WRECKED BIBLES REJUVENATED

Party Held at Home of Prof. Morgan

Laying their grumbling aside for the space of a few hours, the new staff officers, consisting of Earl Stoneburner, president; Geraldine Kirkham and Carroll Butler, associate editors; K. F. Ford, editor; Bennett, Poly, Jekka, editor; Guy Busch, business manager, and "All the rest," met to discuss the three surviving members of the old regime at the home of Professor Morgan last Wednesday evening.

According to a little group could not have been heard but drawn a tear from the eye of the thoughtful observer, the difference between the incoming and the outgoing members was striking. In one corner sat Ross H. Morgan, former editor, with head drooping, mouth open, staring at the table. In another corner sat Earl Stoneburner, head erect, shoulders square, talking quickly, his face lighting up with excitement, a picture of animation and dynamism that could not fail to be noticed. The old and new staff will be until those broad shoulders are bowed with the burdens of a century.

But on Mr. Morgan's left sat Miss J. A. B. Morgan, a former associate editor. She appeared to be better preserved than either of her two colleagues. Although her hair was gray, her face was marvellously free of the wear and tear of modern life, and her eyes showed no signs of age, her presence was as vibrant as ever. She seemed to be filled with energy and enthusiasm, and it was clear that she was eager to take part in the new venture.

It is the hope of the members that the City of Indianapolis will be more attractive to the residents and visitors.

TIB-RICKLERS

Theives at Work at Residencer Hall, Clothes Taken

Last week while R. H. Bishop was preparing for his weekly bath, the Robber Scholl, Professor George, Stump and Harry Good, prepared to try their usual trick, "making a something". Something happened. Someone slipped into his room while he was out, but laid a gym suit, a bathrobe and a jazz bow on the floor. He had the door opened, 9:00 minutes late, clad in satin borrowed from P. G. Smartly when the thief took pity and brought everything back.

Several of our co-eds went out recently to get material for new dresses. Only a few yards of the drapery were ordered. It was decided to build a partnerable dress. At the time of this writing Mary L., Vella, Ella Macdonald and Eta Lee, Judith, and Elinor Baganis, Miles, have had their ideas in the establishment for this purpose and are working on their designs.

OAK LEAVES

Oak Leaves, the student paper of North Manchester College, has been launched under the capable care of the warm and true uncarers who will be flourished in the coming year from a few pages to a real newspaper of four natural sizes. There will be a brand new staff at the paper. More extended preparation for primary teaching is being provided for.

HOME, SWEET HOME

One hundred years ago, May 8, 1824, a new college was established for the first time in Covent Garden, London. They were part of the directors or an English institution called the Payne, and American. Today their fame is greater than when they were established. As we look at this college, it is interesting to note the number of its graduates and the number of its students. Fifty years later, when he finished college, he saw his right arm on the back of the second chair and his arm over the third chair.

The call of the track uncovered a multitude of skins.

Mr. Stomber, "Excuse me for news."

No, what was it?"

Mr. Morgan: "Why Mr. Morgan, you've eaten an onion!"

STATE PEACE CONTEST.

Indiana Central College has been chosen as the place to hold the state peace oratorical contest, which will occur on April 29. This intercollegiate oratorical contest promises to be both interesting and novel, with some good speakers. I. C. C. is glad of the opportunity to have the contest here. For a number of years Indiana has been the front rank in oratorical debates, and is making a very active part in the other literary contests. However, last year M. E. Reed was the only speaker in the annual anti-tobacco oratorical contest held for the colleges by the State To-Bacco League.

The local contest, which was held for the purpose of choosing our representatives for the state contest, was held on April 6, in chapel. Rev. C. C. Stoba, Rev. C. F. Martin, and Rev. J. P. Cooper, from our city churches, acted as judges.

The program was as follows:

The Individual Responsibility and Peace - M. E. Reed
The Peace of the Cross - G. W. Leadre
The orations were all splendid. The Indiana delegation consisted of a man, George, and second place to Mr. Webber. We hope to have another representative. We feel confident of a high place in the contest.

HOME FOR CONFERENCE SUPERINTENDENT.

In a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, which was elected by the White River Conference, to hold in the county, plans were made for site and building a house for the Conference Superintendent. CHAPEL NEWS.

