When in 1961 Arthur Goldberg was appointed Secretary of Labor, Wirtz, then a specialist in labor law, was the ideal choice for his assistant. Potter Climbs Toward Top
FRANKLIN LIFE INSURANCE CO'S publication has the following to say about Henry E. Potter, '39:
"Records continue to fall to this dynamic leader. It's hard to realize that Hank Potter and his associates were the nation's 49th ranking premium producers only two years ago. Today they stand second and promise to be second to none in '67. Their dramatic 144% increase in just 24 months label them as the team to beat."

Roll Call Report
A report from Ivan Moreman, our Roll Call chairman, shows that the amount received from alumni is ahead of that this time last year, but it also shows that a goodly number of those contributing last year have not done so this year. If all those who contributed last year would repeat this year, we would easily reach our goal of 1,200 contributors. While we are glad for a good-sized contribution and can use the money for faculty salaries, we are interested in the number of contributors even with small checks. One of the large industrial companies has agreed to give in proportion to the increase of giving over that of last year.

Will you help us with a check?

Don't Forget
Don't forget that you are invited to sing in the alumni chorus at the dinner hour on Alumni Day. Rehearsal time in the afternoon will be announced on the program of the day, which you will receive on registering.

Don't Forget
If you are a member of a class whose number ends in 2 or 7, don't forget that you are due for a reunion in Schwitzer Center on June 3. You will be assigned special and sufficient tables in the dining room so that you may sit together for lunch. Please remain at your tables until your pictures are taken.

Then, if you wish, you may retire to one of the many conference rooms in the building for a business meeting or a gab fest.

Not all of the class of 1942 have indicated whether or not you will be here on that day. Please send your reply card. It is important that we know.

ALUMNI DAY IS FOR EVERY ONE, NOT JUST FOR THOSE WHO BELONG TO A REUNIONING CLASS. COME JOIN US FOR THE ONE BIG DAY OF THE YEAR.

Dr. Granger E. Westberg, dean of the Institute of Religion at the Texas Medical Center in Houston, delivered the sixth annual J. Balmer Showers lectures in the Christian Religion at Indiana Central on April 17 and 18.

Kathleen Boger Marries
(From Auburn, Indiana, Newspaper)

WEDDING VOWS IN VIENNA
Mayor and Mrs. Clarren L. Boger wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathleen, to John Wachel of Appleton, Wisconsin, on March 21, in Vienna, Austria.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wachel are enrolled at the University of Vienna. They are currently on leave from Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, where they both have been teaching.

The new Mrs. Wachel is a graduate of Auburn High School in 1960 and of Indiana Central College, Indianapolis, in 1964. Mr. Wachel received his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1964 and Mrs. Wachel received her master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1965.

According to the newlyweds they will continue study toward their doctorate degrees as long as the money holds out, and that Vienna is such a perfect place to be married, but then it was inconvenient. Five weeks were necessary to obtain the marriage license (being foreigners), however, it took but 10 minutes for the marriage ceremony, which was recited part in German and part in English.

They are at home at the following address while in Vienna: Mr. and Mrs. John Wachel, c/o Frau Helmigg-Kaller, Gusshausstrasse 98, Vienna IV, Austria.

Alumni Artists
Works of two ICC alumni are to be found in Curriculum Bulletin number 78, issued by the Board of School Commissioners of the Indianapolis Public Schools. This book is a collection of art, prose and poetry by members of the staff of the Indianapolis Public Schools to refute the old cliche: "Those who can, do; those who can't, teach."

The alumni with their works are: Carl Jensen, oil painting "Landscape #7"; Larry Cox, water color "Wyan-dotte Hill."

Both of these artists teach at George Washington High School.

Jennings to Head Council
The Reverend Mr. Charles Jennings, ’50, has been elected to head the Delaware County (Muncie) Council of Churches. He was doubly honored in the Annual Assembly of this council when he also received a beautiful award from Muncie Radio-TV stations WLBC for five years of distinguished service in the field of religious broadcasting. He has headed the Communications Department of the Council of Churches for five years, and for five years prior headed the same department of the Lake County Council of Churches while living in Gary, Indiana.

