This Valentine is just to tell
That in my mind you ever dwell
And here at home or "over there"
My thoughts go with you everywhere.

COOPERATION SETS PACE

The seventies are here! The sixties are now history. This is being written amidst the numerous good wishes not only for a happy and prosperous new year but also for a happy and prosperous new decade. This is our wish for every alumnus of Indiana Central. It is also being written in the midst of an Indiana "deep freeze" when we find ourselves hoping that the temperature will soon get up to the level to which we had hoped it would never get down. When you read it, however, the soft zephyrs of spring will be in the air. This is just another illustration of how rapidly time moves from season to season, year to year and decade to decade.

It also moves from generation to generation which is what is happening at the administrative level here at Central this year. This transition is taking place on schedule and in the finest way possible. The Board of Trustees is to be highly commended for establishing its committee on Continuing Administration which had the responsibility of finding the next president and providing an overlapping period of administration. The value of such an orderly procedure for Indiana Central as contrasted with the abrupt break which so often comes at such a period in the life of a college cannot be overemphasized.

Doctor Sease assumes additional responsibilities week by week, and the work of the President's Office moves forward effectively both in its day-to-day responsibilities and in its plans for the years ahead. It is a joy to have the privilege of sharing in this cooperative procedure. Standing on the threshold of this new decade and witnessing the forward thrust of new energy and enthusiasm which Doctor Sease brings to his position is a real thrill. It indicates that the decade of the seventies will be the greatest decade in the life of the institution which we all love. Wonderful things are in store for Indiana Central.

It is my hope that the spring months will afford opportunities for me to meet with a number of regional alumni groups. I will look forward to seeing many of you at these meetings.

Smith Publishes

Dwight L. Smith '40, a professor of history at Miami University in Ohio, is author of John D. Young and the Colorado Gold Rush, a Lakeside Press publication. Smith's volume was selected to be The Lakeside Classic of 1969. Some 22,000 copies were published—the largest edition in the 67 years of this series of outstanding Americana.

He has also written a paper entitled, "An Overview of the Periodical Literature on Western History," which he presented at the meetings of the Western History Association in Omaha, Neb., in October, 1969. This paper was a result of his research while serving as Consultant to the American Bibliographical Center, Santa Barbara, Calif., during the summer of 1969. He is a member of the Advisory Board of America: History and Life, a publication of the center.

Smith is a specialist in frontier American and Canadian history and has authored six other books and numerous articles in his fields of interest. His books are: From Greene Ville to Fallen Timbers (1952); The Western Journals of John May (1961); The Hoskawinni Papers (1961); Down the Colorado (1965); Western Life in the Stirrups (1965); and The Photographer and the River (1967).

Dill Announces New Fellows

At the most recent meeting of the Board of Directors, a further expansion of alumni participation in the Fellows program was announced by Dr. C. W. Dill, alumni Fellows chairman. In addition to the three new Fellows reported in the last issue of the News, we have added these members:

Helen (Uncapher '50) Arndt
Dave '64 and Marcia (White '63) Huffman
Dave '53 and Laveta (Smith '58) Hilton
Mike Bertram '67
Arthur J. Bright '29
Delmer Huppert '31
Lloyd E. Reddix '40

With the upward spiral of our economy putting additional pressure on the college budget, there can be no doubt of the importance of alumni support. Dr. Dill stated that a continuing effort is being made to expand the Fellows program at Indiana Central. We would invite any interested person to contact the Alumni Office for information.

The Fellows program is a part of the Annual Roll Call effort of the Alumni Association. Funds received provide financial support for student aid, faculty salaries, and library services in the annual operating budget.

In Memoriam

Robert Benjamin (Ben) Burchard '32 died of a severe heart attack on August 4, 1969, at St. Andrew's Hospital, Spencer, Okla. Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery, Tulsa, Okla.

Ben came to Indiana Central from Hartford City, Ind. He served as president of the Class of 1932. The Oracle in 1932 said: "Ben never advertised himself but rather let his works speak for themselves. His class must have realized his sterling qualities when they elected him president this year."

He had lived in Portales, New Mex., where he was manager of a Ford agency. At the time of his death, he was a salesman for an Oldsmobile dealership in Oklahoma City. Survivors are the widow and a sister Katherine Burchard '37 of Hartford City. He was a member of the United Methodist Church.
Shirleys Visit Europe

George and Harriett Shirley spent three weeks in Europe traveling and sightseeing this past summer. George was a professor of music and Harriett a professor of English at Indiana Central College. George's father died last spring at the age of 93. Harriett's mother was 99 on January 20, 1970.

As Alumni News editor, I want to thank the many alumni who sent holiday greetings to me. It was impossible for me to answer all of them because of the number received. I wish all of you a most happy and prosperous 1970—a year which will begin a wonderful decade.

NSC PERFORMS

The National Shakespeare Co., which began touring seven years ago, made its fifth visit to Indiana Central on January 16. The Company presented "The Tempest," William Shakespeare's drama of shipwreck on an Enchanted Island. The Bard fashioned a plot of morality, revenge, and forgiveness with a narrative involving a magician, the grotesque spirit Calaban, Ariel the sprite, and young lovers.

"The Tempest," which was the last play written by the great master, featured Philip Hanson, who has been in more than 30 Shakespearean roles. Hanson played Prospero and has filled leading roles at the San Diego Shakespeare Festival, at the Cooper Union, and in Lincoln Center in New York, in repertory at Boston, and in appearances throughout the United States and Canada.

Prof Presents
Original Drama

A one-act play written by Orman Moulton, assistant professor of language at Central, and presented by foreign language students had its premiere in Ransburg Auditorium during convocation on February 9.

