Bishop Armstrong

Bishop James Armstrong, head of the Dakotas Area of the United Methodist Church, will be the baccalaureate preacher at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 1, at 11 a.m.

Dr. Armstrong, always popular with college audiences, was a frequent speaker at Indiana Central during his 10 years as senior minister of the 3,200-member Broadway United Methodist Church in Indianapolis.

He was elected to the episcopacy by the denomination's North Central Jurisdiction last July, making him the youngest United Methodist bishop in the United States.

Bartle To Deliver Commencement Address

Dr. H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City, MO, a man of varied interests and almost as many careers, will speak at ICC's 64th annual commencement Sunday, June 1.

For 27 years Dr. Bartle was chief executive of the Kansas City area of the Boy Scouts of America. He is interested also in many other youth movements, such as Boys Clubs, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Y's and others.

His concern for youths led to his forming the American Humanics Foundation, which helps young people prepare for professional leadership in youth serving organizations. Indiana Central is one of four colleges where the foundation has cooperated in establishing departments for this training.

Dr. Bartle was mayor of Kansas City from 1955 to 1963. He has spoken before countless church, civic, educational professional and other organizations throughout the United States. The son of a minister, he is a Presbyterian elder and frequently fills pulpits. He was president of

Looking Ahead and Behind

We wish to express very sincere thanks and appreciation to all of our alumni and parents for the splendid way in which they worked to support the proposed "Tuition Equalization" legislation in the Indiana State Legislature. The end result was not satisfactory. In fact the most generous thing that probably can be said about the way the State Scholarship program ended is that it is tragic. This does not lessen our appreciation for the very effective work which our people did. The legislation passed both houses of the legislature by overwhelming majorities; 38-7 in the Senate and 80-8 in the House. The law so passed was sent to the governor, who, on the last day, vetoed it.

To make the total scholarship situation in the State even worse the budget for scholarship funds was so reduced that there will be essentially no funds for scholarships for entering freshmen in September. We believe in governmental economy. In fact we have advocated it strongly for years. But there is an old adage about being "penny wise and pound foolish," which seems to us to have direct application to this situation. The democratic processes, in which we all believe, have operated this time to our disadvantage and we believe, to the disadvantage of the public good. Fortunately we can have another opportunity and we will need to marshal our forces in readiness for the next legislature. It has been said truthfully that education is expensive. It is getting more expensive. The only thing which is more expensive than education is ignorance.

Meanwhile the Development Campaign is making progress. We are pleased to announce that pledges to the date of this writing are in excess of $1,200,000 toward the $5,000,000 goal. It is obviously a long way yet to that final goal but the start has been most encouraging. Obviously there are many persons who believe in Indiana Central and the quality of education which it presents and they are willing to support it. More than 100 Indianapolis business and professional men are at work on the campaign giving their time as volunteers to call on more than 425 corporate and Foundation prospects. We owe each of them a very great debt of gratitude.

When this reaches you it will be nearly time for Alumni Day and all of the Commencement and year end activities. We hope that you will plan to include these programs in the long Memorial Day weekend. It is such a good time to renew acquaintances, see all of the campus developments and enjoy the inspirational services. We love "company" and will be looking for you.

From The Alumni President
by Dwight Smith

While the energies of your Board of Directors for the year 1968-1969 have been concerned with operation of the Association, the normal routine as it were, the Board has had much more on its mind.

The principal emphasis has been the long-range posture and program of the Association. A series of studies, some of which hopefully will continue into the future, were instituted concerning the role and purpose of the organization. Much thought has been given to these matters.

Discarding organization for organization's sake and not subscribing to the notion that Indiana Central must have an alumni association simply because no self-respecting school would be without one, the Board is searching for philosophical justification and challenge for the Association and for ways of implementation of a constructive program.

To this end, for example, the Board is exploring just how tangible and constructive help can be rendered to the College in such areas as student enlistment, public relations, and after graduation employment placement. Some aspects of past participation, largely passive roles, are being discarded, and more meaningful and activist programs are being introduced.

Careful scrutiny of the constitution of the Association has brought extended deliberation and study. Special committees as well as the committee of the whole are putting together a new document. When it is completed it will be submitted to the membership for its approval and ratification.