Mr. Jennings received his divinity degree after three years of study at United Theological Seminary (1953) of Dayton, Ohio. He was appointed to the La Foret Pastor's School of Colorado Springs, by the Indiana - Kentucky Conference of the United Church of Christ. He spent this past summer at La Foret with over 60 other graduate students who entered into intensive theological and psychological study under teachers from Yale, Chicago Seminary, Eden Seminary, and Pacific School of Religion.

The Eastern Association of his Church, The United Church of Christ, has re-elected Mr. Jennings as its vice president.

There are about 180 churches of many denominations in the Muncie area, most of which affiliate with this council. He has also been named as official delegate to this summer's General Synod of the U.C.C., the national body, which will meet in Cincinnati.

Mr. Jennings also heads the Theological Education Committee of the Indiana-Kentucky (U.C.C.) Conference and is a member of the Church and Ministry Committee of the Eastern U.C.C. Association of Churches.

Charles and his wife Lois (Nico-demus), 48, are the parents of three children, Timothy 16, James 12, and Cheryl 8. They have lived in the North Muncie area for five years, where Charles is pastor of the Eden United Church of Christ.

Have You Heard the Latest?
Do you know that you can now make a gift to your college at a considerable savings if you live in Indiana?

The new Act by the State legislature will allow as a credit against the income tax imposed an amount equal to 50% of the tax, or $50, whichever is less.

This applies to taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 1967.

Example: If a single taxpayer with an adjusted gross income of $20,000 makes a gift to Indiana Central of $100, he will receive a tax credit of $50 against his Indiana tax. He will also receive a Federal tax benefit of $23, so that his $100 gift will cost him only $27. ($100-$73)

Or in the case of a joint return with an adjusted gross income of $10,000, by giving $80 to Indiana Central the full credit of $40 may be utilized. With a reduction also of $9.00 in his Federal tax, the cost of his $80 gift would be $31 net.

The above is, of course, an approximation, since tax results vary because of special circumstances, to be determined by your tax advisor. As one example, the Federal tax savings depend upon whether the taxpayer itemizes deductions.

In any event, there is no question about the States' intention to reduce the cost of contributions to educational institutions.

Have you taken advantage of this opportunity to help your alma mater? Your Roll Call check, today, will gladden the hearts of your Roll Call Committee and its chairman, Ivan More-

Reverend Brett Goes to Terre Haute

The Reverend Leland L. Brett, pastor of the Indianapolis Belmont EUB Church since 1958, has been transferred to United Methodist Church in Terre Haute. He writes: "We had not planned to move from Belmont, but intended to stay there and also teach again at Indiana Central's Evening Division, but being in an 'itinerant' church brings about some changes, and so we consented to make this move to a situation with much promise but many difficulties to work through.

"We were assigned along with a Methodist minister to a situation where the Montrose Methodist and the Otterbein EUB Churches of Terre Haute had voted to unite as one Congregation. . . ."

"The people have been wonderful to work with and we feel that this will be a very fine and progressive congregation that will work a program to meet the needs of the people and to be a great influence, we trust, for Christ and His Kingdom."

From the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam

Moves on; nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,
Nor all your tears wash out a Word of it.

500 Central Students Get $400,000 in Aid

More than 500 of the 968 full-time students at Indiana Central College are sharing in financial aid exceeding $400,000 for the 1966-67 year.

The largest category is the $137,000 in ICC scholarships and grants awarded to 315 persons. Part of this total is made possible by the gifts of numerous individuals.

Indiana Scholarship Commission guaranteed loans provide $30,600 for 42 students; Federal Educational Opportunity grants to 37 students amount to $17,500; and federal nursing student loans of $8800 go to 17.