Professor Moulton describes his play, "Somebody's Always Last," as "a diversion in one action and eight happenings." He wrote the drama originally in Spanish and then translated it into English, in which it was staged. The Spanish version is to be published soon. "The diversion is in the form of an allegory portraying aspects of social turbulence on a mythical university campus of our time," explained Prof. Moulton, "with action and scenes laid in a Garden of Eden and employing in the speaking roles the characters of the original human drama."

The production was co-directed by Prof. Moulton and Prof. John W. Swank, chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama. Members of the cast include students: Samuel Chambers, son of Marshall '40 and Maxine (Black '42) Chambers, Indianapolis; Judith Hill, Greenwood, Ind.; Gilbert Hubbard, Indianapolis; David Maxwell, Danville, Ind.; Stephen McGinnis, Honey Creek, Ind.; Stephen Waterman, Indianapolis; and Mark Witt, Crawfordsville, Ind.

Dear Editor...

... May I say that the summer I spent at ICC in my youth was a very pleasant one and I often recall friendships made there and then, as well as the healthy atmosphere of the college—so different from institutional climates today. With all best wishes for the continued and prosperous existence of institutions like ICC.

Sincerely yours,
Kenneth V. Lottich

Note: Mr. Lottich attended IC during the summer session, 1922. He graduated from an Indiana institution and did advanced work in Ohio, New York, and Massachusetts. He has just recently co-authored a book entitled BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN.

I revolted sometimes to the type of courses required for graduation and to the liberal arts courses that do not pertain to my field of specialization, which is chemistry; but now I do feel the effect of these courses. I do appreciate the program set up at I.C.C. for giving the opportunity to make a well-rounded man out of me. I do feel I should support I.C.C. in everything I can.

Yours truly,
Maurice Najem '69

Note: A sincere expression such as this letter is an inspiration to all of us. Maurice has worked as a chemist, where his technical training was essential. New demands in his position as a medical representative for Dow Chemical, however, have changed his attitude. What about yours?

INVESTMENTS SPUR ADVANCEMENT

BY ARNOLD HODGSON

Many of our friends have asked just what we mean by the term "College Development." In its broadest interpretation it involves everything the college does, and everyone connected with the college. The Trustees, Faculty, Students and Staff together create the atmosphere in which the institution grows in quality and enrollment. They are all part of Development.

In a more restricted sense, however, we think of Development as two sides of the same coin. One aspect is fostering a favorable public image among our various constituents. The other is the securing of adequate support to implement all aspects of the College on the basis of this image.

The pattern differs somewhat from college to college. In some, Public Relations and Fund Raising go hand in hand. In others, the development department includes these functions plus alumni relations and admissions.

Ultimately it all boils down to financial support, from individuals, corporations, and foundations; through annual gifts, capital contributions, bequests and other deferred gifts. In many cases, colleges seek government support—and often receive substantial help from this source.

When you receive a communication from your college development office, you can be reasonably certain they want and need your support. However don't let that turn you off! There is nothing more important than training our youth for future leadership. It is a sound investment.

By the way, you know how descriptive terms become threadbare through overuse. A new term is coming into vogue and may replace Development. It is "College Advancement," which is what every sound college is trying to do.
Showers Lectures Given

Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the Los Angeles Area of the United Methodist Church will give the ninth annual J. Balmer Showers Lectures in the Christian Religion this spring. He will be on the campus Wednesday through Friday, April 8-10.

Bishop Kennedy will address a student convocation Wednesday morning and meet with members of the faculty and their spouses that evening. There will be a 10 a.m. session on Thursday, April 9, which is open to ministers. On Thursday evening he will give a lecture open to the public. Bishop Kennedy's final lecture will be at Friday's 9:35 a.m. student convocation. He is a noted preacher, critic, lecturer, and author. He has written more than a score of books, is a contributing editor of Together, United Methodist family monthly magazine, and frequently contributes articles to other religious journals.

For more than a year he has been preaching regularly—often as many as three Sundays a month—at the First United Methodist Church of Pasadena, Calif., in addition to his duties as bishop. He is a former president of the U.M. Council of Bishops and serves on a variety of denominational boards.

He was elected a bishop in 1948 at the age of 40, then the youngest person to be elevated to the Methodist episcopacy. He had served pastorate at Collinsville, Conn.; San Jose and Palo Alto, Calif.; and Lincoln, Neb.

Bishop Kennedy earned a bachelor of arts degree from the University of the Pacific, master of arts and bachelor of divinity from Pacific School of Religion, and master of sacred theology and doctor of philosophy from Hartford Theological Seminary. He holds honorary degrees from more than a dozen colleges and universities.

He was born at Benzonia, Michigan, in 1907 and is married to the former Mary Leeper.

MARY BRIGHTENS CAMPUS CUPBOARD

A college is more than a mass of buildings and a sprawling campus. It is the people who inhabit the buildings and stroll across the campus that give the college its unique personality. Mary Streets is one of these people. Few Central graduates need to be reminded that Mary is manager of the Campus Cupboard in Schwitzer Center.

This is Mary’s nineteenth year of service to Indiana Central. In addition to her duties in the cupboard, she is “Mrs. Fix-it,” armchair psychoanalyst, and specialist in advice to the lovelorn. As a mother away from home, Mary listens to the problems and frustrations of students, faculty, staff, and administration.

She has worked in Dailey Hall, the Administration Building, Academic Hall, and Schwitzer Center. At times Mary’s duties have involved acting as hostess for President Esch at his home during special dinners. Before coming to IC, Mary served in a sorority house on the Butler University campus.

