Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois since 1955, will speak at the 63rd annual commencement at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 2.

At the graduation exercises, beginning at 6 p.m. in the Physical Education Building, the speaker will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

Dr. Henry heads a system of educationally autonomous campuses of the University of Illinois—at the Chicago Circle and the Medical Center, also in Chicago, and the oldest one at Urbana-Champaign. He also has been or is president, chairman or a member of several influential organizations of colleges and universities and other educational agencies.

He was born at McKeesport, Pa., and earned bachelor, master and doctor of philosophy degrees at Pennsylvania State University. He holds honorary degrees from a score of schools and belongs to 13 honor societies. He has written and spoken widely on educational subjects.

Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indianapolis will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 2, and receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The baccalaureate service will be in Ransburg Auditorium at 11 a.m. The degree will be conferred at the 63rd annual commencement at 6 p.m. in the Physical Education Building.

Bishop Raines has been head of the Indiana Area of the Methodist Church, which merged with the Evangelical United Brethren Church on April 23 to become the new United Methodist Church.

Bishop Raines was born at Independence, Iowa, and graduated from Cornell College in Iowa and Boston University School of Theology. Both have conferred honorary doctorates on him, along with Iowa Wesleyan College, Baker and Illinois Wesleyan universities, the universities of Evansville and Main, Christian Theological Seminary, and Yonsei University in Seoul, Korea.

WELCOME HOME

“Coming home is wonderful” say the Blue Cross Blue Shield ads. It is indeed and it can apply to much more than coming home from the hospital after an accident or illness. It is more aptly applied to returning to your Alma Mater after a few years of absence. It is wonderful to see changes that have taken place. We hope that they are, mostly at least, for the better. It is wonderful to see friends of former years and to reminisce about the “good old days” spent on the campus. It is wonderful too for those of us who have remained on the campus to have you “come home.” It is a thrill just to have an opportunity to say hello, to have the privilege of a few minutes to visit and exchange greetings and information. Yes, “coming home is wonderful!” and Alumni Day is just around the corner.

There are no new buildings since last Alumni Day but there is one on the drawing boards. The campus itself hasn’t changed much in the year except for the completion of the enlargement of the library through the conversion of the lower floor from dining room to library. This new Krannert Room is a very excellent addition. You will want to see the IC archives room, the seminar room, the reading laboratory and all the other added facilities. For those of you who are teachers or interested in the teaching profession it will be thrilling to learn from the Education Department what it has been doing with the new portable television equipment which the Jordan Foundation has provided for us.

But much more than facilities or even academics, Alumni Day is people. Very wonderful people. People you know, people you should get acquainted with, people who have much in common because of common experiences, goals, ideals and purposes. This is why “coming home is wonderful.” We will try to have the halls waxed, the grass cut, the hedges trimmed, Hanna Avenue open and we will be looking for all of you on June 1.

ICC Rings May Be Purchased

Indiana Central College has recently signed an agreement with Josten’s Inc. of Owatonna, Minnesota to provide the official Indiana Central College ring. This announcement is of particular interest to alumni who may still desire to purchase a college ring. The company has agreed to put the year of graduation and the degree on the ring at no extra charge.

The Alumni Association was representative in the discussions through interest expressed to Alumni Board member Richard Reasoner. Reasoner met with college officials to determine what arrangements could be made for interested graduates.

The ring will be available in three price ranges for men and two for women. A display has been set up in the college book store, however brochures describing the rings are available through the Alumni office upon request. The Alumni Association is happy to announce this added service to our graduates.

Spotlight On Asia At Indiana Central

“Focus on Southeast Asia” is the theme of a series of five lectures and two films at Indiana Central College late in April and in May.

The program was planned primarily for students in the History of Western Civilization but it is open to anyone without charge. The Department of History and Political Science and the Division of Social Studies are sponsoring it.

Dr. Roland T. Nelson, chairman of the department, explained the purpose by saying:

“In a series of film studies, lectures, and small-group discussions, we will seek not to impose definitive answers to problems, but to provide some background material for useful discussion of the issues.”

Each event is in Ransburg Auditorium at 9:35 a.m. and ends before 10:30. The schedule:

Thursday, April 25—“The United Nations; What It Is and How It Works,” by Dr. Wilmert H. Wolf, associate professor of history and political science.

Wednesday, May 1—A film presentation explaining and defending the United States’ position in Southeast Asia.

Thursday, May 2—“China’s Doorstep,” a summary of the history of countries in the area by Dr. Nelson.

