Weather helps make Homecoming a big success

A beautiful day brought many alumni out for Homecoming! The day began with the traditional breakfast groups. The MBA/Business/Indy Area Club jointly sponsored their alumni breakfast featuring Richard Notzbaert, president of Indiana Bell and U of I trustee. He spoke about "The Effective Role of Telecommunications in Economic Development." At the same hour, alumni of Art, History/Political Science, Nursing, Music, Theatre, and Presidential Assistants met to share breakfast and get reacquainted. Donors again were invited to the Fellows Club luncheon in the red-and-white tent. They were entertained by singer Heather Rund, a U of I music major.

This year, following the football game, the Alumni Office offered a Germanfest in the large tent, complete with a German band, the Alpine Express. The classes of '96, '91, and '76 met at various locations to get reacquainted and just have a good time. Special thanks go to Marilyn Ramsey '63 and her committee for their Homecoming efforts! 💡

Also on the program was Heather Rund, a U of I music major, who sang for her supper.

Looking every bit the entertainer is Bill Kiesel '63, master of ceremonies for the event.

Can you help with our history?

Do you remember the founding of the University of Indianapolis in 1902, or the beginning of classes in 1905? Did you ever meet President J. T. Roberts (1905-1908) or President L. D. Bonebrake (1909-1915)? If not, perhaps you know, or have known, someone who could recall the early years of the university.

Dr. Fred Hill has begun research for the writing of a history of the university, and needs first-hand information, if that is possible, but second-hand material also may be useful. Any help you can provide, either directly or by referral, will be appreciated.

Please write to Professor Emeritus Frederick D. Hill, University Archives, University of Indianapolis, 1400 East Hanna Avenue, Indianapolis, IN 46227-3697.

Parents Association gears up

The Office of Alumni and Parent Relations has been hard at work this summer to put together our new Parents Association. A group of parents met on Saturday, September 22 to discuss needs and to act as a steering committee.

Our first official meeting was Parent's Day, Saturday, October 27. That day began with a reception in Schwitzer Center, and was followed by a parents' meeting, a panel discussion by a number of our U of I deans, entertainment by Crimson Express, lunch, Greyhound football, and a pizza/salad buffet.

From this issue on, parents will receive this publication, which will feature alumni, students, faculty, and campus activities. Look for a change in the Alumni News format, and even a change in name! 💡
New IRS guidelines affect complimentary passes

New guidelines issued by the Internal Revenue Service require that donators deduct from the value of their gifts the fair market value of premiums and perquisites the donor receives, to the extent that these benefits exceed two percent of the amounts contributed, or $50, whichever is less.

To protect the tax deductibility of your contributions, the university will no longer automatically provide such perquisites, which include complimentary or discounted memberships for use of university facilities, admission passes or tickets to university-sponsored athletic, theatre, or other special events.

Because we value and wish to acknowledge your support and commitment to the university, we continue to provide complimentary admission passes, tickets and other benefits as we have in the past, but only if you request them. You as donors will be responsible for deducting from your total contributions the fair market value of premiums and benefits accepted (in excess of the guidelines) in determining the tax deductible amount of your gifts.

The university realizes that these privileges and benefits are not a primary consideration in your financial support of the university, but we regret that these avenues for saying "thank you" are limited by IRS Revenue Rulings and charitable deduction guidelines.

Reserve a place now for special presentations

On Saturday, November 17, 1990, the University of Indianapolis is offering alumni two special presentations. The morning session, from 9:00 - 11:45 a.m., is "Career Success Strategies." Following a luncheon program will be the afternoon session from 1:00 - 5:00 p.m., "Changing World Economies."

The presentations are being offered by the U of I Career Planning and Placement Services, the State Department of Human Relations Office, the MBA Office, and the MBA Alumni Association. The morning and afternoon sessions are each $10 per person, while the luncheon and speaker program is $5 per person.

This year's "Career Success Strategies" program features Mr. Michael Kerr, president of Jat Works, Inc., Indianapolis, a career and job search consulting firm. Mr. Farr and his colleagues are known throughout the country, having shared their innovative job search techniques with more than 9,000 trainers and counselors, and countless clients.

Introducing the theme of the afternoon session will be Dr. Gary Gelpel, research fellow in the Center for Soviet and Central European Studies at the Indiana University. Dr. Gelpel will discuss the impact and ramifications of that country's economy and the European and world markets. Dr. Gelpel's "World Economies" moves into full swing after lunch as five of U of I faculty and a guest scholar-address the rapid growth of technological developments in the Soviet Union, Eastern European, Mediterranean and Pacific Rim nations.

Tasting part in the afternoon program will be two of U of I's visiting professors, who hail from the Soviet Union. Both Dr. Alexey Altav and Professor Helena Davdova have made extensive contributions to the cultural life of Soviet citizens, primarily through work in the theater.
