WHENCE, WHITHER AND WHY?

By Dr. Gene E. Sease

Whence, whether, and why are three basic concerns uppermost in my mind with regard to our college.

Reflection upon whence should stimulate a wholesome respect for the past. Each of us owes a debt to yesterday and someone else for most of what we have today. It is tragic that some in the "now" generation of higher education seem almost anti-historical. Any reasonable sense of perspective for our future must include an awareness of our past and what has already happened at ICC. Under wise and careful administration by Presidents Roberts, Bonebrake, Good, and Esch, Indiana Central has come a long way down the road of progress. Each man has brought his unique contribution and the college has moved steadily forward. Since its incorporation on October 7, 1902, it has moved from a small beginning, with very limited facilities, to a strong and stable institution with an attractive and functional 60 acre campus.

A glance over the shoulder helps one to appreciate the distance gained, but no runner reaches his goal facing the rear. Whither shall we go in the future? From a small liberal arts day college, we have diversified and expanded to the stature of a small university with programs day and evening, graduate and undergraduate, pre-professional and professional, credit and non-credit, and courses offered on campus and at locations in other parts of the world. Conversations are now underway to further enlarge our offerings and increase our community effectiveness and world outreach. The age of Aquarius is here—and with the exciting seventies, compelling and unparalleled opportunities for growth, expansion, innovation and educational relevance.

The early "fathers" of Indiana Central clearly understood the why. Intent upon providing an education which had religious and moral bases to prepare students for effective service to humanity, they sacrificed to see a college established in "the heights" of Indianapolis. Their desire to perceive man's basic needs and respond to contemporary challenges is still our mandate for action. Like them, we must keep the reasons for our existence constantly before us. The extension of cultural and international horizons, our participation in the global marketplace, contemporary communications revolutions, our rapidly developing technology all insist that we carefully examine the place of Indiana Central on the educational scene and plan well for today and tomorrow. Our basic purpose—to provide the setting for a spiritually enriched education for service—remains constant. America's educational system would suffer a tragic loss were we suddenly deprived the contributions of private church-related colleges like ours. We dare not be the same as every other college or university!

Alongside the three questions of whence, whither, and why is the very practical how. Here each of us shares a vital role! Alumni are crucially important to the college's present and future! Your influence, concern, suggestions, leadership, student recruitment, and financial support will really determine what we will become. The how is wholly in your hands! As we begin a new administration at the college, I pledge my best to serve you and help you serve others through active participation in Central's Alumni Association. I look forward to meeting you personally and welcome your concern for the future of your alma mater.

COLLEGE RECEIVES KRESGE GRANT

A grant of $25,000 by the Kresge Foundation of Detroit to the college was announced in June by Dr. Gene E. Sease.

The money will be used to build an addition which will double the capacity of Lilly Science Hall, providing needed expansion for the sciences in the building and new and larger quarters for the Department of Nursing, which will be moved to the enlarged building. The Nursing Department will occupy approximately one-fourth of the total science building.

The addition is expected to cost $2 million, and $1.5 million already is in hand or pledged. The Kresge grant is contingent on Indiana Central's obtaining the balance needed by December 15, 1971. The Kresge Foundation was one of the original contributors to Lilly Hall, which was opened in 1963.

Most of the foundation's grants are to higher education, research, hospitals, youth agencies, the aged, and religion in the United States and Canada. William H. Baldwin is president of the foundation and Stanley S. Kresge is chairman of its board of trustees.

College Appoints Assistant In Alumni Relations Office

Miss Beverly J. Gorbett, '66, Admissions Counselor at Indiana Central since 1967, has been appointed to the new position of Assistant Director of Alumni Relations.

Miss Gorbett, who earned her bachelor of arts in English and history is responsible for editing the Alumni News, designing and writing brochures relating to alumni activities, assisting with area meetings of alumni clubs, and partial supervision of alumni records.

Miss Gorbett While a student at Indiana Central Miss Gorbett served as editor of the Reflector, the student newspaper. She was a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary journalism fraternity, and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Before returning to her alma mater, Miss Gorbett taught English in the Evansville-Vanderburgh County (Ind.) School System.
GENEROUS GIFT FROM ALUMNUS MAKES STADIUM A REALITY

Ready for the first home game is the new football facility named Key Stadium in recognition of a gift of $165,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon A. Key '29, an Indianapolis attorney. Dr. Gene E. Sease announced the gift and plans for the stadium in early July.

Mr. Key has been chairman of the steering committee which has been raising money for the stadium for several months. The new stadium provides an additional seating capacity for 3,000 persons, contains locker rooms and showers for the athletic teams, and offers restrooms and concession stands for the public.

Speaking of Mr. Key’s gift, Dr. Sease stated, “It was made possible because of Mr. Key’s appreciation of what Indiana Central meant to him as a student, and his desire to demonstrate his faith and confidence in its future. We are grateful to him and to the business and community leaders who have helped to make this stadium a reality.”

Key was born in Marengo, Ind., the son of Rev. and Mrs. Perry Key. After completing his preparatory education at Vincennes High School, he graduated with an A.B. from Indiana Central College in 1929. He graduated from Benjamin Harrison Law School in 1936 and in 1944 received the LL.B. degree from Indiana University.