Be it known that serving as your president for the year 1968-1969 has been a genuine pleasure and a real privilege. It has been such because the dedicated and hard working Board members, the Executive Secretary Virginia Cravens, the Director of Alumni Relations Dean Ransburg, and his indispensable and ever faithful secretary Wanda Stohry have made it so.

Registrant Assistant Resigns

After more than twenty years as assistant to the registrar of Indiana Central, Miss Maudethel Cullom resigned to take a position as secretary to the academic dean of Blackburn College at Carlinville, Illinois. She wanted to be near her aging parents, who live about 20 miles from Carlinville.

Miss Cullom’s father died less than a week after her going home. Our sympathy goes to her.

Seventy Central students are student teaching this semester in various schools in the Indianapolis area. Fifty-two are in the secondary schools and eighteen in the elementary schools.

High School Counselors Are Entertained

Thirty to forty high school counselors from a number of states, mostly from east of Indiana, were on campus Tuesday afternoon, March 4. This was the first of four groups who visited Indiana Central, Butler, Marian, and Franklin at the joint invitation of the four colleges' Admissions Offices.

After spending the entire afternoon touring the complete campus and exploring its buildings, they had dinner in the guest dining room of Schwitzer Center, where they were entertained by the Centralairs. After dinner they were invited to attend the ICC-Hanover game. Some accepted the invitation. Others were too tired after walking over the Franklin campus in the forenoon and the Central campus in the afternoon.

The next day the group visited the Butler and Marian campuses. Other groups will visit the four colleges on March 11 and April 15 and 22.

One hundred twenty-five workers have been recruited under the honorary chairmanship of Herman C. Krannert, chairman of the board of Inland Container Corp., who is a trustee and benefactor of the college.

Dr. E. G. Plum, vice president for development of Indiana Central, presided at the meeting. He is co-chairman of the campaign with Leo W. Shumaker. Both men are retired Indiana Bell Telephone Co. executives.

Dr. Plum reported that satisfactory progress already has been made in the advance gifts solicitation.

The fund drive is one phase of a campaign to add $50 million to Indiana Central's assets by 1985. The immediate objective is to provide substantial additions to Lilly Science Hall, Louis Schwitzer Center, and the Physical Education Building.

At present a five-story dormitory is being built on the campus. Its financing was arranged before the present fund drive.

Indiana Central Admitted To Foreign Study Ass'n

Indiana Central College has been admitted to membership in the Association of Colleges and Universities for International-Intercultural Studies, Inc., (ACUIIS) which conducts an accredited summer study program at the University of Graz in Austria.

The ACUIIS is composed of more than a score of colleges and universities, all related to the United Methodist Church, for developing international education through a combination of academic excellence and ethical motivation.

The association's programs are designed to introduce the students to foreign cultures in their original environments. In a well-balanced encounter with contemporary problems, the participants are encouraged to seek creative interpretations and responsible answers.

The University of Graz (pronounced grahts) was founded in the 12th Century and the city of Graz is 900 years old. The ACUIIS Center at the university has both American and European faculty members and a mixed student body. Its purpose is to help students to achieve a deeper mutual understanding and appreciation by living and learning together in an international atmosphere.

This summer's program will begin July 3 and end August 23. A week-long field trip, coming in the fifth week, is designed to deepen the students' understanding of the area. This will include instruction at universities in countries adjacent to Austria by their professors and the Center's faculty, providing the participants a unique opportunity to encounter different ideologies and attitudes.

Dr. Wilhert H. Wolf, associate professor of history and political science, is chairman of Indiana Central's committee to administer the college's participation in the Graz program.

Other members of the committee are Dr. Leonard T. Grant, dean of the Evening and Graduate Divisions and associate professor of history; Marvin L. Henricks, professor of sociology; James P. Lamberson, assistant professor of music; and Dr. Marga Meier, associate professor and chairman of the foreign language department.

Dr. Robert E. Cramer, academic dean, is an ex officio member, and year of college credit by July 1 may apply for admission to the Graz Center program.