Miscellaneous loans account for another $2200 for four students. And not included in this tabulation is several thousand dollars of loans to students from Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania, which are guaranteed by agencies of those states.

Leo S. Miller, college treasurer, in announcing these figures explained that in some instances a student might be receiving more than one type of financial aid.

Turley's Sabbatical

THE ELDER STATESMAN, a news sheet put out by the University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri, has the following article:

"Roy Turley spent part of his sabbatical leave ('65-'66) from Otterbein College at Ohio State University. He studied the effect of tetraccline antibiotics on protein synthesis in cell free systems, and wrote a review on the biosynthesis of tetracyclines which will be published by Academic Press. Then in February '66 he was a part of a team of 12 men invited by the United Church of Christ in the Philippines to participate in a project of introducing the concepts of community organization in a slum area in Manila. At Otterbein he is currently chairman of their chemistry department and is coordinator of research and development projects."

High Hopes, Dismal Disappointment

Again this year the Greyhound basketball team copped the Hoosier College Conference championship and subsequently won the District 21 playoffs that gave it a ticket to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics National Tourney title play at Kansas City.

The team, cheer leaders, announcers and loyal fans, 150 strong, drove to Kansas City in justifiable hope of being victorious in the first game, which was played on Tuesday afternoon. Though, according to the critics, the boys did a superb job of playing, they could not equal their fifth-seeded opponents in free throws, and the game ended in an 81-81 tie.

Another five minutes brought defeat for the Greyhounds and victory for Tennessee Wesleyan, 94-89.

"Ford City" graciously furnished two station wagons to carry the team to Kansas City. Waiting by the cars are (center) Nathan Wooden, dean of students, and Bill Bright, assistant coach. Standing by is Nathan's daughter Debbie, who would like to go with Daddy. In the background is John Swank, a reserve guard, the sophomore son of Everett, '37, and Kathryn (Duncan) Swank, FS36, of Greenwood.

Mrs. LeAlice Briggs, Mrs. Pauline Vermillion, and Mrs. Kay Flake, members of the nursing faculty, conducted the capping ceremony. (This ceremony is usually in charge of Miss Virginia Sims, Chairman of the Nursing Department. Miss Sims, however, was recovering from a hospital experience.)

He has served George Washington High School 38½ years. The reason for the special convocation was the imminent retirement of Dr. Marshall.

For many years Dr. Marshall has been a tireless servant of ICC, both as a member of the Board of Trustees of the college and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. He has been no less faithful to his church, the University Heights United Brethren Evangelical Church, being a regular attendant at worship services, a member of the Board of Trustees, a delegate to General Conferences, a treasurer of the Indiana Conference South, and a teacher in the Church School. In Memoriam

Harold E. Achor, '28, died February 2, 1967 in Community Hospital, Anderson, Indiana. He was a former Indiana Supreme Court judge, and lay leader in the Church of God. He resigned from the Supreme Court on December 12 and entered the hospital with a heart ailment two weeks before his death. A 1931 graduate of Indiana University School of Law, Judge Achor taught speech and political science at Anderson College from 1932 to 1937 while practicing law at Anderson. He continued to practice law as a member of the firm of Achor and Peck until 1942, the year he was elected to the Madison Superior Court.

In 1950 he was elected to the Indiana Appellate Court for a four-year term. He served two consecutive terms on the Supreme Court, beginning in 1957. During his years on the state's two highest courts, he commuted by bus to Indianapolis. He announced last April that he would not run for re-election.

While in Indiana Central College, Harold majored in history, was president of Zetagatha Literary Society, was on the debate team for two years, a member of the dramatic club for three years, and a representative on the State Peace Oratorical Contest.

For 35 years Judge Achor served the Church of God in many capacities. While teaching at Anderson College, he met and married Miss Helen L. Martin, daughter of the late Dr. Earl L. Martin, vice-president of the college. Mrs. Achor survives. There are also two daughters and three brothers, among whom is the Reverend Homer Achor, pastor of the Industry Evangelical United Brethren Church of Muncie, Indiana.

