Alumni To Cooperate In Student Career Seminar October 27

An Alumni-Student Career Seminar will be held October 27 on the campus. Alumni Association President Gene Lausch explained the day's purpose in these words: "We hope the program will serve two important specific objectives. It should provide the opportunity for a student to discover the realities of careers in various fields; and it should aid in 'bridging the gap' between the perspectives of different generations." It is useful to note that the efforts of the "alumni career consultant" complements, but does not duplicate, the aid a faculty member is able to give a student.

Alumni consultants will be introduced during convocation. Indianapolis Mayor Richard G. Lugar will keynote the opening program.

Students will meet in conference rooms with the alumni involved in their field of interest. It is intended that the discussions be informal, direct, candid, and informative about the realities of the respective businesses or professions.

Those alumni participating in the first career seminar include the following persons and fields: humanics—Kenneth Knox '60, executive director, Boys Club Association, Indianapolis; Black business community—Henry Taylor '59, executive director of a minority business enterprise advocacy program under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Commerce; education—Lloyd Hiatt '40, assistant superintendent, Lawrence Township schools, Indianapolis; business—Phill Roberts '64, director of operations, MEDCO Corporation, Evansville, Ind.; journalism—Carrol Verché '47, columnist, Gary Post, Gary, Ind.; sales—Henry Potter '39, agency manager, Franklin Life Insurance Co., Indianapolis; women in higher education—Ann Cory Brezt '48, professor and college administrator, VanderCook College of Music, Chicago; law—Gene Lausch '60, attorney, department of metropolitan development, City of Indianapolis; vocational education and related fields—Dr. Richard Emery '38, superintendent, Henry County Vocational schools, Edina, Minn.; science—Richard Rodebaugh '66, research chemist, Morton Chemical Co., Woodstock, Ill.; women in public relations—Linda Jester '66, director, Office of State Tourism, State of Indiana; psychology—Dr. Glenn Ramsey '32, faculty, University of Texas, Austin; medicine—Dr. Henry Martinez '51, surgeon, Klingersmith, Martinez and Hampton, Amarillo, Tex.; church-related careers—Rev. Phil Klinger '61, admissions director, Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill.

In Memoriam

Agapita (Obaldo '24) Bacalzo died on May 11, 1972. She was residing in La Union, Philippines.

Floyd Beghtel '12, 85 years old, died at his Evansville, Ind. home April 3, 1972, after suffering a stroke the previous month.

A native of Huntington County, Dr. Beghtel received his bachelor's degree from ICC, his master's from Indiana University and his doctorate from the University of Cincinnati, all in natural science.

Dr. Beghtel taught at IC from 1928 to 1931. From there he joined the faculty at the University of Evansville serving as head of the science department. While at Evansville he planted some oak trees along the main drive of the oldest part of the campus. Both because of their beauty and the school's respect for Dr. Beghtel, the trees are regularly cared for and trimmed.

In the 1940's, Beghtel joined Servel, Inc. as a process engineer, and in the 1950's served that company to become a residential contractor, a job he continued until he suffered a stroke 12 years ago.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, and three sons.

Howard Brandyberry '35 died, after a brief illness, on July 20, 1971. Survivors include his widow, Pauline, and son, Jim, a student at Ball State University. His home was in Muncie, Ind.

Anna Hawk, housemother of Dailey Hall dormitory in the 1930's, died in Franklin Methodist Home recently. She formerly lived in New Palestine, Ind.

Betty (Binkley) Henricksen '59 died Aug. 6. Her home was in Corydon, Ind.

Chris C. Huddleston '31 died Aug. 6 in his home in Indianapolis. He was 63 and had been a chemist for the bureau of testing of the State Highway Department 31 years. Survivors included sons David, Richard, and daughter Mrs. James L. Birk.

Word was received of the death of Kyle F. Peters '32 of Indianapolis. He was formerly athletic director at Broad Ripple High School.

Dale Robert Wellbaum '32 died of a heart attack June 28 at Canton, Ill., where he had served as minister of the Congregational Christian Church for more than 25 years. Memorial services were held at Canton July 2.
Dear Editor

We continue to live on an 18-mile long island (Long Beach Island) five miles off the coast of New Jersey in the Atlantic Ocean.

Norman is an associate professor of humanities at Ocean County College, where he serves on the president’s Advisory Council and the curriculum and instruction committee. Locally, he was elected to a three-year term on the Long Beach Island Consolidated School District Board of Education in February, and he is chairman of the Council on Ministries of our local United Methodist Church.

I am co-adjutant instructor of humanities at Ocean County College, where I teach composition, journalism, contemporary novel, and advise the student newspaper, The Viking News. Locally, I am president of our branch of the American Association of University Women, chairman of recycling projects for six municipalities, and secretary of the county recycling association. I have been nominated for Outstanding Young Women of America for 1972 and may serve as a McGovern delegate to the 1972 Democratic national convention in July.

We have three young children—Mark, who was four in May; Rachael, who was three in July; and Keith, who was two in July. They keep the home front busy!

Sincerely,
Karen (Foley '65) Booley
Beach Haven, N.J.

I have some news concerning my activities... The most important item is that the student council of Tarkio College selected me as the “Faculty Member of the Year.” This award, cup and all, was given to me at the annual Honors Convocation, April 23. The student council made its selection on the basis of service to the students, the college, and the community. For once, I was speechless!

During the past year, I have been the editor of the Rotary Rattler, the bulletin of the Tarkio Rotary Club. This bulletin won first place among the bulletins published by medium sized clubs in north west Missouri. I have also been elected vice president of the Tarkio Rotary Club for... 1972-73.

... I have been granted a summer sabbatical to do writing and research.

I will be using microfilm materials obtained through grants in 1969 and 1971 from the Kansas City Regional Council for Higher Education. The broad subject of my work is the “Administration of Justice in North Carolina During Reconstruction.”

... Can you picture me leading a completely unstructured U.S. history class, in which the study of the United States since 1877 is based entirely upon questions framed by the students at the beginning of the trimester (and revised from time to time during the trimester)? These questions center around the most important problems that the students feel the United States faces today; thus, the present is always the focus of the discussion and the uppermost point in mind is always how the past development helps us to understand the present situation and the present-day problems.

Well, that was my class this past semester... Needless to say, the entire experience has been a fascinating one and I have learned a great deal.

Best wishes to you and regards to all my friends at Central.

Sincerely,
Kenneth E. St. Clair
Professor of History and Chairman,
Department of History and Political Science,

To the Members of the Class of 1932: Dear Classmates,

In my effort to help coordinate 1972 Alumni Day activities for the class of 1932 I wrote in late February to all class members. This is to advise you that there was a very nice response. Several members were able to attend alumni day activities and several others wrote explaining why they could not attend.

I wish to thank you for your response and for the many interesting bits of information included in your letters. I hope the time between visits and letters will be much shorter in the future.

Sincerely yours,
Ralph E. Hiatt
Acting Secretary for the Class of 1932

The following is an excerpt from a letter to Ralph Hiatt from a former 1932 classmate, after receiving his invitation to Alumni Day:

I was member of the 1933 class and in 1931 (fall) transferred to Indiana University.

After graduating from I.U. I taught in Ashley, Ind. and Noblesville, Ind. then to University of West Virginia as itinerant teacher trainer (home economics). I was teaching at Otterbein College in 1945 when I answered an ad in the Columbus, Ohio paper asking for reindeer herders and school-teachers—for Alaska! My qualifications filled the latter position, and that fall I landed on a small island in southeastern Alaska, where I taught for four years—mostly natives. Then I accepted a position with the University of Alaska as Home Demonstration Agent, for the Matausha Valley, Palmer, Alaska—and served hundreds of miles of the southeast. Eight years later found me back in the schoolroom, and after 14 years more teaching, I'm retiring... My husband, who is retired too, is an electrician. Expect the Valley to always be our home, but winters will find us traveling.