In commenting on the changes in the campus over the years, she notes: “It’s lots different now. The students didn’t have the cars they do now. At times they wouldn’t have any money. I can remember when boys would come down and ask me for credit. Why I can remember when the only buildings on campus were the old dorms and the old gym.”

Next time you are on the campus, stop in to see Mary. She is always there with a ready smile and warm hello to all who pass her way.

Women’s Programs Resume

An enthusiastic response from participants in the women’s programs offered during the fall semester has prompted the Center for Industrial Relations and Continuing Education to offer another series of courses. Two six-week, daytime courses began on February 3.

The morning class is entitled “Family Economics” and is taught by home economist Mrs. Patricia Roark. Subject areas covered during the session which runs from 10:15 a.m. until noon include: budgeting,
Faculty Footnotes

Dr. Kenneth D. Borden, assistant professor of chemistry, is the new education chairman of the Indiana Section of the American Chemical Society. He was recently nominated for listing in American Men in Science.

Dr. I. Lynd Esch and Dr. Roy V. Davis, professor emeritus of education, were among 26 directors of the Indiana Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society which were elected recently. Dr. Esch recently received an award from the American Humanities Foundation. The plaque reads: "... in recognition of his inspiring values, high standards, and magnificent cooperation as President of Indiana Central College...

William Gommel, associate professor of mathematics, serves campus and community groups by opening Noblitt Observatory for viewing the moon and planets.

Dr. Leonard T. Grant, dean of the graduate and evening divisions, published an article, entitled "Seventeenth Century Puritanical Catechetical Writings," in the summer, 1969, issue of the Princeton Theological Seminary Bulletin.

Dr. Roland T. Nelson, chairman of the History Department, and Dr. Leonard T. Grant organized and led an informal gathering of students in a "Probe the Profs" encounter during November, 1969.

Angus Nicolson, athletic director and head basketball coach, is listed in the Converse Rubber Company's 10th basketball yearbook as the 10th winningest college coach in the United States. Nick has also been honored by being appointed to the Basketball Development Committee of the U.S. Olympic Basketball Committee.

Dr. David Rushong, associate professor of education, has been appointed to the eight-member committee on Curriculum and Planning of the Association of Colleges and Universities for International-Intercultural Studies. The committee's function is to receive specific suggestions concerning courses and programs relating to the association's Graz Center and Travel-Study Seminars, and to formulate plans for establishing other centers abroad and/or devising other plans by which ACUIIS may foster international education. Dr. Gene E. Sease, president-elect of the college, is a member of the board of directors of ACUIIS.

BOYCE WINS IN COMPETITION

Professor Gerald Boyce, chairman of the Art Department at the college, was named a winner in the Drawing Society's Midwest Regional Competition. The Indianapolis Museum of Art, 110 East 16th Street, Indpls., was selected by the Drawing Society as the site for this regional competition in preparation for the National Drawing Society Exhibition to be held in mid-1970. The competition was open to any artist living or working in the eight-state area including Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Representatives of the Minneapolis Institute of Art, the Art Institute of Chicago, and The Indianapolis Museum of Art served as jurors for the competition.

Professor Boyce has been at Indiana Central since 1950. He belongs to numerous professional societies and has been listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest," "Who's Who in American Art," and "Who's Who in Education." He has participated in more than 20 exhibits, in one-man exhibits, in invitational national shows at I.U., Ball State, and Depauw, and in international competitions. He has also exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

This most recent award was given for the Equestrian-Ghengis Khan, done in pencil medium. His work was one of 20 works which was selected for the National Exhibition which will travel in the U.S. and South America for 12 to 15 months.

At one of his recent showings in the Art Center, Depauw University, 14 paintings and silverpoint drawings were displayed. The national art fraternity on the campus selected a silverpoint drawing for its permanent collection. During the spring, he will exhibit in Central's gallery in the Leah Ransburg Fine Arts Center.

During the fall semester, 67 Indiana Central College seniors began their supervised teaching duties in Indianapolis and suburban schools. Twenty-five are majoring in elementary education and 42 in secondary education. Approximately 75 students will be engaged in student teaching activities during the second semester.

The Showers Lectures in Religion at Indiana Central were endowed by the late Bishop J. Balmer Showers of the former Evangelical United Brethren Church, now a part of the United Methodist Church. Bishop Showers lived in Indianapolis while he was head of the West Central Area of the E.U.B. Church and was a trustee of Indiana Central until his death in 1962.

If you have diaries, photographs, or other items concerning Indiana Central, these may make a meaningful addition to the college archives. Simply notify the Alumni Office, and we will be happy to make arrangements.
IC Receives Freedom Shrine

The Freedom Shrine—duplicates of 28 historical documents—were presented to Indiana Central College at a student convocation in December, 1969. The 28 documents are exact photographic reproductions of the priceless originals, laminated and mounted for hanging. The presentation was made by Earl H. Capehart, an Indianapolis attorney who is president of the Downtown Exchange Club of Indianapolis. Mr. John H. Jefferson addressed the student body during the presentation.

"The documents of the Freedom Shrine illuminate the great principles upon which this nation was founded and the unending struggle to make them prevail against opposing ideologies," Capehart said. "As the project grows, more and more readers will find in the documents a reminder that American citizenship imposes duties and responsibilities as well as conferring rights and privileges."

"It is hoped they will gain a better understanding of the sacrifices and hardships necessary to win freedom, to preserve it, and to keep alive the democratic government of liberty and justice under law which makes our Republic the hope of freedom-loving people over the world."

