An Interesting Letter:
Dr. J. B. Hunley ‘39
To Dean Ransburg

I received your letter recently. You noted my change of address and wondered if there might be some personal news as a result of the change.

Yes, there is. I retired from the Air Force (30 years) the first of August ’66 at Keesler AFB, Miss., having served at Keesler Hospital the last four years of active duty.

Friends of mine may recall that when I graduated from ICC in 1936, I went to St. Louis University. After graduation there I practiced dentistry in Princeton, Ind., until called to service during World War II. Returned to private practice and was called as a reserve dental officer again early in the Korean War. Have served in Europe, Africa and the Far East during my stay in the service.

The wife and I have owned and managed Antique shops for almost 20 years. We have three antique shops in Louisiana with headquarters in Shreveport known as Antique House.

I am back in private practice again and also am an antique auctioneer in a wide area. I took a course in auctioneering at Reich American School of Auctioneering in Mason City, Iowa while on active duty in the Air Force. You know I had debated through high school, at Oakland City College (AB1928) and while at ICC. Always did like to speak; so auctioneering lets me blow off steam as well as get diversion from being in so close in the dental office.

Caring for flowers, shrubs and garden and helping with crippled children in the Shriner’s Hospitals take up most of my spare time.

My motto has always been “Always busy,” and I’ve kept it that way.

Regards to all my friends in and out of ICC. I cherish fond memories of that school.

Sincerely, “J.B.”

Crowe Elected

Ray P. Crowe, ’38, Director of Athletics at Crispus Attucks High School, Indianapolis, won a seat in the Indiana House of Representatives in the November election. The erstwhile coach of Attucks’ state championship basketball team ran on the Republican ticket.

New Hospital Important Addition to University Heights Area

Alumni who have not been on the campus for a few years will, when they do come, find a great many improvements not only in the original University Heights but in the surrounding area. There are new churches and new schools, thousands of single-unit dwellings and an unbelievable number of many-unit apartments. Indianapolis has grown to Greenwood both by way of new Road 31 and by Madison Avenue through Edgewood, Homecroft and Southport. There are shopping centers, of which Greenwood Center is reputed to be the largest in the state.

An important addition just north of the campus and with a Carson Avenue address is University Heights Hospital, originally built by a group of doctors as a convalescent home but later converted into a regular hospital of 122 beds.

The hospital has just recently been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. It is one of five hospitals participating in the United Hospital Drive to provide funds for future expansion.

A spokesman for the hospital stated: “For the past three years, the board of directors, the medical and administrative staffs of University Heights Hospital have had a most gratifying experience. During this period we have seen the development of a Nursing, Laboratory, X-Ray, Dietary, Inhalation and Therapy and Administrative Staff of which we are justly proud.”

Now that the hospital is accredited, a part of Central’s nursing students are going there for their clinical training. Previously all went to Community Hospital, at whose urging Indiana Central established her nursing department.

Community’s superintendent stated, “We must have more beds, but we can’t use more beds unless we have more nurses.” Some of our graduate nurses are serving at Community and some are at University Heights. Mrs. Helen (Mosier) Beeman, a former Indiana Central school nurse, is night supervisor there.
Bulldog, Greyhound Alumni Tangle

In the main encounter, Hinkle directed his Bulldog alumni and Nicoson his Greyhound former players. During the intermission there was entertainment by Butler's Halftime Honeyes.

Admission to the doubleheader called for a 75-cent donation by students or $1.25 by adults. All proceeds went to the Southside Boys Club, 1941 E. Hanna Ave.

Religious Emphasis Week

From Sunday, November 13, 1966 through Friday, November 18, 1966 the campus was busy with Religious Emphasis Week activities.

Rev. William R. Marlow, Chaplain of Albright College, was the leader for the week. Challenging worship services, informal discussion groups, personal counseling, and a closing dedicatory communion service filled the week.

This year's R. E. Week was one of the most successful of our R. E. Weeks. Student participation was larger than usual. Major topics discussed were: "A Less Than Human World," "Developing Christianity in the Home," "Morality of College Life and Sexual Crisis," "Christian Leadership on Campus," "Responsibility in a World of Crisis," and "Learning to Believe." Discussion and sincere searching often lasted until 1:00 A.M. or 2:00 A.M.