Sincerely,
Marylou (Lashbrook '32)

Another letter from a 1932 classmate:

My sister, Ardis, and I transferred from Indiana Central to Indiana University in 1930 and we graduated there with the Class of 1932. Ardis majored in Home Economics and I majored in Business Administration. Following graduation, I worked as a Bank Examiner for the State of Indiana Department of Financial Institutions for a period of approximately eight years and then joined the Naval Reserve where I served during World War II. In January 1946, I came back to my home town of Corydon, Ind., as president of the Old Capital Bank and Trust Co. and I have been here since that time.

Sincerely yours,
Blaine H. Wiseman '32

Dear Fellow Alumni:

First let me say how extremely proud I am to be the recipient of one of the 1970 Distinguished Alumni Awards. Thank you.

Oldtimers Game Offers Laughs, Fun

On May 20 twenty-three tired old men gathered for the first annual Indiana Central “Oldtimers” baseball game as part of the Alumni Day celebration on the campus.

The game, although less than an artistic success, was a highly enjoyable affair, mostly for the fans in attendance.

The length of the game was set at six innings, or that time when a team could no longer field nine players, whichever came first (just like old cars, old bodies are subject to “mechanical difficulties”). Fortunately, both teams were able to complete the game, but in a “dead heat.” The final score, 5-5, proved that the oldtimers representing teams from the odd-numbered years were just as bad as the even-years squad, or vice-versa.

The first inning found Even-Years pitcher and current ICC baseball coach, Bill Bright, on the mound. The old lefty’s control was amazing as he managed to miss the strike zone almost 90% of the time. However, Coach Bright did manage to hit home plate twice, the backstop screen four times, Tim Wilson once, and a stray dog who had the misfortune of being on the campus the day of the game.

The Odd-Squad scored three runs in the initial inning to put their opponents behind the eight-ball. Mike (“he ain’t fast but he sure is wide”) Terrell ripped the first of his two hits during this uprising.

Fireballing Ron Kron came on to hurl for the OY’s and his fastball was truly hopping. After taking a fastball for a called third strike, Dick Schriber complained to the ump, “I didn’t see that pitch, but it sure sounded low.”

Only batter to have any success against Kron was Steve Lemme, who twice was hit by pitches. Seems Steve’s prolific mid-section hung over the plate as he took this strike in the batter’s box, offering a target the pitcher “just couldn’t refuse.”

The Even Years team finally got going against lefty Tim (He’s got an arm like a leg”) Wilson. Steve McGee’s three-run triple, which finally reached the outfield fence after 37 bounces, drove in Dick Elmore, Hager St. Clair, and oldest of the oldtimers, Max Moore (’32). As Max puffed around third heading for the plate, he was heard to yell, “Get the oxygen ready!”

In fairness to fireballer Wilson, this rally was made possible through a two-out muff by shortstop Dick Goodpaster, who complained after letting a ground-ball roll between his legs, “The sun got in my eyes.”

Both teams “scratched and clawed,” or we should say more accurately “stumbled and fell” to two more runs a piece before the umpire mercifully called an end to the game.

To be serious, the game was highly entertaining for all concerned as players representing different graduating years were present and numerous other alumni watched and enjoyed the contest. It is hoped that next year we might double the number of former ICC ballplayers who return for a reunion of fun and laughs with their former teammates.

Center Offers ‘Women Aware’ Program

Today’s woman is a knowledgeable one who is interested in what is happening. Recognizing this fact, Indiana Central offers each school year eight special interest non-credit courses on a variety of subjects for aware women.

For the past three years, programs under the banner of Milady’s Day on Campus" have successfully provided informal educational opportunities for women. This year the programs comprise The Women Aware Series.

Good coffee, interesting people, knowledgeable instructors and stimulating discussion provide the format for each six-week session of the series. The day is Tuesday. The cost is $10 per course. The place is the conference room, Schwitzer Center. Parking is free and the cost of lunch, if desired, is nominal in the school dining hall.

Series I from Tues., Sept. 12 through Tues., Oct. 17 features “Presidents We’ve Had—and Haven’t Had” in the morning session, 10:15 a.m.-noon, and “Interior Decorating” from 12:45 p.m.-2:30 in the afternoon session.

Dr. Roland T. Nelson, history professor at ICC, is the instructor for “Presidents.” Attention focuses on the intention and fact in the constitutional plan of 1787; the “also rans”—men who might have been president; presidents

Alumni Association Honors
Arbogast, Emery With Awards

Dr. J. Lynn Arbogast, recently retired director of the Division of Allied Health Sciences for the Indiana University Medical Center, and Dr. Donald G. Emery, executive director of the National Reading Center in Washington, D.C., were honored as Distinguished Alumni of the Indiana Central College Alumni Association. They received awards from the association on Alumni Day, May 20.

Dr. Arbogast graduated from Indiana Central in 1925. He worked two years with Eli Lilly in organic chemical research which was one of his college majors. He then taught physics and chemistry in high school at Hartford City, Ind., for four years.

During the interval he worked for a degree in music education at Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington, Ill. He then matriculated at the Indiana University School of Medicine where he graduated in 1936, interned in 1937, and completed the pathology residency in 1940. He became pathologist at the Home Hospital in Lafayette, Ind. until World War II.

Following the war he became director of clinical laboratories at the IU Medical Center where he completed a 19-year tenure in 1965. He then became director of the Division for the medical center from which position he retired on May 1, 1972. In the seven years since 1965 the Division of Allied Sciences grew to over 1,100 students in all of the regional campuses of Indiana University. He still continues with the division as consultant for the new acting director.

Dr. Arbogast is a member of the American Medical Association and Indiana State Medical Association. As a member of the Indiana State Pathology Association and the Indiana Blood Bank Association, he advanced through the ranks from secretary to president. He also served a term on the board of directors for the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and has been associated since 1932 with the National Registry of Medical Technologists. He was one of the original founders of the Community Blood Bank of Marion County. He is the author of one copyrighted book and over 20 papers of medical laboratory characters on various subjects.

For a time he was active for the National Association of Biological Sciences and the Indiana Academy of Sciences as a consultant to high schools. At present he is on the board of directors of the Indiana Hemophilia Association, chairman of training for the state group on Emergency Medical Care, a member of the Indiana State Review group for Hill Burton Hospitals, and active in state and local groups of comprehensive health planning, paramedical manpower, and educational and innovative development.

Dr. Emery was appointed to the National Reading Center in January, 1971. Prior to assuming this post he had served as superintendent of schools in Scarsdale, N.Y. (1965-1970) and Shaker Heights, Oh. (1960-1965).

During the 1960's Dr. Emery served as a university administrator and professor. He joined the University of Omaha in 1951 as assistant to the president and later held the positions of dean of the college of adult education, director of summer sessions and director of the graduate division.

In the 1940's Dr. Emery served as a public school administrator, both at the district level and the building level as well as a classroom teacher of science and social studies. His teaching career has extended from the primary grades through graduate school.

His degrees were earned at ICC, B.A., in 1941; Butler University, M.A., 1945; and at the State University of Iowa, Ph.D., 1949.

Well known for his lectures on educational topics and for his articles in numerous educational and professional journals, Dr. Emery's experience also includes service as a consultant to other countries, to the Strategic Air Command, and to an adult education college in Omaha, Neb. about educational programs and ideas. In Shaker Heights he introduced supplemental televised instruction and was instrumental in the beginnings of the educational station in Cleveland. He has also helped develop several other important new methods and techniques in education.

Dr. Emery's present post is in keeping with his belief that new approaches must constantly be developed to make the benefits of education more available and better delivered. The National Reading Center is dedicated to the elimination of illiteracy in America in this decade.

The Alumni Association chose to honor both these men for their outstanding contributions to their professions, their communities and to Indiana Central College.

ON THE FIRST DAY OF A NEW COLLEGE YEAR

BY DR. GENE E. SEASE

Each year seems to go faster than the last one, and it scarcely seems possible that it is time to launch the 1972-73 school year. This article is being written on Friday, September 8, as we prepare for the arrival of about four hundred new students and nearly eight hundred returning students in the day school.