The documents are hanging in the north hallway of Academic Hall. The documents in the shrine include: Mayflower Compact; Declaration of Independence; 1783 Treaty of Paris; Northwest Ordinance; U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights; Washington's First Inaugural and Farewell addresses; Star Spangled Banner; Monroe Doctrine; Emancipation Proclamation; Lincoln's Gettysburg and Second Inaugural Addresses; 13th Amendment, abolishing slavery; and 19th Amendment, establishing women's suffrage; and the German and Japanese instruments of surrender ending World War II.

FINE ARTS DIVISION PRESENTS MUSICAL

Steven Miller and Jo Ellen Spencer rehearse a scene from "110° in the Shade," which will be presented in Ransburg Auditorium on February 20 and 21.

"110° in the Shade," a musical version of the play "The Rainmaker," is being presented by the Fine Arts Division on Friday and Saturday nights, February 20 and 21. The original play was written by N. Richard Nash and adapted for the musical stage. Music was written by Harvey Schmidt and lyrics by Tom Jones, who collaborated on the popular show "The Fantastiks."

Musical director of the production is Mrs. Elise Marshall, faculty member who directs the college Choir and the Centralairs, a mixed choral group. Richard A. Williams, assistant professor of drama and successful director of the November campus production of "Hamlet," is stage director. Professor Lowell Boroughs, chairman of the Music Department, is director in the orchestra pit.

Professor Gerald G. Boyce, chairman of the Fine Arts Division, and Earl G. Snellenberger, assistant professor of art, will be technical advisors for the production. The set has been designed by Daniel Wann, a senior from Chalmers, Ind., and David Gordon, a Rushville freshman. Dan and Dave will serve as student technical directors.

Cast in the leading roles are: Jo Ellen Spencer, an Indianapolis senior and music major; Steven Miller, a senior drama major from Espanola, N.M. (formerly of New Albany, Ind.); and John Williams, an Indianapolis senior and music major.

This is the first musical play produced by Indiana Central students since "Plain and Fancy" in 1962-63. There were earlier productions of "The King and I" in 1958-59, the first year of Ransburg Auditorium's existence, and "Oklahoma!" the next year.

The musical comedy will be presented in Ransburg Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. All seats are reserved. Tickets may be obtained by phoning the Public Relations Office, 317-787-6301.
GROWTH IS KEYNOTE OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department is one of seventeen departments on the IC campus today. It is hardly a newcomer to the college. It has functioned for 65 years. In 1905, when Indiana Central opened its doors to the first students, the Conservatory of Music was one of eight departments on the campus. In the early sixties, the department was serving approximately a half-dozen majors; the present program boasts five full-time and 21 part-time college instructors who cater to nearly 70 students.

Artist-teachers instruct. Mr. Lowell Boroughs, associate professor of music and chairman of the Music Department, is proud of the professional performing backgrounds of his faculty. A student studying privately in the performing areas receives instruction from a specialist who is a performing artist as well as a teacher. The Lyric Trio, an artists-in-residence group at IC, provides an example of the performing background of the music faculty. Members of the trio are: Arthur Tabachnick, concertmaster of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra; Dorothy Munger, official pianist of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra and assistant professor of music at IC; and Shirley Evans Tabachnick, principal cellist with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to Mr. Boroughs, who also conducts the Wind Ensemble and Symphony Orchestra, full-time faculty members include: Dr. John Gates, assistant professor of music, who teaches music history and piano; James Lamberson, assistant professor of music, the college organist and music education instructor; Dorothy Munger, assistant professor of piano; and Farrell M. Scott, associate professor of voice.

Physical facilities expand. A visit to the Music Department area in Leah Ransburg Fine Arts Center would be an interesting experience for alums who have been away from the campus for a number of years. The Recital Hall, located in the Center, is a small auditorium seating 144 persons and is ideal for junior and senior recitals and various small chamber music groups. For performances on the stage in Ransburg Auditorium, the department has acquired an acoustical shell which greatly enhances the sounds of the large organizations. Other improvements include installation of electric heat and air-conditioning in the practice rooms and studio areas of the Fine Arts Center, expansion of the music library which is now located in a special room, and conversion of storage space on the third floor of the building into five additional new teaching studios. This latter project is now underway.

Students participate. Music students are active people. They are performance-oriented, and Central provides many opportunities for them to display their talents.

The Choir permits students to sing both sacred and secular music of all styles. Mrs. Marshall is serving her first year as director of this group and of the select vocal group, the Centralairs. These two groups combined their efforts to present "A Christmas Odyssey"—five centuries of music for Advent and Christmas—during the holidays. The groups will also present a spring choral concert. The Choir Tour for 1970 was from January 25 to February 1. The group performed in seven churches and five schools in Sheridan, Lafayette, Brock, Rochester, Peru, Decatur, Berne, Butler, and LaGrange, Ind. Both the Choir and Centralairs have been in great demand. The Centralairs perform at least once a week and continue to have more requests than time will permit them to fill.

Students also participate in the Symphony Orchestra and Symphonic Wind Ensemble this (Concert Band), which feature student, faculty, and guest artists as soloists. Both groups perform a regular series of concerts throughout the year.

Another type of student participation is done by six student teachers who teach private lessons to youngsters. Those students especially interested in the professional aspects of music education may join in the Music Educators National Conference, Student Chapter No. 53. MENC members sponsor and hear outstanding music educators on the campus and assist in the campus music activities.

Special events scheduled. Special productions by the Music Department are in the planning stages. The Fine Arts Division, including the Art, Music, and Speech and Drama Departments, are combining efforts to present the Broadway musical, "110 in the Shade." February 20-21 are the performance dates. (Story p. 5).

