Juniors Banquet Seniors

Given at Hotel Severin—Rainbow Room Scene of Gay Life.

The Rainbow Room of Hotel Severin was the scene of Indiana Central's finest social event of the year when the Juniors entertained the Senior Class of '23 at their Annual Banquet, Thursday, April 26th.

The guests gathered on the mezzanine floor, chatted gaily until dinner was served. It was arranged by the Junior's Board of Directors, and with the exception of the beverage and Emerald Green to the Rainbow Room. The soft lights, the delicate pink of the roses and sweet peas, the contrasting green of the ferns, the gleaming tables with their sentinel waiters—all details added to the beauty of the scene.

'The menu of the three-course dinner reads as follows:

The Fruit Cocktail

Celery and Olives Green Peas

Bread

Lettuce Salad with Thousand Island Dressing

Au Gratin Potatoes

Butler and Rolls

Nepalese Ice Cream

Assorted Cakes

Coffee

But even this feature of the evening was no more appreciated than the program which followed. The toasts were linked into a huge allegory portraying by an imaginary ball game the despairing, hard, brave, good-natured, faculty-ruled, four-year fight of the graduating seniors.

Program

Toast Master: G. H. Fisher

First Base: R. H. Bishop

Second Base: Edith McCoy

Third Base: Ottie Oehler

Home Run: W. C. Bond

Center Field: M. G. 1. W.

Pitcher: Lenna Smock

Catcher: A. P. Byrnes

Umpire: J. J. Good

Music: Sextette

Twelve of the sixteen seniors were present and with the Juniors and other guests acted as roosters for the exciting game. The seniors were a little awed by the dignity and poise of the graduating ones, but the greatest hope for their recovery is felt.

W. C. Bond was unable to present, but the most exciting part of the whole game was played by R. H. Mathias, whom the umpire promised would be declared "Safe." The game could not possibly have been won without the pitcher's straight shot with the Oracle. Pitcher Smock was aptly assisted by catcher Byrnes who repeatedly insisted that he had not "caught it" but had "caught her.

The guests to the statement of pass after his appreciated good wishes to the remaining seniors in their matriculation game.

After R. H. Bishop had made a "hit" in the first inning, "safe on second" and in the second, "safe on third" and Arospila Oehler was "waiting on third" another hit and run was made and Umpire President Good yelled "Safe" above the band, which resulted in the Junior's quartet from Indiana Central College. The umpire did fine work although he said it was his first attempt at a big game such as the Annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

Dear Pop and Mom and the Kids:

How's everything on the farm; still miss me? I bet you just love especially around meal time. Well, I'm here enjoying college life with all its frivolities. Best of all is meeting my great sorrow it only comes three times a day. But, Boy, we surely make things look good when we get a good start. Here goes, I'll tell you all about it.

See, us kids (and some of the teachers) all eat at the club. Now, it isn't any sewing club, nor is it an Indiana club just loose from a gymnasium, nor is it a policeman's club dangling from a strap, but it is just an ordinary boardin' club.

Well, Mom, we have good old syrup and peanut butter three times a day. Somebody said the molasses was animalized and that the nits used the peanut butter for a swimming pool, but I don't believe a word of it. Say, and now you how I love you.

Well, Mom, we have those once a day. That's where I shine. Oh yes, we have waiters up here too, believe me.

We're just in style. Once in a while we have a ding dong, (that's just a bell to call the waiters). If we don't then the last resort is waving our hands. That's the head of the table's job and as yet I've never been so fuzzy to turn to head of a table.

I suspect you've nearly fallen a sleep reading this letter, but it ain't near as hard to read as it is to write it. Oh, I nearly forgot to tell you what we usually have for dessert—prunes! You know me, Mom.

Yes and I've gained twelve pounds more and I've been studying a pamphlet written by one of our prominent professors. (Stonecipher, ain't that his name?) on "How to get this over with." I've not had very good results yet, but am keeping faith and in it and day by day in every way.

