Book

Two Miami University men working 75 years apart have combined to produce "Down the Colorado," a 237-page book just released by the University of Oklahoma Press.

The book is edited by Dwight L. Smith, ICC '40, Miami professor of history, with an introduction by Smith. It is Robert Brewster Stanton's own narrative of his 1889-90 exploration of the Colorado River as a railroad feasibility survey. Stanton, an eminent civil and mining engineer, was an 1871 Miami graduate, son of Miami's sixth president, Robert Livingston Stanton.

Engineer Stanton's previously unpublished account describes a harrowing journey in which three expedition members lost their lives, a photographer broke a leg, boats were smashed and food destroyed. As edited by Smith, it becomes Volume 45 in The American Exploration and Travel Series.

Dr. Dwight L. Smith, professor of history at Miami University, is a Miami Valley native who has made a specialty of the frontier history of the Old Northwest.

Dr. Smith has been a member of Miami's faculty since 1953 and has held full professorship since 1960. In that time he was on leave for the school year 1954-55 as Carnegie Visiting Assistant Professor at Columbia University and again in 1962-63 as Visiting Professor at Indiana University.

He was Visiting Assistant Professor at Centre College of Kentucky for the summer of 1952; held a Miami Summer Research Appointment in 1957 for work on "early American Trade in Western Waters" and another in 1959 for research on Stanton; spent the summer of 1969 at the University of Michigan on a research grant from Clements Library and Lilly Endowment, and was Visiting Lecturer at the University of Alberta in the summer of 1964.

Smith was born at West Elkton in Preble County, Ohio, in 1918, son of a clergyman. He was graduated from Indiana Central College in 1940 and received his master's degree from Indiana University in 1941. He taught at Indiana Central 1942-43, spent three years in the U.S. Army Air Corps in World War II, received a teaching fellowship in history at Indiana University in 1947 and received the Ph.D. degree from Indiana in 1949.

He was special projects historian with the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society 1950-51 while also holding an instructorship in history at the Ohio State University from 1949 until he came to Miami as an assistant professor in 1953. He was promoted to associate professor in 1956 and professor in 1960.

Smith is a member of Phi Alpha Theta national honor society in history; Sigma Zeta recognition society in science and mathematics; various regional historical associations, the Ohio Academy of History and the American Indian Ethnohistoric Conference.

Gift Of Real Estate To Provide Scholarship Income

Real estate valued at $200,000 has been given to Indiana Central College by a former Indianapolis business woman to establish a scholarship fund for worthy students.

Miss Minnie Richey, who now lives in the Methodist Home at Frankfort, made the gift as a memorial to her late business partner, Miss Olive Day. They formerly operated a construction business.

The income from the property will be used to provide the scholarships. They will be known as the Richey Memorial Scholarships, but after Miss Richey's death the name will be changed to the Day-Richey Memorial Scholarships.

Area Groups Meet

CENTRAL OHIO Area:

On September 19, 1964, the Alumni Association sponsored a get together of ICC alumni at Otterbein College in conjunction with the football game between the two schools. Attendance was good and an informal meeting was held. Dr. Roy Turley, Jr. was in charge of arrangements.

Activities began with a reception and coffee hour at Howard House, the home of President and Mrs. Lynn W. Turner, both ICC graduates. A cafeteria style supper followed a campus tour. Our group ate together in the beautiful new Student Center of the college. More than 40 were in attendance.

Otterbein hospitality ran out for a short time as the host team scored a 35-7 victory on a fog shrouded field. Both teams played well and a healthy competitive relationship is anticipated between the two sister colleges.

Following the game alumni were invited to see the performance of a U.S.O. tour shown by seventeen Otterbein students who spent the summer on Army and Air Force bases in the Northeast Area Command. The variety show was excellent, and the group received a standing ovation from their fellow students at the end of the performance.