While attending law school he worked for the Marion County Board of Commissioners, assisting in organizing the county’s first old-age pension program. Key has practiced law in Indianapolis since 1936, the year he was admitted to the Indiana bar.

The attorney became associated with William E. Steckler in 1936 as a partner in the firm of Key and Steckler. The firm became Key, Steckler and Latham in 1946 and Key, Latham and Strawbridge in 1956. From 1963 to 1966 the firm was known as Key, Latham, Strawbridge and Knox, and since 1966 it has been known as Key, Latham, McClure and McClure. The partners specialize in probate, bankruptcy, and corporation law and federal tax matters and handle work in both state and federal courts. Mr. Key’s specialty has been corporate law. His law firm offices have recently moved to the new Indiana National Bank building in downtown Indianapolis.

The alumnus has been a past trustee of Hancock Trucking, Inc., and has served as president, director and chairman of the board of the Hyaline Plastics Corporation in Indianapolis. Mr. Key has been president of the Rosedale Shopping Center, Inc., Indianapolis, since 1958, and president and director of Rensselaer (Ind.) Grain Terminal, Inc., since 1963.

Also active in public office, Mr. Key served as deputy prosecuting attorney of Marion County during 1938-40, 1946-48, and 1959-60. He is a member and served during 1961-69 as chairman of the Indiana State Commission for Special Institutions, and he is a member of the advisory committee of the Soldiers and Sailors Children’s Home, Knightstown, Ind. In addition, he served as director of the Greater South Side Civic Association from 1956-68 and as a member of the board of management of the Baxter YMCA since 1966.

Mr. Key had military service experience in the Judge Advocate General’s Corps, U.S. Army, from 1943-46.

He is a member of the Indiana State, Indianapolis, and 7th Federal Circuit Bar associations. Key is a member of the “C” Association of Indiana Central and twice served as president of the Alumni Association.

Key and many other workers raising funds are among a number of businessmen on the Indianapolis southside who have been actively interested in the expansion and growth of Indiana Central. Assisting Mr. Key are Angus Nicoson ’42, ICC’s athletic director and vice chairman of the steering committee; and 12 others. Dr. Roy V. Davis ’25, assistant professor of education emeritus of ICC, has been working with the steering committee and is heading the “C” Association drive to augment funds for additional facilities in connection with the stadium.

The gift from Mr. and Mrs. Key was divided with $115,000 directed to the stadium fund and $50,000 added to the school’s endowment fund. Their generosity reflects the largest outright gift from an alumnus ever received by Indiana Central.
Students Busy in Preparation For Homecoming Activities

Many clubs, classes and committees are completing preparations for the Homecoming weekend, October 1-3, 1970. This year’s theme is “A Time for Us” taken from the title song of the movie Romeo and Juliet.

Activities officially begin on Thursday evening, Oct. 1, with a campus movie in Ranenburg Auditorium. The highlight of the Friday convocation will be the crowning of the 1970 Homecoming Queen and presentation of her court. Each year the “C” Association selects five coeds for the court and the student body elects one of the candidates to reign as Homecoming Queen.

Friday evening’s activities include a bon fire and pep rally to encourage the team to victory against Manchester on Saturday.

Saturday morning the Homecoming Queen and her court will be honored at the Queen’s breakfast in the college dining hall. The judging of displays of dormitories and clubs will begin at 10:50 a.m. Displays are judged according to originality, theme, creativity of design, durability, and expression of homecoming spirit. Clubs, classes and dorms are each judged separately, with first and second place winners receiving monetary awards.

Alumni registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in Schwitzer Center. Tickets and reservations for all the day’s events may be obtained upon registering.

The luncheon is cafeteria style and will begin at 12 noon. The price is $1.00 per person. At 11:30 a.m., the invitational Fellows Luncheon will meet in the private dining rooms.

At 6:30 p.m. the Alumni Smorgasbord will be served in the Schwitzer dining room at $3.00 per person. The evening’s entertainment will begin at 8 p.m. with a performance by “The Happenings,” a vocal music group which is popular with all age groups. Tickets are $3.00 and the program will be in the college gymnasium.

The day’s athletic events will begin with a morning tennis match. The Central team will meet Manchester at 10 a.m. The football game, also against Manchester, will begin at 2 p.m. in the new Key Stadium. The Queen and her court will be presented at halftime, followed by a performance by the Manual High School marching band. Immediately following the football game there will be a bicycle race sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

The dormitories will be open after the game for visitors who wish to see the displays and decorations there.

ESTATE PLANNING CORNER

A GIFT OF LIFE INSURANCE

By Lynn R. Youngblood, Director of Development

The greatest concern of most of us is for the security of our loved ones. Insurance plays an important role, particularly for the young married couples with growing children. However, it is often true that later in life it is no longer necessary or important to carry as much life insurance. Such policies make ideal gifts to your college.

One advantage to the donor is that he or she receives an income tax deduction for the approximate cash surrender of a current policy, when the college is made the owner and direct beneficiary of the policy.

The college could also continue to pay the premiums, so that the full value of the insurance would be available upon the death of the donor.

Another possibility is to exchange the cash value for a life time annuity with the college, thus deriving an assured annual income. This is especially desirable for older people because of the increased rate of return.

There are also other ways of utilizing insurance for charitable purposes. A new policy can be taken out making Indiana Central the irrevocable beneficiary. The premiums one pays are then tax deductible.

