Educator To Be Commencement Speaker At IC

Dr. Theodore A. Distler, who retired recently as executive director of the Association of American Colleges, will speak at the 60th annual commencement at Indiana Central College on Sunday evening, June 6.

The graduation exercises will be on the campus in front of the Administration Building unless unfavorable weather causes them to be moved into the gymnasium. The ceremony is set for 6:30 p.m., a half hour later than it began previously.

Dr. Distler became administrative head of the Association of American Colleges in July, 1954. He was made president emeritus upon his retirement early this year.

He attended Brown University before serving in the navy in World War I, transferred to New York University upon his discharge, and graduated cum laude in 1922. He remained with his alma mater in various administrative capacities from then until 1934, and earned his master of arts degree there in 1932.

New York University conferred upon him the doctor of humane letters degree in 1947, and altogether 31 American colleges and universities have awarded him honorary degrees for distinguished service in higher education.

Dr. Distler is a member of the boards of Temple University, Davidson College, Lancaster Theological Seminary, and Mercersburg Academy. He belongs to numerous educational, professional and honorary organizations.

He was born in Brooklyn, New York, and married the former Alice Boxold there. They have three children.

Regional Science Fair Held on Indiana Central College Campus

The Central Indiana Regional Science Fair was held March 20 and March 27, 1965, in the Indiana Central College Fieldhouse under the supervision of Dr. Robert M. Brooker, Director; James C. Reber, Student Director; Mrs. Joan Persell, Coordinator; and Sue Stine, Secretary.

Eight hundred students, grades 4-12 from Marion County and the seven surrounding counties, exhibited their projects at the fair to 5,000 visitors. The two top winners take their projects to the National Science Fair at St. Louis, Missouri, this April.

Student members of Sigma Zeta and students of the Chemistry Department were responsible for the efficient manner in which the fair was run. They organized the setting up of the tables and electrical systems, registered and helped set up exhibits, and took care of volumes of paper work.

The fair was a success and a credit to Indiana Central College and her students.
Campus News

For the second semester, 1964-65, there are 865 in day school and 1107 in the evening division.

* * *

One hundred and nine seniors are engaged in supervised teaching in Indianapolis and nearby schools this semester. Thirty-seven of them are in elementary schools and 72 in high schools.

In converting the old Administration Building into the Leah Ramsburg Fine Arts Center, the third and second floors are completed at this time. The third floor is used entirely for music, the second floor for education and art with the space of the Kephart Auditorium to be used for rehearsals of musical ensembles. The old library on the first floor is being converted into a small recital hall. The south end of the first floor will be occupied by the evening division offices and the north end by attractive class rooms.

All windows are new with aluminum frames, and the building is electrically heated and air-conditioned.

Dorothy Munger, Instructor of Music and teacher of piano at Indiana Central, was guest soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Indianapolis March 2, 1965, in Caleb Mills Auditorium, Shortridge High School. Mrs. Munger is also official pianist for the Indianapolis Symphony.

East Will Be Dean

Dr. James R. East, '53, has been named by the board of Midwestern College, Denison, Iowa, as the new Dean of the College. Midwestern College is a new, privately endowed Liberal arts school. In addition to Dr. East's duties as dean, he will be in charge of registration and responsible for the faculty and instructional program. He will also have teaching duties in the Humanities field.

After receiving his Doctor of Philosophy Degree from Stanford University in 1960, he taught four years at Parsons College where he served as Professor of Humanities and Speech, Director of Forensics and Head of the Speech Department, and as Dean of Students in the Humanities Division. He served as lecturer for 450 students in rhetoric and public speaking.

A "Good Man" Dies

Parker P. Jordan, characterized by one of his YMCA colleagues as the "finest Christian gentleman I have ever known," died rather suddenly in his home Sunday, March 21. He had not been ill.

Upon graduation from DePauw University in 1911 he immediately associated himself with the YMCA and continued in that work until 1953, when he resigned. He served the YMCA in Omaha, Nebraska, the University of Colorado at Boulder, Detroit, Michigan, and St. Paul, Minnesota before returning to Indianapolis, his place of birth, as general secretary of the Y here.

Upon retirement from the YMCA, Dr. Jordan came to Indiana Central as director of development and assistant to President Esch. In this capacity he helped greatly in raising funds for the Academic Hall. After five years he resigned from this strenuous job and assumed the task of being coordinator of student affairs. Here his unlimited patience, sympathy and Christian influence permeated the whole student body and faculty. To associate daily with such a man is a rare blessing.

Dr. Jordan was a member of Central Avenue Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, Rotary Club and Delta Upsilon fraternity. He was laid to rest in Crown Hill Cemetery. Besides his widow, Mrs. Fern T. Jordan, and a son, John T. Jordan of New York, New York, survivors include a sister and brother.

"O may I join the choir invisible Of those immortal dead who live again In minds made better by their presence."

"I cannot say, and I will not say That he is dead.—He is just away."

Moreman Elected President

At a recent supper meeting of the Indianapolis area ICC alumni officers for the year 1965-66 were elected. They are: Ivan Moreman, '50, president; Otto Albright, '26, vice-president; and Mrs. Reba Boyd Wooden, '62, secretary-treasurer. Moreman is a teacher and coach at Arsenal Technical High School. Albright, after being coach and principal at Cayuga High School from 1926 to 1963, retired and with his wife, the former Marguerite Brockschmidt, '28, came to Indianapolis and is now teaching at Wood High School. Mrs. Wooden is a teacher at Mooresville High School.

Hospitatity Room

At Claypool Again

Arrangements for a Hospitality Room at the Claypool Hotel during the 1965 Teachers Institute have been completed by the Alumni Office. Parlor suite 525 will be open to alumni and friends of Indiana Central College during Thursday and Friday, October 21-22.

Encouraged by the number of graduates and former students who stopped during the 1964 Teachers Institute to visit and share refreshments, the Alumni Office has made arrangements for the same type of service during the 1965 ISTA convention in Indianapolis. The I. C. Room makes a good place to meet friends or a welcome relief from walking and meetings.