The Music Department is planning a week devoted to Spanish music and has planned a tribute to Beethoven during a special Beethoven Festival Week scheduled for early March. During this week, the Music Department faculty will feature several types of performances. The Lyric Trio will perform; Dr. John Gates will give a piano recital; and Edward Kilenyi, concert pianist and Florida State University faculty member, will present a Beethoven "master class." Kilenyi will perform the "Hammerklavier" and will ask the audience to select three other Beethoven sonatas from the remaining 31. Another special event planned for early March will be a band concert with Mr. Sigurd Rascher, guest soloist, one of the world's greatest saxophonists.

Incoming students audition. Remaining dates for the music scholarship and performance grant auditions, which range in varying amounts up to full tuition, will be held on Saturday, March 14 and March 21, this year. Auditions will be held in voice, organ, piano, and woodwinds, brass, strings, and percussion instruments. Persons interested in information about these audition dates or in a special audition time other than this should contact Mr. Boroughs at the college.

Alumni participate. The music students on campus are a closely knit group. Now alumni have a chance to renew such ties. On Homecoming day last year, music alums assembled for the first time as a separate group. They plan to meet on this special day each year and are working with the Alumni Office in organizing the group permanently. Persons interested in this endeavor should contact Joy (Hague '65) Tozer, 321 South Range Line Road, Carmel, IN 46032, or Hugh Burns '65, 1348 Southview, Indianapolis, IN 46227. A newsletter to interested and involved music alums is being planned.

Community members and alumni are becoming more involved in projects to expand and improve the music offerings. Kenneth C. Duncan has donated a large tape library of Metropolitan Opera broadcasts for the library. William Bemenderfer '53 recently contributed a tape deck and speaker to the department. These are just examples of things which interested people can do to help make Central a better college—they help it grow.

The production was directed by James Karr, the portable set was designed by William Pitkin, and costumes and scenery were designed by Judith Haugan.

The National Shakespeare Co. was formed by Philip Meister and Elaine Sulka to take classical dramatic productions to college and university audiences. During the Artist Series at IC in past years, the Company has presented: "As You Like It," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Twelfth Night," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Three Will Retire

In addition to the retirement of Dr. Each on June 30, 1970, two members of the administration and a faculty member will retire. Arnold H. Hodgson, director of development; Leonard E. Pearson, director of public relations; and Dr. Wilmert H. Wolf, associate professor of history and political science will join Dr. Each in retirement.

Arnold Hodgson came to Indiana Central in 1961 after many years as an administrator with YMCA's, USO's, Community Chests, and United Funds. His last position was executive secretary of the Armed Services Y at Balboa, Canal Zone. He studied at New York University, and Drew Theological Seminary.

Mr. Pearson is a 1926 graduate of Earlham College. He worked for the former Indianapolis Times, and then he was an Associated Press newsman at Detroit and Indianapolis. He joined the Indiana Central faculty in 1959 as director of public relations and student publications advisor.

Dr. Wolf earned degrees at North Central College, Naperville, Ill., and Boston University School of Theology. He also attended Evangelical Theological Seminary, the University of Iowa, Harvard Law School, New York University, the University of Chicago, and Union Theological Seminary. He taught at North Central College and Evangelical Theological Seminary. An ordained minister in the former Evangelical United Brethren (now United Methodist) Church, he had served pastorates at Middleton, Mass.; Winona, Minn.; New York City; and Naperville, Ill.
YOUR PRESIDENT SPEAKS

It is with pleasure that I have the opportunity to serve the Indiana Central College Alumni Association as your president in this history-making year.

The growth and expansion into many areas have been dramatic during the years that I have been involved with I.C.C. Dr. I. J. Good, while president of the college, enabled me to start as a freshman after two EUB ministers had first encouraged me to apply for admission. Dr. Good gave the major portion of his life to help Indiana Central establish a firm footing in the church and community.

Soon after my graduation, Dr. I. Lynd Esch came to Indianapolis. I have been a resident of the college community since 1945 when he became president. In 25 years, Dr. Esch has extended I.C.'s influence into the city and beyond. Now a new president will soon be with us. Dr. Gene E. Sease, president-elect, will become the new president of the college at the end of the present academic year. At the January meeting of the Alumni Board, Dr. Esch told those present how pleased he was with the smooth transition that was being made during this period.

The alumni officers and directors you have elected to represent you have been meeting and working to further many of the ideas and suggestions that you have voiced. This group, listed on page 3 of this issue, is enthusiastically working on plans and projects to strengthen Indiana Central College. Attendance at the board meetings is excellent—even though it means driving many miles (the last time in sub-zero weather).

You owe it to your college to become interested and active. If you are unable to be present at on-campus activities, there are things you can do right at home in your own community.

1. You can help form an alumni club in your area. The Alumni Office will be glad to help you with this project and will supply speakers or groups from the college to add to your programs. Increased interest among the alumni should contribute to the next area.

2. You can be the best recruiting agent the college has. You know the high school students that should be planning to go to a school like I.C. You can give them first-hand testimony why this is so. Fill out and return the postage-paid cards you will find in this issue with the names of those young people you would like to have learn more about Central.

3. Keep active by sending in suggestions for your board to discuss and propose steps for further action.

4. Financial support is continually needed. Join the Fellows program, Annual Roll Call, or contribute to special projects when requested to do so.

Direct your ideas to Virginia Cravens, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, or to Dean Ransburg, director of alumni relations. They are working every day to strengthen your organization. Teamwork of these persons and your elected representatives has led to the implementation of many of your ideas. It has helped to make the facilities on the campus and the philosophy of the college what they are today.