The impact of Chaplain Marlow's leadership will be of lasting value throughout this year.

Rita Robinson and Richard Boyce were the student co-chairmen of the steering committee.

Alumni Appear In Print

Two articles by Indiana Central alumni have appeared in the August-September issue of The Instructor Magazine, a magazine known to all elementary teachers.

Dr. Russell Robbins, '49, Assistant Professor of Education, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, is co-author of a chart of development, a rather extensive chart showing the emotional, social, and physical characteristics of the child through kindergarten - eighth grades.

Mrs. David (Rosalie Rapp '54) Eiler has an article entitled "Child-family Project."

Neighbor College to have Campus Center

Indiana Central's students and alumni are happy to read that Franklin College is to have a campus center. And we congratulate her. Our brief experience with our new Schwiszer Center makes us realize how much Franklin's students and alumni will enjoy theirs. A special edition of the Franklin, student newspaper, says that a fund drive among students, alumni and friends for $1.5 million center has begun.
Dear Classmate of 1926:

On June 4, 1966, Alumni Day, thirteen members of the Class of ’26 met on the Indiana Central College Campus for a reunion. We attended chapel for which Don Emery was speaker, and had a luncheon and smorgasbord in the beautiful dining room of the new Schwitzer Center. In the afternoon the group gathered for a brief business meeting and a period of visiting. In the evening Blanche held open house in her home on Maynard Dr., where we visited and reminisced.

We regret to report the death of Mary C. Marshall in March of this year.

Jo Albin could not attend the reunion but did talk to Blanche. She teaches in Galesburg, Illinois.

Otto Albright and wife, Marguerite, have moved to Indianapolis and are teaching in the city schools.

Fred Armentrout continues to work at Allison’s. Alice Black has joined the ranks of the retired after a teaching career.

Marcella Cornetet continues to teach in Plymouth, Indiana. Clarence Liechty and wife, Mabel, divide their time between Florida and Indiana. They return here to visit children and grandchildren.

(John) Bill Newberg and wife came from Miamisburg, Ohio where he teaches math in the high school.

Eddie Pence flew in from Mt. Vernon, Indiana where he is a counselor in the high school. He suffered a coronary last fall but looks well now.

Blanche Penrod continues her school career in the capacity of dean of girls in Southport High School.

Myrtle Banks Scholl and husband, Ellis, now live in Polo, Illinois, where they have built a house.

Rusty Settle and wife live in Indianapolis, but travel to far off places like Spain and Mexico.

John Sharp and wife live here, and John teaches in Wood High School in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Jasper Stradler and wife, Laura, came from Portland, Indiana where he is semi-retired.

Howard Ulsh was visiting members of his family in this part of the country and took time to attend the reunion.

Olene Gilliatt McKittrick called from Washington, Indiana, during Open House to extend greetings to everyone.

Carl Mendenhall and wife sent greetings from Fort Frances, Ontario. Since he retired in 1965 they have travelled 15,000 miles and have had a trip to Hawaii.

Herman Speith sent regards from the campus of U. of C., Davis, California, where he is chairman of the zoology department. He has returned to teaching and research after ten years of administrative duties. His only son, a Marine, has returned unscratched from Viet Nam after a year’s tour of duty there.

I wish I could relate all the interesting news about individuals in our class. It is inspiring to hear the accomplishments of each person and to see the progress that is taking place at I.C.C. If you did not attend the class reunion this year, we missed you. We shall look forward to seeing you at our next meeting.

Respectfully,

Alice Black, Secretary
Blanche Penrod, President

Eheremann Elected To Public Relations Society

Forrest J. Eheremann x42 of United Utilities, Inc., Kansas City, Missouri, has been elected an Active Member of the Public Relations Society of America.

After leaving Indiana Central, Eheremann studied at Indiana University. He began his career with the United Telephone Company of Indiana in 1946, moving to his present position with the parent company in Kansas City in 1961.

The Society, founded in 1948, has 5,200 professional public relations members in 58 chapters throughout the United States and has as its major goals the advance of public relations as a profession, the improvement of the practice of public relations and voluntary accreditation of all qualified members.