Thursday, May 9—Two lectures on aspects of Southeast Asia: “Religious Ways of Life,” by Dr. James A. Weber, professor of Bible and religion, and “The Empty Rice Bowl,” by Robert C. Coker, assistant professor of economics.

Thursday, May 16—“Centuries of Suspicion,” Frederck D. Hill, associate professor of history.

Thursday, May 23—“The Social and Psychological Effects of Our Involvement,” by Marvin L. Henricks, associate professor of sociology, and Richard E. Wiehe, instructor of psychology.

Roll Call Report

A recent item in the Wall Street Journal noted that alumni funds in many schools are running far ahead of expectations. Officials are finding that the average gift is substantially larger than last year and that a greater number of alumni are responding to the funds. Why? No one knows for sure, but analysts credit a greater awareness of the needs plus the wave of students about to hit as factors behind the increasing generosity.

Rich Reasoner, Alumni Roll Call Chairman, reports that I.C.C. alumni are being more generous but he is concerned with the number that have yet to respond this year. "We have high hopes of reaching our goal, but it will depend upon some positive reaction during the final two months," he stated. The 1967-68 response is running about one month ahead of last year's. With the campaign due to end on June 30, 1968, there is plenty of time to achieve the $35,000 goal the alumni committee set for the Association.

A most encouraging sign of alumni support is the number of new alumni Fellows. With about one-fourth of the year remaining, we have already surpassed the number of Fellows enrolled during all of last year. Dr. C. W. Dill, Alumni Fellows Chairman, listed the following additional names since the last issue of the Alumni News:

Ralph and Catheryn Lausch
Merrill and Loris Hoban
Roy and Alice Black
Kenneth and Hallie Sidebottom
William and Wilma Scharbrough
William and Eileen Morrett
Carl and Nellie Hauswald

There is still much work to be done before the final day arrives and the annual giving report is prepared. If you have not sent your check to Alumni Roll Call this year, do so today. As individuals we can do much for our Alma Mater and today's students if we each will do something. The need is there and the time is now. The theme is Progress Toward Excellence and I.C.C.'s continued progress depends on our support. Every dollar is important; so send your check today.

It Doesn't Seem Possible

It doesn't seem possible that we are already planning for Alumni Day 1968. Yet your announcement and reservation information should soon be reaching your mail box. I hope that you will make every effort toward spending June 1 on the campus at Indiana Central.

During the past year we have accomplished several things which it will be a pleasure to report to you at our annual meeting. I think that you will be proud of the progress of the college and the progressive support given by the Alumni Association.

Yet, there's always the haunting feeling that there is so much more that could and should be done. I have a great deal of pride in Indiana Central and what we have accomplished. But I always wish that I had more time to offer to my Alma Mater. I know from talking with many of you that you feel the same way too. How many times do you and I miss the chance to provide a service to ICC and our fellow alumni?

For example: When we move, do we notify the Alumni Office? When we change jobs or receive a promotion, do we notify the Alumni Office? When we have children, do we notify the Alumni Office? When we think about the needs of today's students, do we send a check to Alumni Roll Call? When we receive an honor, or an advanced degree, do we tell the Alumni Office? None of these things takes much time or effort; but they are so often overlooked, and this creates a lot of extra work in the office.

We all have many opportunities to talk with pride about our college. We talk with friends, neighbors, business associates, prospective students, potential donors and many others. I hope you will never pass up the opportunity to tell others about the tremendous growth and progress underway at our Alma Mater.

If you haven't seen the exciting changes on our campus, better plan a trip. Why not be here for Alumni Day when you can see both the campus and former classmates? We are looking for the biggest Alumni Day in history on June 1, 1968, and I hope that each of you can be a part of it.

Robert L. Theil, President, ICC Alumni Association.

Beasley Announces For Top School Job

James R. Beasley X87 of Odon, Republican nominee in 1964 for superintendent of public instruction, has announced his candidacy for the same office at the GOP state convention on June 18 in Indianapolis.

Richard D. Wells of Valparaiso is the present incumbent and has also announced his bid for reelection. Beasley said he is not fighting Wells but believes "my qualifications are better." Former Daviess County superintendent of schools, Beasley says he does not see any need for a special legislative session to bail out financially troubled school units, as Wells has recommended.

Brinkley Lectures At Indiana Central

David Brinkley, NBC news correspondent, spoke at Indiana Central College on Saturday, April 20. His lecture, the closing event on this season's Artist Series, was heard in Ransburg Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Brinkley has been a news reporter and commentator with the National Broadcasting Co. since 1948. He began his journalistic career with the Wilmington (N.C.) Star-News in 1938-41, and then was with the United Press in 1941-43. He was born in Wilmington in 1920.

