Alumni flatten faculty—but it’s all in fun

While Saturday, February 11, found more than 5,000 visitors on campus for at least eight events (including the Polar Bear Run, two legitimate basketball games, the state finals of the academic decathlon, a wedding, a production of Amadeus, an art gallery opening, and a United Methodist men’s breakfast), most people somehow missed this clash of the titans. While the faculty defended their performance with a plethora of excuses—such as the observation that the alumni players had played college ball while most of the faculty ate popcorn at the games—the results were a decisive 86-55 in favor of the alumni. The alumni team was composed of Scott Kiesel ’86, Dick Chew ’75, Daryl Warren ’75, Jeff Crabtree ’85, Doug Campbell ’85, Jim Farmer ’76, Kevin Merriweather ’84, John D. Layman ’73, Bob Wingerter ’76, Harry Williams ’69, and head coach Steve Kahl ’78. The faculty team consisted of Terry Kent, Joe Burnell, John Langdon, Mike Adams, Rick Marshall, Steve Maple, Tom McGinnis, Joe Gentry, and Jeff Crabtree.

Flex in flux:
faculty changes academic calendar

"Fourteen weeks is not enough time for a semester. We simply need more instructional time to accomplish our objectives."

"Our present calendar does not permit a final examination period. We need this for an unhurried culminating evaluation."

"The second semester is too intensive without a break."

"Spring Term has lost its original purpose."

These and other concerns about the university's 4-4-1 calendar have arisen perennially in various faculty councils for several years. The Curriculum Council, the university's curriculum and academic policies body, set about to consider these concerns. The result was several calendar proposals, which benefitted from open hearings, college/schools discussions, and hearings that included students. After debates in two university faculty meetings, a new calendar—to begin Semester I, 1990—was adopted by a decisive majority.

The essential provisions of the calendar are an earlier starting date (Tuesday, August 28 for 1990) with a week for finals; a spring break (March 4-8 for 1991); an earlier graduation (May 4 for 1991); and a spring term beginning immediately after graduation. Students will be required to complete one of these spring terms for the bachelor's degree. This requirement may be met by taking designated courses that fit the time-intensive format. Foreign travel will be among those courses. Students may take spring term courses in other years; however, only one will be required.

Running concurrently with the spring term will be Summer Session I (seven weeks), followed by Summer Session II (seven weeks).

A part of the calendar proposal adopted by the faculty is the provision that the total number of credit hours required for a bachelor's degree be reduced from 128 to a more normative 124.

Estate provides scholarships

The University of Indianapolis is pleased to acknowledge the receipt of more than $170,000 from the estate of M. Helen Roberts, Class of 1923. Miss Roberts provided these funds for the purpose of providing financial aid to needy students. As a result of Miss Roberts' generosity, beginning with the upcoming school year there will be as many as eight Margaret Helen Roberts Scholars enrolled at the university. Helen Roberts was a resident of Rich Valley, Indiana, a member of the Rich Valley United Methodist Church, and a retired public school teacher. She was active as a musician in the community and on many occasions provided special music for churches in the general area surrounding Wabash County. She died in July 1987 at the age of ninety-one years. She is survived by her niece, Mary Kellie House, class of 1937.0

The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940

Sunday, March 12, 1989

Dinner—6:30 p.m.  Performance—7:30 p.m.
Special Alumni Price—$11 per person  Tables of Eight

What's the story of The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940? To begin with, it's not a musical. It is, however, a delightful mystery comedy filled with intrigue, mistaken identities, and people who are dead one minute and alive the next. Most importantly, it's a play guaranteed to make you laugh, topping off a delicious four-star dinner with light entertainment to enjoy with your family and friends. We don't want to give away the plot; suffice it to say that the play begins with the scene set at midnight—naturally.

Reservations will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis, with payment expected at the time of the reservation.

Your tickets will be held for you at the door.