Those in attendance from Ohio during the day's activities included: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Newberg, Mr. and Mrs. George (Elizabeth Rider) Warheit and children, Mrs. Melissa Rider, Dr. and Mrs. Lyle (Gladys Lake) Michael, Mr. Donald C. Bulthaup, Dr. and Mrs. Roy (Shirley Moren) Turley, Dr. and Mrs. James V. (Mildred Hockersmith) Miller, President and Mrs. Lynn W. (Vera Arbogast) Turner, Mr. Norman Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce (Virginia Young) Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Patsy Crabill) Wilkinson, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miles.

Attending from Indianapolis were: Miss Virginia Cravens, Miss Sibyl Weaver, Miss Lois Coy, Mr. and Mrs. John Mullen, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan (Helen Whaley) Wooden, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Nicolson, Mr. and Mrs. Kelso Reid, Dean Ransburg, Dr. and Mrs. Robert McBride and Judy, Mr. Philip Roberts and Miss Jayne Ann Major. In addition some alumni and students were in attendance at the football game.

We have offered the services of our college to the Otterbein alumni office for meetings on our campus in conjunction with future events. We hope to be able to exchange alumni activities in future years as the two schools compete and cooperate. For our first venture of this kind, we were well pleased with the attendance and the activities of the day.

CHICAGO Area:

An enthusiastic group of Indiana Central Alumni living in the Chicago-Northern Illinois area met with Dean Ransburg and Angus Nicolson to form an Area Club and hear about progress at the college. The group met at Mickelberry's Log Cabin Restaurant on Saturday, October 10th for dinner and a brief business meeting.

Reverend Eugene Moore served as chairman for the arrangements and Edgar Gault was toastmaster for the meeting. Margaret Allbee provided table decorations with an ICC motif for the occasion. Gene Moore read several letters from alumni who were interested in forming an area club. Officers elected were George E. Jacobs, '42, president; Harold C. Wright '53, vice-president; and Marilyn Merritt Walrich '59, secretary.

Following the business session the group adjourned to Gately Stadium for the football game between the Greyhounds and the Chicago Illini.

INDIANAPOLIS Area:

The Indianapolis area Alumni Club of Indiana Central held a dinner meeting Monday night, November 23, 1964, and then attended the annual pre-season game between the varsity basketball team and a team composed of former players. Officers of the Indianapolis alumni group are Clayton Kinkade, president; Ivan Moreman, vice-president; and Nancy Alexander, secretary.

LOS ANGELES Area:

On December 27 ICC alumni living in the Los Angeles area met with President I. Lynd Esch for a dinner meeting at the Knott's Berry Farm Restaurant. Including families, thirty-five were present to renew friendships and to hear a report from Dr. Esch on the “State of the College.”

NORTH-CENTRAL INDIANA Area:

Alumni who live in five northern Indiana counties held a reunion at South Bend on Saturday night, January 23. The dinner meeting began at 7 o'clock at Holly's Restaurant, on North Michigan Street.

The area meeting was arranged by the club officers, who are Eugene Mogle, South Bend, president; Perry F. Stump, Jr., Laporte, vice-president; and Miss Marcella Cornetet, Plymouth, secretary-treasurer. In spite of sleet-covered roads and basketball tournaments, other alumni were present from South Bend, Plymouth, Walkerton, Nappanee, Bourbon and Bremen.

A delightful program was given by the Centralairs, followed by a talk by President Esch. Indiana Central was further represented by Virginia Cravens, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, and Dean M. Ransburg, director of Alumni Relations.

East Coaches Debaters

The student publication of Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, has featured Dr. James East as the "ideal teacher," a man dedicated to his students, his profession, and his school. Quoting from the Parsons College PORTFOLIO:

"Dr. East took his undergraduate work at Indiana Central College (1953) and completed his master's and doctoral work at Stanford University. After receiving his bachelor's degree, East taught a year at an Indianapolis public high school. He then entered the army and spent 18 months teaching shorthand and English at the Adjutant General's School, Fort Harrison, Indiana.

"At Indiana Central, Dr. East met his future wife, a graduate of Purdue University, who taught home economics and nutrition at Parsons for three years. The Easts have four children—two girls (eight and six) and two boys (four and two).