If you have not been to the campus recently, it is not too early to start making plans to be present on Alumni Day, June 6, to see your friends and be a part of the commencement festivities involving Dr. Esch's retirement.

RALPH CODDINGTON
ALUMNI PRESIDENT

Frosh Elect Leaders

Officers of the Class of '73 include: Kermit Berg, son of Frederick Berg ’39, Bremen, Ind., president; Bruce Gumble, Wheaton, Ill., vice-president; Joe Koenig, son of Robert ’63 and Kathryn (Deal ’45) Koenig, Indianaapolis, secretary; and Debbie Stokes, Battle Ground, Ind., treasurer. Marcia Overmyer, Waterloo, Ind., and Karen Rogers, Arcanum, Ohio, were chosen to represent the freshman class on the Central Council, the student government body.

Roll Call Climbs

Dr. Ronald Hauswald, chairman of the 1969-70 Annual Roll Call committee, had good news to report at the end of December. I.C. alumni had responded in force to give the highest six-month total to date. The combined receipts of Roll Call and Fellows totaled over $9,000 for the best month yet. Both funds are ahead of last year's record-setting pace.

His report was tempered by the fact that many, many alumni had not yet mailed their gifts to Roll Call. If we are to improve on this excellent beginning, we need the additional support from those of you who have not responded.

The extreme, cold weather has placed an extra burden on the college budget. A cut in scholarship funds has placed our student aid in jeopardy. These are areas you can help relieve with your Roll Call contributions.

As alumni we recognize that these items need support. The combination of financial efforts by over 7,000 alumni will guarantee the growth and progress at Central. Let your Roll Call contribution speak for you and your concern for excellence at ICC.

The Alumni Association would like to report 100 percent participation this year. Are you the person who can make it possible. Don't let time slip by. Get your check in the mail this week and help us set a new record for alumni concern. Your gift is not judged by its size but by the good it does.

Notes Sent From McCurdy

Dale E. Robinson ’52, superintendent of the McCurdy Schools, Espanola, N. M., was an invited guest at the Boston meeting of the Board of National Missions of the United Methodist Church. He gained a better understanding of the operation of the Board of Missions under which the McCurdy Schools now operate.

The commencement program for the first group of practical nurses trained at Espanola Hospital was held November 25, 1969. Dale Robinson presented the diplomas. Organist for the ceremony was Patricia (MacCracken ’51) Yates of Santa Cruz, N. M.

Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Hague ’33 were leaders of a group of young people from Robinson, Ill., who spent two weeks working on the McCurdy campus. Of the several projects begun, the most interesting was the sign "McCurdy School," a large sign hanging from a pole projecting at right angles from a pillar of lava rocks which were gathered from the nearby mountains and cemented together. The Hagues felt, "... these youths demonstrated very vividly that many in our churches are creative, constructive members of their communities."

Among the first graduates of McCurdy High School was Dr. Robert Vialpando ’31, San Juan Pueblo, who has taught in both the Espanola and San Juan school systems.

Courses Stress College Prep

During the summer, Indiana Central's Center for Industrial Relations and Continuing Education offered two non-credit courses designed to prepare students for the beginning of their college career. The courses were entitled "Preparing for College" and "Review of English Grammar."

Faculty members of the college taught the classes which were designed to prepare the student to meet the demands of any college or university he might attend. Examination of enrollments reveals that as many as 16 colleges were represented at the sessions.

First Class Completes Grad Studies

In just three years after the organization of the Graduate Division, six students became the first to earn a Master of Arts degree from Indiana Central College. This followed the plan to the letter for the program is designed so that the required 32 hours may be completed in 8 semesters, taking one course each semester summer and winter. It is anticipated that the second class, a group of about 20 students, will graduate in June 1970. Enrollment in the Graduate Division in the Fall of 1969 was 101 students. Thirty-three students were new to the Division this Fall; and, of this number, 15 were Indiana Central College graduates.

The Master of Arts degree is offered in response to the adult seeking part-time graduate study opportunity. The program is designed to provide the equivalent of a year of advance study in the liberal arts and in selected subject areas. The purpose of the program is to enable adults to acquire a greater understanding of man's cultural heritage. For those who teach, it is a program that seeks to help them achieve maximum effectiveness in the classroom through an understanding of the educational process and a deeper cultivation of the inner man.

At the center of the program are seven courses in the liberal arts. The student is required to take at least three of these. Eight credits toward the degree must be earned in courses concentrating in subject areas. Presently, course work is available in biology, elementary education, English, and history. Those with majors (Continued on p. 12)
SENIORS AND GRADS BRING HONOR TO ICC

Eighteen Indiana Central College seniors are listed in the 1970 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, and seven graduates of IC are listed in the 1969 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

The seniors were chosen for their promise of future usefulness to society, while the grads were chosen for their contributions to community betterment, religious activities, and professional endeavors. The outstanding young women are between the ages of 21 and 35 and are recognized for their unselfish contributions to society. Each year over 5,000 young women are nominated. From among this number who are listed in the Outstanding Young Women of America edition, 50 are selected each year—one from each state—as the recipient of their state’s Outstanding Young Woman of the Year Award. The Who's Who nominations were chosen for this distinction by a faculty committee which considered the students’ scholastic standing, their participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, their general citizenship, and service to the college.