A paid-up policy is also an interesting possibility as a gift to education. It is possible to get a contribution value in excess of the cash value. For example, Mr. Smith, sixty years of age, gives such a policy and is able to take as a charitable contribution the amount it would cost him to purchase a policy at age 60.

Particularly in large gifts of this kind there are important estate planning considerations involving marital deductions. Here is an example when a $180,000 insurance policy given to education is associated with a $300,000 estate:

COLLEGE TO INAUGURATE SEASE ON 65TH ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING

On October 7, 1970, Gene Elwood Sease will be inaugurated as the fifth president of Indiana Central College. There will be several days of special activities leading to the main day.

The weekend will begin with Homecoming Day, Oct. 3. This year’s theme is “A Time for Us.” Sunday, Oct. 4 will be “Church-College Day” honoring the churches and denominations that founded and still support Indiana Central.

There also will be special festivities for the next three days. Tuesday's schedule includes a special presentation of the folk drama The World of Carl Sandburg, directed by Prof. Richard Williams. The cast only includes three people.

The play uses folk music and the prose and poetry of Carl Sandburg. The theme centers on America and her people. It was first presented on Broadway starring actress Bette Davis.

The two-act drama also will be presented Oct. 9 and 10. The inaugural performance Oct. 6 will be open to the public without admission. Tickets will be sold for the other two productions.

Inauguration Day

Inauguration Day will take place on the 65th anniversary of the founding of the college. Dr. Sease, who served as administrative assistant to the president for a year, was elected by the Board of Trustees in June, 1969 to take office in 1970.

Dr. Sease has had experience as a pastor, conference superintendent, and college professor. He earned his Ph.D. at the University of Pittsburgh in 1965.

Registration of delegates attending the inauguration will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Schwitzer Center. Delegates will represent colleges, universities, learned societies, and alumni from throughout the nation. Faculty, staff and some students have also received invitations.

The noon luncheon will be served to the visiting delegates and guests in the college dining room. Following the luncheon the delegates, faculty and trustees of Indiana Central will walk in a colorful procession leading across campus to the inaugural ceremony in the physical education building.

Tolley to Speak

Dr. William Pearson Tolley, chancellor emeritus of Syracuse Universities and chairman of the board of Mohawk Airlines, will deliver the main address at the 2:30 p.m. Inauguration Ceremony.

A nationally known educator and author, Dr. Tolley received his A.B. from Syracuse University, M.A. and B.D. from Drew Theological Seminary, and his Ph.D. from Columbia University. He has received honorary degrees from over 30 different colleges and universities.

An ordained minister, Dr. Tolley has been an instructor in theology at Drew Seminary. For eleven years he was president of Allegheny College and in 1942 became chancellor of Syracuse. He remained there until his retirement in 1969.

Dr. Tolley has served as president of the Association of Colleges and Universities of the state of New York, president and director of the Association of American Colleges, and is a member of the American Council on Education. Currently he is president of the National Methodist Foundation of Higher Education, a foundation which secures grants for colleges of the United Methodist Church. Dr. Sease is also one of the fifteen directors of the foundation.

Reception and Ball

Inauguration Day will end with a reception and formal ball to honor Dr. Sease and his wife, the former Joanne D. Cherry of Bellwood, Pa. The reception will be held in Schwitzer Center following the ceremonies.

The formal ball, with attendance by invitation only, will take place at the Murat Temple Shrine Club in Indianapolis, beginning at 9:00 a.m. Oct. 7.

Special effort is being made to involve the total "Indiana Central family"—church, faculty, staff and students—in the Inauguration. Students will serve as marshalls for the procession at the ceremony. Several student couples will also serve as hosts at the ball Wednesday evening.

Nursing Department

The Nursing Department has three new faculty members this year. Mrs. Gloria Caplinger '65, Mrs. Luella L. Elliott and Miss Cheryl L. White are the new instructors in nursing.

Mrs. Caplinger received an associate degree in nursing at Indiana Central in 1965 and completed her bachelor's degree at Indiana University, Indianapolis campus, in 1968. She gained experience in the medical-surgical area at Johnson County (Ind.) Hospital during the years from 1959-1968. She has been a head nurse at Community Hospital in Indianapolis since 1965. Mrs. Caplinger plans to begin work on her masters degree. Her home is in Greenwood, Ind.

Mrs. Elliott

A graduate of Ball State University's bachelor-degree program in nursing, Mrs. Elliott is teaching obstetrical nursing classes at IC. Since 1966 she has served as a head nurse in the labor and delivery ward of Community Hospital. She is a member of the nursing division of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. Mrs. Elliott and her family live in Greenfield.

Miss White

Miss White earned her B.S. in nursing at DePauw University in 1968. She has had experience at both Methodist and Winona Memorial Hospitals in Indianapolis.

ALL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS INVITED
Alumni Day Offers 'Moments to Remember'

With a bit of nostalgia alumni of Indiana Central College gathered on the modern campus of today to celebrate commencement reunions on Alumni Day 1970. “Moments to Remember” was the theme for the day on Saturday, June 6, and the largest turnout ever recorded attended all or part of the day’s festivities.

First to arrive were members of the Board of Directors who started with a 7:45 breakfast and worked until mid-morning on affairs of the association. Registration of returning alumni started at 8:30 a.m. amid greetings of old friends and former classmates.