Some of the changes which occurred on campus during the summer months are: continued construction of the science building addition which will be completed on December 15 in time for use the second semester; razing of the old garages behind Wilmore Hall and the placing of picnic tables for a new campus park; renovation of the former maintenance area in Good Hall into a suite of rooms for ceramic classes; repaving of the parking lot north of Esch Hall an Otterbein Avenue from Hanna to the new maintenance building; painting in Buxton, Esch, Wilmore and Krannert Halls; installation of a new central air-conditioning unit for Ransburg Auditorium, the library, and south wing of Esch Hall; purchase of a new school bus and a new 15 passenger minibus; waterproofing and installation of new carpet in some areas of the admissions office suite; additional fence across the north end of the campus; expansion of the library to include the southwestern corner of the third floor; installation and equipping of an audiovisual laboratory on the second floor of Good Hall. This list by no means represents all of the physical changes which occurred during the summer but gives some indication of the improvements made to the campus and its buildings.

As we look forward to the 1972-73 school year, we anticipate a record enrollment in both the day and evening divisions. A variety of goals greet us for the new school year, including: evaluation and improvement of the Fleximester program begun last year; North Central evaluation and re-accreditation for the next ten years; an intensified program in public relations and community outreach; an extensive review of our past and charting our future course through a Long Range Planning Committee of trustees, faculty and students; a careful examination of the image which our college projects to its constituency; increased relationship to other area colleges through consortia conversations; strengthened convocation programs bringing cultural, academic, and spiritual resources to the campus; the launching of our new Criminal Justice Planning Program; a new affiliate program with the Indiana College of Mortuary Science; an expanded continuous food service program to resident students; and emphasis on a greatly enlarged library.

We again express thanks to the alumni for your enthusiastic support of the college and its growing programs. Your loyalty in sending students to us, in talking with others about the college, and in your financial support of our program makes possible the kind of expansion which we are having. While many private colleges are worried about their future and are suffering problems of economic and manpower cutbacks, your alma mater continues to grow. We believe this is not accidental but is the direct result of a determination that Indiana Central will continue to be the kind of school where values are important, where personal relationships between faculty and students will exist, where academic stature increases and one which deserves continued recognition and support of the community and its alumni.
Alumni Day, May 20

Alums Return To Campus

More than 300 alumni and families returned to ICC for the annual Alumni Day activities on May 20.

The day began with a breakfast for members of the Association Board of Directors. Music alumni and friends also held a breakfast this year with senior music students as honored guests. Attendance was doubled over last year at this event.

The alumni-faculty coffee call was a popular "gathering and chatting" place to begin a full day's activities.

The morning convocation took a new twist this year with the emphasis on "Nostalgic Moments." Dr. Roy V. Davis president and Mrs. Jean Hirst provided music. The feature of the program were reminiscences of the 20's from Dr. Roy Turley and Rev. Willard Brown, and remembrances of IC in the 40's from Dr. John Rider and Mr. Carroll Vertrees. Each pair took a few minutes to site highlights of their period of time at ICC with the added interest of slides from old yearbook pictures.

Also recognized during convocation were the members of our alumni who were deceased since last Alumni Day.

The noon luncheon was followed by presentation of new awards to the interclass and interdepartmental award winners.

The annual Philalethean Tea was at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Gene Sease was the featured speaker of the evening, and The Scottsman (faculty men's chorus) provided musical numbers.

The pre-dinner reception/fellowship time brought everyone together again before the alumni buffet dinner at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Gene Sease was the featured speaker of the evening, and The Scottsman (faculty men's chorus) provided musical numbers.

The program also included installation of the new Association officers, presentation of new awards to 1972 distinguished alumni as well as past-honored ones, and welcome of the 1972 class to the Association.

Also from 2:30-5 in the afternoon returning alumni had a choice of several events to attend. An oldtimers baseball game took place on the baseball diamond north of Wilmore Hall. Favorite movies of the past were offered in Recital Hall, including W. C. Fields, Spanky and Our Gang, Laurel and Hardy, Abbott and Costello, and others. In Esch Hall alumni artists Larry Cox '59, Clyde Foster Jr. '64, and Joseph L. Reynolds '62 exhibited some of their works in our first Alumni Art Show. Cox is with the art department at Washington High School, Indianapolis; Foster teaches at Warren Central High School, Indianapolis; Reynolds is the department head at Northwest High School.

Central Council Elect

Central Council Officers

Elected last spring to serve as officers of the Indiana Central College student government for 1972-73 were Steve Hurst, president; Rick Sidebottom, vice president-treasurer; and Jane Hoban, secretary.

Central Council president Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hurst, 329 Capitol Blvd., Corydon, is a senior biology-chemistry student. This school year will be Hurst's second term as head of the college's student government.

Sidebottom, son of Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Sidebottom, 720 S. Sherman Dr., is a junior majoring in mathematics and minor in art. Miss Hoban is a senior and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merril D. Hoban, 5005 W. Jefferson Rd., Kokomo. She is an elementary education major.

Other officers also elected by student vote to lead the Council program were John Adams, senior, as vice president of social activities, and Robert Biggs, senior, as vice president of religious activities. Adams, a physics major and mathematics minor, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Adams, Box 1387, Bloomington, and Mrs. Gladys Adams, 1425 S. State. Biggs, a pretheological student, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doit Biggs, R. R. 1, Westfield, Ill.

NAIA District

Names Bright

Coach of Year

Baseball Coach Bill Bright was chosen NAIA District 21 baseball coach of the year for guiding the Greyhounds to the 1972 district championship.

Bright's selection by his fellow coaches was announced at the same time the district all-star team was made public.

Anderson placed three players on the roster, Grace, Huntington, and Marion each had two, while one each came from Franklin, Indiana Central, Manchester, Taylor and Tri-State.

Catchers honored were Gerry Tilton of Huntington and Dave Verhovnik of Indiana Central. The pitchers were Ted Ahaus and Mike Brunette of Marion and Jon Ballard of Anderson.

College Awards Honorary Degrees

A mayor, an educator, two clergymen, and a former U.S. Senator received honorary degrees at the 67th annual commencement May 21. Degrees were awarded to Mayor Walter E. Washington, Washington, D.C., who was also the commencement speaker; Harry R. Davidson, superintendent of the Battle Creek, Mich., school system; the Rev. Gene Crawford, district superintendent of the Terre Haute district of the United Methodist Church; the Rev. Wilburt M. Littrell, district superintendent of the Lafayette district of the U.M. Church; and Sen. Homer E. Capehart, former U.S. Senator from Indiana.

Mayor Washington, who was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree, is a career public housing official who rose through the ranks to become executive director of the National Capital Housing Authority, the nation's pioneer slum clearance and public housing agency. He later served as chairman of the Public Housing Authority of the city of New York, the nation's largest housing effort for low income families.

In 1987 President Lyndon Johnson brought him back to the Capital to nominate him as the first mayor-commissioner of the reorganized city government.

Mayor Washington’s achievements have been recognized with numerous awards and honors including the career service award of the National Civil Service League, and the Distinguished Alumni Achievement Award from Howard University, his alma mater. Additional awards were received from the National Conference of Christians and Jews; the Annual Archdiocesan Award; the YMCA Order of the Red Triangle Award for service and leadership to youth and community; the Distinguished Service Award from the Capital Press Club in 1988; and many others.

Among other duties, Mr. Washington is a member of the advisory board, U.S. Conference of Mayors; vice chairman, Human Resources Development Committee, National League of Cities; trustee, John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

Mr. Davidson was awarded an honorary doctor of letters degree. He recently was honored by the Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek by having their new Visual and Performing Arts Center named for him. The college was chartered and developed under his leadership.

Prior to Battle Creek he had led the school system in New Albany, Ind. He is a 1928 graduate of Indiana Central.

The ministers, the Rev. Gene Crawford, district superintendent of the Terre Haute district of the United Methodist Church; and the Rev. Wilburt M. Littrell, district superintendent of the Lafayette district received doctor of divinity degrees.