Students from ACUIIS member colleges will earn credit for their study at Graz on the same basis as in courses taken on the home campus. Students at non-member schools may have the committee itself select student members also.

Students who have earned one full arrange to participate in the study program through a member and have the credit transferred to his own college.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Henricks and their two youngest children, Ann, 17, and Ted, 11, will participate in the summer study program at the University of Graz. They will leave New York with the group on July 3, and return on August 23. Mr. Henricks will read, attend lectures, and observe in the area of social structures.

The family will live in the dormitory and share in the University life as much as possible. They are looking forward to visiting the museums and historic places in and near Graz. As part of the trip they plan to spend two weeks in Sweden.

Another faculty member, Dr. Howard Rushong of the Education Department, plans to join this group.

A student, David Geible, a junior, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Merrell Geible, Syracuse, Indiana, will also study with this group.

ICC President Is Honored

Dr. I. Lynd Esch, IC President, was one of four men cited by the Indianapolis Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management for their significant contributions in practicing and advancing the arts and science of management. The dinner at Holiday Inn Northwest was attended by two other representatives of the college, Dr. E. G. Plum, vice-president for development, and Dr. Gene E. Sease, administrative assistant to the president.

The others honored by SAM were Richard Lugar, Mayor of Indianapolis; Willard D. Fason, president of Bio-Dynamics; and J. Fred Risk, President of Indiana National Bank. Dr. Esch's citation was read by Tom Anthony of International Harvester, a 1964 graduate of Central.

Gossman Is Promoted

Among the many men affected by the organization changes in production and material control at General Motors Truck and Coach Division is Joe Gossman. From time of graduation in 1960 until going to Rochester, Michigan, he was with Chevrolet, Indianapolis. In February, 1967, Joe was transferred to General Motors Truck and Coach Division. Recently he was promoted to manager, production control, and according to The Pontiac Press is responsible for production control activities, including production planning, forecasting, scheduling, line-up and specification functions.

Carol (McComb) taught fifth grade in the Rochester Schools last year and this year is teaching 21 third graders in the same school. She says, "This is my last year for a while. I'm retiring for a few years to enjoy 8-year old Mel and 4-year old Andrea before they are grown and 'gone' . . . We are looking forward to our 10-year reunion in 1970!"

The Gossmans live at 2800 Avoncrest Drive, Rochester, Michigan 48063.

Faculty Members Named By United Methodist Church

Five Indiana Central College faculty members have been named to positions in the Indiana Area of the United Methodist Church at the meeting which created the North Indiana and South Indiana conferences out of five former conferences.

Those elected were: Frederick D. Hill, associate professor of history, to the Commission on Archeology and History; Dr. Marshall W. Chambers, director of church relations, and Dr. James A. Weber, professor of Bible and religion, representatives to the Indiana Council of Churches. Leonard E. Catholic ‘Singing Sisters’ Promote Protestant College

Ten members of the Roman Catholic Order of St. Benedict who are attending Indiana Central College have formed a musical group called “The Singing Sisters” and appear on behalf of the Protestant school.

They are members of Our Lady of Grace Convent in Beech Grove, an Indianapolis suburb. Cordial relations have existed between the convent and the college for several years. A number of Sisters have taken the college’s two-year nursing program, and two years ago the convent and the college signed a contract for the liberal arts college to provide most of the Sisters’ undergraduate academic training.

The young women formed the singing group a year ago at the convent for their own pleasure. Now they have become one of a number of deputation teams which promote the college by speaking or performing at the invitation of churches, civic clubs, and other interested organizations.

The repertoire of “The Singing Sisters” includes hymns, gospels, folk music, and religious adaptations of popular songs. One of the sisters accompanies their singing on a bass viol, another on a guitar, and two on ukuleles. One of them will complete the associate-degree nursing program in June; the others are in 4-year elementary and secondary education programs.

The Sisters say they experience personal satisfaction in their extracurricular undertaking and they enjoy the contacts their singing affords them with members of audiences. Their enterprise has the enthusiastic approval of both the convent and the college.