Alumni and faculty members joined together for coffee and rolls in the main dining room before adjourning to the auditorium for the Alumni Convocation.

Dr. Roy V. Davis ‘25 presided over the convocation program to recognize members of reunioning classes. Special certificates were presented to the silver and golden anniversary class members who were in attendance. Glenn Catlin, president of the Class of 1945, gave the morning address, “Positive Hope in a Day of Disaster.”

Following convocation noon luncheon was served in the main dining hall. Tables were reserved for the reunion classes to sit together. The annual meeting of the Alumni Association followed with President Ralph Coddington ‘43 chairing the meeting. New officers were presented and reports were heard from the necrology and resolutions committees. Pictures of reunion classes were taken after the meeting.

The special reception for retiring president Dr. I. Lynd Esch was the next event on the timetable. Over 300 alumni exchanged greetings and best wishes with President Esch prior to the Alumni Buffet Dinner.

A delightful buffet in the main dining room sated appetites as the day came to a close. The program of recognition and awards included investiture of officers and welcome to the Class of ’70 prior to Dr. Esch’s final “State of the College” address. In keeping with the tenor of the year in changing administration, Dr. Esch shared the podium with incoming President Gene E. Sease.

The day was full of activities and many an alumnus offered thanks for the opportunities of a busy schedule. The Commencement weekend continued with a goodly number of alumni in attendance at baccalaureate and graduation exercises on the following day.

Reception at ICC Honors Dr. Long

On the afternoon of Commencement Sunday Leolin E. Long ’27 was guest of honor at a surprise reception recognizing his having been elected to receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Science. Invitations were extended by his daughter, Mrs. Marilee (Long ’57) Ulrich of Dayton, Oh., to approximately 100 college friends and relatives. The reception was held in the Alumni Lounge in Schwitzer Center.

Dr. Long’s varied academic background enabled him to earn enough undergraduate credits to qualify him in five major areas: physics, chemistry, mathematics, U. S. history and French. He earned his master of arts degree in physics from Indiana University in 1938, and has done further work in mathematics at Ohio State University.

He was a high school teacher at Bunker Hill and Peru, Ind., from 1927 to 1942, heading Peru’s science department the last seven years. He also served as Peru’s city chemist in 1940-42.

Dr. Long is currently serving his 28th year as a civilian in government research and development as a staff engineer in the Directorate of Laboratories at Air Force Systems Command Headquarters, Andrews AFB, Md. In 1942 Dr. Long started his government service with the Signal Corps Research and Development Laboratories at Wright Field, Dayton, Oh. From 1960 to 1962 he was given an Air Force assignment to the SHAPE Air Defense Technical Center in The Hague, Holland, where he served as deputy chief of the systems research group. In June, 1964 he was transferred from Wright-Patterson AFB, Oh., to his present position.

289 Receive Diplomas

Indiana Central conferred 289 degrees at the 65th annual commencement on June 7 in the physical educational building. Of the degrees earned, 16 were masters of arts, 80 bachelor of arts, 140 bachelor of science, four associate in arts, and 49 associate in science degrees.

Nineteen students graduated with honors, including several second-generation students. Honors were earned by Catherine L. Knecht, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Knecht '42 (Marjorie Anne '44) of Dayton, Oh.; Steven D. Miller, son of Rev. and Mrs. Ralph E. Miller '46 of Espanola, N.M.; and Donna K. Stone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Philip J. Stone '42 (Clare Jacobs '44) of Terre Haute, Ind.

Other second-generation students who received degrees included Donald A. Cravens, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sherman Cravens '42 (Marjorie Anne '44) of Evanston, Ill.; David F. Geible, son of Dr. and Mrs. Merrell D. Geible '44 (Lois Fulton '46) of Lafayette, Ind.; Joyce A. Jacobs, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George E. Jacobs '42 (Dorothy Milhouse '39) of Aurora, Ill. Barbara J. Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer D. Lawrence '53 (Hope B. Lawrence '64) of Bargersville, Ind.; Charles W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Smith '35 of Butler, Ind.; Sylvia Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Blackburn '43 of Richland Center, Wis.; James A. Ferrier, son of Mrs. Mary (Guthrie '34) Ferrier of Rockfield, Ind. also received degrees at commencement.

Graduates in the 1970 class also included Jeanne C. McColgin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. McColgin '44 of Greenwood, Ind.; C. Gail Medcalf, daughter of Mrs. Geneva (Shewmaker '44) Medcalf of Evansville, Ind.; Marlowe R. Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mullen '48 of Indianapolis; Mrs. Sharon Roberts Brenton, daughter of Barbara L. Roberts '69 of Indianapolis. Completing the group of children of alumni were Karen L. Sever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Sever '37 of Waldron, Ind.; Leesa M. Farwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Farwick '35 of Sheridan, Ind.; and Bonny J. Swinford, daughter of Mrs. Lucille (Weinantz '35) Swinford of Flat Rock, Ind.