Rev. Crawford received his B.A. from ICC in 1947 and his M.Div. from Union Theological Seminary in 1950. He has held pastorates in Dale, Lincoln City, Evansville and Southport, Ind. He assumed the superintendent in 1971.

Rev. Littrell is a native of Evansville. He received a B.A. from Asbury College in 1939 and the B.D. from Chandler School of Theology, Emory University in 1942. In 1944 he received a scholarship to study at Yale. Rev. Littrell has served churches in Monon, Frankfort, Attica and Griffith, Ind. He became a superintendent in 1968. He is chairman of the cabinet of North Indiana Conference and is a member of the board of trustees at the University of Evansville.

Mr. Capehart, former U.S. Senator, received a doctor of laws degree from Central. He is known both in government and business. He started out in the sales field, and by 1927 owned his own company manufacturing radios and phonographs. He sold the firm in 1933 when he became associated with the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. in Buffalo. During the 30's he also purchased most of the land now known as Capehart Farms, located in Daviess County.

Dr. Capehart became active in politics in 1938. In 1944 he was elected to the U.S. Senate on the Republican ticket and served in the Senate for 18 years. He presently heads Capehart Corp., serves directorships in several companies, and devotes as much of his time as possible to Capehart Farms.

Porter Becomes Purchasing Manager

William G. Porter has been named purchasing research manager for the materials management center of International Harvester Co. in Interstate Industrial Park, Ft. Wayne.

Associated with the company since 1956 Porter began work in the Indianapolis plant where he had a number of positions in manufacturing. He was named section supervisor of machining and assembly in 1965 and later materials scheduler of the Indianapolis plant. After serving on the internal auditing staff, he returned to the truck division in 1970 as staff assistant to the manager of manufacturing assigned to the profit improvement program on the light line models.

He is a graduate of ICC and did graduate work at Butler University. He received his CPA certificate in 1971 in Ohio and is a fellow member of the Ohio Society of CPAs.

In his new post Porter will be responsible for a new function in the truck division designed to reduce direct purchase costs and resist cost increase through price and analysis, economic analysis and other industrial engineering techniques.

Frankfort, Attica and Griffith, Ind. He became a superintendent in 1968. He is chairman of the cabinet of North Indiana Conference and is a member of the board of trustees at the University of Evansville.

Mr. Capehart, former U.S. Senator, received a doctor of laws degree from Central. He is known both in government and business. He started out in the sales field, and by 1927 owned his own company manufacturing radios and phonographs. He sold the firm in 1933 when he became associated with the Rudolph Wurlitzer Co. in Buffalo. Dr. Capehart became active in politics in 1938. In 1944 he was elected to the U.S. Senate on the Republican ticket and served in the Senate for 18 years. He presently heads Capehart Corp., serves directorships in several companies, and devotes as much of his time as possible to Capehart Farms.
Lettermen To Appear At Homecoming

An often asked question is "Which came first—the chicken or the egg" and in a sense you can ask the same question of the era of vocal groups—"Does the song make the group or does the group make the song?"

Personalizing the question in relationship to The Lettermen, it is neither. Their success can be attributed to their own sound—their own choice of material, their own arrangements and most important, the art of not recording anything they cannot duplicate in a live appearance. If proof of the theory was needed, they proved it when they received a gold album for their million-plus selling album, "The Lettermen and Live."

The trio, consisting of Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Gary Pike, have found the unique chemistry of sound and songs that have graced them with millions of album fans, hundreds of thousands of campus concert fans who annually attend their S.R.O. "live" concerts, hotel and night club audiences, and their countless t.v. audiences.

Tony Butala made his singing debut at the age of 8 on a radio show in his home town of Sharon, Pa. When his family moved to Los Angeles he was accepted by the famed Mitchell Boys Choir and his professional musical career had begun.

Jim Pike was born in St. Louis and after serving in the US Navy moved to Los Angeles. He attended Brigham Young University in Utah and started singing with campus groups. After BYU he formed a group called the Damons which sang with Stan Kenton in Las Vegas. When the group disbanded he returned to Los Angeles where he and Tony met and discussed their views and feelings about forming a vocal group. Their musical ideas were the same, the name was chosen and The Lettermen were born.

Gary Pike, Jim's younger brother, was born in Twin Falls, Idaho, and attended local schools until his family moved to Los Angeles. Gary attended El Camino College but left to join The Lettermen after Jim and Tony auditioned him.

Since its creation the trio has appeared at more than 2000 colleges and universities across the country. Their 20 or more cross-country tours have had countless "standing room only" signs at box office windows.

Their first single record for Capitol was "The Way You Look Tonight" and the public fell in love with it for more than a million copies in sales. The next two singles were "When I Fall in Love" and "Come Back Silly Girl!"—both selling for a total of almost two million. The fantastic part of their single selling success was that during this one-year period their first l.p., "A Song For Young Love" was a national No. 1 best seller staying on the music trade charts for 58 straight weeks.

Since then their track record reads like a personal Hall of Fame—receiving gold l.p.'s (which represent $1,000,000 or more sales) are "The Lettermen and Live," "Best of the Lettermen," "Hurt So Bad" and "Going Out of My Head." All 31 of their l.p.'s made the top 100 l.p. national record charts.

They have had the privilege of working in theatres and night clubs and tours with Jack Benny, George Burns and Bob Hope.

The college appeal of The Lettermen was clearly demonstrated when they were voted No. 1 campus attraction by the annual Billboard Magazine poll. Added to the tremendous campus reception has been their enormous success in night clubs and the major hotels in New York, Chicago, New Orleans, Miami, L.A., San Francisco, Reno, Tahoe and Las Vegas.

Their successful and responsible association with Capitol Records hit a happy peak this year, with the formation of The Lettermen, Inc., their own production company.

Unlike most vocal groups, The Lettermen all have the same range and easily interchange parts. All three are accomplished soloists in their own right. Each member shares an equal vote on all issues and perhaps one of the reasons for their continual success has been that the three are really one—it is this unity in all things that created "The Lettermen Sound" that is known and respected by both the public and the music industry.

Taylor Appointed
Student Editor

Indiana Central College senior Terry Taylor has been named editor of the Reflector, the college newspaper, for the 1972-73 school year. Junior Rhonda Kirkham has been appointed as business manager of the publication.

Taylor, son of Mr. Carl H. Taylor, 621 Cherry Street, Hammond, is majoring in psychology and minoring in English and philosophy. Miss Kirkham is the daughter of Mrs. Norma V. Wiseman, Rt. 1, Corydon.

The new editor has worked on the Reflector staff for three years as both feature editor and business manager. Taylor replaces 1972 graduate Brian Thompson, Indianapolis, who distinguished himself as editor of the Reflector and as president of the Senior Class during 1971-72.

Sease Announces Appointments

Recent appointments in the Admissions Office were announced by Dr. Gene E. Sease. Cary Hanni has been promoted to assistant admissions director and Mike Watkins has been added to the admissions office as a financial aid counselor. Both are graduates of ICC with Watkins graduating in 1968 and Hanni in 1969.

Watkins will be involved in the aid program especially for the incoming new students. Counseling, correspondence with prospective students and traveling also will be part of his job.

The new admissions counselor was born in Crawfordsville and graduated from Greenfield High School. After graduating from Indiana Central he obtained his M.S. in guidance from Butler. He taught at New Palestine High School and Franklin High School before coming to Indiana Central. He was student body president at Indiana Central and also was a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, a national journalism fraternity. Watkins is married to the former Jeanne Wade.

Hanni, who had been an admissions counselor for the past two years will continue many of the same duties; however, they will be expanded. Before coming to Indiana Central, Hanni taught at Fulton Junior High School. Cary was a four year monogram winner in golf while attending Indiana Central. He is married to the former Vicki L. Agler.