Windell Goes to University of Colorado

The University of Colorado's news service has informed the alumni office that John T. Windell, '53, has been named Associate Professor in the biology Department of that institution. Windell is a specialist in ichthyology—the study of fishes. He received his master's and doctor's degrees from Indiana University.

He was an assistant professor at Indiana University last year and he has been a research assistant in the Indiana Aquatic Research Unit. He was assistant professor in physical education and football and track coach at Indiana Central from 1958 to 1961.

Following is a letter from him to Dean M. Ransburg:

About a year ago I received one of 20 letters of invitation from the International Biological Programme to participate in, and present, a review paper on Rates of Digestion in Fishes. The title of this meeting was the Biological Basis of Freshwater Fish Production. The meeting is part of a seven-year international biological programme, organized by a subsidiary of UNESCO, which includes international research projects on food production and human welfare.

The papers presented at the meeting ranged from reports on the factors which affect the growth of fish and their food supplies to discussion of the part freshwater fish production has to play in human nutrition and well being.

More than 250 scientists from throughout the world attended the meeting, which lasted a week. It was held at the University of Reading, Reading, England. My paper was well received and will be a chapter in the symposium volume. While there I was asked to contribute another chapter (Chapter 9) for a handbook on basic research methods. I am presently working on it.

Susie and I attempted to combine business with pleasure and took a guided tour through eleven European countries. It was truly a wonderful experience and one we will long remember. In fact, we can't wait to return.

My new position has turned out to be quite a challenge. I now find myself in charge of a General Biology course with 900 students. There are 460 in my lecture section (something like Indiana University) and I must use a microphone and overhead light projector. I am also in charge of 38 laboratory sections with 24 students per section, 15 graduate teaching assistants, 2 preparators, a dishwasher, and, most important, a fine secretary. I also handle a one-hour discussion section each week. I have decided that in my spare (?) time I am going to climb mountains and learn to ski.

When one of his colleagues was asked to describe him, he replied, "He is a great teacher... I don't think anyone in the University's psychology department has the student following Dr. Harter has." Another fellow faculty member said, "It is impossible to attend any psychology association meeting anywhere in the country without having someone come up and say, "How is Dr. Harter? I was one of his students."

Letters to Alumni Office

A note from the Rev. David Saunders '52 came too late to be printed in the May NEWS and was overlooked for the October NEWS. Sorry. He writes:

Janesville, Iowa
April 29, 1966

Dear Friends:

We are still in Janesville, but might move come Conference in June. We added one more to the roll call this last Nov. 18, Amy Jo. That makes 7. The last two are ours: Lila 20—freshman S.C.L., Linda 15—8th grade, Deborah 9—3rd grade, Tom 7—1st grade, Bill 5, John 2½, and Amy ½.

(We on the campus are proud of the many alumni who have adopted into their homes children who are in need of the love and protection that Centralite homes can give.)

Another letter dated April 30, 1966:

I am writing this letter to bring my records at the Alumni Office up to date.

After leaving Indiana Central in Jan. of 1962, I transferred directly to Purdue University and received my B.A. degree in January, 1964. Prior to graduation, however, I was married to Allen Medlock on September 2, 1963. After Allen obtained his master's degree from Purdue in June of 1964, we returned to Indianapolis to await our first child and start a new life. Allen started working at Allison Division of G.M.C. that June, and our darling daughter Melissa Marie was born on October 8, 1964.

Since then we have started to build a new home on the south side of Indianapolis, which will be ready for occupancy some time during October of this year.

I have sent in my letter of intention to the graduate division of I.C.C. and hope to obtain my master's degree before Melissa goes to school.

After June we will be traveling to Anchorage, Alaska at Elmendorf Air Force Base. We are looking forward to living in our 49th state. This tour of duty will be for three years.

Byron, our first and only, is 21 months old. Our new address is Mrs. Jane Coake Grams '57 c/o David R. Grams

Don Merryman '56 writes:

My new position, which was effective Oct. 8, 1966, is sales manager for Detroit District Standard Oil Company. Carolyn and I, Brenda and Bradley are now settled pretty well and are very happy in the motor city.