Educators and friends of the college should make a note now to be sure to visit Indiana Central's hospitality headquarters during the Teachers Institute. Thanks to Joyce Frink a reminder will be found in the ISTA Convention bulletin.

Just To Remind You!

Alumni Day Is June 5

Are Your Plans Made?

Alumni Day Is June 5
A recent issue of the Ashland (Ohio) College News carries a report of a two-week campaign in Akron's seventh Independent College Alumni Associates Fund Drive. The 14 participating colleges solicited 2654 alumni in the Akron area and received 1488 gifts. This was 56% participation.

Participation was particularly stressed in Indiana Central's "telethon" campaign in Indianapolis recently. Though Central's per cent of participation was not as high as that in Akron, nevertheless it was rewarding.

We are not trying to keep up with the Joneses, for the Joneses (in this case, older colleges) have a head start on us, both as to buildings and alumni. Moreover, none of our alumni are very affluent. That is, no one can give to his alma mater half a million or even a quarter of a million. Yet, there is one thing our alumni do have, devotion and loyalty to their college as shown by their response to the call to act as captains in this "telethon" campaign.

Twenty-nine different alumni have worked in the Indianapolis campaign, some three nights, some two, others one. In the state 22 have worked and made their report. At this writing others have yet to report.

Campus Center A' Building

Work is progressing, though not too satisfactory, on our new Campus Center. On days like this—summer in spring—workmen are seen all around the place. But when work is stopped because of strikes that hold up material, we get a little impatient. However, the contractor thinks the building will be finished on schedule. By the way, how about coming on Alumni Day to see the finished Leah Ransburg Fine Arts Building? It is beautiful.

Second Generation Students Win Honors

Of the 32 students at Indiana Central who were named to the Dean's List for the first semester of the 1964-65 academic year, seven are children of alumni: Richard Cravens, son of Dr. Sherman and Marjorie Cravens, '42; Sue Hiatt, daughter of Herbert, '34 and Elhura, '61 Hiatt; Danny Richards, son of Roger, x44, and Leola Biggs, x43, Richards; Richard and Suzanne Rodebaugh, son and daughter of Myron, x45, and Geraldine Gilliatt, '40, Rodebaugh; Kenneth Sidetbottom, son of Kenneth, '42 and Hallie Davis, '43, Sidetbottom; and Mrs. Marydee Meyer West, daughter of Stanley and Hilda Becker, N34, Meyer.

Students making the Dean's List had to complete at least 15 credit hours of work last semester with a grade of B-plus or better. Five of the 139 named to the Honor List are second generation students: Donna Adkins, d. of Rev. Ralph '51 and Mrs. Adkins; Alice French, d. of Victor and Helen Todd, '38, French; Lloyd Huels, son of Lloyd and Helen Todd, '39, Huels; Michelle Stoneburner, d. of Alva, '41, and Mary Oliver, '56, Stoneburner; and Jo Ellen Walden, d. of Hal '38, and Rella Waits, '36, Walden.

Funk Takes Up Law Practice

Corydon, Indiana, Attorneys C. Blaine Hays, Sr. and Frank L. O'Bannon have announced that Arville Funk, '55, is now associated with them in the practice of law. Arville graduated from Corydon High School in 1947 and then spent three years in the United States Army including service with the Field Artillery in Korea. He received his Master of Science Degree in School Administration from Butler University in 1959 and the Bachelor of Laws Degree from the Indiana University School of Law in 1963.

Since graduating from Indiana Central he has served as Head of the Social Studies Department of Perry Township Junior High School. He also has practiced part time law since being admitted to the Indiana Bar in September 1963. He has contributed numerous articles on the Civil War to the Indiana Outdoors magazine. He served more than 17 years in the U.S. Army Reserve Corps and was discharged in 1964 with the rank of Captain. *

*In April, 1965, he was selected for inclusion in WHO'S WHO IN THE MIDWEST.
Seminar sessions provide Supervisory Institute participants opportunity for learning and discussion with skilled I. R. C. conference leaders.

The Industrial Relations Center

The Industrial Relations Center, a little known facet of the total program of Indiana Central College, released a report showing 1964 to be the most active and successful in its history. Under the direction of Harry A. McGuff, '52, assisted by Kenneth Partridge, '58, the business-industry program of the college provided services for nearly 700 participants from 40 different organizations in central Indiana.

Four major areas of service are offered: problem research, aptitude testing of individuals, employee attitude surveys, and seminar-type training programs for foremen and middle managers. One of the most encouraging signs for continued growth lies in the number of new companies participating in the IRC program. Both McDuff and Partridge are strong believers in developing a quality product which fills a definite need and letting recommendations by organizations which have been served help to attract new firms. The Industrial Relations Center was established at Indiana Central College in 1958. Our institution is one of 13 private colleges and universities across the nation which are affiliated with the IRC at the University of Chicago. All work is non-credit as far as the college's academic program is concerned; however, framed certificates of completion are awarded to the program participants.

Tailor-made programs are presented on the campus or in-plants, depending on the wishes and facilities of the organization involved. In 1964 training programs were presented for 32 employees of the Bearings Company of America at Greensburg, 16 employees of Commercial Filters Corporation of Lebanon, 16 employees of the Naval Avionics Facility, Indianapolis, 107 members of the Indianapolis Police Department, 74 persons employed by Howard W. Sams and Company and 14 representatives of the Banker's Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis. Program topics included management development, communication, supervisory cost management, personal development, and advanced administration.

A special attitude survey was designed for Commercial Filters Corporation and conducted for employees of the organization. Analysis of the results was first presented to all levels of management and then to the employees of each department who had participated in the survey. This feedback technique gave the organization a better understanding of the opinions expressed in the survey.

SUPERVISORY INSTITUTES

The most active on-campus program of the center is the monthly Supervisory Institute, which is intended for assistance of newly-appointed supervisors or as a refresher course for those with experience. The institute is a three-day program conducted during the last full week each month. Seminar-type sessions last from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and cover such topics as leadership, human relations, understanding others, communications, job instruction, discipline, planning, cost control, and labor relations. Members of the college faculty, IRC staff members, and representatives of local industry serve as the conference leaders.