“In the spirit of ecumenism, the deputation team of Sisters share with others through their singing the joy they experience in their life of dedicated service to God and His people,” remarked Mother Mary Philip Seib, superior of the 150-member community.

Dr. Marshall W. Chambers, director of church relations at Indiana Central, who is the college official responsible for arranging their engagements, commented:

“Having ‘The Singing Sisters’ represent Indiana Central, a United Methodist college, is just one of the many evidences of the growing understanding between two branches of Christendom. The program of folk worship which they present is no different from those given by totally Protestant groups. They have been asked to serve as a deputation team not because they are Catholic, but because they represent Indiana Central so well.”

Pre-Med Student Lab Appointment

An Indiana Central College premedical student has received an appointment to the Argonne National Laboratories’ Central States Universities Undergraduate Honors Program for the spring semester.

He is Alan L. Cole, an Indianapolis senior, who is a biology major. He lives at 2256 Admiral Dr. and graduated from Indianapolis Arlington High School.

Cole has been assigned to work with Dr. David J. Simmons on a project involving the localization of labeled steroid hormones in skeletal tissues half of his time. The remainder he will spend attending seminars in the area of biochemistry, research techniques, and laboratory instrumentation.

The student will receive a $650 stipend plus a travel allowance, provided jointly by the National Science Foundation and the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission Division of Nuclear Education and Training.

Dr. Robert D. Deufel, chairman of Indiana Central’s Biology Department, in commenting on Cole’s selection, said:

“This is indeed a signal honor for one of our science majors, as it exposes the student to a research environment with actual research experience. Each student spends half of his time assigned to a senior investigator and the remainder in seminars and discussions relating to current research areas.”

Three Elected To Committee

Three faculty members have been recently elected to the Academic Affairs Committee. They are Gerald Boyce, professor of art; Robert Deufel, professor of biology; and Martha Waller, assistant professor of English.

Nelson, professor of history; and Dr. James A. Weber, professor of Bible and Religion. The committee has been increased from two to four members, each serving for two years. The outgoing member this year is Dr. Weber.

Board of Directors Meet

The third meeting of the Board of Directors of the ICC Alumni Association for the year 1968-69 was held Saturday, March 22 in Schwitzer Center. Much of the time was spent discussing the revision of the constitution. A committee of three members had been assigned the task of revising the constitution: Richard Hilfiger '57, Hazel F. Hopping '31, and Gene Lauscher '50.

It was felt by the board that the following should be printed in the ALUMNI NEWS.

THE ROLE OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

If we accept the idea that a changing society frequently requires an inventory of what is being done and an evaluation of the results, then we could list the following as the role of an alumnus with the further conclusion that if each of us performs, the Alumni Association has performed.

These seem to be two areas involved:

1. The responsibilities to our own members.
2. The responsibility to Indiana Central College.

In the first area there would be the need to: (1) establish and maintain a fellowship among the alumni, (2) develop procedures which will keep the members informed about the happenings at the College and to the College, (3) keep the alumni informed of proposals for new programs which might change present structures, (4) work out a way to recognize outstanding achievement on the part of an alumnus, (5) keep the alumni informed of unusual and outstanding honors or awards received by the College, any of its departments, or its personnel.

In the second area the responsibility would need to be more a matter of relationship of the alumnus to the College. The alumnus needs to feel a loyalty to the College which would cause him or her to:

(1) support the programs of the College. If the alumnus feels that there are areas not being covered or not adequately covered this should be brought to the attention of the administration with supporting reasons to help properly evaluate the proposal, (2) aid in student enlistment, (3) give financial support, (4) offer constructive suggestions for the improvement of the College's operation.

WEBER HONORED TWICE

Dr. James A. Weber '29, chairman of the Bible and Religion Department, received a distinguished service certificate from C R O P (Christian Rural Overseas Project) for his "dedicated service" to its speakers bureau and for his concern "for all people who work for free men from hunger through CROP." The United Methodist Council of Bishops recently appointed him to the Committee for the Continuing Education of the Ministry for the North Central Jurisdiction.

GIFTS TO EDUCATION

There are many ways in which alumni may contribute to their college and at the same time receive substantial tax advantages. Modern tax laws encourage gifts to education.