Brinkley is bemused by such incidents as the time he was covering a 1964 political campaign in Oregon and he attracted more attention than the primary candidate he was covering. He insists he is a news reporter and not a television personality. He is tall and lean—6 feet 2 inches and 170 pounds—and has brown hair and blue eyes. He lives in Chevy Chase, Maryland, with his wife and their three sons.

News From Syracuse University

In the average American home, television is watched just over six hours a day, or more than 40 hours a week, Dr. John E. Rider writes in his new book "The Student Journalist and Broadcasting."

Rider, an associate professor in the television and radio department of Syracuse University, said his book should be of special interest to the high school student. It is a text in the Student Journalist Guide Series, he said. The series covers every phase of journalism.

Rider wrote: "Television broadcasting is only 20 years old, and radio is less than 50 years old. Yet, no communication device in history can equal their impact on the world." He quotes the Roper study which reported that television has become the source of news for the majority of the people, and that where there was some conflict in the truth of a statement or situation, most people turn to television for the answer. Newspapers were second and radio third.

The subject of broadcasting is examined from many different points of view, from history to job opportunities. The book gives samples of educational radio programming and has a glossary of radio and TV terms.

The book is profusely illustrated with photographs taken in the studios of Syracuse television station WSYR.

John left Indiana Central to serve in World War II with the rank of Lt. (jg.) in the Navy. After his discharge he returned to the campus to earn the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1947. From 1947 to 1949 he was Director of Public Relations at Indiana Central. From 1949 to 1956 he was teacher of speech and drama in the Hammond, Indiana, Public Schools. While there he was the popular director of the choir of the First Methodist Church.

In 1956 he went to McMurray College, Jacksonville, IL as teacher and director of Public Relations. In 1958 he left McMurray to go to East Lansing, Michigan where he earned a Ph.D in Communications from the University of Michigan in 1963, after having taught for a time in Austin, Texas.

Since 1965 he has been living in DeWitt, NY and teaching in Syracuse University, NY.
Two Indiana Central Seniors Are Honored

Suzanne Rodebaugh and James G. Ton, both seniors, have been selected as the Outstanding Teachers in Training at Indiana Central College by the Indiana Council for Social Studies.

Each year the council selects from each nominating college or university one outstanding student who plans to teach social studies in elementary schools and another in secondary schools. The council met recently at Purdue University.

Eligibility requirements for the award include scholastic record recommendation by the professor supervising each candidate’s student teaching, participation in campus life, and potential for contributing to the teaching of social studies.

Each person chosen will receive one-year memberships in the Indiana Council for Social Studies and in the National Council for Social Studies.

Miss Rodebaugh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Rodebaugh ’40, and attended Southport High School. Ton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ton of Chesterton, Indiana, where he went to high school.

Central Student Heads Indiana Business Club

College Announces Increased Tuition

Indiana Central College has announced a $100 a year increase in tuition effective in September, 1968. The cost for twelve to sixteen semester hours in 1968-69 will be $1,200 compared with $1,100 for the present academic year.

Lesser increases were announced for board and room charges. Room will cost $450 a year, an increase of $20, and board $280, a rise of $10.

Leo S. Miller, treasurer and business manager of Indiana Central, explained that rising costs of higher education make the increases necessary.

He added that the adjustment is in line with those being made by other private colleges in Indiana, and that the tuition cost at Indiana Central will remain among the lowest being charged by other private, accredited, four-year colleges in the state.

ICC Alumnae Operates Kindergartens
Mary Ann (Kennedy) Nieman, former Centralite '38, has been operating private kindergartens in Perry Township for more than twelve years. Since there are no public kindergartens in the township schools, there is a great need for the privately operated ones. Mary Ann leases space in different churches where there are facilities that can be used during the week for kindergartens.

There are at present four locations for kindergartens:
- Nieman's Kindergarten in Southport Baptist Church
- Community Kindergarten in St. John's United Church of Christ
- Calvary Kindergarten in Calvary Lutheran Church
- Heights Kindergarten in the EUB Church at 4002 Otterbein

This year Mary Ann has five groups (a double group at Community). Mary Ann teaches one group and hires her own teachers for the other groups. She feels this pre-school training is very important for the five-year-old and is endeavoring to add to the educational programs now available in her community.

Several of her teachers have enriched their education by taking advantage of Indiana Central's Evening School. Two of these are attending Central full time this year.