Estate Planning Corner

The Christian Will

By Lynn R. Youngblood
Director of Development

During the last two years I have been pleased to learn of the number of alumni who have included Indiana Central in their wills. Frequently, however, I visit with alumni who feel such action is understandable and almost expected for those alumni who are not parents, but if there are children involved that the College should not expect to be included. On the other hand there are other alumni who have chosen to consider the College as another child and have treated them as such in their wills. Recently I had the privilege of reading a portion of a will from which I am permitted to quote and now do so.

"It is my desire that this will shall serve as a fitting and public witness to my Christian faith. . . ."

"I give and devise all of my property, both real and personal, to my wife in full trust that she will utilize such of this estate as is needed for her welfare and comfort, and that she will effectively dispose of the remainder as a committed Christian.

"If I survive, it is my firm and stated belief that, having fulfilled our responsibilities for the support of our children during their dependent years, it is my Christian call, as the survivor of our marriage, to direct that our estate be put to its greatest use for the benefit of mankind. Although they will not be receiving major shares of this estate, this in no sense indicates my lack of loving concern for my fine children. In so doing I put to the test my oft-declared plea that we Christians give heed in our estate planning to the needs of our fellowmen. Our children will thus join their parents in this concern. Our friends and relatives, those beyond our clear line of responsibility, will also share in the same concern by not receiving through this estate. . . ."

The will then goes on to indicate bequests of modest amounts to each child and grandchild. All of the remainder of the estate, and that is more than one-half of it, was designated for education and humanitarian concern.

Of course, it is this kind of will, multiplied by the dozens, which will help Indiana Central continue its quest of "Progress Toward Excellence." Certainly those of us interested in the furtherance of church-related, private higher education will want to face up to the challenge of writing a Christian will.

Esch Scholar Named

Miss Rita A. Huffman of Grass Creek, Ind., a 1971 graduate of Caston High School, was named the Esch Scholar for the 1972 year.

Upon Dr. I. Lynd Esch's retirement in 1970 after 25 years of service as president of the college, Indiana Central instituted the Esch Scholarship in tribute to him. The award, which is the school's highest honor, carries with it a monetary stipend for three years of college and is awarded to a student upon the basis of his achievement during the first year. Consideration is given to academic, religious, social, and cultural interests of the student.

Miss Huffman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Huffman, was the outstanding academic student in the freshman class and attained nearly a straight "A" average. She is preparing for a career in medicine.

Last year's award was given to Miss Joyce Parker of Brookville, Oh. a student in nursing education.

Admissions Reports

Increase in Applications

The Admissions Office reports that they finished the recruiting year 15% up in applications over 1971.

Various factors, including lessening of military service obligations, competitive financial aid programs, and more available places in other institutions have limited Central's enrollment to 430 new students, approximately the same number as last year.

There has been a 3% increase in percentage of dormitory students. There also has been a slight increase in United Methodist students—37% of the freshmen are of the U.M. church.

Central freshmen this year show better than average Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores, up ten points in both verbal and mathematics sections, and show an over-all improved high school class rank. Over one-fourth of the new freshmen ranked in the upper 10% of their graduating class; nearly 50% were from the upper fifth and 74% were in the upper third of their classes.

Within the new class 34 freshmen are from out of state. Twenty-three new students are from families in which one or both parents also attended Indiana Central.
Nurses Serve In Africa

Two members of the Nursing Department, left here May 24 to travel to Zaire (formerly Republic of Congo), where they spent nearly three months as volunteers in a mission hospital.

The two were Miss Cheryl Catlin, formerly of Springfield, III., and Miss Cheryl White, formerly of Cincinnati, Oh. Miss Catlin is a clinical instructor in the nursing department, and Miss White was on the nursing faculty during the 1971-72 school year.

After traveling to the capital city of Kinshasa, they were flown to Kapanga in the Katanga Province via a station aircraft.

During their stay, the two young nurses filled in for a missionary nurse who was on leave in the United States. They assisted a surgeon, and Dr. Pauline Chambers, Indiana missionary pediatrician, at Piper Memorial Hospital in Kapanga which serves an area as large as Indiana and Michigan.

Along with their personal baggage, Misses Catlin and White took several items of much needed equipment, including a spare gasoline tank for the Cessna 180 mission plane, donated medical supplies, telephone wire, bed sheets, and radio spare parts.

The nurses were sponsored in their volunteer service by the North United Methodist Church of Indianapolis and churches of the Central Illinois Conference. They returned to the United States August 12.

Wesley Tour To England

Indiana Central is sponsoring a Wesley Highlights Program October 15-22 from Chicago to England. The week-long journey will cover the significant sites of the life of John Wesley and the cradle of Methodism.

The impact of John Wesley upon England in his own time and succeeding generations, and the spreading of that influence to American religious life is undeniable.

It was in London that Wesley organized the Foundry Society, the most influential early Society. The tour will also visit Canterbury, Stratford, Warwick, Coventry, Manchester, Lincoln, and Epworth. There will be opportunities to meet with contemporary church leaders, visit an Industrial Mission, and fellowship with local congregations.

Completing the total program will be the privilege of living with English families, observing the sights of London and surrounding areas, enjoying an evening at the theatre, and having time to pursue individual interests.

Guest lecturer for the tour will be Dr. Adolf Hansen, professor in the philosophy and religion department. Dr. Hansen did his undergraduate work at Taylor University. His B.D. and M.S.T. were granted from New York Theological Seminary. His Ph.D. in religion was earned from Northwestern.

Summer Enrollments Up At ICC

Indiana Central College's 1972 Fleximester schedule proved to be popular with central Indiana students.

A year ago Indiana Central offered the traditional one session summer program. Undergraduate enrollment was 534 and graduate enrollment was 138. This year, ICC had two summer sessions. Undergraduate student enrollments in Summer Session I totaled 347 and for Summer Session II, 412. Graduate student enrollments in Summer Session I totaled 112 and for Summer Session II, 93.

This increase in students is directly related to the flexible summer program with a greater variety of courses and schedules.

ICC also offered undergraduate and graduate ceramic workshops and two undergraduate metal enameling workshops in conjunction with the American Art Clay Co., Inc. of Indianapolis this past summer. Undergraduate student enrollments totaled 61 and graduate student enrollments totaled 21. Students from 16 different states and Ontario, Canada, participated in these workshops.

Alpha Sigma Lambda Initiates Students

Several Evening Division students have been elected to membership in the Alpha Nu Chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, the national honor society for evening college students. Those elected were Dale E. Aubrey, Margaret L. Haverstick, John B. Holder, Deborah L. Kerr, Donald C. Kilmark, Patricia A. Lawler, Vicki E. McAhren, Diane Mullendore and Janice E. Schaeffer.

Dr. Frederick D. Hill, Associate Professor of History, John G. Swank, Assistant Professor of Speech and Diane Metheny, Evening Division Instructor in the History and Political Science Department, were also elected to membership.

Officers elected for the 1972-73 year are Carole S. Jaggers, president; Kenneth W. Parks, vice-president; Joanne Williams, secretary; and Mary C. Moulder, treasurer. Dr. Leonard T. Grant is the National Councilor for the Alpha Nu Chapter.
'Charlie Brown' Is First Production

The Indiana Central Players opened their theatre season early this year with a production of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" on the evenings of September 21, 22, and 23, and with a matinee performance on the 23rd. The performances were given in Ransburg Auditorium.

This very popular musical by Clark Gesner is based on the comic character "Peanuts" by Charles Schulz and has proved as popular as the comic strip. It has been playing to capacity houses throughout the country for several years.

Cast in the I C C production were Bruce Haddix as Charlie Brown, Rebecca Geible as Lucy, Geoffrey Smith as Snoopy, Taylor Martin as Linus, Kevin Ruschhaupt as Schmeder and Linda Potter as Patty.

The musical was produced and directed by Richard A. Williams, director of theater and chairman of the Speech and Drama Department of ICC. James Ream, instructor in stage-craft, was the technical director. Mick Bridgewater, a senior music major at ICC served as musical director and Rebecca Rutt was in charge of choreography.

New Alumni 'C' Men's Club To Sponsor Homecoming Dance

Alumni activities will center on three events on Homecoming Day, Saturday, Oct. 28. Theme for the annual day will be "Comic Strip Capers."