"East has had eight years of teaching experience in three institutions of higher learning, Stanford, San Francisco, and Parsons. He taught speech and served as Assistant Director of Forensics at Stanford for two years while pursuing his doctoral studies. He then took a position as Assistant Professor of Language Arts and Director of Forensics at San Francisco State, where he taught three years prior to coming to Parsons.

"At San Francisco State in the spring of 1961, East was one of the two recipients of the annual Outstanding Teachers Award, presented by the Associated Students of San Francisco State. He was selected from a nearly five-hundred full-time teaching faculty. He holds this award in high esteem since it, in part, came as a result of his efforts in and out of the classroom. East believes that "students have a tremendous potential, and it is the teacher's responsibility to set up the classroom situation which permits the student to produce the best he can."

"East holds a full professorship in speech and humanities. His attitude toward his profession and his school is well exemplified by the fact that this is his seventh straight teaching trimester at Parsons. He is "well-satisfied" with his work and the school.

"East's main interest, other than teaching speech, is coaching the Parsons College debate team. During the past three years the Parsons debaters have achieved national standing. Last year, the debaters placed in two national tournaments. This is Dr. James R. East, a man dedicated to his students, his family, his profession, and his school."

Memorabilia Wanted

Alumni of Indiana Central College who have published books or who have had articles accepted by magazines are invited and urged to submit copies of their publications to the Archives of their Alma Mater. Pictures of student groups of early years and programs of events such as music recitals, plays, and annual banquets are also valuable contributions.

Bugbee Made Administrative Assistant

At the July meeting, the Board of Directors of the Boys' Home, Oakland, Pennsylvania, unanimously approved the hiring of Charles R. Bugbee as Administrative Assistant to the Superintendent. Mr. Bugbee is presently a Juvenile Probation Officer in Erie County, where he has been employed for seven and a half years. The past several years he has been the supervisor of the Boys Department of the Probation Office.

Born in Corry, Pennsylvania, Chuck was educated in the local school system and upon graduation from Corry High School in 1947 went to work in the Corry Jamestown Manufacturing Company factory. A year later he enrolled at Indiana Central College, Indianapolis, Indiana, and graduated in 1952 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology and History. Drafted into the U.S. Army shortly after graduation, he was sent to the Counter-Intelligence Corps School, at Fort Holabird, Maryland. He served a year in Korea as an Intelligence Analyst and Special Agent.

In 1955 he was hired by the U.S. Government as an investigator and sent to Germany where he took part in the screening, interviewing, and investigating of refugees under the Refugee Relief Act of 1953. These Refugees had fled the Communist rule of Eastern Europe and were applicants for immigration to the United States.

Mr. Bugbee started at the Probation Office in Erie County in 1957 where his primary duty was working with boys in trouble. It was his abilities in this field that led to his selection by the Boys' Home as Administrative Assistant and understudy to Jack Dunlap, Superintendent. The Boys' Home is located at Oakdale, Pennsylvania, in Allegheny County, approximately five miles from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport. It is a non-profit, non-sectarian Institution used by Juvenile Courts throughout Pennsylvania for delinquent boys in need of correction outside their home community. The facilities at The Boys' Home are among the best in the State. The emphasis in the rehabilitation program is in the work oriented training program where the boys learn the worth and fundamentals of work along with various skills through participation in such trades as carpentry, block laying and cement work, auto repair, farming and tractor and bulldozer work. There are approximately 280 boys at the Boys' Home at the present time.

Mr. Bugbee started his duties last September 1.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Jacqueline Hutson Morton, '58, her husband Richard and 2-year-old daughter Catherine were killed January 9 near Richmond, Indiana, when their car hit the end of a bridge abutment.

The family was returning from a Good Samaritan trip to Ohio to help relatives who were injured in a motor crash a month before.

The Mortons were active members of the Brookside EUB Church, Indianapolis. He was the church's youth director. Both sang in the choir.

Wallace Beasley, '32, died at the Daviess County Hospital January 7, after a serious illness of two days. At the time of his death he was employed with the North Daviess Metropolitan School district before.