Another kindergarten with both morning and afternoon sessions is taught at Faith United Church of Christ by Jane (Ringo) Wangelin '42.

There are two other kindergartens in Perry Township, not taught by ICC alumnas.

Science Fair Held At ICC

The 16th Central Indiana Regional Science Fair was again held at Indiana Central College on March 28, 29 and 30th. Over 1250 students of grades 4 through 12 from Marion and the six surrounding counties exhibited their science projects in competition for hundreds of awards. Indiana Central College gave two half-tuition, four year scholarships as part of these awards.

The Fair was operated under the general direction of Dr. Robert M. Brooker and under the specific direction of Mr. Alan Cole, a junior science student at the college. About 40 other students helped in the running of the Fair.

Judges for the Fair, 150 of them, came from industrial concerns and academic institutions in Central Indiana. Several of the judges were ICC Alumni.

Two Central Graduates Are Third Generation Members At College

When the Indiana Central College graduation exercises were conducted on Sunday, June 4, two seniors upheld family traditions—being graduated from Indiana Central. Miss Rebecca (Becky) Chambers, Fort Wayne, and Richard (Dick) Leiter, Kokomo, represented the third generation of their respective families to attend the Indianapolis college.

Becky, a music major, is approximately—she has lost count—the 25th person in her family to enter Indiana Central. Dick, a history major and political science minor, is the 10th from his family. The first ones in each family were the recent graduates' grandparents.

Burt Ellis Chambers finished his high school at Indiana Central, then took two years of college work. Mr. Chambers entered Bonebrake (now United) Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, and became an ordained minister of the present Evangelical United Brethren Church, a prevalent occupation among the Chambers men.

Dick's maternal grandfather, the Rev. A. B. McKain, graduated in 1910 from Indiana Central, where he met his wife, Vera, a classmate. The Rev. Mr. McKain is a retired EUB minister and a former ICC trustee.

Mr. Don Siebert and Mr. Leo Miller look on as Mr. Gilbert Siebert presents the keys to a 1968 Oldsmobile to President Esch for use by the college. Siebert Oldsmobile of Shelbyville, Indiana is loaning the car to Indiana Central for a year, at no cost, as another step in their community services project that they carry on to help various non-profit organizations in the state better serve the community.

The list of Indiana Central College graduates in both families includes several aunts and uncles. In Becky's family the following people are included: Aunt Winnifred (Winnie) Chambers Kurtz, a 1931 graduate, now teaching elementary school in Brook; Aunt Agnes Chambers Connell, a 1932 graduate, a former teacher now working in a post office; her son Phil attended one year; Uncle John Chambers, 1937, also a graduate of the seminary, is serving a church in Kokomo; his son, Joe, a 1966 graduate, is in seminary at Dayton. Aunt Ruth Chambers Mender, 1942, is teaching art and music in the elementary schools at Fowler. There are numerous other cousins who have also attended.

Becky's father, Dr. Marshall Chambers, graduated in 1940, then entered seminary. Recently serving as superintendent of the Fort Wayne District of the EUB Church, Dr. Chambers has become the first director of church relations at Indiana Central. The former Marjorie Maxine Black, Becky's mother, is a 1942 graduate with majors in English and history. She finished her last year of college work at the seminary after her marriage. Mrs. Chambers worked as secretary for Dr. I. J. Good, former president of Indiana Central.

Mrs. Chambers' sister, Mrs. Ruth Kraft, graduated from ICC and is teaching junior high home economics and managing the cafeteria in a county school near Lafayette. Mrs. Kraft's husband, Kenneth, is also an ICC graduate and a minister, serving the Lafayette Grace EUB Church.

Dick also has several aunts and uncles who graduated from Central. Aunt Esther McKain, 1939, graduated on a two-year normal course. Aunt Mary Alice Catlin graduated in 1943, followed by her husband, Glen, in 1946. They now live in Philadelphia, where he is camp director for the Presbyterian Church. Aunt Lois Hoban graduated with an A.B. degree and her husband, Merrill, with a B.S. in education, both in 1947. He is athletic director at Northwestern High School in Howard County.

Dick's parents began college at Indiana Central but received their degrees elsewhere. Mr. Leiter graduated from Manchester with a B.S. in 1949, and in 1954 received his M.S. from Ball State. Mrs. Leiter was a 1960 Butler University graduate with a B.S. in elementary education and received her M.A.T. from Ball State in 1966. Both parents are teaching in Kokomo, he in junior high history and she in elementary school.