We moved to Grosse Point in August. Since then I was promoted to the new job mentioned above, and the promotion did not involve moving.

A letter from Mrs. Loren Hoch '50 (Emma Lou Craig X52) has asked that their address be changed to 306 Tulip Tree House, Bloomington, Indiana and adds, "We shall be there until Sept. 1, 1957, but we don't want to miss an issue of the ALUMNI NEWS."

From G. Shubert Frye '27, Phoenix, Ariz.

My move to Phoenix constitutes a slight shift in my responsibilities in the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., with which I have served for the past five years.

I am an Associate in the Division of Church Strategy and Development with national responsibilities for strategy planning in ministries with Indian Americans and migrant agricultural workers, and coordination and liaison relations for the Division in the Southwest.

The region includes southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

The Indian ministries are concentrated in Arizona, Oklahoma, New Mexico, South Dakota, Montana and in a number of other states.

As an associate in the Division, I relate directly to the headquarters office in New York.

Charles (Class of '52) has passed his 13th anniversary as Title Officer of Trans-American Title Insurance Co., formerly Phoenix Title and Trust Company. We have two girls, Tammy, age seven and Lori, born August 18, 1964. Both Charles and I are singing in our church choir. Charles assists on the organ, and I am director of the junior choir of 40 members. After taking a two-year trainee course in the Bethel Bible Course, I am teaching the course to the members of the congregation.

We moved a year ago February into a two-story, four bedroom Townhouse. This new idea of condominium housing was written up in Parents Magazine. Shared by all residents is a playground, club house, and swimming pool. Having no yard work to do any more frees us on weekends to go camping and explore the beauties of this state.

We were on campus last summer the end of June for a very brief visit. Walked through the new Science Building and rediscovered the old

School in England is different from Education in America, but we note that the system being used does fit the needs of Britain. Basically people and children the world over are the same. Only the methods of teaching are different.

After I graduated from Central in '59, I taught for seven years in the Indianapolis Public Schools. I completed my M.S. at Butler University last summer in School Administration. My husband, Lonnie McIntyre, is also a teacher in Indianapolis Public Schools. He graduated from Purdue, B.S., '57, and M.S. in Education from Butler, summer 1966.

Being an exchange teacher is something I have always dreamed of. Getting to know the rest of the world helps one to understand that the world does not revolve around us in our own private worlds. It gives an idea of how vast the world is and yet how man has succeeded in making it smaller through communication and transportation.

Should any of my I.C.C. friends want to write to me, I shall be pleased to hear from them.

From Rev. Edwin Crause A60, 4/5/66

Upon leaving Central in 1960 I entered Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville and was graduated from there in 1964. I was assigned the Granite City, Illinois EUB Church and served there until September, 1965.

At that time I asked the Illinois Conference for two years without assignment. I am finishing out my first year Master's Degree program in Rehabilitation Counseling from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Illinois. While I am doing this I am serving at the West Frankfort-Antioch charge of the Methodist Church. My friends accuse me of jumping the gun.

Of course you know our daughter Barbara is a freshman at Central this year. I cannot give any idea of future plans as they are not clear at this time.

Barbara Bean, Peace Corps Volunteer writes from Ecuador:

Saludos Amigos:

I have been here in Ecuador for two months and am still in the process of settling in. I am stationed in the town of Riobamba—geographically in the center of Ecuador. The town is in the Sierra Mountains. Riobamba is supposed to be a town of 40,000-45,000 people. And yet I couldn't believe the figure when I heard it. Where were all the people? The town itself is about the size of a town in the States of 5,000. I have finally decided that they are all here and not hiding. The Ecuadorian families are so large and one-room living quarters so limited that towns here are surprisingly small for the population.

I am living in the center of town with a one-room setup, plus separate bathroom facilities. I have running water—all cold—which works most of the time. Two or three times a week all water ceases for the afternoon. I do have electricity, but it definitely would not be considered good by your standards. In November this area is supposed to have a new hydro-electric plant, which will help throughout the entire Chimborazo province. If it does come, as promised, it might even bring an industry to Riobamba—a slowly dying city with no industry, no ambition, nor cultural events.

Besides the one room I have, the landlord decided I should have a small room for a kitchen. Three weeks ago two Ecuadorian carpenters started the project.