A total of 131 participants from 23 different organizations attended the 1964 Supervisory Institutes. Conferees from central Indiana cities represented firms in Beech Grove, Columbus, Crawfordsville, Edinburg, Greenfield, Greensburg, Salem and Seymour. Fourteen Indiana companies participated in Supervisory Institutes, including Hugh J. Baker & Company, Chrysler Corporation, Diamond Chain Company, Esterline-Angus Instrument Company, Indianapolis Power & Light Company, Kroger Company, Link-Belt Company and Methodist Hospital.

Thirty-seven managers from seven different firms attended Middle Management Development Programs in 1964. Dinner meeting sessions are held two nights a week on the campus from 6 to 9 p.m. A total of eight different topics are studied in depth during the course of this program. Subjects include managerial economics, effective use of meetings, developing subordinates, and developing creative ability.

HALSTEAD TEST AVAILABLE

Another activity of the center is aptitude testing of prospective employees or those who are being considered for promotion or retirement. Fifty persons from ten organizations were tested in 1964. The testing facilities include equipment used for administration of the Halstead Tests of Higher Brain Functions. The center is one of three locations in the country where this battery of tests can be administered, and persons come from many areas of the United States to be tested. Results of the test and the analysis report are available to the organization within two days after administration.

In just a short period of time the Industrial Relations Center has become an important service to business and industry. As more and more business executives avail themselves and their companies of the facilities of the center, Indiana Central becomes an integral part of the industrial expansion of Indiana.

Thus Indiana Central continues to improve its reputation for leadership and service in all areas of the college program. The Industrial Relations Center is a significant arm of the college, adding its facilities to meet the ever-expanding needs of industry. Alumni may be proud of the continuing development of the IRC and the total program of their college.
Film, Music, Drama, Lecture and Art Exhibit In Fine Arts Festival

An exhibit of the works of two Indianapolis artists, a film on Michelangelo, music by faculty members and students, a touring piano duo, and a Tennessee Williams play constituted the 10th annual Fine Arts Festival at Indiana Central College from March 29 through April 10.

The Art Gallery, just outside the balcony of Ransburg Auditorium in Academic Hall, was the scene of paintings, drawings and prints by Orfeo Vian and of paintings by Harry A. Davis. Each has exhibited extensively and received numerous awards.

Vian, a native of Venice, Italy, earned the bachelor of fine arts degree at the Herron School of Art in 1949 and the master of fine arts at Indiana University the next year. He taught art at the University of Notre Dame in 1960, and has been teaching in the Indianapolis public schools and at Herron since then. Next September he will join the faculty of St. John's University in New York City.

A native of Hillsboro, Indiana, Davis also received his B.F.A. degree at Herron and then had a three-year fellowship to the American Academy in Rome, where he earned the F.A.A.R. He has taught at Herron since 1946, and before that was artist in residence at Beloit (Wis.) College.

"The Titan," an hour-long film on the life and works of Michelangelo, was shown at the 9:35 a.m. convocation on Monday, March 29; the Rev. C. Richard Tydeman, rector of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre (Episcopal) in London, England, spoke at the same time on Wednesday, March 31, and showed pictures associated with the signing of the Magna Carta. Students in the Music Department gave a recital at the same hour on Friday, April 2.

The Indianapolis Civic Orchestra, composed of community and campus instrumentalists, and the Indiana Central College Symphonic Wind Ensemble both conducted by Lowell Boughs, chairman of the Music Department, gave a joint concert in the auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 31, with Paul Hilgeman playing trumpet solo.

The final number on the Artist Series was presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday, April 2, with Arthur Whitemore and Jack Lowe in a piano duet. Their recital included compositions by Brahms, Ravel and Schubert.

"The Glass Menagerie," which earned playwright Williams a place of prominence in the American theatre, was produced by the Drama Department at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10, to close the festival. The autobiographical play recounts Williams' life with his sister and mother in the slums of St. Louis and how the young man finally broke away from his family.

Bill McPherson, a guest actor, portrayed Tom Wingfield, a thinly disguised Williams. Sue Merrick, an Indianapolis junior had the role of his mother. Alice Allen, a Kokomo freshman, appeared as the crippled sister, Laura, and Don Bare, a freshman from Casey, Illinois, as Jim O'Connor, a visitor to the family's home.

The play was directed by David T. Deacon, chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama.

McPherson, a member of the staff of WLW-I, an Indianapolis television station, has appeared on stages at Butler University, the experimental theater at Purdue University, The Carriage House Theater at Louisville, and the Prologue Player's southside theater last summer. His master's thesis at Butler was "Tennessee Williams' Theory of Love," for which he interviewed the dramatist at New Orleans.

The art exhibit and all of the programs were open to the public, and admission was charged only for the piano duo and the play.

Homecoming, October 9

Although Homecoming Day, October 9, seems far away, big things are in the works for the traditional fall alumni event. One special announcement of interest to alumni is the scheduling of an appearance of the New Christy Minstrels in the college gymnasium on Homecoming night.

The addition of this event to the scheduled parade, football game, crowning of the queen, steak fry, and dance promises to make Homecoming 1965 a day of days for alumni and students alike. Complete information about Homecoming activities, tickets, prices, etc. will be mailed to Alumni in late summer.

Plan now to be with us on campus October 9, for Homecoming 1965.

Author-Theologian-Teacher Delivers Showers Religion Lectures At Indiana Central

Dr. Martin E. Marty, associate professor of church history at the University of Chicago Divinity School and associate editor of The Christian Century, a Protestant weekly journal, delivered the fourth annual Showers Lectures on the Christian Religion at Indiana Central College on April 27 and 28.

The late Dr. J. Balmer Showers, a bishop of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, made a gift to the college to endow the lectureship. Bishop Showers, as head of the denomination's West Central Area, lived in Indianapolis until his retirement. He was a trustee of Indiana Central. All of the lectures were in Ransburg Auditorium and open to the public without charge.