He received his master's degree from Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute.

In addition to other relatives he is survived by three Indiana Central graduates: Harold Beasley, '39, and Norman Beasley, '63, both sons; and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Beasley Kemp, '51.

Martha Cravens, ICC dormitory matron, 1927-28, and chief of food service, 1928-32, died December 20, 1964, after a month's illness. She was a sister of Virginia Cravens, former dean of women and now executive secretary of the ICC Alumni Association, whom she had lived the past six years. Memorial services were held in the Abdon, O'Riley and Hurt Funeral Parlors and in the Methodist Church at Hardinsburg, with interment in the Hardinsburg Cemetery.

Seventeen Indiana Central College seniors will be listed in the 1965 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Vernon, Indiana; James Cummings, Indianapolis; Mrs. Karen Foley Bosley, Beech Grove; Marilyn Heavenridge, Indianapolis; Sue Hiatt, Indianapolis; James Hull, South Bend, Indiana; Karen Kleinnight, Bluffton, Indiana; William Linson, Indianapolis; Ginnvor McAdams, Morgantown, Indiana; Judith Spurgeon McWilliams, Greenwood; Marilyn Heavenridge, Indianapolis; Sue Hiatt, Indianapolis; James Hull, South Bend, Indiana; Karen Kleinnight, Bluffton, Indiana; William Linson, Indianapolis; Ginnvor McAdams, Morgantown, Indiana; Judith Spurgeon McWilliams, Greenwood; James Reber, Dayton, Ohio; Charles Shultz, South Bend, Indiana; Barbara Sullivan Tuttle, Lowell, Indiana; and Clara Underwood, Indianapolis.

So many Colleges in the land,
But I Choose Central.
Many that are fine and grand,
But I Choose Central.
She may not have the marble floors,
Rich tapestries and muralled walls,
But she's replete with wisdom sweet.
So I Choose Central.

She took her President in youth
Who chose his Central,
And guided him in ways of truth;
So did his Central.
She added titles to his name
And raised him to the realm of fame;
Then placed the Prexy diadem.
All these did Central.

Professors are of highest test
Who come to Central;
They'd have to be the very best
To teach at Central.
Her rank in numbers is not high,
But she will get there by and by
For best things do not go on "high."
So just watch Central.

Our emblem is the Greyhound swift
We chose at Central.
What better emblem could we get
To symbolize Central.
A palpitation takes the heart
When basket ball at Central starts,
For Central wins most every lark;
Those Greyhound Centrals.

Her graduates are numbered high,
Those who left Central,
Doing well in every line
To laud their Central.
They love their Alma Mater dear
And visit her from year to year.
We'll join their ranks with future cheers
We now in Central.

Dora C. Brenneman
Dedicated to President
I. J. Good in 1941

(Mrs. Dora C. Brenneman was a hostess at Indiana Central from 1939 to 1942 and says she knew the parents of many students who are now attending "that wonderful college," and would like to tell students now attending, "You could have chosen no better school." She wrote the above poem while she was a hostess here. She writes that she still maintains a "motherly" affection for the college.

Dr. I. J. Good was made president of Indiana Central only seven years after he had graduated from the college in 1908. He served as president from 1915 to 1944 and steered the college through two world wars and the depression of the early thirties.

After having been employed by the State of Indiana for eighteen years, Mrs. Brenneman now lives in retirement at 428 East North Street, Apt. 17, Indianapolis 2.

“Miss Karel” Wins Award From Indiana Rehabilitation

Teaching is a “dream come true” for Syracuse’s “Miss Karel,” who last fall received the highest award in the state from the Indiana Rehabilitation Association.

Despite her short stature (she stands 4 feet, 2 inches tall and her kindergarten pupils look her straight in the eye), Karel Hollingsworth '61 is in her fourth year of teaching at the Syracuse elementary school, with a schedule of four classes totaling 103 children.

The citation of merit from the rehabilitation association, which assisted her in going through college, was presented in person on October 6 at the Marott Hotel in Indianapolis, “in recognition of outstanding and meritorious service to the handicapped.”