Many of our older alumni, particularly, would like to make a gift of their home to the college eventually, but need the property during their lifetime.

You may make a gift of your home now and still retain a life estate, the right of both husband and wife to live there during their respective lives.

The donor receives a present income tax contribution deduction. It is for the full fair market value of the house, discounted by donor’s life expectancy (office of Treasury tables determine this).

For example, if a donor’s house were worth $20,000, his age was 75, and his wife’s age 70, the charitable deduction would be $13,403 ($20,000 x .67016, factor for ages 75 and 70 (I.R.S. Publication No. 11).

If the donor’s wife does not survive him, the value of the house is not taxed to his estate.

If the wife is the survivor, only the value of her life estate is taxed to her husband’s estate.

There is no estate tax on the wife’s death.

If you give your home now to Indiana Central reserving a life estate either for one or two persons, you (a) continue to live there, (b) you save income taxes as well as estate taxes, (c) probate expenses are minimized.

You may have securities which have increased in value over the years. You know that if you sell them now you will be subject to a capital gains tax on the appreciation.

If you contribute them to your college you have a double tax advantage.

(1) You are allowed a charitable contribution for the full present value of the securities.

(2) You avoid a capital gains tax on the appreciation, that is, the increase in value over the cost basis.

The 30% Ceiling on Charitable Deductions

On an educational gift there is an annual ceiling of 30% of adjusted gross income.

However, if your gift exceeds the 30%, the excess may be deducted over the next five years. This is an important point to remember in making a substantial contribution.

THE DEVELOPMENT OFFICE AT INDIANA CENTRAL WILL BE GLAD TO CONSULT WITH YOU OR SEND YOU FURTHER INFORMATION CONCERNING ALL TYPES OF GIFTS TO YOUR ALMA MATER.

HOOSIERS DOMINATE CENTRAL ENROLLMENT

Indiana contributed more than nine-tenths of Indiana Central’s day student enrollment of the 1968-69 first semester. Of the 1038 total enrollment, the Hoosiers totaled 952, and 407 of them were from Indianapolis.

Ohio sent 28 and Illinois, 22. Until this year, Ohio has been third in totals behind Illinois.

The enrollment from other states was as follows: Michigan 5; New Jersey and Pennsylvania, 4 each; Connecticut, Florida and Tennessee 2 each; and one each from Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Wisconsin.

There are seven foreign students from six countries: two from Sierra Leone, West Africa; and one each from Greece, Jamaica, Japan, Korea, and Mexico.

Faculty Double Male Quartet Sings

Among the many excellent and interesting chapel and convocation programs presented this school year, one of the best was that of February 20. In addition to a very inspiring address by Dr. Gerald McCullough, Director, Department of Ministry of the United Methodist Church, the newly organized faculty double male quartet sang “Sun of My Soul.”

The members of the quartet under the direction of Farrell Scott are: Herbert Cassel, philosophy; Eliseo D. Delphin, biology; William D. Gomel, mathematics; George L. Humburger, business administration; David F. Noble, English; Farrell M. Scott, music; Edward A. Vondrak, physics; and Lynn Youngblood, admissions.

‘Pruning Christianity’ Theme Of College Lectures In Religion

“On Pruning Christianity” was the theme of the eighth annual Showers Lectures on the Christian Religion at Indiana Central College April 14 and 15. The speaker was Dr. Wallace E. Fisher, senior minister of Trinity Lutheran Church at Lancaster, Pa.

He spoke twice on Monday and once on Tuesday. The lectures were open to the public without charge.

Monday’s lectures were in Recital Hall, on the first floor of the Administration Building.

Dr. Fisher spoke on “What Can We Expect of Man?” at 4 p.m. and on “Fate and a Man’s Faith” at 7:30 p.m. His subject for the final lecture, at 9:35 a.m. Tuesday in Ransburg Auditorium, was “Suffering—Punitive, Remedial, Redemptive.”

The lectureship was endowed by the late Bishop J. Balmer Showers of the former Evangelical United Brethren Church. He lived in Indianapolis while he headed the West Central Area. He also was a trustee of Indiana Central College.