As for my work, I am still dawdling somewhat as far as a schedule goes. I am working partly with an organization known as the Escuela Radiofanica. This is a system of educational radio programming along with a 4-month course for Indians all over Ecuador. At the end of each course, the Indian returns to his community and teaches his neighbors what he has learned. I find the work with the Escuela interesting and varied, and I hope to work more with it as my language ability increases. One day a week I travel out to the campo to work with a 4-F club. I love working with the girls there because they are genuinely interested. Three days a week I have an English conversation class in the new YWCA in Riobamba. The class is from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m., and for that reason is composed of all boys. They have studied English grammar in school and now want conversation practice.

Some of the Ecuadorian customs and actions that upset me when I first arrived don't bother me much anymore. There is one thing now, however, that has been slowly driving me out of my mind. That is the Latin music. I don't mind it in moderation, and I can turn off my radio when I've had enough. But what do you do when someone has a loud speaker below your room? I have been hearing music from 8:00 in the morning until 10:00 at night. I can't mention the small matter of disturbing the peace —first because there is no such thing; and second, I don't know how to phrase it in Spanish. I must figure out something—and soon.

This is an election year for Ecuador. Even though this is an important campaign, the public doesn't hear much from the candidates until about a month before the election. One of the already announced presidential candidates was in Riobamba two weeks ago, and the parades, music and fireworks ran all night. I remember the problem because I live on the main street in the center of town.

That's it for personal news for the moment from Ecuador. In case you have a little extra time and would like to write, we love to get mail. My address here is:

Casilla #179
Riobamba, Ecuador

Hasto luego! until more news,

“Happiness Is” was A Success

The slogan for Homecoming this year was “Happiness Is,” and October 15 was a happy day in spite of rain in the forenoon and sudden cold in the afternoon. However, the rain prevented the tennis and cross country contests. The football game in the cold afternoon went to Taylor 21-0.

Emphasis was on building decorations rather than on float decorations, as formerly. Kraner was first in dormitory decorations, Lambda Chi in over-all decorations, and freshmen in class competition. The Fellows luncheon was well attended. Fellows are those alumni and friends who pledge $100 each year to ICC.

Considering the weather, the dinner-dance was surprisingly well attended. This feature of Homecoming was co-sponsored by the seniors and the Indianapolis Area Alumni Club, of which Dr. Charles Dill, '50, is president.

Armstrong’s Team Unbeaten

Don Armstrong, ’52, in his second year of coaching football at Columbia City, has an undefeated team. With his characteristic modesty, he says: “Full credit must be given to a truly outstanding group of boys who last year were 1-7. They worked hard to get ready for this season’s 9-0 record. We were blessed with two fine assistant coaches.” To summarize, Don says:

1. 2nd undefeated team in history of school—last 1945
2. 1st conference champ since 1945
3. 2nd winning team in last 14 years
4. Scored 212 points; opponents 49
5. Best win, Plymouth 7-0. Their only defeat.
6. We have 12, well spaced lettermen.

Congratulations, Don.

Evansville Area Club

The Evansville Area Club held its fall meeting on Friday evening November 4, 1966 at the Evansville College Memorial Union. Don Gorbett acted as chairman and host for the group of 18 alumni and friends of the college. Following a new established pattern the group gathered in the comfort of the lounge, went through the cafeteria line and ate together in a private dining room reserved for the occasion.

Professor Robert C. Coker of the economics department, the guest speaker for the evening, was introduced by Director of Alumni Relations, Dean M. Ransburg. Mr. Coker’s topic covered conservatism and liberalism in economic theory past and present.

The group set the next meeting date for Friday evening, April 28, 1967.

Children Of Alumni Win Honors

Of the ten members of the 1966 class who graduated with high honors three are children of alumni: Richard W. Cravens, son of Dr. Sherman and Marjorie Cravens; Richard M. Rodebaugh, son of Myron and Geraldine Gilliatt Rodebaugh; and Mrs. Mary-dee Meyer West, daughter of Hilda Becker Meyer.