I'll tell you more about our Club next time. Here's all the kids.

Write me sooner, Mother.

Hungrily your eldest,

YOSHIKA

P. S. Don't forget to send me that box of cats.

Joshua.

FACULTY GIVES RECEPTION

Friday evening, April 27, at eight o'clock the College faculty gave a reception for the student body in the hall of Residence 10. All the Faculty Members and their wives stood in the receiving line. Each guest received a card with a number on it. It then became the gentleman's duty to find the lady with a number corresponding to his own. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and wafer were then served, and each guest was favored with a small bouquet of violets.

Oratorical Contest

Leader Takes Fourth—C. C. Well Represented.

"Judges are very slow. They were created thus and thus will they always remain. The suspense of the audience awaiting their verdict is terrible."

Such reads the concluding sentence in the Doomsday Book for April 20, 1923. The utterance followed an entry concerning an account of the Indiana Peace Oratorical Contest. After Indiana Central College, University Heights, Indiana, in the speech, quoted above these sentences was written this poet's felt red ink:

The Cross or the Sword—C. W. Leader, Indiana Central.

The Pathway to Peace—Harold Stokes, Marian.

The Hope of Universal Peace—Harold Bechtle, Goshen.

Turkey as Factor in World Peace—E. M. Hankins, Wabash.

The Peace of World Peace—Verdon Hinchaw, Earlham.

Unprejudiced Education the Route to Peace—Miss Frances Smith, North Manchester.

The Path to Peace—Raymond Murch, Notre Dame.

Written in green ink after the word "Wabash" was the figure 11, after Earlham 11, after Notre Dame III, and after Indiana Central IV, at the bottom of the page appeared this explanation in purple ink: "Place held by members judged by the teachers of Public Speaking in the colleges represented."

In the front pages of the Doomsday Book a constitution appears, a portion of which reads, "No event except of the utmost importance may appear in this sacred book."

From this one item an excuse for the great pride Indiana Central took in her representative, C. W. Leader, may be drawn. As he stood before the intellectual audience gathered to do justice to the event, not a woman in the throng but felt a thrill of anticipation; there was not a man who did not experience emotions of pride and envy for their beloved man. Leader. Yea, even Reflectator Reporters.

At the University of Indiana she may be doubted could not be doubted by those who heard his well delivered speech.

Indian Central in the last few years has won a name for herself by her debating and oratorical work. By inter-collegiate work and acquirements of a kind not of our population will be widened but our abilities as well.

P. S. The contest was held at 8:00 o'clock according to the Bachelor Club's time.

ALUMNI NEWS.

Miss Lorna Welmer, '21, has been teaching English and Public Speaking in the Bowers High School, has returned to her home in University Heights for the summer.

Among the alumni visitors at the college last week were Rev. J. C. Shrewley, '12 of Lapel, Indiana, and W. C. Bond, '14 of Chicago.

G. M. Baker, Class of 1911, has been teaching in the Sweet Grass County High School in Big Timber, Montana, in a letter just received from him he states that he has been re-elected for the coming year.

ORGANIZATIONS—PERSONAL—SOCIAL

Y. M. C. A. NEWS.

Mr. Esteline brought his line and Angus Engineering Co. of Indianapolis, led the meeting on April 18, with a fine talk on “Christianity in Business.” Mr. Esteline was for several years president of the engineering department of Purdue University, before he entered the ministry. He attended the University 25 years ago. He drew freely from his own experience in illustrating the beauty of a life of consecration and service, and employe from a practical application of Christian principles in their daily work and life with each other. During his twenty years as an employer he has never been annoyed by a strike, a lockout, or a boycott, simply because his employe knew that he practiced the Golden Rule in all his dealings with them. He alone, that greeted him at the close of the meeting, was a testimonial of the approval of the association in such matters.