Dr. Marty has been a contributor to, co-author or author of a long list of books, and has written extensively for a number of religious periodicals. He is co-editor of Church History and on the editorial staff of The Pulpit. He has held many theological and historical lectureships at academic institutions, has been active as a liturgical artist and designer, and has appeared frequently on radio and television. He is a member of the English District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, and served as pastor of churches in the Greater Chicago and Washington, D. C. areas.

Klinge Becomes Assistant To President Stahr

Paul E. Klinge x39, at present associate director for science in Indiana University's Aerospace Research Applications Center, has been named assistant to President Elvis J. Stahr.

After two years in Indiana Central, Paul transferred to Butler, from which he was graduated in 1939 with a major in history. He taught science in Ben Davis and Howe High Schools before going to Indiana as coordinator for school science.

He is now an associate professor in the School of Education and executive associate for research projects in the Indiana University Foundation.

Since 1964 he has been editor of the American Biology Teacher, the journal of the National Association of Biology Teachers, of which he is a past president.
In Memoriam

Dr. M. S. Livengood, '18, suffered a fatal heart attack Thursday, February 25. He had just gone out into the severe wind to shovel snow, and was dead when the ambulance got him to the hospital.

Funeral services were held March 1 in the Warsaw Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Besides the widow, survivors include four children, three of whom are alumni of Indiana Central; Melvin Edgar, '37; David E. '40, and Crystal (Mrs. Norman Clear), '51.

For many years Dr. Livengood led the youth of Indiana Conference North Christian Endeavor. Though retired from the regular ministry, he had been assigned to a declining church and at the time of his death the attendance had tripled.

Some alumni will remember him as having talked on a recent Alumni Day on the subject, "What Is Right with Indiana Central College."

Mrs. Wilma Kreamer Livengood, '37 wife of Melvin Edgar Livengood '37 died Saturday, March 6, of lymph gland cancer in Robert W. Long Hospital.

The Livengoods had lived in Indianapolis only about six months, having come here from Florida, where they had lived for several years during which Wilma had been director of the choir of the Forest Hill Presbyterian Church of West Palm Beach. Since coming to Indianapolis, she had directed the choir of Broadway Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Funeral services were held Monday, March 8, in McHatton Funeral Home in Warsaw, where Wilma was born. Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery in Warsaw.

Besides the husband, survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Ronald Green of Tallahassee, Florida, a son Melvin of Bloomington, and her mother, Mrs. Russell Hammer of Warsaw.

Dault Whitaker, Normal 1930, died December 9, 1963, after several years illness, of a coronary attack while in Johnson County Memorial Hospital.

He had taught school several years in Perry Township and for 33 years in Pleasant Township, Johnson County. After retiring in 1956 he was a real estate broker.

He was elected trustee in Pleasant Township and during office built Break O'Day Elementary School.

His son Tracy is also a graduate of ICC with the class of 1937 and is in real estate in Aurora, Colorado.

Ralph Stanley Newby, x35, of Noblesville, Indiana, died in his home Friday, March 19, and was buried the following Tuesday forenoon in Crownland Cemetery of Noblesville.

Ralph was a former deputy sheriff under his father, former Sheriff Joe Newby, and until two years ago owned Newby Motors. He had retired because of ill health.

He was a member of the Noblesville Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite in Indianapolis and Noblesville Christian Church and was a past president of the Noblesville Kiwanis Club.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Vera O. Newby, two daughters, Joan and Jane Newby, both students at Ball State University, and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Ann Clemments x32 of Hemet, California.

* * *

A former political reporter and assistant city editor during his forty years with The Star, he was appointed magazine editor two years after its inception and continued its development as a weekly feature for and about Hoosiers and Indiana. Mr. Brooks' avocation was "selling" Indiana through the magazine and other efforts. A graduate of Emerich Manual Training High School and a student at Indiana Central for two years, he worked for the old Indianapolis Commercial and the Indianapolis Times before joining "The Star".

He would have been 65 and eligible for retirement next February 1. He and the widow, Mrs. Nina Brooks, were married 40 years.

In the February issue of the Alumni News in the article concerning the survivors of the late Wallace Beasley the name of Mrs. Camilla (Beasley) Overton was omitted.

Mrs. Overton is a sister of Wallace and was graduated from Indiana Central with the class of 1957.

Cello and Piano Duo Close Artist Series

Two instrumentalists who frequently give solo recitals—Janos Starker, cellist, and Gyorgy Sebok, pianist—appeared as a duo on the Artist Series in the Ransburg Auditorium on Friday, March 5. This program closed the 1964-65 season.

The two first met in their native Hungary while studying music in Budapest, and began playing together in 1940. Circumstances separated them in 1946 until they came together again at Bloomington, Indiana, as members of the Music School faculty at Indiana University in 1962.

Since then the pair have divided their time teaching, performing as soloists, and appearing together as a cello-piano duo.

Their performance at Indiana Central was a delightful closing of the 1964-65 season.

Second Generation Student Wins Award

Elena Sue Hiatt, daughter of Herb and Elnora Freshley Hiatt, both alumni, a senior at Central, has been chosen by the faculty of the English Department to receive the $50 Anne D. Keller Scholarship for the first semester. The award honors Dr. Keller, who was an English teacher at the college at the time of her death in 1960. A new recipient is chosen for the award each semester.

Sue, together with Mickie Stoneburner, a junior and daughter of Alva and Mary Stoneburner, both alumni, and a granddaughter of the late Dr. Earl Stoneburner, studied at the Sorbonne last summer. She is a language major and has accepted a fellowship at DePauw University for further study.
Presbyterian Cleric
To Deliver Sermon At ICC's Baccalaureate

The Rev. James Payson Martin, who became senior pastor at the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church of Indianapolis last May, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 6. The service will be in Ransburg Auditorium at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Mr. Martin was graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary at Chicago in 1950 with the bachelor of divinity degree. Since then he has served pastorates at the Riverside Presbyterian Church, Minneapolis; the First Presbyterian Church, Bismarck, North Dakota; and the First Presbyterian Church, Jackson, Michigan.

He was born at Gary, Indiana, and attended public schools in Bloomington, Illinois, where his father was pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. He received his bachelor of arts degree at Maryville (Tenn.) College in 1947. While he was in seminary he served as youth director of his father’s church for a year and a half and during the remainder of his seminary career he was minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church in Gary.