College Confers Six Honorary Degrees

Two educators, two clergymen, a scientist, and a mayor received honorary degrees at the 65th annual commencement on June 7. The college conferred degrees on Dr. Alexander E. Jones, president of Butler University; Dr. Leolin E. Long '27, a civilian scientist with the U.S. Air Force; Mayor Richard G. Lugar, mayor of Indianapolis; Rev. E. Carver McGriff, pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Indianapolis; Dr. Frederic K. Miller, commissioner for higher education in the Pennsylvania Department of Education; and Rev. L. G. Sapp, superintendent of the Marion (Ind.) District of the United Methodist Church.

Dr. Jones graduated from DePauw University in 1942, served three years in the U.S. Navy in World War II, then earned a master of arts degree in 1949 and a doctor of philosophy degree in 1950, both at the University of Minnesota. He holds honorary doctorates from DePauw and the University of Arkansas. Indiana Central awarded Dr. Jones a doctor of humane letters degree.

He has taught at five universities and became professor of English and dean of Butler's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences in 1959. In 1968 he became president of Butler.

Long graduated cum laude from ICC with majors in physics, mathematics, and French. He later completed majors in U.S. history and chemistry elsewhere. He received a masters degree from I.U. in 1938 and did further study at Ohio State University. ICC awarded him a doctor of science degree.

Dr. Long was a high school teacher from 1927 to 1942. He then joined research and development laboratory work with the U.S. Air Force. One special assignment at The Hague in 1960-62. Since 1964 he has been a research and development staff engineer in the Directorate Laboratories, Command Headquarters, Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

Lugar, who received a doctor of laws degree, was elected mayor of Indianapolis in 1968 after a term on the Board of School Commissioners. He attended Denison University, Granville, Oh., and received a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University in England, where he earned bachelor and master of arts degrees in 1956. He also served as a lieutenant in the Navy.

As mayor he has gained national recognition for his leadership in programs for urban affairs. He is a trustee of Denison and of Indiana Central. He is secretary-treasurer of Thomas L. Green and Co. and treasurer of Lugar Stock Farms, Inc., both of Indianapolis.

Mayor Lugar is a member of St. Luke's United Methodist Church, whose minister, the Rev. Mr. McGriff, received a doctor of divinity degree from ICC. The pastor served in the infantry in WWII before completing his bachelor of science degree in 1949 at Butler University. He was in business for several years, including ownership and operation of his own establishment.

Rev. McGriff entered Garrett Theological Seminary and received a B.D. degree in 1962. His master of science degree from Christian Theological Seminary was earned in 1965. He was the founding pastor of the Indianapolis Asbury Methodist Church, serving from 1962 to 1967, when he was assigned to his present pastorate.

Dr. Miller, a former president of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pa., received the honorary degree, doctor of humanities. He is a graduate of Lebanon Valley and holds degrees of master of arts and doctor of philosophy from the University of Pennsylvania. He has honorary degrees from seven colleges.

The Rev. Mr. Sapp received a bachelor of arts degree from Asbury College in 1940 and a bachelor of divinity degree from Garrett Theological Seminary. He later attended United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Oh., and Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis. Central gave him the doctor of divinity degree.

He served Methodist churches at Charlottesville, Butler, Angola, Bluffton, Huntington, and Ft. Wayne, Ind. He served as Richmond District superintendent two years before assuming the Marion District leadership in Jan., 1969.

Dr. Gene E. Sease, center, presents Indianapolis Mayor Richard G. Lugar (l.) to Dr. I. Lynd Esch to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at the 65th annual commencement exercises. The large replica of the college seal in the background was a gift to the college from the Class of 1970.

Borden Directs ACS Project

The Indiana Section of the American Chemical Society was awarded $5500.00 to carry out “Operation Interface” during the week of August 23-28. The purpose of the project was to increase understanding and cooperation between the staffs of chemical companies and the chemistry departments of surrounding colleges and universities.

The program consisted of a week of plant tours of selected industrial laboratories with additional time in the evenings for discussions between the industrial chemists and project participants. About 30 faculty members from college and universities in Kentucky, Illinois, Missouri, and Indiana were selected to participate.

Dr. Kenneth Borden, assistant professor of chemistry at Indiana Central, was named to direct the project.

COLLEGES LEAVE ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Indiana Central College and Franklin College terminated their relationships with the Hoosier College Conference at the end of last academic year. The announcement was made jointly by Dr. I. Lynd Esch, former president of ICC, and Dr. Wesley N. Haines, Franklin president.

This action, the two officials stated, will permit the colleges to avoid a reduction in their intercollegiate athletic programs which would have been necessary as a result of a recent constitutional revision of the Hoosier College Conference.

Both colleges expressed regret at leaving the conference but said they believe that dissolving their relationship with the HCC will be in their schools' best interests. Both schools will continue full programs of intercollegiate athletics.

Indiana Central and Franklin were charter members of the HCC, when it was organized in 1947.

CITY, STATE SALUTE ESCH

Indianapolis and Indiana joined in paying tribute the night of June 3 to Dr. I. Lynd Esch, who retired as president of Indiana Central on June 30 after 25 years and four months of service.

Brief tributes were made to him by Governor Edgar D. Whitcomb, Indianapolis Mayor Richard D. Lugar ’70, Layton E. Kineannon, president of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Reuben H. Mueller ’60, bishop of the Indiana Area of the United Methodist Church; Dr. Robert H. Reardon, president of Anderson College; Michael R. Cecil ’70, student government president; Mrs. Leo S. Miller, representing the faculty; and Dr. L. L. Huffman ’46, of Cape Coral, Fla., president of the Board of Trustees; and Ralph Coddington, representing the Alumni Association.