Dr. W. A. Webber of Bonobake Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, Joe not belong to the Y. M. C. A. His subject was “Phases of Religious Education in America.” During the past few years Dr. Webber has been engaged in this kind of work, both as a professor in several universities and as a public speaker. He is a member of the public school board of Dayton, Ohio. He proved statistically that we can spend much more in the right way than we attempt to instruct others on matters of religion.

Cabinet Meets.

At the last meeting of the Y. M. C. A. it was definitely decided to hold the weekly meetings each Tuesday evening at six o’clock, instead of Thursday evening at four o’clock. The Cabinet’s duties are increasing rapidly and apparently, the ones assumed were the taking over of the Bible classes of Beech Grove and Manual Training High School. At present M. W. Webster is teaching the one at Manual and Mr. C. E. Gathorne the one at Beech Grove. The Cabinet determined to co-operate with the Y. W. C. A. in securing a Gallitin, to give his lecture on and moving pictures of the Holy Land here, May 3. This entertainment promises to be very interesting as well as instructive.

REFRESHING BREEZES

It is now the time of year for the Freshman to try his luck at short story writing. W. W. Heinooniasen spent last week end at her home in Richmond, Ind.

Henrietta Pruitt had another attack of homesickness last week caused by her inability to go home. Her friends went to see her and brought her a present of a bouquet of flowers.

Mr. Spreit had a slight attack of sickness in sociology class the other day. The Freshmen have only a few more weeks left to hold their misconception behind the fact that they are seniors and they do not know better. Soon they will be sophomores and will have some other excuse for being seniors.

RESIDENCE HALL NEWS.

J. C. Strader, who has been at the Methodist Hospital, returned Saturday night and reported that he is improving. However, he is spending his convalescence in bed.

Mr. Len Perkins returned recently from his home where he had gone for a short rest and recuperation.

Rev. Emmert, one of our resident faculty, is the happy owner of a new Ford. He is able to get to his home end assist at the Baldwin meetings. (Editor’s note) Miss H. Hauser, as engine work for her brother.

Chester Nickolls took advantage of the Sunday excursion to make a trip to Beech Grove in Ohio. This is his second trip this month.

Miss Hanger’s brother recently been at her home for the week-end. Mr. Saulo reports that he has recently heard any burglars in the vicinity. He does not like any Candido Deane lectures.

Miss Hanger was happily reported by one of the Bachelors that he spent Friday evening with a young lady but since then has been unable to recall her name. He says “All right, what’s the use of a name?”

Mr. Boylesch, who recently underwent an operation, is feeling much better and will soon be among us once more.

The spring fever has seemingly made a general appearance among the inmates of Residence Hall. Only recent one of the diseased class is poor fish (V. H. Taylor) who was taken to the hospital on Sunday morning.

A number of the lower classmen took advantage of the absence of their seniors to dignify parties on Saturday evening, April 25, and (literally) rendered a hot and smoky program for the girls of Dailey Hall, who were also not smart enough (7) to attend the banquet.

SENIOR NEWS.

David Miley was in New Gosbb on Ind., April 15 and in Penn, Ind., April 20.

Lena Smock entertained Misses Violliette Miller and Ruth Young at lunch Sunday evening.

A. F. Byrne preached the baccalaureate sermon for Losantville High School, April 22.

G. W. Regenco ate dinner in the city with his brother, G. W. Regens, and his girl friend on Dayton. Mrs. Brown will graduate with the Senior class in May.

Miss Bertha Spitzer spent the week end at her home in Saratoga, Ind.

Misses Knipe and Smitz are at the end of their year in Noblesville, Ind.

JUNIOR NEWS.

Mr. Arthur Williams visited his home in Brasil, Ind., from April 22nd to 24th.

Mr. Guy Bushong was taken to the Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis, April 22nd, for an operation on appendicitis.

Miss Ruth McCoy of Otehasen, Ind., came April 2nd to visit her sister, Miss Edith McCoy.

Miss Fayette Delaware of Wilkinson, Ind., was here a week ago Thursday, to visit her daughter, Misses Florence and Halle Jepson.