The Rev. Mr. Martin has been a summer preacher at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, the largest Presbyterian church in the world; the First Presbyterian Church at Santa Barbara, California, and the Trinity Presbyterian Church at Tucson, Arizona. He was a speaker at the Pittsburgh and Chicago area meetings of United Presbyterian Men in 1962 and 1963, respectively.

Rhoades Goes To Iliff

A newly appointed professor at the Iliff School of Theology and Chairman of the Department of Christian Ethics is Dan D. Rhoades of the Class of 1956, Indiana Central College.

Iliff is a graduate seminary of the Methodist Church and one of the outstanding seminaries of the western section of the United States. It is located in Denver, Colorado.

Dr. Rhoades was previously a member of the faculty of Emory University and Colorado State University. He and his wife Peggy have three children, Gary, 11, Stephanie, 4 and Brady.

His address at his inauguration was: "The Crisis in Contemporary Ethics." An article entitled: "The Prophetic Insight and Theoretical-Analytical Inadequacy of 'Christian Realism'" was published in Ethics, An International Journal of Social Political and Legal Philosophy, last October. He is currently working upon two books in the field of Christian ethics for eventual publication.

Dan was a major in philosophy as an undergraduate. He was the winner of the first Danforth Scholarship awarded to an Indiana Central Graduate, a national scholarship covering full expenses for his B.D., M.A., and Ph.D. programs. He received his doctoral degree from Yale in 1960. He did his work at Yale under one of America’s leading theologians and Christian ethical thinkers, Richard Niebuhr, now deceased.
Dr. Donald G. Emery, '41

Dr. Donald G. Emery, '41, for the past five years Superintendent of Schools of Shaker Heights, Ohio, an affluent suburb of Cleveland, has been appointed Superintendent of Schools of Scarsdale, New York, effective August 1, 1965. Scarsdale is a suburb of New York City in Westchester County and probably has the finest suburban school system in the country.

Dr. Emery is a native of Indianapolis, the son of the late Ernest W. and Lota (Snyder) Emery, both of the Class of 1915, and the brother of Richard Emery, '38, Principal of Harry E. Wood High School, Indianapolis.

He earned his master's degree from Butler University and his Ph. D. degree from the State University of Iowa. He has served as an elementary and high school teacher of social studies and sciences, has been a guidance counselor, dean of boys and city-wide director of guidance and research. He has served as principal of a rural and urban school. This experience has been gained in both Indiana and Iowa.

Before going to Shaker Heights, Dr. Emery was a member of the faculty and administration of the University of Omaha. He joined the university in 1951 as assistant to the president, and during the next nine years held posts as dean of the College of Adult Education, director of the summer session and director of the graduate division.

In congratulating Dr. Emery on his new assignment, he replied, "It has been a winding professional path from my first teaching at Perry Township No. 4, across the street from the campus, to the Scarsdale superintendency. Happily, I have enjoyed every step of the way and hope this may continue to be my happy lot."

Dr. Emery is married to the former Dorothy Hopping of Indianapolis. Their son Mark, 17, is a senior planning on medicine and daughter Martha, 15, is a sophomore and a budding journalist.

Alumnae Defeat Varsity

In a well played and hard fought basketball game the alumnae team was victorious over the current Whippets 36-34. The alumnae-varsity game was played February 13 in the college gymnasium. The game was close all the way and the lead changed hands several times before time ran out with the alumnae team holding a two-point advantage.

Judy Waggoner, '61, and Marilyn Ramsey, '63, combined for 30 points to pace the alumnae attack with Judy leading all scorers by garnering 21 points. Pam Jones with 11, Nancy Cokain with 10 and Judy Powell with 8 points led the balanced effort of the girls Varsity.

The Alumnae team was composed of 11 former Whippets. In addition to Judy and Marilyn, team members were Elsie Wulf, '61, Doreen (Wright) St. Clair, '61, Pat (Hunt) Bright, '57, Pat Clark, '58, Nancy (Tiano) Ransburg, '59, June (Davis) VanWagner, '59, Bonnie (Binkley) Pinaire, '58, Jo Ann Ferkins, '57, and Amy (Buskirk) Zent, '58.

Belsler Receives Lilly Scholarship

Fred J. Belsler '63 has been awarded a Lilly Foundation scholarship which he will use to complete work toward his master's degree at Butler University this summer. Fred is one of 21 recipients chosen from over 260 applicants to participate in the $10,000 awards program. He will work toward a master's degree in social studies. Rev. Daniels, Pastor Northern Ohio

Rev. Raymond S. Daniel '30 is pastor of the Union Methodist Church of Briggsdale just south of the city of Columbus, Ohio, where he has been since 1960. He says he will come to the campus for his 35th anniversary if at all possible.

Rev. Daniel has one son in the Methodist ministry near Lima, Ohio, and another at home after spending a hitch in the Air Force.

He earned a B.D. degree in theology at Berea Seminary in 1933 and since has held pastorates in the Methodist Church of Ohio.

Mahoi Heads Hospital

CHURCH AND HOME reports: "The Rotifunk Hospital is now in charge of Dr. Moses Mahoi. In a bold and courageous action the hospital program was placed under his supervision by the Medical Board of the conference . . . Advertisements are being placed for additional staff to work with Doctor Mahoi at Rotifunk. After graduating from Indiana Central with the Class of 1950, Moses studied at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, where he earned an M.D. degree. Afterward he studied pediatrics at Children's Hospital at Detroit and stayed on for several years. In September of 1962 he went to London, England, to begin a five-month course leading to a diploma at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. From there he went to the EUB Mission Hospital, Rotifunk, Sierra Leone, where he is serving his second year."
Five Indiana Central Alumni High School Coaches Are Honored

Five alumni of Indiana Central College who have distinguished themselves as high school coaches were awarded plaques at the winter sports banquet at the college by the Alumni “C” Association, an organization of graduates who earned athletic letters while in school.

Those honored were basketball coaches (right to left) Jack Colescott of Marion, Elwood McBride of Indianapolis Manual and Jack Nay of Greenwood, and football coaches Dick Nyers of Carmel and Dave Shaw of suburban Warren Central.