Dr. Fisher, a Lutheran Church in America minister, holds degrees from Gettysburg College, Mt. Airy Theological Seminary, and the University of Pittsburgh. He was a teacher and then pastor at Gettysburg College until he accepted the Lancaster pastorate in 1952.

Dr. Fisher and his congregation are recognized nationally as leaders in the area of church renewal. Under his pastorate, Trinity Lutheran Church has increased from 300 to 1,500 in weekly attendance; its annual budget has risen from $40,000 to $305,000. It has a professional staff of 12 persons.

Dr. Fisher has written four books relating to the church and its renewal.

Central Council President Expresses Gratitude

by Jim Miller

Now that we are heading toward the end of the present Central Council Administration, we can look back and rejoice in our successes and also realize, regret, and hopefully profit from our mistakes. I truly hope that I can guide the incoming president so that he will not make some of the mistakes I made earlier as an inexperienced new President.

I do not feel that my job is done. If I can give advice and assistance to our future president and Central Council, I consider it my duty to do so. I also intend to remain active in the Alumni Association. I do not believe anyone should ever say, “I have done my share.”

I will look back with pride and fond memories to the days of our campaign with the Stride Forward Party. I will never forget the people who worked for us, inspired by the hope of victory, in spite of the odds. Words truly cannot express my gratitude to and heart-felt warmth for the students of ICC.

In spite of the sometimes not so constructive criticism and the turmoil—sacrifices of time, money, and grades—I am grateful to the administration, faculty, and especially all of the students of ICC for the opportunity to have served.

Life holds few greater experiences than those I have been a part of this year. This time, place, and gathering of people will always hold a very special place in a corner of my heart.

Two Gifts Of $500,000 Each Within A Week

Gifts of $500,000 each by the Herman C. Krannerts and by Lilly Endowment, Inc., toward Indiana Central's $5 million development campaign was announced within one week by President Esch.

The first gift was made by Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Krannert and followed closely by the Lilly Endowment, Inc., on what President Esch happily called his first “Million Dollar Day.”

Mr. and Mrs. Krannert are well known Indianapolis philanthropists. Mr. Krannert is founder and chairman of the board of Inland Container Corp. Lilly Endowment is a philanthropic foundation established in 1937 by the family associated with Eli Lilly & Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers, to promote and support religious, educational and community services. The Endowment has been a consistent supporter of Indiana Central for many years. Prior to its most recent gift, it has given ICC more than $800,000.

In recognition of the foundation's support, a new science facility opened on Central's campus in 1964 was designated Lilly Science Hall.

The present Krannert benefaction follows previous contributions which made possible an expansion of the college library, increasing the capacity and providing many new student services such as reading laboratory, seminar rooms, typing rooms, and special study for nursing students. In 1961 a new dormitory housing 160 women students was dedicated and named Krannert Hall in honor of the philanthropists.

Krannert received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from ICC in 1967 in recognition of his business leadership and contributions to educational, civic and cultural projects. In 1960 his wife, Eleanor Decker Krannert, who shares her husband's concern for higher education and the fine arts, received an honorary doctor of humanities degree.

Because of the growing enrollment and the need for expanded facilities, a large part of the present goal of $5 million will be used for additions to Lilly Science Hall, the Schwitzer Student Center and the Physical Education Building.

GOOD SEASON FOR BASKETBALL AND WRESTLING TEAMS

by Steve Wittenauer

Basketball coach Angus Nicoson and wrestling coach Paul Velez can feel proud of their teams now that the season has ended. They can feel proud of the fact that the basketball team won the district 21 play-offs and the grapplers defended their Hoosier College Conference title successfully. Both coaches deserve a pat on the back for the job they have done this year.