The ICC vs. St. Joseph football game will begin at 2 p.m. in Key Stadium. The Greyhounds will battle the defending Indiana Collegiate Conference champions. Halftime events will include the traditional crowning of the Homecoming Queen and announcements of prizes for campus decorations.

Game tickets are $1.50 each. Free coffee and donuts will be served to alumni as long as they last, from the concession stand north of the stadium.

Following the game all residence halls will hold open house, so that visitors may view decorations. Also following the game, a coffee time for ICAPS (Indiana Central Alumni Parents) will meet in the Schwitzer private dining rooms.

At 7 p.m. a real treat is coming to campus. The Lettermen, well-known trio and recording artists, will present a concert in the gymnasium. The Lettermen consistently have hit records on the charts and are among the outstanding attractions on the campus circuit today. Tickets for The Lettermen Show are $5 and $6 per person.

Beginning at 9 p.m. the newly-organized Alumni "C" Men's Club will sponsor an informal buffet-dinner in Schwitzer Center concourse. A delicious buffet dinner will be available and everyone may dance to music of The Jack Brink Trio from 9 p.m. until midnight, or simply chat and eat with old college friends. Tickets for the dinner-dance are $3.50 each.

The Alumni Association offers a Homecoming Package—including the ICC vs. St. Joe game, The Lettermen Show, and the dinner-dance—at $10 per person (at a savings of $1.00). Or tickets for any or all of the three events may be ordered separately. Reservations should be made through the Alumni Office, and tickets can be picked up Homecoming Day from noon on in the gymnasium lobby. Tickets to the dinner-dance only can be obtained in Schwitzer lobby after 8:30 p.m.

Central Receives Cravens Bequest

Indiana Central College was honored recently when it learned that it was to receive a $1,000 bequest from the estate of its beloved alumni secretary, Dr. Virginia Cravens. Miss Cravens had a deep interest in fostering alumni support of ICC and she had particular concern in the area of alumni bequests. As was always her style, she "practiced what she preached," as evidenced by this action of hers.

Dr. Cravens first came to Indiana Central in 1927 as dean of women and assistant professor of English. From 1927-1971 she contributed hours and years of service to the college, including 22 years as executive secretary of the Alumni Association and as the Alumni News editor.

Her active life ended in December, 1971, in her Indianapolis home. Through her estate bequest she continues to support her Indiana Central "home."
To Hawaii And Back...

by Alberta Honley '69

ALOHA! from the 62 ICC and Marian alums who spent a fun-filled week this past July basking in the sun and Pacific surf at Waikiki Beach.

After the trip from Indianapolis to Chicago via Allegheny, boarding the Continental 747-Jet in Chicago brought sheer joy to the face of each tourist. The Kabuki Room in the mid-section of the “Proud Bird” provided spacious accommodations for the entire group and gave all the opportunity to become acquainted with fellow-travelers while viewing such scenic terrain as the Grand Canyon, the Arizona Desert and similar landmarks during the smooth, clear 4½ hour flight to L.A. Naturally, the food and service was deluxe all the way.

After a stop-over in L.A. and a switch to Continental 747—“The Robert Six”—appropriately named for the company president, the group was off to Honolulu.

A smooth flight all the way, it became a bit placid after dark, but this was quickly changed by the introduction of a horse-race film which brought the winner in our group a bottle of champagne and the envy of those who did not win. Then came a movie, “The Star Spangled Girl,” starring Sandy Duncan which kept the passengers quiet and content for the balance of the trip.

Since the Honolulu airport appears to be a constant state of remodeling and enlarging, the shuttle bus was waiting at the ramp to transport passengers to the luggage claim section where each received an “official” lei greeting and welcome to the Islands.

While the route to the Surfrider Hotel was dark, the distant glint of lights along Waikiki Beach announced that “this is where the action is.”

The Sunday sun greeted those who could not wait to view the blue Pacific from the lanai of their room. It was as beautiful as all the travel brochures tell you it will be, with the surf riders skimming across the white caps as they pounded against the sandy beach sending a welcome call to all who enjoy an early morning swim. The balance of Sunday found our group moving in all directions for church, shopping, and mostly looking until lua’a time that evening.

Monday’s bus tour of Oahu offered a panoramic view of cities and towns dotting the coastline from a windy vantage point high atop the Nuuanu Pali, and some interesting stops at pineapple fields and banana plantations bordering the highway.

No doubt, the most interesting and exciting tour was the one to Pearl Harbor via a “Sea-nic Cruiser” which left from the Waikiki Beach boat dock and offered a breathtaking view of the Waikiki shoreline, as it sped out to sea before approaching Pearl Harbor and the memorable battleship row which brought to many minds a vivid recall of that fateful Sunday, December 7, 1941.

With free days for shopping and personal touring interspersed between these special events, each traveler found an overwhelming selection of mumus, matching shirts, leis and fresh pineapple for themselves and the home folks.

All too soon Friday arrived and all scattered to take that last swim or walk along the beach before packing for the homeward journey. The one consolation was the promise of a return flight on Continental’s “Proud Bird” which departed at 10:30 that night and supplied the smooth purring lullaby which put most to sleep for a few hours before the sun greeted them as they prepared for touchdown in L.A.—a brief stop before the ride over the Colorado Peaks and Iowa plains as they headed for Hoosier-land.

The disappointment of departure from the 747 in Chicago was increased when we realized that due to a change in plane schedules, we would be continuing the journey to Indianapolis via a “Scenic Cruiser.” While this was a departure from our style of travel, the chartered, air-conditioned vehicle provided “some” of the comforts of the 747 and did return us to Indianapolis safely after more than 10,000 miles of happy, memorable travel. And, how many ICC groups do you know who spend a week in Honolulu only to return to Indianapolis via such an appropriate carrier as the “Greyhound?”

Alumni Telethon

An alumni telethon campaign will be conducted from Indiana Central Oct. 30 through Nov. 16. It has been several years since the telethon technique has been used at ICC as a method of raising funds for Alumni Roll Call. For the first time Central's students will be placing the calls. Those students participating will be representing various campus organizations.

In order to keep costs for such a project at a minimum, this year's telethon will be conducted exclusively for Indiana alumni. Calls will be placed only to those individuals who have not yet made a contribution to ICC this calendar year.

The telephoning will be done during three successive weeks on Monday through Thursday evenings (with the exception of Election Day, Nov. 7) between the hours of 6:30 p.m and 9:30 p.m.

The emphasis this year is on PARTICIPATION. No contribution to the Roll Call will be too small. Although the percentage of IC alumni giving is above the national average, it is still slight compared to the potential support of our total alumni body. Over 65% of all alumni of IC have made a contribution at one time or another. A gift of any size from that number of our alumni would make Roll Call 1972 a smashing success.

IC Grads

Teach Business

Dr. Gene E. Sease announced the appointments of Linda Fowler and Judy Keene in the business department as part-time instructors.

Mrs. Fowler, who previously taught at Indiana Central College in 1969-70, earned her bachelor of science from ICC in 1961 and her master of science from Indiana University in 1971. A teacher at Southport High School before coming to Indiana Central, Mrs. Fowler and her husband, Carl, have two children, Scott and Eric.

Mrs. Keene received her B.S. in business from Indiana Central College and M.S. from Indiana University and was previously head of the business department at Greenwood High School. She was also a part-time instructor at St. Elizabeth's Home and has had various articles published in the Journal of Business Education.

She and her husband, Larry, have a son, Jeff.
Language Students Travel, Study

The language students had a special experience during the recent fleximester, April 24-May 19. The French students, under the direction of Prof.
Floyd Satterlee, lived in a French Language Dormitory and spoke French the entire term. Spanish and history students travelled to Mexico for firsthand study, accompanied by Professors A. Ronald Tonks, history, and Orman Moulton, foreign language.

The French students, all majors or minors, with a minimum of two semesters' work, were required to speak
French throughout the day and evening.
All lived in Buxton Hall, one of the campus residence halls which they renamed “Chateau Sous-Sol” (the base-mant castle).