The Singing Sisters of Our Lady of Grace Academy in Beech Grove, many of whom are students at Indiana Central, provided musical entertainment. The invocation was by Dr. Robert E. Cramer, academic dean, and the benediction by Dr. Leonard T. Grant, dean of the Graduate Division.

The closing remarks were made by Dr. Gene E. Sease, who became president of the college on July 1. Approximately 400 persons from throughout the state, representing higher education, government, and other organizations with which Dr. Esch has been affiliated, made reservations for the dinner in Louis Schwitzer Center.

State Names Jackson To Staff

Phil Jackson ’66, a former social studies teacher at Franklin Community High School, is now one of four consultants for Federal Project Division of Title I with the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction. Jackson assumed his new duties during the summer.

He is partially responsible for directing funds to state schools which are participating in Title I projects and federal funding for economically deprived children.

Jackson is past director and president of the Greenwood Jaycees, past president of the Greenwood Alumni Association and serves as moderator of the First Baptist Church in Greenwood. He completed his graduate work at Indiana University this summer.

Phil and wife Shirley and their two children live on Meadow Dr. in Greenwood.
Dear Editor...

Note: Stanley '62 and Amy (Buskirk '58) Zent are living and teaching in Bangkok, Thailand. The following are excerpts from their most interesting letter received during the summer.

Dear Friends,

We'd like for you to meet our Thai friends, Kajon, Goon and Noo Naganidhi. Kajon is deputy director of the Thailand Management Development and Productivity Center, an agency of the Ministry of Industry. They are part of a small group in Thailand, the middle class. There are many wealthy families and many lower class but the middle class is comparatively small. Goon, the mother, teaches English at a private girls school. Teachers' salaries, even in private schools, are very low... Noo, their youngest child, is a sophomore at a university here in Bangkok.

One weekend we drove several hours to the north of Bangkok where Kajon took us to see the Thai-Danish dairy farm. This is a jointly sponsored Denmark and Thailand experimental project. Thais are brought to the farm and given six months' training. Then they are established on a small plot of ground with a few cattle, a milking shed and adjoining living quarters. They pay the government on a long term loan basis. Improvement of production in agriculture is sorely needed to improve the economic plight of the farmer. However there is not a scarcity of food in Thailand and food is cheap. Contrary to much of Asia you don't find hungry and starving people here. However the nutrient value of food is not always what it should be.

Another weekend we spent... on the beach at Hua Hin... south of Bankok. The beach at Hua Hin is the most beautiful we have ever seen. The fine soft white sand is free of litter and inhabited only by tiny crabs...

It is typical for educated families to send their children abroad to Australia, England or U.S. to study. Sometimes they graduate from a Thai university first and then go abroad to further their studies. Sometimes they go abroad for their last year or two of high school and then on to college.

And then there is Muang. Muang is Chinese, married and has two small girls. He has a small radio shop near where we live.

Muang's shop is typical of small businesses. He pays 500 baht ($25) a month rent for his shop which has a room in the back where his family lives. Muang had a shop up-country (any town or area outside Bangkok is called Up-Country) and he earned about 1000 baht ($50) a month. In Bangkok he earns about 3000 baht ($150) per month but expenses are more...

Muang and his wife both attended Catholic schools and Muang was taught English by a Catholic priest. He is knowledgeable about Christianity but does not appear to be a practicing Catholic.

Umpley, our maid,... is our contact with the lower class. The general belief among the people... is that "some are born to serve and some are born to serve." Of course the lower class are the servants. Umpley has a fourth grade education which was compulsory until a few years ago when it was increased to seventh grade.

We chose to tell you about these persons hoping that in describing them we could give you some impressions of Thai life. As for us, we are healthy, happy and getting fat on rice.

May God bless each of you.

Affectionately,

The Zents

Note: The following is a portion of a letter received from Arabelle Enyart '39. Her current address is Sudan Interior Mission, 164 W. 74th St., New York, NY 10023.

"I went to Nigeria last November hoping in spite of a health problem to be able to stay a whole term, but here I am in New York! My health did not improve as we had hoped it would even with a very light schedule. The doctor here has been encouraging, but liver disease requires time for healing. My plan now is to work part time here at our mission headquarters and made visits to the doctor as necessary... Please join me in prayer that, the Lord willing, I may be able to return to Nigeria by June 8th, 1971, when my visa will expire."

Yours sincerely,

Arabelle Enyart

Summer Brings Several Changes, Additions to Campus

Changes, additions and remodeling all were a part of the summer activities on campus.

Ransburg Auditorium in Esch Hall went through a major redecoration. The stage now has a brand new curtain in a forest green color. The walls were painted a light gray, accented by charcoal gray. Also the pipe organ was given a voicing. The original carpet and seats remain as they were.

Also in Esch Hall, the second floor lounge was rearranged slightly to accommodate both men and women students. A glass window was installed in the entrance door and the room was furnished with an air-conditioner. Soft drink, candy and fresh fruit machines have been moved from the lower level lounge to second floor. The second portion of the room is a private women's lounge and lavatory. A pay phone was installed outside the main lounge entrance.