A native of Akron, in Fulton County, Miss Hollingsworth quips, “I don’t really consider myself handicapped—I just can’t reach the top shelf.”

She drives her own car, and keeps house in her home at Oakwood Park, Wawasee Lake, where she is an ardent winter sportsman, specializing in ice-skating.

She says she dreamed of being a teacher from the time she was in the second grade in Akron, with a favorite instructor named “Miss Mary.” She determined at that early age to grow up to be a teacher and be called "Miss Karel."

Receiving the state award of merit came as a surprise to her, but it was a thrill. The association considers her more or less pioneer in her field, she pointed out, proving to other handicapped people that “it can be done.”

Karel was a high school student in Akron when she was contacted by the State Rehabilitation Association. Graduating from Akron High School in 1957, she attended Manchester College in North Manchester, and was later graduated in 1961 from Indiana Central College.

She is working now on her master’s degree in education and speech and hearing therapy.

Her kindergarten pupils may be on her own eye level now, Miss Karel laughs, but by spring, after a winter’s growth, she says she often has to look up to them.

CLASS OF 1925
It just doesn't seem possible that 40 years have passed since we of the class of 1925 marched out of the old gymnasium proudly bearing the symbol of 4 years of labor and fellowship at Indiana Central College.

As the first of your plans for our 40th anniversary put a big circle now around Alumni Day, June 5, 1965.

Roy V. Davis

Because I have a son who is now enrolled in College, I frequently recall my experiences at Indiana Central College. I have been reminded June 5, Alumni Day, is the 35th anniversary of the class of 1930. I hope that all of us will be able to come back and renew our friendships.

"Y'all come."

1945. A pleasant review of the old ORACLE reminds me of a lot of good friends not seen for 20 years. We look forward to the Class Reunion June 5, praying for a big miracle— that we will see every one of you there. Let's produce that miracle. Mary Alice and I will be there.

1950. Believe it or not—

Our 15th anniversary is coming up this year. It will be a wonderful time to renew friendships, catch up on news and events, and see the many wonderful changes taking shape at I.C.C. Mark your calendar now and plan to attend Alumni Day on June 5.

Class Of '60

During the past few years we have all become involved in the usual post graduation activities of getting married, raising families, locating and establishing ourselves professionally, going on to graduate studies, buying a house, etc., etc. NOW IT'S CLASS REUNION TIME! June 5th will be our 5th anniversary. This affords a fine opportunity to examine the extensive growth of Central's physical facilities and to renew acquaintances with fellow classmates.

Hope to see you there.

Exchange Teachers Visit I.C.C.

On May 20, 1964 Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, exchange teachers from England visited ICC's campus. Mr. Williams teaches in School 67, and his wife teaches in School 82. Both of them observed and participated in Professor Warden's American Literature class, Dr. Kellogg's class in the English language, and in one of Dr. St. Clair's sections in Western Civilization. Mr. Williams taught Dr. St. Clair's class in History of England, and Mrs. Williams taught Dr. Wolf's Europe Since 1918 class. Dr. Deufel showed them through the Lilly Science Hall, and Miss Miller showed them through the library.

A few days later Dr. St. Clair received the following letter from Mr. Williams.

Dear Dr. St. Clair,

May I please be allowed to express the sincere thanks of my wife, and myself for the courtesy and kindness extended to us during our visit to Indiana Central College on Wednesday 20th May.

My wife and I were deeply impressed with the College and would desire it to be known that the personal relationship of Faculty and Student is a source of strength which I am sure the Students and Faculty would not want changed.

One had the feeling that true education goes on here. The constant encouragement to use education for the purpose it was envisaged is in ample evidence.

This stems from the liberal minds of Faculty members who realize that the full purpose of higher education is to train the intellect of the student to individual thought and that everything the professor says is open to question and debate.

We noticed with much joy that the students had certainly benefited from this guidance and took full advantage of any opportunity to question statements.