Teaching is a popular profession in both families.
Two Indianapolis men, a business executive and a lawyer, have been nominated to become president-elect of the Indiana Central College Alumni Association.

They are Ralph A. Coddington, production manager of J.I. Holcomb and Co. plants, and Gene W. Lausch, a member of the legal staff of the Marion County Metropolitan Plan Commission. Coddington is an alumni trustee of the college and lives at 3615 S. Rural St. Lausch, 3304 Tara Rd., is a member of the alumni board of directors.

The president-elect, who will assume office in June, 1969, and five members of the association's board of directors, will be chosen in a mail ballot. Other officers will be elected by the board at its meeting June 1, Alumni Day.

The ten persons nominated for five board positions are: Thomas A. Anthony, a production supervisor at International Harvester Co.; Mrs. Mary Ann Winebener Dalton, director of instrumental music at Perry East Junior High School; H. William Fisher, Eli Lilly Credit Union assistant treasurer and loan officer; George Keenan, physician and surgeon; Mrs. Geraldine Chandler McBride, business education teacher at Southport High School; Paul K. Instruments Join In Concert

A seven-piece chamber music group from Europe and a singing sextet from New York City joined forces in an Artist Series concert at Indiana Central College on Friday night, March 22.

The Riverside Singers were organized ten years ago and make a concert tour each season. Most of them received their early training at the Juilliard or Eastman schools of music.

Die Kammermusiker (the chamber musicians) of Zurich, Switzerland, are from a different country and background, but they have been playing together since 1960.

The first half of the concert at Indiana Central was Die Kammermusiker’s performance of Suite in D Major for Strings and Continuo by J.A. Baentz, Violin Concerto in E Major by J. S. Bach, and Don Quixote Suite by G.P. Telemann. After the intermission the chamber group accompanied the Riverside Singers in the opera “Jephthah” by Giacomino Carissimi, based on an Old Testament narrative in the Book of Judges.

New Catalog Ready

New college catalogs for 1968-1970 have been received from the printer and are available for distribution. The book has an attractive blue cover and the interior format has been revised. A preliminary mailing should now have been received in all schools utilizing college catalogs.

Alumni can perform a service to the college by checking in the schools where they teach to see if the 1968-70 Indiana Central catalog is included with those from other colleges. The Alumni office will be happy to be of assistance in placing the new catalogs if alumni will let us know of needs.

The institute will meet each Saturday for three hours throughout the school year. Participants will receive an allowance for travel and books and will pay no fees or tuition.

Dr. Brooker states that this institute is an excellent opportunity for teachers to obtain additional knowledge of science and mathematics and to become better acquainted with the newer course content materials developed in recent years.

Eligibility rules state that a person must hold an appointment to teach one course in science or mathematics in grades 7 through 12 in a public, private or parochial school.

ICC Baseball

This year's Indiana Central baseball team is full of pleasant surprises for Coach Bill Bright. With the return of juniors John Swank and Tim Wilson the Hounds expected to have good pitching again this season, but the freshman pitchers have given the staff unexpected depth. Bill Smock, Jim Hedges, Charley Elliott, and Mickey Thomason are all freshmen who have at least one victory to their credit and are led by Thomason who has pitched two shutouts.

The other eight starters in the lineup are all hitting over .250 to give Central more hitting balance than usual. Third baseman John Wirtz is leading all hitters with a .440 batting average.

Central won four games in a row to even their record at 6-6. This included an HCC record of 1-1.

The early seasons was highlighted by a spring tour to Georgia over the Easter vacation. After the Hounds slow start, it was on this trip they began to hit consistently. Probably the happiest moment on the trip was when IC downed Georgia Tech 3-2.

With the bulk of the conference schedule still ahead Coach Bright and the team have high hopes that they can win the HCC race and earn a berth in the NAIA Play-offs.

Successful Wrestling Coaches

Three Indiana Central alumni were represented in the Indiana state high school wrestling tournament in February. Coach Lou Hurle '60 had a wrestler from his Cathedral High School team finish fourth. Coach Cleo Moore '64 had a state champion at 165 lbs. from his Indianapolis Wood High School team.

Coach Al Morgan '59 of Franklin Central High School was runner-up to state champ Elkhart. Morgan's team compiled 23 points on the strength of one champ in 138 lb. class, a runner-up at 108 lbs. and a third place in the 120 lb. class.

Morgan's champion, Dale Barnard, received the outstanding participant award for the state meet. Barnard was second in the state as a sophomore, won the title as a junior, and repeated as a senior.