Good Hall gained a new classroom and four more music practice rooms. The classroom, located on the lower level, is used for both data processing and foreign language classes. The practice rooms are located in the northwest wing of third floor and make a total of 21 practice rooms available to music students.

The smoking lounge in Schwitzer Center has been repainted and a larger exhaust fan was installed.

Nelson House, the residence of the president and his family, has been touched by renovating this past summer, too. The entire interior was repainted and there are new drapes in every room. The living room has new grass-green carpet and new furniture in persimmon, poplar and pineapple colors. One wall of the room and the entire entry-way are done in flocked wallpaper. The dining chairs are reupholstered in the same material as the living room drapes.

Touches of the Philippines and Thailand add flavor to the living room. Paintings, wood pieces, carvings and a candelabra were obtained by Dr. and Mrs. Sease on their visit to the Philippines four years ago.

The sun room also got new all-purpose carpet and Roman shades. Mrs. Sease enjoys using the sun room for informal entertaining, especially for student groups.

On the campus grounds new parking areas have been provided around the horseshoe drive south of Hanna Avenue and behind Wilmore Hall. Also, a road has been completed from the large parking lot behind Esch Hall around to the Schwitzer motel units.

For better security and for better visitor accommodation, a security building has been placed on the lawn beside Krannert Hall. The building, similar in size to a public telephone booth, is equipped with heater, an emergency telephone, and a flasher light on top. From the security building the campus guard is able to see almost every building on campus. If he is making rounds and his phone rings, the light flashes and can be seen from anywhere on campus. He will be more easily reached in case of emergency. He will also be available to direct visitors who may arrive late to the campus.

More telephone service is available to students this year. Krannert Hall and new dormitory residents enjoyed private phones in their rooms during 1969-70. This year, with additional cables now installed, any campus resident may have phone service in his room. The service is between the individual student and the telephone company. Students contact the company for the installation and removal of a phone and are individually responsible for installment charges and monthly bills.

Within the administration, some reorganization has taken place also. There is now an Academic Affairs Office which includes the positions of academic dean, dean of evening and graduate divisions, registrar, director of student services for the evening division, director of student testing and placement, curriculum counselor, and the student advisor of teacher certification. The new arrangement is an attempt to better unify the institution, both in public relations and in academic procedure. The academic dean and dean of evening and graduate divisions, while maintaining authority over their respective areas, are also one another's assistant dean. Both men are directly responsible to the president of the college, while the others in academic affairs are directly responsible to the two deans.

As a means of providing better service and communication with visitors and with the community, an Information Center has been established.

CALIFORNIA EDUCATORS
REELECT NOBLITT

Dr. Loren Noblitt '49, a history teacher at Bolsa Grande High School in California, was reelected in May 1970 to serve as president of the 1,800 member Garden Grove Education Association. GGEA is the eighth largest California Teachers Association chapter and Noblitt ran unopposed for reelection.

In his keynote address to the delegates Dr. Noblitt called for sweeping changes in the school curriculum and warned that someday outright revolution could break loose in the public school system.

Noblitt said, "The educational curriculum must be revised, upgraded and made relevant to the social issues of the day. Educators can no longer afford to dodge the problems, nor can they erase the battle lines already drawn. The entire professional posture is at stake, and all educators must face the issues squarely to find the solutions."

Dr. Noblitt has been teaching in Garden Grove for the past 12 years and is considered one of the finest history instructors on the high school level in Southern California.

Campus Hosts Variety of Summer Conferences

Through various conferences and meetings, Indiana Central's campus facilities accommodated and served approximately 1800 persons in the summer of 1970, besides the summer school enrollment which exceeded 700.

The registrar's office reports that 620 students were enrolled in undergraduate courses this summer. Graduate classes enrolled a total of 103. There were both day and evening classes available. The majority of summer classes were held during the regular eight-week session. However, there were two five-week sessions offered.

Conferences ranged from music directors to graduation exercises. During the month of June ICC hosted the Indiana-Kentucky Conference of the United Church of Christ, the Consultation on Religion and Race sponsored by the United Methodist Church, a youth crusade for four evenings sponsored by the Independent Christian Church, and a Boys Club Leadership Training Institute.

July's scheduled activities included a Governmental Affairs Institute sponsored by the Indiana Mental Health Association and a directors' program for the handicapped in connection with the Marion County Association for Retarded Children. The Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians held an institute in July which involved delegates from several midwestern states. Other July meetings included the United Church of Christ Laity Conference, and a seminar on crime for local businessmen sponsored by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

The State Division of Pupil Personnel sponsored a conference for certified public school counselors for two days in early August. Other August meetings were the Indiana Area United Methodist Church Lab School, the Delta Kappa Gamma workshop for women in education, and the State 4-H Dress Review, held at ICC for the second year.

Central provided room and meal facilities for 20 college students who worked in the U. M. Church inner-city program sponsored by the South Indiana Conference. The students worked in downtown Indianapolis during an eight-week period.

Sam's Technical Institute of Indianapolis held two graduation programs in Ransburg Auditorium—one in July and one in September. Also, one musical presentation of Mayor Richard G. Lugar's "Upswing" activities was held in ICC's Recital Hall.

The comedy involves a large cast. Teahouse originally starred David Wayne in both the Broadway and movie productions. In December of this year the play will open as a musical on Broadway.