The presentation was made by Tom Yeftich for his brother, John, president of the “C” alumni, who was unable to attend.

In the hardwood season just ended Colescott’s charges won 22 games and lost 4; McBride’s 20 and 3, and Nay’s 22 and 4. Nyers’ football team was 9-0-1 and Shaw’s 7-0-2.

Winter Sports Review

Win-minded mentor Angus Nicoson guided his hungry Hounds to their third consecutive Hoosier College Conference championship and ninth conference championship altogether with a 9-1 mark. Plagued with injuries all year, the Greyhounds finished the season with a 17-6 over all record.

Clark Crafton led the team in scoring with a 29.5 points per game and in assists with 94. He also led the team in rebounding with an average of 12.1 per game. Ray Mozingo finished with a 14.1 ppg. average and was the only player to come close to Crafton in the assist department. Mozingo had 80 assists. Two other Central players averaged over 10 points per game over the season, Jim Cummings (11.8) and Roger Wathen (11.7).

At the annual winter sports banquet March 16, Crafton and Cummings, the only two seniors on the team, were honored for their outstanding play during the basketball season.

Crafton received the Dr. William P. Morgan medal as the team’s most valuable player and the Ray Bloomdale award for the most rebounds. He and Cummings were elected honorary co-captains for the season just ended.

Cummings was cited for setting a new IC single game scoring mark with his 48 point output against Earlham. This eclipsed the old record of 45 set in 1957 by Bailey Robertson.

Tom Firestone received the Chuck Zoph free throw award for a .789 average.

Crafton and Wathen were selected to the all-Hoosier College Conference basketball team and Coach Nicoson was chosen coach-of-the-year in the HCC and in District 21.

The wrestling team under Coach Paul Velez finished a successful season by winning the first HCC meet to be held and also their second straight Little State meet.

Dave Graves and Dale Sidebottom tied in the voting for most valuable wrestler, and Graves was named honorary captain. Tim Giles was honored for the team’s quickest pin, 41 seconds.

Inbodys Go To University of Chicago

Tyron and Frances Reger Inbody, both of ’92, after three years at United Theological Seminary, from which Tyron expects to receive his BD degree in June, plan to go this fall to the University of Chicago, where he has been accepted in the Divinity School there.

During the three years in Dayton, Frances has been teaching seventh grade math and social studies in the local schools. She hopes to continue teaching in the area of the University of Chicago. She has also been studying at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and will receive her Master of Arts in Teaching degree June 6.

Tyron is expecting to enter on a four year program which will lead to a Ph.D. in contemporary theology. He has been granted a full tuition scholarship from the university. He says, “Let me say first of all that Fran and I have had three great years in Dayton and the United Theological Seminary. . . . We are quite anxious to begin this new adventure for it promises to expand the scope of the work which has already been so exciting and rewarding for us.”

Senior Clark Crafton of ICC was named to the district all-star team.

The Moving Finger writes; and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your Piety nor Wit
Can lure it back to cancel half a Line,
Nor all your tears wash out a Word of it.
—Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam

May Day

A delicate fabric of bird song
Floats on the air;
The smell of wild wet earth
Is every where.
The small red leaves of the maple
Are clinched like a hand;
Like girls at their first communion
The pear trees stand.
O I must let nothing pass
Without loving it much;
The raindrops try with my lips,
The grass with my touch.
For how can I be sure
I will see again
The world on the first of May
Shining after the rain.
—Sara Teasdale

Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine through his cypress trees,
Who hopeless lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day
Across the mournful marbles play;
Who has not learned in hours of faith
The truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That Life is ever Lord of Death,
And Love can never lose its own.
—Snowbound by Whittier
What's It Like?

Under the title of "What's It Like" Laveta Smith Hilton, '52, wife of Dr. David Hilton, '53, writes of the life of a missionary doctor in Bambur, Nigeria. She first tells of the long trip of 280 miles she and her husband with their two younger children took to Jos to get their two older children, who had been in boarding school for four months. "Our reunion was a happy one as we drove up to the dormitory and found an eager third-and-fourth-grader awaiting our arrival. It was a happy time for them, too, for it meant school was out for a fourth-grader awaiting our arrival."

Before returning home they must buy supplies and groceries (mostly canned goods with a few fresh vegetables such as carrots, cabbage and potatoes) to last until they took the children back for another term. "Our reunion was a happy one as we drove up to the dormitory and found an eager third-and-fourth-grader awaiting our arrival. It was a happy time for them, too, for it meant school was out for another term and they would once again be going home."

"But wild animals were not unfamiliar to the ancient Pompeians, for animal hunts, or venationes, as they were called, were often a part of the entertainments of the amphitheater. The huge signs painted on the walls of Pompeii, which announce the shows (Munera), frequently mention a venatio as one of the attractions. Paintings found on the walls of the amphitheater furnish evidence regarding the nature of those entertainments. At the time of excavation, a six-and-one-half-foot wall enclosing the arena was discovered. It was decorated with pictures of animal hunts, as well as of gladiators. It is not surprising that the oldest Roman amphitheater yet found is in Pompeii, for the Campanians had been fond of gladiatorial combats long before Pompeii was besieged by the Roman general Sulla in 89 B.C. and made a Roman colony in 80 B.C."

The long and interesting article describes the many pictures found on the Pompeiian walls, taken in color and reproduced in color in the Magazine. Not all of the pictures are of paintings. Some are of mosaics, and one is of a garden sculpture of three life-size hounds attacking a deer.
Riggin Awarded By NAFI

Lance Riggin, '63, an electronics engineer with the U.S. Naval Avionics Facility of Indianapolis, has been cited by Captain J. C. Wootton, Commanding Officer, for outstanding performance and patent contributions to NAFI operations.

Riggin accepted a Superior Accomplishment Award of $150 for his sustained superior performance of duty from January 1 to October 31, 1964, in developing the video sub-system of the Walleye Tracking Station ANMSQ-60 in less than half the time normally expected of an engineer of his grade.