The highlight of the basketball season was the NAIA Play-offs and the exciting trip to Kansas City for the NAIA Finals. The road was not an easy one for the Hounds. It took a lot of time and patience, but the team finally got the job done. The Greyhounds started off the conference trail on the right foot by beating Taylor at Upland on a tip-in by Dave Stillabower. They continued their good start by setting a club record for most points scored in a game against Manchester in their second conference tilt as they amassed 134 points in the contest with Al Williams hitting a career high of 44 points leading the Greyhounds to the smashing victory. They continued their winning ways with a victory over Anderson, which put them at 3-0 in the conference. Next they played a good Hanover team and lost to the Panthers for their conference loss. In between these conference games came an important interleague game with DePauw, in which the Hounds were victorious. Continuing their conference trail, the Hounds next played a tough Earlham team without the services of Al Williams, who had a slipped disc. The Hounds were still victorious and were to take on Taylor. The loss of Williams was felt in this game and in the next tilt with Franklin, as The Hounds lost both games. Another win over Manchester and over Anderson put the Hounds on the winning trail, only to lose to Hanover again to set their record before the last two games at 6-4. They split the next two games, winning against Franklin and losing to Earlham. Their final mark in the conference was 7-5 and a tie for third.

Next came the play-offs with Hanover, Earlham, and Tri-State. Central played Tri-State in the first game and won by a single point. The crucial game followed the next night with Hanover. Hanover had beaten Central twice during the year, but the Hounds were not to be denied. They won the game in overtime and the right to go to Kansas City for the finals. In Kansas City they drew the number one-seeded team and met defeat as they couldn't hit.

The season ended with a sports banquet honoring the team. Al Williams was voted the Most Valuable Player and Bob Smock was named captain. The free throw award was shared by Williams and Ed Zeigler. John Beebe won the Ray Bloomingdale Award. With the season ending, Coach Nicoson is looking to the future and hoping to do as well as this year.

An interesting side note to this season had to do with the high school districts. The men's basketball districts were won in boys' basketball by Al Williams and in girls' basketball by Bob Smock. In the district playoffs Al Williams led the Hobbs Gym boys' team to victory and Bob Smock led the girls' team to victory. The district tournament was a great success and it was a great way to end the season.

The Indiana Central wrestling team had a fine season and successfully defended their HCC title, winning it by 20 points. One reason for the success of the wrestling team is the fine schedule that they have had. By wrestling bigger schools such as Eastern Illinois, Louisville, and others they built themselves up for the conference meet. The grapplers had four champions in the HCC in the persons of Steve Palmore, Marlow Mullen, Jack Ott, and Jim Phillips.

The wrestling team also was honored at the winter sports banquet. Marlowe Mullen and Jim Phillips shared the most valuable wrestler award. Mullen, along with Bob Smock of the basketball team, was nominated for the Kelso Reid mental attitude award. The Kelso Reid award will be given to one of the eight boys nominated from each of the eight major sports at the Spring sports banquet. Dave Graves was cited for the quickest pin (44 seconds). Jim Phillips was chosen as honorary captain. The wrestling team will have a lot to live up to if they do as well next year.

If you are receiving copies of the Alumni News because your son or daughter is now living away from home, please send us the correct address. Then we will send the Alumni News directly.

ARE YOU COUNTED?

Alumni Day is fast approaching. May 31 will soon be upon us, and with it comes the end of the academic year.

Following one month behind is the close of the 1968-69 Roll Call campaign. Your gifts must reach the college before that time if you are to be counted in this year's Roll Call of Alumni support.

If we are to raise our participation percentage, we must have a gift to Roll Call from you! The size of gift does not determine who gets counted. Your gift should be large enough to be meaningful to you, the donor. The size of your gift does determine the speed with which our Alma Mater makes Progress Toward Excellence.

Your gift to Indiana Central has two effects: (1) it provides additional funds for library extension, student aid, and faculty improvement, (2) it stimulates nonalumni contributions in additional support of our growing college.

Time is fast running out! Send your gift today so that you will be counted in the final Roll Call of this year. Send that gift envelope today before it slips your mind. Participate in Progress Toward Excellence.

We are delighted to announce that Rev. Eugene J. Moore '44, Superintendent of the Western District, Illinois, of the United Methodist Church, will be the speaker for Alumni Chapel, Alumni Day, May 31, and that Fred Koehrn '33, instructor of voice, Butler University, will direct the alumni chorus for the third time. Jean (Lewis) Hirst '31 will accompany the chorus. As others have, you will find "joining the chorus" a pleasant experience.