The Indiana Central Alumnae selected for listing in Outstanding Young Women of America include:

- Frances Rae (Rippy '52) Belshaw, 2451 Bueling St., Chicago, Ill., editor of Food Processing magazine.
- Johnnie Marie (Walton '56) Cliff, 1002 West 64th St., Indianapolis, a chemistry teacher at Attucks High School, Indianapolis.
- Virginia (Valiska '52) Gregory, 1827 East Kenwood Boulevard, Milwaukee, Wis., a member of the English Department faculty at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee.
- Janet (Nuzum '58) Myers, 332 Birch Hill Dr., Medina, Ohio, girls’ counselor at Medina High School.
- Mary (Calvert '58) Shambaugh, 5117 Beech Dr., Indianapolis, business education teacher at Speedway High School.
- Susan Weybright '62, a teacher in the Church of the Brethren Mission Hospital, Maharashtra, India.
- Amy (Buskirk '58) Zent, a teacher in Bangkok, Thailand.

Four of the 18 seniors listed in Who’s Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges are children of alumni. They include: James Ferrier, son of Mary (Guthrie '34) Ferrier, Rockfield, Ind.; Carolyn G. Medcalf, daughter of Geneva (Shewmaker '44) Medcalf, 2503 West Illinois, Evansville, Ind.; Steven Miller, son of Rev. Ralph E. Miller '46, Espanola, N.M.; Donna K. Stone, daughter of Rev. Philip '42 and Clare (Jacobs '44) Stone, 367 South 22nd, Terre Haute, Ind.

Hermann Contributes To Science

A 1956 graduate of the Science and Mathematics Division of IC has earned distinction for his contributions to his field. He is Dr. Theodore S. Hermann. He earned his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., in 1963. Since that time, he has been a member of the Midwest Research Institute staff.

Dr. Hermann has supervised many large research programs in the fields of physical and analytical chemistry. He was assistant director of the Spectrographic Laboratories at the University of Missouri for two years and chief, Bio-Assay Section at the Sixth Army Medical Laboratory, Fort Lewis, Washington. He has published and presented over thirty papers, including an invited paper at the 1965 Gordon Research Conference on the Physics of Coatings.

He is past president and originator of the Society for Applied Spectroscopy, Kansas City Section; past associate editor of Applied Spectroscopy; current chairman of the Advisory and Special Problems Committee of the SAS; and a member of the American Chemical Society, Sigma Zeta, Sigma Xi, Missouri Academy of Sciences, the Scientific Research Society of America, and the Coblenz Society.

In 1967, Dr. Hermann was elected to Outstanding Young Men of America, and in 1968 to Outstanding Civic Leaders of America. He and his wife, Ruth (Emmert '56) live in New Hope, Minn.

THE CHAMBERS CONVENE

The Holiday Season is a get-together time for many families. The Chambers' family convened on New Year's Day. Of the 16 who gathered together, 8 were Central graduates, one is attending IC, and three were youngsters who may be future Centralites. Pictured above are (l. to r.): Dr. Marshall Chambers '40, Ruth (Chambers '41) Meader, John E. Chambers '37, Agnes (Chambers '33) Connell, and Winifred (Chambers '32) Curts. Centralites in the families of those pictured include: Maxine (Black '42), Becky (Chambers '67) Axel, Sam, an IC freshman, family of Marshall Chambers; Louise (Eickmann '38), Joe '66, family of John Chambers; Phil '67 and Judy '61 Connell, family of Agnes Connell; and Richard '55 and David '59 Curts, family of Winifred Curts.
Alumni Represent IC Nationwide

Indiana Central has traditionally been a Hoosier College. Statistics on enrollment have consistently borne out the fact that most of the students who attend IC come from Indiana. By the same token, the alumni of Indiana Central remain traditionally Hoosier; but a recent survey by the Alumni Office shows some significant trends.

There is no doubt that we remain Hoosier in residence; over 5,400 of our 7,700 alumni live in Indiana. The next five states in order are: Illinois, 442; Ohio, 249; California, 238; Florida, 126, and Michigan, 116. Rounding out the top ten are: New York, 77; Wisconsin, 67; New Mexico and Texas, 53 each. The only state in the union without an IC alumnus is North Dakota.

By comparison with a 1966 survey, Indiana and Florida have shown the greatest growth in number of alumni. Indiana is 5,438, up from 4,508 and Florida is 126, up from 84. Others are: Michigan 116, up from 86; California 238, up from 207; and Illinois 442, up from 397. Ohio has remained static at 240.

It is also interesting to note that as the alumni population becomes national in composition so does the current student body. Though no direct correlation may be drawn, it is felt that the Alumni Association does have an effect on the students who are applying to Indiana Central.

Cagers Keep Plugging

Angus Nicolson has been head basketball coach at Indiana Central College for 22 1/2 years, and these last thirteen games will be the most important for him and the Hounds if the IC mentor hopes to take his ninth Hoosier College title.

Midway through the season Central has compiled a 9-4 slate with a 2-2 record in the conference. The Hounds hold down fourth place in the conference as they trail Hanover, Taylor, and Earlham. With the first NAIA poll, the Central unit gained some votes for the nation's top twenty.

The first few ballgames were tight ones for the Centralites with one-point victories over Northwood Institute, Tri-State, North Central University, and Eastern Illinois.

Other wins were over Millikin, 92-78; St. Edward's of Texas, 95-76; Oakland City, 81-71; Manchester, 97-68; and Anderson, 100-80. Losses were at the hands of Taylor, 92-88; Wabash, 86-84; DePauw, 102-97; and Hanover, 95-71.

Leading scorer for the Hounds after 13 games is junior Ed Zeigler with a 19.2 average. The South Adams export is ranked second in conference scoring and is also the squad's head free-throw shooter with a .848 percentage—sixth in the loop.

Hebron's Bill Smock is at the other forward spot along with Zeigler. The junior starter leads the unit in total rebounds with 105 for an 8.1 average and a seventh in the HCC.