Mr. Daniel Con has been in Green-

Here, Ind., this week attending to business relating to his church there.

Miss Florence Delph visited him at her home in Wilkinson, the week-end of April 27th.

PHILOMUSEAN NEWS.

Mrs. Webber must vote for M. I. for he can’t even remember when election day for Philomusean comes. Ask II, H. Leichty how they propose to do it.

In his “Bits of Fun” R. O. Hunt caused several members of the society to blush. It is the first time that we had ever heard Fisher’s scalp look so red. For the first time this year a vice-president steps into the president’s chair. A. F. Williams takes the chair May 21.

Philomusean’s half of the Literary Banquet committee is giving us oral reports from time to time. This is a new and helpful plan, for it keeps the society in direct touch with the manner in which the preparations are coming along.

In a recent session, A. F. Byrne reviewed the “Shepherd of the Sheep” a new book of sermons. Byrne gave just enough quotations to reveal the author’s style without making his review tiresome.

H. T. Smith was quite worried the other day. Some member of the Ju-tice committee told him that he had a fifty cent fine coming but couldn’t figure how in the world they could extract from him more than a quarter. After obtaining advice from old and new members, ex-presidents and librarians, he finally realized that someone had been kidding him and that the judiciary committee still knew the constitution cold.

In the last session R. H. Bishop gave a character sketch of Rob. P. Perry of the “Shepherd of the Sheep.” The society was brought to see the “librarian through the illustrated biography which was carefully told.

FACULTY NEWS.

Miss Hanger spent the week-end visiting with Rev. L. L. Schoonover and family of Anderson.

Miss Jones made a business trip to Cleveland last week.

Miss Gordon was visiting with friends in Muncie. President Good attended the Board of Administration at Dayton, Ohio.

He spoke at Wabash, Pendleton, Terre Haute, Brinfield, Burket, Galvaston, Muncie and Indianapolis last week.

Professor W. H. Marshall and Pro- fessor B. C. Holman attended a conference on “Educational Measurement” at Indiana University, last week.

Mrs. A. H. M. Stonecipher returned home from Dayton, Ohio, where she has been visiting her parents.

PHILALETHA.

Miss Freda Webber was elected president for the fall term of 1923. The Commencement Open Session of the Society will be held on Friday evening, May 15, at 8:00 o’clock. A very interesting program has been planned. There are five members of the graduating class who will receive diplomas from the Society. They are: Helen Roberts, Julia McFarland, Ethel Hoover, Dorothy Fields Brown and Bertha Spitzer.

The Society will hold its annual banquet jointly this year, with the Philomusean Literary Society. The banquet will be held May 21st at 8:00 o’clock p.m., immediately following the Commencement Open Session of the Philomusean Literary Society.

Speaking of Baldwin, you should see Prof. George sometimes when he gets up from the table at the club. He generally is “Baldwin.”

BACHELORS CLUB.

A number of the young men of the college have been making regular visits to the 'Bachelors Club.' The movement has not touched nearly all of them, but the Cleve, Theater Darling Hall, or of Residence Hall.

When it was learned that the residence hall had formed a secret organization of an unknown name, but designated by "F. F. F." the faculty showed a decided interest in it for mutual protection.

W. A. Williams and A. F. Williams, the only survivors of the original group, met recently with the idea of reorganizing the club. A. F. Williams was then appointed as temporary chairman and nominations for permanent officers were made.

H. B. Bishop and J. W. George were nominated and elected to the office. It was also announced that they were ineligible. A. F. Williams and Guy Bushong were then nominated and elected by an almost unanimous vote. Curtis J. Swearer was elected secretary.

The election of the Mr. Bishop was interesting and unexpected. His "illustrated" lecture on the "Type of Procedure in Securing a D.C.A." was very interesting and beneficial. The speaker's skill in handling the subject showed a rare knowledge of all its implications and applications.

Another meeting is to be held in the near future for the purpose of framing a constitution. The same will be published in the next issue of the Reflector.