A typical day in the chateau started with breakfast together, followed by a three-hour work session. The students were divided into four groups, each working on projects such as dialogues and short plays. Even in the planning sessions, the students conversed in French.

Following the evening dinner hour dialogues and plays were presented, as well as regular discussions of a variety of topics, with the various groups leading.

The class also printed a weekly
French newsletter, and used other aids, such as film strips, slides, films, records, to further everyone’s knowledge.

Individual students were each encouraged to work on his or her particular linguistic difficulty during the time. The 24-hour-a-day experience gave each person a longer, more concentrated opportunity to improve and to solve his weaknesses with the language.

The Spanish-history group left April 25 and flew to Mexico City where they stayed in the Casa Gonzalez. There were sightseeing trips outside of Mexico City to Oaxaco, Pueblo and Hidalgo.
In the city the students saw the Ballet Folklorico, Jal Alai and the bullfight.
The language students also spent two days in Acapulco.

On May 11 the group flew on to Merida, Yucatan, where the important Mayan archeological sites of Uxmal and Chichen Itza were studied.

The language portion of the course included intermediate Spanish conversation, study of contemporary society and mores, lectures on the cultural heritage of Mexico, round-table and dinner discussions. Increased language proficiency formal study, planned travel and individual conversation with the natives.

For the history students the course offered depth study in the history of Mexico; lectures on Mexican history;
readings of original documents; examinations of artifacts of the Ancient Mayan, tolteq and Aztec cultures; talks with officials of contemporary Mexican political life; and visits to modern as well as colonial Mexico.

The students returned to the Midwest on May 18 after stopping briefly in New Orleans and Atlanta.

Indianapolis Foundation Makes Grant To Central

A grant of $80,000 was given by The Indianapolis Foundation toward construction costs of the new Lilly Science Hall annex at Indiana Central College.

The announcement was made in July by Jack Killen, managing director of the foundation. The facility, now under construction, will accommodate 300 nursing education students as well as provide additional facilities for the expansion of the scientific and educational programs at the college.

The Indianapolis Foundation, the Indianapolis Hospital Development Association, and Community Hospital were primarily responsible for providing funds to help Indiana Central initiate its nursing program in 1959.
The program in nursing which was started with 18 students has been steadily expanded to permit enrollment of 105 students last year and 110 freshman students this fall. Fully acccredited by the National League of Nursing, both an associate degree nursing program and four-year baccalaureate program are offered at the college.

Dr. Gene E. Sease indicated that the new facilities are being built by the F. A. Wilhelm Construction Company and will be completed this December.
The total cost of the building and equipment will be slightly in excess of $1,250,000 and is being funded completely by interested friends of the college from private sources.

In addition to four laboratories and a lecture room which will seat 200 students, the building will contain nine seminar rooms, four additional classrooms, 14 faculty offices, an earth science room, an audiotutorial labora-ory, a large nursing arts practicum room, a reception area, student lounge, and other facilities designed primarily for the nursing education program.

Wetherald
Recruits Wrestlers

Five Indianapolis area wrestlers and one from Nashville, Tenn., enrolled at ICC this fall. Terry Wetherald, head wrestling coach, announced that Mark Dullaghan from Chatard, Floyd Overman from Broad Ripple, Joe Myers from Greenwood, Richard Gardner and Philip Gurganus from Beech Grove, and Eric Wood from Father Ryan High School in Nashville, have all enrolled at the college.

Dullaghan was Chatard’s third sectional champion in the school’s history and placed fourth in the 1972 regional.
In the 1971-72 season, he compiled a 20-6 record at 145 pounds.

Overman finished fourth in the Indianapolis City Tournament at 120 pounds.

Myers rolled up a 22-4 season record in 1971-72 at 112 pounds. He was also named the MVP of Johnson County and of Greenwood High School. He also holds the school’s fastest pin record of 15 seconds.

Gardner, who wrestles at 238 pounds, compiled a 27-4 record last winter. He was the Marion County heavyweight champion, sectional champion, and regional runner-up.

Gurganus also from Beech Grove, had a 1971-72 season record of 17-6 at 145 pounds. He was a sectional runner-up and Central Suburban Athletic Conference Champion.

Wood won the Tennessee State Wrestling Championship for the past two seasons. Because of his ability he was able to fill in where he was most needed by his team. In 1970-71 he won the title at 155 pounds and 1971-72, he repeated the honor, but this time at 185 pounds.

In 1971-72 Wood compiled a 26-2 season record, earned the regional “Best Wrestler Award,” and the Father Ryan High School MVP Award. He was also a runner-up at the 1972 AAI regional at Atlanta, Ga.

The athlete also received All-State honors in football. He plays offensive center and defensive guard.

CLASS OF 1962
Faculty Members Named Outstanding

Indiana Central College faculty members Gerald G. Boyce, Mrs. Alberta Miller, Dr. Adolf M. Hansen, N. Nuel Wooden Jr., Paul D. Lucas, Dr. Richard P. Gregory Jr. and John W. Roth have been named as Outstanding Educators of America for 1972. Nominated earlier this year, they were selected for the honor on the basis of their civic and professional achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education. Nominations for the program are made by officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans, and department chairmen.

Mr. Boyce, professor of art and noted Indiana artist, received his B.S. from Wisconsin State College, and his M.F.A. from the University of Iowa. He is a member of the Mid-West College Art Association, Indiana Artist-Craftsmen, and the Association of Professional Artists.

Boyce's works have been on exhibit locally and throughout the state and nation. Most recently he was invited to hold a one-man show at the de Andries Gallery of St. John's University, New York City. This fall Boyce will show his work at both Ball State and Purdue Universities. Prof. Boyce has taught at ICC since 1950 and is chairman of the Art Department.

Mrs. Miller, associate professor of business administration, received her B.S. and M.S. degrees from Indiana State University, and has done advanced study at Indiana University.

She is a member of the National Business Teachers Association, the Indiana Business Educators Club, and the Indiana Business Education Association. As an undergraduate, she was a member of Pi Omega Pi honorary, and as a graduate, Delta Pi Epsilon.

An assistant professor of English, Dr. Hansen received a B.A. degree from Taylor University and a B.D. and S.T.M. from New York Theological Seminary. He earned the Ph.D. degree from Northwestern University. He has been appointed to teach in the Philosophy and Religion Department this fall.

Dr. Hansen is a member of the American Academy of Religion, the Society of Biblical Literature, the Modern Language Association, and the Association of University Professors. He is vice-chairman of the Meridian Street Preservation Committee, a member of the board of managers and executive committee of the Central YMCA Urban Outreach, and a board member of the Meridian-Kessler Neighborhood Association.

Mr. Wooden Jr., assistant professor of mathematics, earned his B.S. from ICC, his M.A.T. from IU, and has done further study at Butler and Purdue. He is a member of the Indiana Council of Mathematics Teachers and the American Mathematical Association.

Lucas, Gregory and Roth have distinguished themselves as teachers in the college's evening division while also maintaining full-time careers elsewhere.

Mr. Lucas, treasurer and director of the Grinding and Polishing Machinery Corp. in Indianapolis, teaches business and economics. He earned a B.S. at Butler University and a M.B.A. at IU. Lucas belongs to the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Indiana Association of CPA's, and the American Accounting Association. He is a member of the Beta Alpha Psi national accounting honorary. He has taught in IC's evening classes since 1965.

Biology teacher Dr. Gregory earned his B.S. from Western Kentucky State College and a D.V.M. degree from Ohio State University. He is a member of Sigma Xi and Omega Tau Sigma (veterinary professional fraternity). Dr. Gregory is employed by the Eli Lilly and Co. in Greenfield, and has taught at Central since 1961.

Roth, speech instructor, holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from Butler. He is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, speech honorary. Mr. Roth is director of the Office of Training, TAGS, Ft. Harrison. He has been on the evening division faculty since 1963.

Guidelines for selection to Outstanding Educators include a person's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service, and professional recognition.

