TAKES EARLY LEAD AND IS NEVER HEADED—GAME IS ROUGH.

A. G. U. bumped up against a stamp when they bit the Cardinal and Grey. The victory is especially sweet to the Centralites as they owed the Normalites a drubbing from last year. The game was fast and tough from the start, especially in the last few minutes.

Bright got the first field goal of the game, A. G. U. tied the score, Albright sank a seemingly impossible shot, and followed quickly with two free throws. This gave Central the lead and they maintained it throughout the game.

Our Team: Albright

Once Central was ahead they fought like demons, breaking up the G. U. plays, holding the Cardinal and two free throw. This lasted throughout the game.

Fighting like devils, Albright and the visitors trailing with about four minutes left, sank their lead and they maintained it throughout the game. Albright and the visitors trailing with about four minutes left, sank their lead and they maintained it throughout the game.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION IS BIG SUCCESS.

One of the greatest religious conventions ever held in the city of Indianapolis was held at the Cable Tabernacle, December 28 to January 1. The Student Volunteer Movement, in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. associations, held its fifth quadrennial convention in the Tabernacle. The delegates having been sent as representatives from the colleges, universities, and theological seminaries in United States. The total registration of student delegates was 5,283; but in addition, missionaries at home on furlough, representatives of denominational foreign mission boards, officers of many organizations for Christian students, and staff officers of the movement attended, making the total registration 6,151.

Noted Christian leaders from all parts of the world gave to the convention in a very forceful way the needs of the world today. Some of the speakers were John R. Mott, Robert E. Speer, Sherwood Eddy, Canon W. W. Wood of Cambridge, England, Dr. Andrew Owsley of Mexico, Dr. William J. King of Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Y. Y. Tsu, Rev. Andrew Thakur Das of India.

SOUTHPORT DEFEATS MANUAL ON CENTRAL FLOOR.

In the preliminary to the A. G. U. game, the Freshman team fell before the Sophomores to the tune of 10-6. Arbogast starred for the winners.

Wednesday, January 9, the college gym was the scene of an exciting game between Manual Training and Southport High. Southport started with a bang and chalked up seven points before Manual scored. The half ended 20-12. In the second half Southport shoved up and Manual was able to score twelve points to Southport's four. The final score was 30-21 with Southport on top.

The local Scout Troop 28 suffered its first defeat of two years at the hands of the Troop 31 basketball team January 5. The score was 18-16. Troop 34 made 12 of its 16 points. There was some dissatisfaction with the referee.

During the holidays the University Heights U. N. R. S. team defeated the First United Brethren Church of Terre Haute in an overtime game by the score of 22-18.

In the preliminary to the Central Normal game the Sophomore girls defeated the Academy girls 7-1. Mildred MacDonald starred for the Sopho-

BOOST CENTRAL.

The growth of Indiana Central College during the past two years has been indeed phenomenal. The freshman class of 1923 was nearly as large as the entire remaining student body. This year the class was even larger, hundred and twenty-five being enrolled. There must have been a reason for this great increase. We believe one of the chief factors responsible was the personal handling of our college by the students during their visits home. The slogan of year before last, "One and you, or else two," was fully realized.

As the college grows the scope of its activities widen. During the last two years the students have organized and put into operation the following new features: a paper, a band, a club, two new literary societies, a press club and a football team. During the past three years four new buildings have been erected. It is easy to see what may be done if each one does his bit. Last year's certain student brought back nine of his friends from his home town, an enviable record.

Let us have competition along this line. Think what a delight this means to Indiana Central and to yourself as well.

Misses Alice Weaver, Myrtle Banks, Bertha Palmer, Georgia Snyder, Nesta Boonbrake, Helen Bunnell, Grace Van Winkle, Gertrude Johnson, Geraldine Kittshum, Kathryn Werts, Edith Chafood and Messrs. Rose H. Bishop, Ellis School and Carl Riperdan "The Fool" at the Murat Jan. 5.

Misses Grace Van Winkle, Thelma Brenton, Nesta Boonbrake, Gertrude Hutton, Kathryn Werts and Mr. Ralph Hille have been substitute teaching at Southport and School number nine.

Mrs. Durrett of the music department sang at the Perry Township Teacher's Institute at Southport Saturday.

The music students of the junior department, taught by Mrs. Amy Low, gave a recital in the college auditorium January 12.

The Girls' Glee Club is practicing in a concert to be given in the near future in the college auditorium and at Southport.

Miss Mary Bushong, Messrs. Guy and Merrill Bushong were called to help in Southport, Indiana, on account of the serious illness of their mother.

Miss Miriam Brunner was called to her home at Decatur, Ill., because of the death of her father. The students extend their sympathy to Miss Brunner.

Miss Violette Miller spent the week end of January 11 at Martinsville, Ind. visiting her brother, Lloyd Mill of the class '23, who teaches in high school there.

EXCHANGE

Many new exchanges have been received since our last issue. We invited you back again.

We are especially interested in one exchange, that of our sister college at York, Neb.

IKEY'S COLUMN

Rev. Taylor, Geneva, what is your favorite hymn?

Father: I don't know.

Fred: Yes, sir.

Father: 'Well can't you hear.

Fred: Why, sir?

Father: Because she can't marry a man that hasn't any more brains than ' To ask a man that has little enough brains to accept him.

Bill: Say, Phil, did you ever see a group of women when they were in ignorance.

Phil: Yes, once when someone asked them who was the oldest in the crowd.

Sunday School Teacher: Can any of you little girls tell me where all good girls go to?