Lance, who also developed the specification control drawing for use in procurement of the wide band FM receiver of the FM telemetry and high resolution TV display, was cited for his initiative, off-duty hours dedication, attitude and technical competence in helping to save money and speed completion of the project. He began employment in NAFI in June 1963 after graduating from Indiana Central, where he had been official photographer for the college. He lives with his wife, the former Ruth Anna Smith, '63, at 1920 North Wallace, Indianapolis 46220.

Lance's brother Richard, a graduate of Ball State University, who earned his master's at Indiana University, teaches principles of economics in the Evening Division of Indiana Central.

Student Nurses Received Caps

Thirty-eight freshmen in Indiana Central's nurses' training program were "capped" Sunday, February 14. The ceremony was held in Ransburg Auditorium at 3 p.m.

The caps signified that the students had completed satisfactorily the first semester of their 21-month program, which the college operates in cooperation with Community Hospital.

A unique feature of the program was that three members of the class were capped only symbolically. Two in the class are Roman Catholic Nuns, members of the Order of Benedict and on the staff of St. Paul's Hermitage in Beech Grove, and the third is a boy.

Caps were placed on the students' heads by Miss Virginia Sims, head of the Nursing Department, assisted by Miss Pauline Milhouse, instructor in nursing.

The speaker of the occasion was the Rev. Dr. K. K. Merryman, a superintendent of the Indiana Conference South of the EUB Church and an alumnus of the College of the Class of 1928. Others participating in the program were Miss Crystal Springborn, instructor in nursing, and the Rev. Dr. James A. Weber, chairman of the Bible and religion department.

The college choir, directed by Prof. Farrell M. Scott, sang "Bow Down Thine Ear, O Lord." Miss Colleen Johnson, assistant professor of music, was organist.

The entire program was in charge of President I. Lynd Esch.

Lowes Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Dr. Ephriam D. '27, and Mrs. Lowe were honored Sunday, April 4, at a 50th wedding anniversary celebration. Hosts were the couple's three sons and their families.

The celebration was in the parlors of the Olive Branch Christian Church of Indianapolis, where Dr. Lowe was pastor for 20 years.

Dr. Lowe was the executive secretary of the Christian Churches of Indiana for 20 years before his retirement in 1959. The Lowes live at 4000 West 86th Street, Indianapolis 46268.

Wilder Promoted

Joseph R. Wilder, a 1957 graduate in Business Administration, has been named Assistant Vice-President of Peoples Bank and Trust Company, the main office of which is located at 130 East Market Street, Indianapolis.

Joe came to Indiana Central from Dayton, Ohio. His wife is the former Joan Brown, '60. There are three children: Joseph, 7, Timothy, 3, and Lori Ann, 6 months.

The Wilders are members of the Center Methodist Church, located at Bluff Road and Epler Avenue. They live at 1033 West Epler.

Frenzel, president of Merchants National Bank and Trust Company will receive a degree of doctor of laws.

The Rev. Mr. Colpitts, pastor of the Crescent Avenue EUB Church at Fort Wayne, and the Rev. Mr. Gorbett, pastor of the St. James EUB Church of Evansville, will receive doctor of divinity degrees.

The Rev. S. Marion Smith, professor of New Testament at Christian Theological Seminary, will receive a doctor of humanities degree.

Merchants National is celebrating its centennial this year and Frenzel is associated with numerous business and civic enterprises.

The Rev. Mr. Colpitts is a trustee of Indiana Central and of Evangelical Theological Seminary and president of the Fort Wayne Ministerial Association.

The Rev. Mr. Gorbett is an alumnus of Indiana Central, president of the Evansville Ministerial Association and a director of the Evansville Council of Churches.

The Rev. Mr. Smith has held numerous ministerial posts, delivered "The Bible Speaks" lectures at the 1960 International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) and has contributed articles to several national religious publications.
Rho Chapter Attends National Sigma Zeta Convention

Rho Chapter of Sigma Zeta attended the National Convention at Macomb, Illinois, on April 8, 9, 10, 1965, and presented four papers: James C. Reber, "An Hypothesis on the Operation of a Siphon"; Gary Palmer, "Vitamins and Yeast"; Richard Rodebaugh, "An Anomalous Sandmeyer Reaction"; and Erwin E. Brown, "Relative Retention Data of Pyridine Compounds". Sue Stine, Robert Dicks, Dale Fletcher, Louise Yoh, Margaret Wright, Steve Sweetser and Dr. K. Kolitschew also attended the convention. Because of the excellent quality of programs presented at monthly meetings of Rho Chapter, planned by the vice-president, Richard Rodebaugh, the student organization of the Fall Fair, the quality of papers presented at the convention, the leadership of the president, James C. Reber, and the efficiency of the secretary, Sue Stine, our chapter came back from the convention with THE FOUNDERS CUP AWARD—an award to the one chapter in the United States which has been most active in the past year. This is the first time the Indiana Central College Chapter has won the award.

James C. Reber also received an honor award for his outstanding academic achievement and contributions to science.

The National Committee also accepted our invitation to hold the 1966 National Convention at Indiana Central's campus in April.

The officers for 1965-1966 are:
Richard Rodebaugh, president
Louise Yoh, vice-president
Sue Merrick, secretary
Margaret Wright, convention chairman

Fowl Earns Silver Wings

Second Lieutenant Gregory A. Fowl, '63 has been awarded his silver wings upon graduation from U.S. Air Force navigator training at James Connally AFB, Texas.

He is being assigned to Robins AFB, Georgia, for flying duty. His new unit is part of the Strategic Air Command, which keeps the nation's intercontinental missiles and jet bombers on constant alert. He received his commission upon completion of Officer Training School in 1964.

Evansville Area Alumni Meets

Indiana Central alumni who live in the Evansville area met Saturday evening, April 23, for a dinner meeting with The Rev. Robert and Anita Sachs as hosts. The Rev. Sachs is director of religious education at the Methodist Temple.

A very appetizing chicken dinner was prepared and served by Anita, who wanted to "do something herself" for her fellow alumni.

Dean Ransburg, director of Alumni Affairs, was accompanied to Evansville by Virginia Cravens, Executive Secretary, and Dr. Robert McBride of the Philosophy Department, who gave the address of the evening.