Humans Majors

Hold Annual Retreat

The Julia Jameson Health Camp at Bridgeport, Ind. was the host Sept. 15-17 for the annual Humanities Retreat for all Indiana Central human relations majors.

Over 50 ICC human relations majors were involved in the retreat which had Dr. Margaret Halsey, the National Administrator of the American Humanities Foundation, and Dr. W. Hobart Hill, the developer of the humanities curriculum and enrichment program, as featured speakers at the retreat.

The American Humanities Foundation is an active foundation that cooperates with several colleges to provide educational opportunities for young people entering the youth agency career field such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the YWCA, the YMCA, Boys Club, Girls Clubs, 4-H, Junior Achievement, the Catholic Youth Organization, plus others.

"The above agencies will need 1,500 additional workers every year for the next five years if they are to offer the same services they now offer," stated Bob Dyer, the Indiana Central Foundation counselor. He, along with Prof. Ross Ludvig, have been instrumental in the Indiana Central human relations program.

Only four schools in the United States offer a degree in human relations—Indiana Central College; High Point College in High Point, N.C.; Missouri Valley College in Marshall, Mo.; and Salem College in Salem, W.Va.

The American Humanities Foundation started in 1948 with Indiana Central becoming involved in 1966 under the leadership of Harold Ransburg; Joe Bartle, who is the former mayor of Kansas City, Mo.; and the Eli Lilly Co.

Over 800 students have graduated with human relations majors from the four schools.

The retreat, which ran from Friday until Sunday, centered on the upcoming year's activities and concluded with the new theme for the year, "Venture With Vision."

1972 FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

First year head coach Bill Bless was “cautiously optimistic” as he and his staff prepare for the approaching Indiana Central College football season.

Thirty-four lettermen returned to vie for positions on the Greyhound squad along with an impressive group of freshmen recruits, which makes the outlook bright indeed for 1972.

This optimism must be tempered, however, by the fact that Central will play, for the first time, a full Indiana Collegiate Conference schedule. Facing their toughest slate ever with potentially one of the finer football teams in Greyhound history should make for an exciting season at the southside Indianapolis campus.

Little All-America candidate Oscar Gardner, MVP both as a freshman and last year as a sophomore, heads a list of outstanding gridiron performers from ICC. Captain Gardner (6-0, 205 lb.), only a junior, leads an experienced defensive squad made up of mostly two year starters. All but two of the 1971 defensive starters return, including top-flight tackles, Jerry Brennan (6-6, 250 lb.) and Dave Ivory (6-1, 225 lb.). A pleasant surprise in spring drills was walk-on Jerry Allgood (6-5, 260 lb.) who will back these veterans at tackle.

There is much depth at linebacker with Gardner, sophomore Stan Markle (6-1, 205 lb.), and Eastern Michigan transfer Randy Robertson (6-1, 205 lb.) leading the corps. Freshman Ken Brooks (6-1, 200 lb.) of Greenfield could nudge a veteran from one of the linebacking posts.

Cat-quick Doug Semenick (6-1, 190 lb.) will man one of the defensive end positions, with Terry Busching (5-10, 185 lb.) having the edge at the other sentry post.

A veteran defensive backfield returns led by speedy John Sims (5-9, 165 lb.) who picked off seven enemy aerials last season, and includes Paul Hass (5-11, 180 lb.), Mark Wheeler (6-1, 185 lb.), and D. J. Hines (6-0, 185 lb.).

Offensively, several new faces could crack the line-up even though eight of last year’s starters return to defend their positions. All-conference candidates Rick Sidebottom (6-0, 205 lb.), IC’s leading rusher last season with 700 plus yards gained from his fullback position, and quarterback Phil Eads (6-1, 205 lb.) return to bolster the offensive backfield.

Newcomer Steve Montgomery (5-7, 185 lb.) Marion County’s leading scorer and rusher last season and Co-County Athlete of the Year will be pushing hard for one of the starting backfield positions, as will Fred Eisner (6-1, 200 lb.) all-state performer from Valley Station, Ky., the same high school that produced Gardner.

The two top pass receivers of last year are back in Phil’s brother, Mike Eads (6-2, 185 lb.), and bruising tight end Joe Koenig (6-3, 210 lb.).

Dear Editor
I considered coming by ambulance for our Alumni Convocation tonight. There is one thing wrong with this! You could have seen me, but I could not have looked directly into your eyes. One of the most important things in the world today is people to people communication whether it be on the home, local community or world level.

My home is considered a small scale “ICC Booster Station.” Never a week goes by without an opportunity to speak with several youth and adults of the virtues and potential of our college. We are especially alert to students with a certain type of empathy and enthusiasm for their fellow man. Of course academic standing is important too.

Twenty-six years ago Harvey and I were living with my Grandad, L. A. Rider, in Westfield, Ill. Grandad came home from a General Conference in Pennsylvania. I remember him saying —very thoughtfully and with a twinkle in his eye “Proud of our man Esch.” Now after many great years for ICC with Dr. Esch, we have another tremendous President from Pennsylvania. The Indiana Central and Indianapolis community can join with our Alumni Association as we now say, and believe with all our hearts, “Proud of our man Sease.”

Life needs cheerleaders! Of course we think of high school and college cheerleaders and their enthusiasm, but truly all of life needs enthusiasm! In fact nothing, great or small, is accomplished without it. Let’s make the members of the ICC Alumni Association Dr. Gene Sease’s cheerleaders by supporting him with our prayers, talents, time, and financial pledges.

Multiple sclerosis is an extremely expensive disease! Eighty-thousand dollars for one patient of this progressive catastrophic disease can go in seven and a half years. (Here is where a good insurance policy is extremely helpful!) I feel that I can say from experience almost daily, that contact, planning and with many prayers—it’s “gang-ho” with President Gene Sease as we go forward and support his every endeavor. In dozens of civic relationships I have seen him make us proud.

In fact in this hospital bed at 6125 Shelby Street, with God as my Chief Counselor, I intend to help pay for the splendid nursing facility now under construction. The difficult takes time! The impossible takes a little longer!!

Gerig Assumes
P.R. Position

Lou Gerig of Monticello, Indiana has been named the new director of public relations at the college.

Gerig and his wife Beverly have lived in the Monticello area for the past four years. Both taught in the North White School System. Mr. Gerig taught and coached junior high basketball at Reynolds for three years. This past year he taught government and coached varsity golf at North White High School in Monon.

For the past two years Gerig also has been a sportswriter for the Monticello Herald Journal.

The new director is a graduate of Anderson College. He is a member of the Indiana State Teachers Association, the Tippecanoe Country Club, the White County Young Republicans, and the Church of God (Elwood, Ind.).

Gerig is married to the former Beverly Sulgrove, also a teacher. They have two children, Nataly, 19 months, and J. Tyler, six weeks.

Mr. Gerig began his new position at ICC on August 1. He replaces former director John G. Swank who is returning to fulltime classroom teaching in the Speech and Drama Department.

Physics Prof
Attends Course
At Academy

Dr. Edward A. Vondrak, chairman of the mathematics and physics department, was selected as a participant for a two-week summer short course in physics at the United States Naval Academy, Aug. 14-25. The college received word of Dr. Vondrak's selection from Lawrence A. Crum, project director at the Academy.

The course was entitled "Lecture Demonstrations in Physics" and was supported by the National Science Foundation. Selection as a participant at the short course is indeed an honor because over 250 applications were received for the 30 openings available.

The course intended to indicate to the participants available lecture demonstrations for use in enriching instruction in basic physics. Because of the outstanding qualifications of many of the participants, the course also is expected to generate several new and useful ideas in the field of physics lecture demonstrations.

Dr. Vondrak, a native of Chicago, received his B.A. degree from Knox College, his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in physics from Vanderbilt University. He was a teaching fellow while a graduate student at Vanderbilt.

Dr. Vondrak was a captain in the U.S. Army Ordnance Corps and worked as a physicist with Missile Intelligence. From 1965-67 he served in the Direct-