Dr. Bulgin, the famous evangelist, who has for the past month been conducting the Tabernacle, was at the college with his party on March 27. A splendid talk, we thought it was a fine one, and we are glad that we will be able to have him again in the near future. He will be here for several weeks.

On March 23, a very interesting discussion on "Capitalism versus Socialism," was held in chapel by Mr. Brinklow, who has been lecturing on this subject. After the meeting, the Reverend Condon has thrown down the discussion on the following questions, which the students or faculty will have to answer:

1. Are you an individualist or collectiveist?
2. What do you think of the present business system?
3. What is the best form of government?

Reverend A. R. Condon addressed the students at chapel on April 4. Rev. Condon is one of the trustees of the college and we are always glad to have him come here.

The choir has begun work on the Commencement music, under the direction of Prof. Jones. Every effort is being made to keep this music up to a high standard.

The college orchestra has been rehearsing numbers which will be performed at Smith Valley.

Because of the illness of Mr. Perret, Mr. Reiger has been asked to take charge of the orchestra. They enjoyed it very much. He used his skill and the orchestra has been well received.

Prof. Jones is arranging a major chorus. Maybe we can have a glee club next year.

HOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA.

Troop 38 stands undaunted as the champion Scout basketball team of the city of Indianapolis as well as the champion of the Gerfield-Dixie district. Only recently we learned that the Scout team of the school for the deaf used ineligible players and thus forfeited the game to troop 35. No more games will be played this season.

There is a spirited efficiency contest in progress now in the district, during the months of April and May. Troop 38 was offered an out-of-town trip to Washington, D. C., to visit eastern cities and with a visit to Niagara Falls and Montreal, Canada. The second, third and fourth place is a trip to Cincinnati for a week. Other awards will be made. At present, Lynn Turner is leading in the district, but from indications noticed it seems that he will have to maintain his lead.

Scott Donald, Marshall, Jack Turner, Kenneth and Myron Gross are competing for the prize. George Parsons, Lawton Link, Raymond Hammond and Raymond Breneman are attending as a Scout to obtain the merit badge in electricity.

George W. Fischer was presented with his first class badge by Mr. Donovan, our field commissioner, at the regular meeting last Wednesday night.

TRUTH CONTEST.

A hunter in the Maine woods fired at a deer. The bullet struck the animal and glanced, struck another bone and glanced again. The hunter glanced the tenth time, it left the deer's body and struck the hunting rifle. The rifle was destroyed.

The value of physical training is demonstrated in this story. "When I was working on a farm in Wyoming I jumped on my mustang and went out to round up my steers. I went around a sharp turn in the trail when suddenly a rattle in my horse made me stop. The animal gave a sudden leap to one side and was thrown headlong to the ground. It would have been little of this, however, for I was in time to throw myself out of the way. When I turned around to see what had happened, the horse had not caught the stirrup. My wild steed became doubly frightened, ran to the end of the dead run. I should have been dragged with the horse in a fool's cap, with rare presence of mind I recalled my old gymnastic feats of walking on my hands. For fourteen and one-half hours I raced madly sage and wild grasses, steamed over up, down canyons, until last at last with a dying shriek the horse fell dead."

J. W. GEORGE.

The Truth Contest is now at an end. Messrs. Turner and other geologists resigned their positions, as judges Mrs. W. G. Who only remaining judge was asked to be the judge decided for Ike Stewart. The winner may secure the cup which was offered as a prize by calling at the Reflector office.

FOOL GAME.

A new leaf on your old calendar of schedules and come.

HEALTH HOOSIERS SWAMP SUCCKERS.

Score 36-21.

In a fast and snappy game the team representing the Indiana students one and one-half the score on the team representing the Suckers. The play at times was nursed by the gridiron tactics on the part of a certain Illinois player who, as a basket player, made a good forward. Illinois started with a bang, scoring from the field shortly after the beginning of the game. The Hoosiers, by quick pass work, soon overcame the lead. Illinois then trailed to the end of the game.

The game was featured by the spectacular long distance shots of the part of the Illinois players whom life on the prairies seems to have fitted peculiarly for such feats. Frequent fouls were called on the Suckers for pushing and blocking. Indiana was too slow to make fouls. Stump was fined five times for going to sleep and failing on an adversary. The referee thought he was exhausting. Light, with one field goal and ten free throws, led for the Hoosiers. Vass was best for the Suckers.