Besides the alumni of Evansville and Mt. Vernon, guests included three high school senior girls who have been accepted as students at ICC. One of these is the daughter of alumni Donald and Bonnie Polk Daugherty. A second daughter of The Rev. Don and Dorval Youngblood Gorbett will be among next fall's freshmen to join her sister Beverly, who will be a senior.

In addition to the Sachs, Daughertys, and Gorbetts, alumni present were the George Nicosons, Gene Crawford, the Edward Pences, and the Harry Moyers (Winona Boston).

Batty Bowling Champion

An Indiana Central graduate has recorded outstanding success in bowling since taking up the sport as a hobby in 1958. William E. Batty, '58 has twice been a member of the Phoenix All Star League championship team which carries the highest average in the state of Arizona.

Following graduation Bill moved to Arizona to work and took up bowling as a hobby. Within three seasons his average had jumped to 193, and last season he held an average of 196, his personal high. During the current season, he continues to set the pace with his three game series of 741 being the highest in the state.

During the 1962-63 season he was a member of the Phoenix City Championship team. The same season the ACBA (Arizona Classic Bowlers Association) was formed. Its membership of over 120 bowlers is limited to men who carry an average over 180, and its format is fashioned after the Professional Bowler's Association. Bill was elected to a two-year term as the first ACBA president.

Batty now has three ACBA tournament championships to his credit and is currently the leading money winner. He was runner up for the Bowler of the Year award in 1962-63, and finished third in balloting in the 1963-64 season. He was a member of the state ACBA tournament team both years.

In a short but illustrious career, Bill had accumulated 26 major awards. His personal highs include an individual game of 280 and the 741 his best series so far.

Bill, his wife (Betty Jo Smyser '50) and five children live at 3841 West Seldon Lane in Phoenix. In a recent communication to the Alumni Office, Bill extended an invitation to friends in the Phoenix area to stop in and visit. It might also be a good idea to bring your bowling shoes.

Hile Becomes Editor

Ralph Hile, AB824; LLD'61, formerly Senior Scientist, Great Lakes Biological Laboratory, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Ann Arbor, Michigan, has become Editor for the Bureau's Division of Biological Research. The new editorial and technical review unit, which will be located in Ann Arbor, has responsibility for the science reporting of 20 laboratories on the U.S. mainland and in Alaska and Hawaii.
Central’s Spring Sports Outlook Is Optimistic

Optimism for a successful spring sports program ran high at Indiana Central as the baseball, track, and golf squads prepared to open their seasons.

Things were looking bright for the IC baseballers, coached by one of the Greyhound’s all-time great athletes, Bill Bright. The veteran mentor formerly hurled in the Philadelphia Phillies’ farm system and, since coming to IC as baseball coach, has led the Hounds to three Hoosier College Conference championships. Bill’s overall record is 87-67 in seven seasons at Indiana Central.

Returning to bolster the Greyhound attack are ten lettermen, including leading hitters Tim Giles (.328), shortstop Phil Paswater (.321), and center fielder Steve McGee (.300). Leading home run slugger of 1964, Jerry Seay (.296), is also back, along with other veterans Jack Leonard, third base; Jim Brunnemer, first base, and catchers Armen Cobb, a four-year letterman, and Dick Elmore, who hit .308 in part-time duty last season.

Seniors Jerry Mullinix, leading hurler with a 7-2 record last year, and Charley Miller (2-0) are back to lead the mound staff.

Last season the Greyhounds finished third in the nation, (NAIA) in fielding with a .960 average. Defense again will be a strong suit; pitching is a question mark as Coach Bright will be counting heavily upon freshman Ronnie Cron, a Ben Davis grad, and Ed Hinshaw to fill out the hurling corps.

The Hounds opened up by dropping a 10-9 slugfest to DePauw University on the local diamond.

Head Coach Angus Nicoson and assistants Dick Reasoner and Jack Stabler are hoping to regain the Hoosier College Conference championship which the Hounds relinquished to Taylor last year. IC won the title in 1962 and 1963, two of six championships which Nick has coached.

Last season the Greyhounds won all six of their dual meets, the Earlham Relays and one triangular meet, and finished second in another before placing second to the Trojans in the HCC meet.

Sprint record-holder Pete Bullard developed a gland infection in his leg and missed the opening meet with Rose Poly April 7. “Pistol Pete’s” standard in the 220 is 22.0 and 48.0 in the 440.

Other than Bullard, the track team is in good physical condition. Returning lettermen are abundant, with sprinters Larry Keene, John Ransburg, Dave Smith and Roger Wathen all back. Keene holds the half-mile record of 1:55.6 and the mile record of 4:28.5, and Wathen set a new standard in the triple jump last year with a distance of 43’10½”.

Distance runners John Jarosinski (two-mile record holder at 9:44.7) and Wendell (Butch) Mozino, who have a friendly rivalry in these two events, give IC an excellent 1-2 punch and, along with letterman Steve Coffman and John Wiggins, Central is well set in this division.

Dennis Stone is IC’s only experienced hurdler.

In the field events Nick will need help from the freshman class, for the ranks are thin here. Henry Hopkins, who holds the IC record of 13’8”, and Clark Crafton, of basketball fame, give the Hounds a head start in the pole vault. Crafton also holds the IC javelin throw mark 187’4½”.

In the shot put, sophomore Dave Graves will be counted upon to carry the load.

Central, which has not won a conference golf title since 1960, has a greatly improved squad and a good chance to cop its first title under the tutelage of Paul Velez.

Velez has three returning lettermen in 1964, low-medalist Dave Wise, junior Dick Beeson and basketball star Jack Noone. To go with this nucleus, Coach Velez has Phil Cramer, a transfer student from Indiana University whom Velez is counting upon to fill the void left by the graduation of Captain John Keating. Dave Paino, John Fischer, Tom Firestone and Dave Smartz will vie for the other spots.

During Velez’ two-year term as golf coach, the Hounds have finished second in the HCC both times. Last season the linksmen compiled a fine 8-2 dual meet record.
