Evening students earn honor
Three new members have been inducted in Alpha Sigma Lambda Honor Society at Indiana Central University. The honorary recognizes evening division students who have accomplished scholarship and leadership achievements in their classes. The three members are Marilyn J. Bushfield of Shelbyville; Candy Hodges of Indianapolis; and Joyce Block of Indianapolis. Bushfield and Block graduated in May. □

Six honored as Presidential Aides
Six Indiana Central University students were recently appointed as Presidential Aides by Dr. Gene E. Sease, president of ICU. This highly coveted selection is made on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service. Presidential Aides represent the university and serve as hosts and hostesses for visitors to the campus. The six new Aides include two seniors: David Vormohr of Portland and Michelle Young of LaGrange; two juniors, Keith Ransom of Indianapolis and Linda Stittler of North Manchester; and two sophomores, R. Paul Holle of Monticello and Tamra Kay Hawkins of Middlebury. □

Music student leaders named
The Music Department of Indiana Central University has named student officers for the 1985-86 school year. Mark Flight will be president of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble. John Stinchcomb will be vice president, and Brent Miller will be secretary/treasurer of the group. Officers for the Pep Band will be: president, Jim Jarrett; and vice president, Brent Miller. Officers are elected by the students in these ensembles on the basis of their musical and personal leadership abilities. □

From the president’s desk
Alumni—Lifeline to the Future
I had breakfast this morning with a very special group of Indiana Central students. It is my good fortune to have 12 student presidential aides. You see them at work on Homecoming Day, Commencement Day, High School Day, at the Lugar Leadership Symposium, and in a variety of other events. They individually serve as campus hosts and tour guides on numerous occasions as well. For a number of years they have been the greeters and ushers for the Governor’s Prayer Breakfast.

They are very special persons to Joanne and me and we observe those who have graduated with genuine pride and continuing interest. While they are students, these 12 students provide me with valuable insights into their generational needs and goals, as well as campus life generally.

While we ate, we talked of how they became students at Indiana Central. They told me of how folks from their home towns who were alumni of other institutions talked with them about their alma maters. Fortunately, ICU alumni were boosting their university as well. As we chatted, we concluded that alumni have a profound and important effect on a student’s choice of an educational insti-

Esch Scholar Named

Indiana Central University has named D. Andy Blackford as the 1985 Esch Scholar. The Esch Scholar Award is given to the highest-ranking undergraduate in the senior class. The annual award is named for I. Lynd Esch, former university president. It was presented to Blackford by President Gene E. Sease at an opening convocation.

Blackford, a 21-year-old math and physics major, has a grade-point average of 11.528 out of a possible 12 points.

While at ICU, Blackford has received Who's Who recognition, been on the Dean's List, and was named the 1985 outstanding student in math and science. He has also received an Epsilon Sigma Alpha sophomore scholarship and an alumni scholarship.

Blackford was selected as a member of the freshman honor society and Alpha Chi, the national collegiate honorary and is a member of the Astronomy Club.

He is a 1982 graduate of Morristown High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Blackford of Fountaintown.

C-Association news

New Officers of the Alumni “C” Association have been named for the 1985-86 year. Representing the 1,500 former letterwinners in all ICU men's and women's sports will be:

President-Mike Watkins '68
Vice President-Susan Humbarger '75
Secretary/Treasurer—George Wilson '77

A reminder to all members that the annual association dues of $20 are now due for the September 1, 1985, to August 31, 1986, year. You may submit your check made out to the “C” Association to the ICU Athletic Office, 1400 E. Hanna Avenue, Indpls., IN 46227.

Golf outing a huge success

The annual “C” Association golf outing was held at the Speedway Golf Course and those attending had a splendid time. Fabulous prizes, great fellowship with former teammates and coaches, and good food made the day memorable. Although no one won the 1985 model Ford for a hole-in-one on number 13, several other good prizes were taken home. Stan Markle '75 flew in from Texas and captured a $75 gift certificate. Others attending came from Akron, Ohio, Cincinnati, and throughout the state of Indiana.

Plan now to attend next year’s event and bring a friend or entire foursome. Tentative plans are set for a Friday outing in June at the Woodland Country Club of Carmel.