Little Tilde: Yes, mum, they all go to heaven.

S. S. T: Well can you tell me where all good boys go to?

Tilde: Yes, mum, they go to the station to meet traveling salesmen.

Prof.: What is one of the memorable dates in History?

Student: The one Mark Anthony had with Cleopatra.

Ned: Ted, I hear you are going to school now.

Ted: Yes, I am taking a five-year course in ignorance.

Ned: How are you getting along?

Ted: Fine, I am next to the head of the class; the class meets in a circle.

Willie: Dad, if I saved you fifty cents would you give me a dime?

Dad: Of course I would.

Willie: Well, give me your dime, you said if I made it in grammar you would give me fifty cents, and I didn't.

Edith S: Carol come and go with me to get some art gum.

Carol: Why don't you get Beech Nut or Spearmint?

Dan Car and Francis Griffith were strolling down the street in Indianapolis one night when in a window they saw a bedroom suite.

Dan: Isn't that a nice, bedroom suite; wouldn't it look nice in a little bungalow?

Francis: Yes, but this is so sudden I don't know what to say.

Mrs. Jones: Isn't your husband well yet?

Mrs. Maloney: Yes, he's all right but he has some medicine left, that he has to stay home and take.

Father (to disobedient son): Johnny, I am sorry but I don't think that I will see you in heaven.

Johnny: What have you been doing now, father?
E. A. Ellis, a would-be Junior, is said to have gone into the mining business with Miss Hazel York as a partner. At least, she is wearing a diamond.

Charles Leader again proved himself the noble, generous gentleman we have always known when he presented his Christian Endeavor Society in West Terre Haute with a piano as a Christmas present.

Misses Gertrude Hutton and Thelma Brenton returned during vacation and attended the Student Volunteer convention in the city.

Miss Ruth E. Brancett just returned after being detained at home on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Howard Gray of Purdue University was a guest here and called on Miss Violette Miller last week.

Miss Georgia Snyder, a junior, who is teaching this year at Southport, has some pupils who are displaying great ability for fourth graders. These are a few of their startling statements:

A sentence is a capital at the first, a period at the end. The rest is just words.

Laws are made out of wood and things like that.

Teacher: Name three good bodies of water that you have seen.

James Henry: I have seen a big body of water ten inches long and twenty inches wide.

A direct quotation is a little mark like this "...".

Physiology: Miss Snyder obtained some information that Professor Morgan would appreciate. One student says: The body is made of tissue, and habits are what we do at breakfast.

Miss Bonebrake has her ad reading as follows: An efficient mouse catcher. Guaranteed to catch two mice in one trap. Two cents each or two for a nickel.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR BAND

For some time the need for uniforms for the band has been felt. The band has grown to twenty-five pieces and is assuming a more and more important place in student affairs. No basketball game or pep session is complete without it. No longer will the members have to appear in civilian clothes. Give them the once over at the next game and note their class.

Harrison county has sent many students to Indiana Central. Among them is Edgar M. Turley, who graduated from the Corydon, Ind., high school.

Mr. Turley is a member of the Y. M. C. A. and his major subjects are history and English.

He is a member of Indiana Conference and plans to take up the ministry as a life work.

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION ITEMS

Delegates to the Student Volunteer convention from Hunter College, New York city, were delighted with the new experience of living in our dormitories for a few days. Hunter College is a resident college.

Father: Do you know what happens to little boys that lie, when they die?

Willie: Sure, they fly still.

sion. Her teaching profession was interrupted several times in order to prepare herself further in Indiana Central. She joined our class in 1922-23 and proved her loyalty by her excellent work as assistant art editor of the Oracle.

ADAH MAE YOUNG

In 1922 our class was increased by the presence of Miss Young from Hedding College, Ill.

Adah graduated from London Mills, Ill., high school in 1920. She attended Hedding College in 1920-22 and was active in all extra-curricular activities.

She is a loyal member of the Philanthropic Literary Society, president of Y. W. C. A. '23-24, sport editor of Oracle '23-24. Her major subject is French.

CENTRAL'S FEATHER PLUCKED IN "HEN COU"

The Darville "Hen Cou" was the scene of a tough and ready basketball game which resembled a football game.

Central took the lead but Normal quickly evened the score and then took the lead and was never headed. At the half Normal led, 12-7.

In the second half-Central was unable to cope with the fast passing of the teachers plus the deadly aim of Jarrel. The game ended with the Normals leading, 33 to 9.

Albright played best for the losers and was ably supported by Bright. Jarrel was the high point man for the teachers and the only man on the Normal team who played clean. Both guards played dirty and openly said that they would "beat" Bright.

Miss Christine Gitlitz of Constantia, Romania and student at Columbus University with her friend, Miss Cranfield of England, visited the orphans' class on Wednesday morning after the convention. After two years at Columbus Miss Gitlitz is going back to organize Y. W. C. A. work among her people. She is a social pioneer, the very first to attempt Y. W. C. A. organization in Romania.

Alfalfa: Say you eat here and let the fire go out.

Timothy: I didn't see it pass here.

OAKLAND CITY LOSES

plus Bright and Albright, gave Central the edge on the offense, while the visitors were unable to break through the air-light defense and were forced to take long shots. Capt. Good played a heady game at guard, and broke up many of the visitors' plays, his dribbling was also a great asset to the Cardinal and Guard until he was forced out on personal fouls.

Sanders was best for the losers. He played a steady game, and made a great deal of trouble for the Central guard.

The Oakland City boys were one of the cleverest, hardest fighting teams that ever came to Central and we hope to see them back next year.