Memorial services were held in the Park Place Church of God, of which he was a member, and burial was in East Maplewood Cemetery, Anderson.

The following is an editorial from the INDIANAPOLIS STAR:

MAN OF CONSCIENCE

Harold E. Achor, former Indiana Supreme Court judge, was an excellent man of law, but he had the extra insight that saw into the depth of human complexity that would be hard even for a diety to unravel. He was a man of conscience.

Too many courts of justice merely "process" people as though they are vegetables on a conveyor belt or chunks of machinery on a factory line. Judge Achor looked not only into the anguish that lies in human spirits but into the damage that is done by haste in thoughtless, cold execution of legal processes.

This man loved the law and gave it dignity. Such men always do. The respect due the law is due in large measure to men like Harold Achor, whose thought and conscience did not rest when he looked into the letter of it and saw the meaning behind it, and when he applied it to the actualities of existence.

He was devout. He worked hard. He was observant. He was friendly. He kept up a constant communication with friends and acquaintances and was quick with compliments even for strangers.

Judge Harold Achor tried hard to mend the torn fabric of relationship that ends in divorce. He sensed guilt when he granted divorce. There is no measure or way of measuring the good that this honest, conscientious man brought into many lives, but it is certain that his example struck deep into many hearts.

Two Alumni Resign

Two ICC alumni basketball coaches have resigned their positions, effective at the end of this school year.

Bill Green, '56, head coach at Cathedral High School (Indianapolis) for the past three years, has resigned after taking the underdog Irish teams to the Hinkle Fieldhouse sectional finals two straight years. He is one of a dozen candidates for the head basketball job at Manual High School, his alma mater. The post was made vacant by the resignation of Woody McBride, who has been head coach at Manual for two years.

A Job Well Done

Now that the basketball and football seasons are over, a special word of recognition needs to be extended to Dr. Charles Dill, president, and the Indianapolis Area Alumni Club for providing coffee and donuts after each home game. The project was initiated and directed by Dr. Dill with a varying number of alumni attending each session. The Alumni Officers and Board of Directors welcome this type of involvement and commend Dr. Dill for his efforts.
College Names Minister To New Staff Job

Dr. Marshall W. Chambers of Fort Wayne has been appointed to the newly created position of director of church relations at Indiana Central College, President J. Lynd Esch has announced.

Dr. Chambers, who is superintendent of the Fort Wayne District of Indiana North Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, will begin his new duties on August 1. An ordained minister serving in Northern Indiana for 24 years, Dr. Chambers is a 1940 graduate of Indiana Central and a 1943 graduate of the United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio. In 1960 Indiana Central awarded him an honorary doctor of divinity degree.

Mrs. Chambers, the former Maxine Black, graduated from Central in 1942. Their daughter, Rebecca, will receive her degree at IC this June. Dr. Chambers has been a member of the college’s board of trustees and of its executive committee since 1959. His father, Dr. Bert E. Chambers, was a trustee from 1950 to 1964.

In his new position, Dr. Chambers will be responsible for the major lines of communication between the college and its church constituency, the present EUB congregations in the two Indiana conferences and in the South District of the Illinois Conference.

He will be available for personal appearances and presentations to church board and councils and in the pulpits of congregations upon invitations. He will be responsible for arranging for other groups and individuals from the college to represent it in the churches, and for various church groups to visit the campus.

“Indiana Central has expanded at a rapid rate, both in program and size, in recent years,” Dr. Esch stated. “The church constituency also is expanding. Communication between church and college is of great importance to each. With his years of close association with both church and college, Dr. Chambers is eminently qualified for the responsibilities of this new position.”

Fisher to Leave Indiana Central

Lawrence F. Fisher, who as assistant professor of speech and dramatics has produced some unusual plays at Indiana Central College in the past two years, has announced his resignation, effective with the close of the school year.

