New Dormitory Soon Under Roof

The frame work of Second Story Nearing Completion

Although construction of the new dormitory for women, just east and a little north of Dalby Hall, was not begun until the summer, the weather has been so favorable of late that work on the dormitory, the contruction, has proceeded at a good rate. The window trimmers' work is well underway, and the entire dormitory will be ready for occupancy by the time the Christmas vacation is over.

FACULTY MEMBERS VISIT SOUTHLAND

President Visits Florida; Dean in South Carolina

For two weeks, President Good has been in Florida, enjoying the scenery of St. Petersburg and Dania. Business matters made it necessary that he visit both places, as he will now at the New England House, Southern Pines, North Carolina. He has had the opportunity of exchanging letters of the bright sunshine and beauty of the land.

Miss Washington, who was obliged to give up her school work on account of her health, is now at the New England House, Southern Pines, North Carolina. She has her recital and composition work under the guidance of the best music teachers. She seems to put new life and vigor into her every day. She hopes to be with us next year after her Christmas vacation.

Miss Washington sent the girls a basket of Christmastime treats in her letter and said she was enjoying her time there. She asked the girls to write her soon.

The Messiah Will Be Sung Sunday Night by Chorus of Fifty Voices

Two Organizations Elect Prof. Morgan

At the forty-first annual convention of the Indiana Academy of Sciences, professor W. P. Morgan, head of the Biology department of Indiana Central College, was elected assistant secretary of the organization for the coming year. Professor Morgan, who is now doing graduate work at Indiana University, is a member of the society for some years, and has been an active part at the meetings. Last year he discussed the subject of "The Fossil Plants of the Eocene." At a previous annual meeting he gave a similar discussion.

For the past few years the professor has been at work during the summer months at Lake Winona doing research work. This year he is giving his entire time to this research work in order to complete his work for a doctorate degree.

As a result of the quality of work done, Professor Morgan has been elected a member of the academy.

A society which has for its purpose the promotion of science.

Such organizations which promote the work in various fields are so essential to modern life, the promotion of science being one of the leading objects. Such societies are formed by groups of interested people, and the membership is made up of a wide range of people, from the highest to the lowest.

The Reflector Wishes You

A Merry Christmas and a Joyful New Year

The Y. W. C. A. of Indiana Central is cooperating with the intercollegiate group of Butler College in sending Christmas gifts to these poor colored girls and boys of Indianapolis. Mr. Exer Speaks at Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Bert Exer, an Indianapolis mayor, correctness-told in Y. M. C. A., December 9, of his new book on "The Comedy of Manners," which he said was a "fanciful" talk about a novel, "the comedy of manners," and how it had been written and why.

The speaker pointed a vivid word picture of the novel's setting and characters, which added charm and effectiveness to the narrative. He told how he had added charm and effectiveness to the narrative, which he said was a "fanciful" talk about a novel, "the comedy of manners," and how it had been written and why.

He told how he had added charm and effectiveness to the narrative, which he said was a "fanciful" talk about a novel, "the comedy of manners," and how it had been written and why.

Mr. Exer discussed the importance of manners in modern society and how they are affected by changes in fashion and technology. He also mentioned the role of humor in the novel and how it contributes to the overall atmosphere of the story.

One experience told of was that of a character named "Mr. B," who was a member of a group of friends who would visit a local restaurant and order a variety of dishes. Mr. Exer described how the group would enjoy each other's company and the food, creating a sense of camaraderie.

Mr. Exer also talked about the process of writing the novel, including the research he did on the historical context and the characters he created. He shared some of the challenges he faced during the writing process and how he overcame them.

In conclusion, Mr. Exer encouraged the audience to read the novel and enjoy its humor and insight into the social norms of its time. He ended by thanking the Y. M. C. A. for the opportunity to speak and by inviting the audience to purchase his book and support his work.

Central Defeats
Huntington 38 to 21

Local Team Holds Lead Throughout the Game

Outplaying their opponents in every department of the game, Indiana Central basketiers defeated the Huntington quintet on the local hardwood by a score of 38 to 21. December Central took the lead in the first period when Art Bright scored from the field and we had our best game. Art Bright was easily the outstanding scorer of the fray, accounting for thirty-eight points. Ed Bright and Otto Allgaier played a splendid game, allowing just a few clean shots. Rugger, floor guard, starred for Huntington, with ten points to his credit.

Central Foul Line, Off or on the Floor

After a hard and close scrap Huntington scored the half lead for an under-the-basket shot. Rugger and Ed Bright scored from the floor and then Huntington rang up a goal. Ed Bright scored from center, followed by a finger roll from Art. Allgaier took the ball from Huntington and broke through their defense for a tip in shot. Arthur Bright then took Huntington a second time from the floor and twice from the foul line. Rugger scored a point. Huntington's foul shot of the game failed, followed closely by a field goal. Art Bright managed to ring up three more points before the end of the half, making the score 24 to 11 in favor of Central.

Almost before the referee's whistle had died away at the beginning of the second period, E. D. Bright sent a long shot from center through the net. Bailey scored from the foul line and then Huntington made a free throw. Art Bright made another goal, followed by a free throw by Allgaier, and then shot another jumper. Babbit scored twice, tucking in the corner. After Ed Bright had taken on personal form, the record was managed to come more easily, making four field goals in a row before the final whistle blew, leaving Central in the lead by a score of 38 to 22.

Dramatic Art

The department of public speaking is doing splendid work this year. The first recital was a joint one in connection with the music department. Each student should be commended on his work. One who showed the innate aesthetic quality in his reading, "A Game of Checkers," aroused the best of 200 or 80 students. Freshmen in this department, gave creditable performances. The Dramatic Club is working upon a play, to be presented in the near future, "The Heart." It offers an excellent opportunity for artistic interpretation of character and emotion, and the performance is sure to be eminently enjoyable.