Of those graduating with honors the following are children of alumni: Mrs. Phyllis Liechty Dumm, daughter of Clarence and Mable Karstedt Liechty; Alice Sue Findley, daughter of Albert Findley; Janet Kathleen Lovell, daughter of Rev. Wilson Lovell; and Beverly Gray Morgan, daughter of Harold and Dorothy Key Gray.

Alumni in New Mexico Mission School

Dale E. Robinson of ’52, in his second year as superintendent of the Edith McCurdy School at Santa Cruz, New Mex., now has on his staff Don ‘54 and Mary (Huston) ’54 Hilton and Lloyd ’66 and Linda (Wyatt) ’62 Muterspaugh. Dale’s wife, the former Margaret Ewert ’53 is busy with church and social service work as well as with her three children.

The Rev. Maurice Bonecutter ’55 is also on the staff of the school.

Art Exhibit

The Art Department of Indiana Central offered another exhibit recently. An exhibition of recent paintings by Claudine Paluzzi was on display in the Art Gallery of the Leah Ransburg Fine Arts Center from Friday, September 30 to Friday, October 21.

Are You a Booster?

Are you a “booster” for your alma mater? Do you talk about Central?

Are you a member of an area club?

Oh! You have never heard of an area club. This is a group of loyal alumni who meet several times a year, near your home. Here “old grads” meet “new grads.” They talk about their experiences at Central. The Alumni Director is usually present to relate up-to-date college doings. A professor or two is invited to participate also. Some area clubs have special projects, which boost Central. On special occasions an area club visits the campus. Some visitors are astonished at the changes that have occurred since their graduation. If you desire to be an active member of such a group, contact your alumni office for details.

Did you take a thoughtful look at a recent publication from the college, entitled, “Eleven Years of Growth”? These improvements represent only a part of Central’s growth. There are academic growths also, and as Central grows and improves so does the value of your education.

There are many more improvements that could take place. These changes need raw products, such as students and financial support.

Do you encourage high school juniors and seniors to take a good look at Central. Do you point out the advantages of a small church related college? Why not bring those students to the campus. You can be proud of the physical plant. The new Schwitzer Student Center is an outstanding example of a building, built for student use.

There are many services a college can provide for its alumni. There are many services the Alumni Office can provide, but these items need time and money to prepare, and time is money. A college can’t exist on tuition and fees alone.

So as you think about your blessings during this season of the year, couldn’t you resolve to write a check to your college each and every month or year?

Your college can improve only as fast as you desire. Look on page 16 of “Eleven Years of Growth” and see how your class has responded.

As Dr. Esch has said, “We invite you to join the ‘circle of the concerned.’”

P. K. Smith, President Alumni Association
Battle-scarred and beat were the gridiron men of Indiana Central after a long hard season. The Hounds couldn't get any breaks this year—except bones—that would fire up the team. All season Coach Paul Velez had one, two, sometimes three starters out with injuries. Central had only victory against eight defeats, finishing last in the Hoosier College Conference. Below are the scores of three losses for a fourth place finish.

In non-conference play they split two matches with Bellarmine and lost to Goshen for an over-all two lost only one single match each in HCC competition.

The fleet-footed cross-country team compiled a season's record of 6 victories, 1 defeat and 1 tie in the dual-meet competition. In other meets, they finished second in the Wabash Hokum Karum and third in the Earlham Invitational, behind Taylor and Earlham. The Hounds won the Greenville (Ill.) College Invitational (8 teams competing) defeating defending champion Culver-Stocon and the 1964 winner, Washington University of St. Louis.

Pacing the Greyhounds for two seasons has been Fritz Hohlt, one of Southport High School's outstanding distance runners. He had been coached in high school by an ICC graduate, Tom Hathaway. Hohlt is backed up by Greyhound's Harold Brown and Gary Osburn. Central finished third in the HCC race. The HCC cross-country standing:

Tuition Raised

The Business Office of Indiana Central has announced that a tuition increase has been approved by the board of directors and will become effective with the 1967-68 academic year. The raise will make the tuition $1,100 a year or $550 a semester. Leo A. Miller, treasurer and Business Manager of the College, said the new figure still is among the lowest tuitions of the church-related and other private colleges and universities in Indiana. He said no change in the charge for room and board is contemplated now; the cost remains at $700 a year.