The ultimate test of true education is whether students will carry this liberal thought through life with them and encourage similar liberal thinking in others.

We could not but be impressed by the way students are prepared for this and feel that the sincere goodwill of the Faculty is behind this venture.

We wish you all strength in your endeavours and success in your ventures and feel sure that individuals prepared here will meet life on its

Winning Greyhounds

Coach Angus Nicoson and his crippled Greyhounds, hampered by various injuries all season long, have limped over, around and through ten of their first thirteen opponents and presently lead the pack in the Hoosier College Conference with a clean 4-0 slate.

At one time or another eight of Nicoson's players have been out of action. And Vasco Walton, veteran guard, didn't even get his plane off the ground—he suffered a broken leg in football.

But with a little luck, great coaching, and help from some greatly matured sophomores, Central has come through in fine style so far.

The hustling Hounds dropped their first two contests of the year to two Bluegrass powers, Kentucky State (80-79) and Bellarmine (94-85).

After that the Greyhounds pinned 10 of 11 foes, losing only to Otterbein of Ohio (74-58) in the Indianapolis Classic.

The Greyhounds got back on the winning trail by pounding winless Earlham (111-81) at Richmond January 5 in a clash which saw Jim Cummings, 6 feet senior, shatter the Indiana Central single-game scoring record with a magnificent 48-point performance. Cummings bombed a torrid 22 of 32 floor attempts and 4 of 4 from the charity stripe to erase the 45 point mark set by Bailey Robertson, ICC's former leading scorer, in 1957.

By the midyear break for final exams the team topped the HCC with four games won, none lost and one postponed by a blizzard. In all games it stood 10-3.

Statistically, the Greyhounds were scoring an 82.8 point-a-game average to the opponents' 73.9. Clark Crafton led the scoring parade with a 17.8 average, although each of the other starters were scoring more than 10 points a game: Roger Wathen 13.9, Jim Cummings 13.6, Ray Mozingo 13.2 and Jack Noone, the best defensive man of the quintet, 11.8

Bellarmine became the first team to defeat Central twice this season when it floored the Hounds 78-67 in the University Heights gym. But in their first February game the Greyhounds bounced back to swamp Wabash 93-80.

This gave them an 11-4 mark in all games and 4-0 in the conference.

Beloit Madrigal Singers
Give Concert At ICC

The Madrigal Singers of Beloit College, Beloit, Wis., gave a concert at Indiana Central on Thursday night, February 4.

The 13-member group is directed by Dr. William Jones, chairman of Beloit's Music Department. In addition to madrigals, a fascinating form of the 16th century, they sang folk music, cannons, and contemporary songs.

While in central Indiana they appeared on two other college campuses. The morning of February 4 they sang at a Wabash College convocation, and the evening of Friday, February 5, they performed at Franklin College.

ICC Professor To Lead His First Tour Around World

Dr. James A. Weber, Indiana Central College professor who has visited parts of Europe and the Holy Land five times in recent years, will conduct a 50-day tour around the world in the summer of 1965.

The professor, who also is an ordained minister, first visited the Holy Land and Mediterranean area in 1958. He led similar tours himself in 1960, 1961, 1962 and 1964. At the end of the month's tour of the Holy Land and related areas last summer he and part of his group spent another three weeks in Russia.

This year's tour will begin June 21 and end August 9. For those wanting to visit only Rome, Athens and the Holy Land, the tour will end July 7. The around-the-world tour will include visits to Rome, Athens, Israel, Jordan, Damascus, Beirut, Baghdad, Teheran, Shiraz, Karachi, Bombay, New Delhi, Jaipur, Agra, Banares, Calcutta, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Formosa, Japan and Hawaii.

Dr. Weber, who is chairman of the Department of Bible and Religion at Indiana Central College, said persons making the trip may arrange to receive up to six hours of academic credit in Man's Religions by making proper arrangements with the college and paying the appropriate tuition. Dr. Weber hold degrees from I.C.C. and Butler University, United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, and Westmar College, LeMars, Iowa, and has done graduate study at the University of Chicago.