Guards Frank Craig and Todd Jones with junior center Mark Whitman round out the Central five. Craig is a 5-8 senior from Indianapolis Tech. Jones backs up Zeigler on the scoring chores with a 17.5 average and 227 points in thirteen games this year.

Whitman from New Albany is a welcome member of the IC lineup as he pulls down eight rebounds a contest. Bench strength has helped the Hounds greatly with juniors John Owens, Dennis Shipley, Ron Young, and Mike Conner. Sophomore Norm Steele highlights the young talent as the Bainbridge star who has seen much action this season. Coach Nicolson hopes to bring on a star like Steele's brother, Larry, who is a starter on No. 2 ranked Kentucky team.

Halfway in the campaign the IC men are shooting .450 with 441 of 980 shots made. On the boards the Hounds have 529 for a 40.7 game average.

With an 83.6 average for games this season the Central unit has compiled 1,983 points. On defense the team has given up 77.2 a contest. Opponents this season have shot a .430 percentage against Indiana Central and have pulled down 496 rebounds for 38 a game.

The remainder of the season will be the most important for IC, as the Hounds meet with Earlham twice and with Taylor and Hanover. Wins in all these games will be needed to give the cagers another title shot.

Coach Angus Nicolson keeps coaching at Central and the Hounds keep winning. As long as the Hounds have him, there's a good chance the second half of the season will be even better than the first.

Grapplers Look Great

Winning basketball isn't the only tradition at Central. Wrestling, too, has been in the winning column in IC sports. Coach Paul Velez goes into his eighth season as grappling boss; and with four meetings into the infant campaign, his squad has taken a third in the Little State meet and has a 5-1 dual slate.

The five squads that have fallen to the Hounds are Danville, Manchester, Anderson, Franklin, and Hanover. In those meets the IC unit has posted 170 points to the opposition's 35.

Needless to say, the matmen are enjoying one of their most successful campaigns. Under Velez, Central has had 52 wins in 87 meets and a .596 percentage. Add to that record four Hoosier College Conference titles and three championships in the Little State meet.

Indiana Central goes into the remainder of the season led by defending HCC 177-pound champion Steve Kinnaird and seven returning lettermen. They face a schedule that includes Eastern Illinois, MacMurray, Earlham, and DePauw.

Senior Marlowe Mullen, 158-pounder from Indianapolis Manual, is the only senior on the unit of veterans which includes juniors Steve Palmore, 118; Mike Willoughby, 126; and sophomore Jack Ott, 134. Ott is undefeated in 12 straight matches, and this season the Noblesville star has five in a row.

Others who will return are sophomore lettermen Wayne Harris, 126; Dale Gunnion, 142; and Chuck Yanney at 158 pounds.

Velez doesn't count his men out of a third straight title but feels the competition will be tougher on the Hounds with several HCC schools improving their grappling programs.

Eight frosh were added to the roster this year to give added depth. Freshmen Vince Flecker, 118; Ervin Roberts, 126; Bob Kiels, 142; Paul Young, 150; Brad Cowan, 158; Larry Moss, 167; Mark Barhan, 177; and Joe Mom, 191.

Cowan, a product of Crawfordsville, and Mom, from LaVille High in Lakeville, have filled the 158 and 191 brackets for Velez in this year's action.

With a combination of experienced talent and added depth from freshmen, the Greyhound grapplers will take on their season's remainder and the finale—the conference meet February 27 and 28 at Earlham.

CHARTERS HONOR SOCIETY

The Alpha Nu chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, a coeducational honor society for undergraduate evening students has been established at Indiana Central. The purpose of the society is to recognize and encourage scholarship and leadership among Evening Division students.

Membership in the chapter will be open to evening students meeting the following qualifications:

(A) Members must have been in attendance in regular credit courses for a minimum of forty-five semester hours and be regularly admitted students who have not been awarded any baccalaureate degree.

(b) Students must have been in attendance at Indiana Central College for a minimum of four semesters (not including summer school).

(c) Members shall be elected only from the highest five percent of all regularly admitted baccalaureate degree students who have made the semester Honor Roll twice (9.000); and have a scholarship index of at least 9.750.

(d) Members whose academic average has fallen below 9.000 shall have their membership places on an inactive status. Such members shall be reinstated if they raise their average to 9.000 in the subsequent semester. Two semesters on inactive status shall terminate membership.

Initiation fees will be $10.00 while the annual dues for all active members will be $5.00. Further information may be obtained from Dr. Grant, Dean of the Evening Division.

Self Respects Teens

Bill Self '62, a teacher of world history at Franklin Community High School, Franklin, Ind., was recently featured in "The Daily Journal," a Franklin-Greenwood, Ind. newspaper. He was recognized for his "... profound confidence in teens with him in the classroom. He is a dedicated teacher; he is a good teacher."

Bill majored in social studies and health and physical education while at IC. While at Central, he attended school full time during the day and worked full time at night. He is currently working on his Master's Degree at IU. He has taught for seven years—three at the junior high level and four at the high school level. His enthusiasm for sports carries over from his participation in baseball, football, basketball, and track at Rushville High School, Rushville, Ind., where he was a student. He has coached junior high baseball and track and high school varsity baseball. In past years he has been the coach of the Franklin Connie Mack team.

He helps sponsor projects at FCHS and in the community. One of his current undertakings is the organization of a Teen Center in Franklin. Projects of this type bring him closer to teens and reinforce his feelings that: "There's a generation gap only because many adults and students do not take the time to communicate."

Bill and his wife, Lois, and children, Lori Jo and Jimmy, reside in Greenwood, Ind.