Mr. Williams hopes to make the Central production a student and faculty presentation.

The story of Teahouse deals with relationships—personal, national, and international ones. It takes place on Okinawa during the occupation by the U.S. Army. A conflict develops when the Army desires to build a school where the local people desire to build a teahouse.

A very popular play, Teahouse of the August Moon will begin each evening at 8:30 p.m.

Located in the main corridor of Esch Hall, the center provides general campus information, directs visitors to the correct offices or personnel they seek, and arranges for use of the campus facilities by outside organizations. Mrs. Hilda Green is in charge of the Information Center. The college also hopes to provide a general phone-answering service through the center after the regular switchboard closes in the evening.

WETHERALD JOINS COACHING STAFF

Terry Wetherald '63 has been named the new head wrestling coach for the Greyhounds. He assumed his new position on the college staff in early August.

Wetherald graduated from Warren Central High School in 1956. While there, he participated in football, wrestling, baseball and track.

After graduation from high school he served with the U.S. Marine Corps in Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines, and Hawaii. Following his service years Terry enrolled at Central, where he played football his freshman year, then served as a student assistant grid coach for three seasons.

His first teaching job after graduation was at North Vernon High School where he was head wrestling coach, assistant football coach, head football coach, and assistant track coach. Coach Wetherald began the wrestling program at North Vernon, now Jennings County High School. Highly respected for his record there, Wetherald received a plaque of appreciation from his final team which named him "The Father of Jennings County Wrestling." The coach also won recognition for his football when the ICC alumni named him a coach of the year in that sport in 1966.

Last fall Wetherald moved to Pike H.S. as head wrestling coach and assistant in football. In addition to being wrestling coach at Indiana Central, Terry will be an instructor in physical education and an assistant football coach. He completed his masters degree at IU this summer.

The C Association named four as "Alumni Coaches of the Year" for the 1969-70 year. They are Larry Keene '65, track; Dick Thell '53, basketball; John Graner '66, wrestling; and Pat Koers '64, football.
Young Team: ‘Will Be Competitive!’
Promises Grid Coach Nyers

What’s in store for Greyhound football fans this season? On the first day of practice Coach Dick Nyers was pleased with the spirit and enthusiasm of his 65 gridders. He acknowledged that the team basically would be young. Many frosh are in camp and have prospects of making starting squads before the season is far along. Nyers and his assistants, Bill Bless, Terry Wetherald and Willie Martin have stressed pride and hustle as the keys to a successful season. “We’re going to be competitive,” says Nyers, “and by that I mean that if we lose the other team will have to beat us.”

Returning veterans in the Greyhound camp were helpful in acquainting the newcomers to the system of Coach Nyers, yet each was aware that no positions were secure as practice sessions started. Nyers was impressed with the desire of the upperclassmen and their leadership was evident among the ranks of the frosh. Co-captains for the coming season will be senior Bill Glass and junior Randy Watson.

Nyers, who travelled several thousand miles recruiting grid prospects, was pleased with what he saw as pads cracked in early practice sessions. He felt that the ‘Hounds got some good prospects, but was quick to point out that some good ones got away. Alumni can be helpful in recruiting by pointing out the advantages of Indiana Central football. A good word can make the difference in helping good players decide upon Central as the place to get a good education and play lots of good football.

The Greyhounds appear to be strong at quarterback with sophs Steve Hurst of Corydon and Bill Gillin from Decatur Central, both lettermen, being pushed by frosh Phil Eads from Franklin and Doug Legg of Tipton. Depth at Linebacker will be a strong suit on the defensive side. Coach Nyers, when asked what fans should look for, replied, “Enthusiasm!” He stressed that the squad would work first on their defense, and then develop the offense as time and talent permits. His opinion was, “No one will beat us if they can’t score,” and that underscored early workouts. The staff will be shooting for a strong running game to allow the passers some latitude as the offense develops.

The schedule will be a tough one for the Greyhounds. Opening on September 26 with Taylor University, the perennial H.C.C. championship contender, the Hounds will have to wade through Rose Poly, with an all veteran squad, plus H.C.C. toughies Hanover and Earlham before their finishing date with cross-town rival Butler from the I.C.C. Home games include Manchester (Homecoming), Franklin (High School Day), Principia (Dad’s Day) and Earlham.

Coaches Nyers, Bless, Wetherald and Martin promise exciting football for fans in Key Stadium. The squad will be young in experience but full of pride and hustle. The Hounds’ enthusiasm can make it difficult for any team on any given day and the season record will depend on how fast the squad learns the rewards of competitive desire. Alumni are encouraged to support the gridders through the whole season with Homecoming on October 3 as the first home game.

REUNION DINNER TO HONOR FIRST HOUND FOOTBALL TEAM

Members of the first football team at Indiana Central have been invited to be special guests of the college at a testimonial dinner following the Principia football game on October 31. Invitations have gone to the players from the committee on the “Old Timers Banquet” informing them of the reunion and banquet at Schwitzer Center.

Committee members Fred Armentrout, Otto Albright, Earl Lemme, John George, Sheldon Key, Boyd Todd, Roy Davis and Art Bright have spent several hours this summer researching the rosters and making plans for the reunion of these team members. With the new stadium and the chance to see teammates who have been separated for many years, the committee hopes that each player or a member of his family will be in attendance.