Editors Note: In keeping with our policy, a special staff correspondent has been appointed to keep in touch with the above organization.

DAILEY HALL NEWS.

Almost a week-end with the Gilliat sisters at their home in Plainville, Ind.

Miss Ruby Ewing, who was starting a beauty parlor on second floor.

Misses York and Cochran spent the week-end with their friends in Tyner, Ind.

Mr. Guy Bushong and Prof. J. W. George represented the "Bachelors Club" last Friday night.

Miss Ima Herrington spent the week-end with her mother in Richmond, Ind.

Miss Bernice Bowen was called home last week, has returned.

The Misses Miller and Burkert have gone into business—thus reads their sign.

Beauregard & Burkert, Surgeons.

Doubts and Details Removed.

Miss Gordon spent Saturday night and Sunday visiting friends at Sutcliffe, Ind.

Josephine Albin, Hallie Dolph, Isabel Day, and Mabel Oldroyd enjoyed a theater party last Friday night, spent the whole of the day in the theater.

May 14th. Whether the weather be fair or foul, we are going to Lake Gosway.

Miss Rosemary Brady was the hostess for Miss Thelma Mitchell this week-end.

Miss Elsie Clary is staying at home this week. She misses her in the dormitory.

Speaking of commencements, Misses Johnson attended the commencement exercises at home last week.

Miss Ruth Brane was at home for the commencement exercises.

Sophomores are appreciated—just now.

Misses have attended the Junior-Senior banquet.

Virginia Fout gets Good again. We are very proud of our orator.

Leader showed other colleges that he could give his name in content and deserve first place.

Rosemary Brady is beginning to teach. Her practice teaching is done.

WILLARD LEARNED SPEAKS TO VOLUNTEER BAND.

On Tuesday evening, April 17, Willard learned about the excellence of the Volunteer Band, and former President of the Student Volunteer Movement, spoke upon "The Student Volunteer Movement: Its Purpose, and Aims." Mr. Willard threw the opening of the movement, in a "Hay- stack Prayer-Meeting." The organization of the movement, the purpose of whose life was to show devotion to his work was a great factor in its organization. From this small beginning the movement has grown to be a great force in the student life of this country. He said that the movement is "A movement of students, for students, and for God." The principle which was set down showing the purpose of the movement was:

1. Educate and emphasize among American students the missionary spirit.

2. Reach students in America and set them to promise definitely that they will go as missionaries if God will permit.

3. Instill into other Christian students the missionary spirit.

4. Definitively form relationships between church boards and those who are people to the field.

Mr. Learned's talk was enjoyed by all present, and we will be pleased to have him return at some future time.

REFLECTOR GET TOGETHER.

On May 24th, the staff met at Professor and Mrs. Morgan's house, April 25. Although the invitations were sent out on the second, it wasn't until late that night that all arrived. All had become quite interested in hearing Mrs. Morgan relate some stories about the professor for details. While these stories were being related Carroll Butler hurriedly appeared. R. H. Bishop proceeded to read an account of a London marriage, but was interrupted by other enthusiastic reporters who contributed starting headlines. At the close of the fun was put to bed, and Lechty's eyes were focused on the other hiding in one corner. When Miss Lechty's eyes were focused on the other hiding in one corner, the two girls were stunned. After a noticeable decrease in the mountains, Mr. Davis and Miss Lechty had a "hot discussion," but were refused by the other three girls. They were continued alone until the editor-in-chief became excited. He said, "If I am the first time in our married life that the outside is to be home by 9:00 o'clock." "That is merely the difference of opinions of some of our doctors."

Forbears, scientifically known as, "name, are much in evidence at L. C. N. Many are the uses of said forbears. Some use them to hold your eyes, some use them to hide their faces, while others, and the wily, hide the forehead and thus save soap."

The official length is 2,100 inches. With this information, Mrs. Morgan made the announcement that the Misses Bertha Miller and Mildred Brane knew how to measure their foreheads and thus save soap."