“I am really too young to settle down to a single position for the next 30 or so years,” said the 26-year-old Fisher. “I have much to learn and experience before mastering the speech and theater arts, and staying in one place too long at so early a stage in my career could eventually be an unwise decision.”

He added that he doesn’t know yet what his plans will be but that he hopes to become a play director in the professional theater.

Mr. Fisher holds a master’s degree from the University of Michigan, but he spent much of his time in England at the University of Birmingham and as an apprentice at the Royal Shakespeare Theater. After returning to the United States to finish his graduate work, he taught a year at Culver-Stockton College before coming to Indiana Central.

“Although my association with Indiana Central College has been a congenial one for the most part,” Fisher said, “I often find that the theater arts are not taken as seriously as the musical or graphic arts—which is a shame because of the great instructional values of the theater.

“Mounting a play can provide learning situations for young people who have interests and abilities in acting, directing, lighting, sound, costume, make-up, scene design and construction. The sad thing about it is that few small colleges permit the theater arts to take root, for one ill-defined reason or another.”

In his first year at Indiana Central, Fisher directed and produced Beckett’s “Waiting for Godot” and three Albee one-act plays, “The Zoo Story,” “The Death of Bessie Smith,” and “The Sandbox.” This year his productions have been Anouilh’s “Thieves Carnival” and Sartre’s “No Exit.”

Fisher’s significant contributions to the theater arts have been recognized by drama critics and other observers of the Indianapolis scene.

Sports Review

Indiana Central closed its winter sports program with the annual banquet. Tom Carnegie, sports director of the WFBM station, was master of ceremonies.

Jack Noone, a senior guard from Indianapolis on the basketball team and Dale Sidebottom, an Indianapolis junior wrestler, shared top honors in the awards.

Noone, a graduate of Sacred Heart (now Kennedy Memorial) High School, received the Dr. William P. Morgan award as the most valuable player, was chosen honorary captain by his teammates, and earned a trophy as one of the Greyhounds named to the all-Hoosier-College Conference team.

Sidebottom, who attended Southport High School, was handed awards as the most valuable member of the wrestling squad, for making the quickest pin, and as honorary captain. He also receive a certificate for being named to the all-conference team, as did Steve Kinnaird and Marlowe Mullen, both of Indianapolis.

Phil Honnold, Pendleton, senior forward, won the Ray Bloomingdale rebounding award and was recognized as a member of the all-district 21 team of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The honor of being chosen the basketball player with the best mental attitude went to Roger Wathen, an Indianapolis Manual graduate who was a senior center on the Greyhound team. He was recognized also for being chosen for the all-HCC team and the all-district second team.

The Chuck Zopf free-throw award was shared by John Beebe, a Warsaw sophomore, and Bob Smock, a sophomore from Hebron; and honors for the most assists went to Al Williams, Ben Davis sophomore.

Angus Nicoson, head basketball coach and athletic director of Indiana Central, was cited as being chosen coach of the year by both the Hoosier Conference and the Indiana District of NAIA. He and his team were cited also for participating in the NAIA national tourney at Kansas City and Nick for his just-completed year as president of the NAIA.

The wrestling team was honored for placing second in the HCC and for a good season, considering that Coach Paul Velez had seven freshmen to build up for that conference meet.

The 1966-67 basketball season ended in high style at Kansas City. The Greyhounds were defeated by Tennessee Wesleyan in overtime 94-89. Tennessee Wesleyan was seeded number 5 in the tournament. It was by far the best game of the year, but IC could not hit its charity tosses well enough to win.

The baseball team has had great pitching, but poor hitting and fair fielding. It has lost seven one-run games. Jerry Seay pitched a no-hitter and got beat 1-0 against Georgia Southern.

The track team is getting ready for the HCC meet. It will be tough to beat Taylor, but Coach Ed Dwyer feels the Hounds have a chance.

Kenneth Partridge, who played golf at Central as an undergraduate a decade ago, is new coach of the linksmen this spring. He has been assistant director of the Industrial Relations Center in the Evening Division office since 1963.
