Glee Club Tours Northern Indiana

The Men's Glee Club made a great success of their "annual" expedition into northern Indiana over the week ending March 14, having sung to large audiences in four St. Joseph Conference churches and having gained much welcome reputation in three new towns. The club was in Winamac, and standing grounds, on Friday night; Terre was visited Saturday night and Sunday morning; and Rensselaer Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening. The longest of the three was 77 miles, and the distances are fairly sure of several private parties, concerning which we have only room to guide us. Gorgeous band music, rather than the fair sex, and gained the dubious, but probably well-deserved, reputation of being an Italian coach, and of having an entertaining vocabulary.

THE REFLECTOR

Miss Eleanor Tracy, of Whiteland, Ind., was the winner of the Senior Chapel photo contest during the chapel period this week. The photo, which was taken in the church after the service in Junior Chapel, was much appreciated and was entered several times.

The editors held a meeting to consider the efforts of Miss Alice, head of the Youth Department.

Robert Parnell, Professor and president, said at a meeting of the Student Body that they "gave up a report of the recent trip to "Theatre and Art Department, "which was, he declared, "a warm spot in my heart for fresh" relations with the students.

"I hope you feel that way about it next year," he said, "because next year I'll make a student, 'Peter Pan.'"

You have to make allowances, he added, between being a student and being a professor.

It's possible, he said, that the life of a professor may be just as "gray" as that of a student.

eA CHAPEL NEWS

Singers in the Senior Chapel were asked to submit their voices and talents for the Spring concert. Several candidates were selected, and the final selections will be made on February 10th. The concert will be held in the Recital Hall on that date.

The Next Counselor

We have been told that the senior class is planning to hold a dance on the evening of February 20th. The exact time and place will be announced later.

THE BAROMETER

These "aggravations" that go on so constantly, according to the "angry" who are perpetually "annoying" us, but they're certainly not "annoying" the student body. Last week we asked the question, "What's your opinion of the professor?" and a prospective student. The discussion led to the freshman class, and there was a "warm spot in my heart for fresh" relations with the students.

"I hope you feel that way about it next year," he said, "because next year I'll make a student, 'Peter Pan.'"

You have to make allowances, he added, between being a student and being a professor.

A Tainted Soul

Our attention was subdued last week by a series of strange and foreign things. A college principal, after a thorough investigation, proved it to be a design of two human organisms, tied together by a device which upon which were several letters, the whole being supported by a haphazard collection of objects, such as a hank of cotton, or something. Underneath the work of art appeared these奇异的" things.

At first we thought we had hoped to quickly judge the figures to be a human but a careful scrutiny of the figures did not indicate the same. The objects upon which the work of art appeared were photographs of the class of 1926. It was obvious that this was not the case.

The first bystander approached and said, "Well, not this spring, perhaps, but we'll have another one next year."

"What significance do you think the figures mean?"" asked another.

"The figures, dear Sir, Xylophon, pro Calo, and Abel. Between them stand the altar which Abel did and the cross which Calo did. Between the altar and the cross there is a hallowed atmosphere."

There are many questions now before the college body.

"One, only. Where does the college come in?"

"It comes in," smiled Mr. Bean, bent on the necessity of explanation.

"The figures represent the campus and the college. Classes respectively, the altar is typical of Little Creek, and if you examined carefully, you might see a hanged rope in the middle." To us, it sounded highly plausible, and besides it was religious, and it also had a touch of college spirit. A perfect explanation. However, we do not wish to be prejudiced, so we are waiting for the college body's final opinion. To be sure, it represented the overreaching strength of youth to free itself and come up into the spiritual realms of eternal Knowledge, mounting a high place by a process of self-education and sacrifice.

"You may see," we whispered, "condition, health, full of beauty and mystery," to the senior class.

"Appreciate," responded Mr. Set, the senior, coming up to our side.

"This is our " professional " but I'm sure we are not old enough to be considered.

"What for, then, are the school intern, an Elizabethtown mod pod?"

"Local color, you dumb ass!"

"Being a senior class, it can be called, and we therefore further comment. Presently, how-

WIT AND JINGLE

What’s in a Name?

"Summers," "N. Winter," "Day"

"Crock" is "Thy" and "Fish" is "Lawful"

"How?" is not a question; "Natal!"

"Element" thinks "Mooro" of "Howo!

"Ferry" roads are "Winey" in the free.

"Articles" and "diamonds" and "ryuva!"

"Wouldn’t make "Hawkins," a pirate schooner go.

Man must "Die" both old and young.

"Carol" is "Bed" but she's never been seen.

"Guernsey's" "Birds" but "Mab" is the right.

"What’s in a Name?" doesn’t ring for a "Belli" or two.

Socrates' "Rivis" with its "Soluna," "Nan " and some "Fibronius" names.

"White" fish is "Een," when left in the stew.

"May easily be caught with "Sacklehur," in the rain.

"The "Ravie" is "Rilley"d with "Saw" and "Drakes.,"

Let death, with and the "Shakbr" sharks.

Don’t accept this from us, it comes, "Pete and Mertie," then eat the crumbs.

EOOHERS COMMITTEE—GREAT TO OUR SCHOOL

Working in a quiet, way, a or- ganization that has done more than typical, E. C. G. at our school. It is known to virtually every student and faculty representative of I. C. C. in athletics and academic committees. This Committee has consisted of one man and one woman, elected from each class and the Academic, managers of teams and vocational leaders. All that takes place in or- ganized and planned, even on the faculty, athletic committee and receive encouragement from the faculty committee. The duties of the boosters are many and varied. They are responsible for advertising athletics and other inter- class activities. Besides that, when a new tonic visiting team, have charge of the locker room, charge of transportation and with the committee on the occasions to which all have been invited.

Year the activities of the boosters were carried on. Officers were elected as follows: Floyd Palmer, president; Marion Quillitt, secretary-treasurer. The boosters held sandwiches and cocoa at the home football games, average $40 in a season, and entertained the team and caliber squad at a party in the base- ment of the Hume-David Bldg. One of the football season.

In the fall of the same season, the visiting team and our team and several of the students have been entertained at a "75c" dinner. They have stayed after the game, in order to feed them soup and sandwiches. The out- comes of various kinds have been sold at competitive prices and all the expenses of the meals. With this all the boosters paid. A new season with some of the best teams of the year.

The resignation of Howard Petton, Laura Bithke was submitted on April 1st.

With the appreciation of the members of the boosters and the support of the faculty, students, boosters, can, do much to give the visiting friends a good time on our campus.

"Gay Light," of C. C. G, is a state-wide reputation as a school spirit organization. All their activities, such as , entertainments and student morale is the basis of the boosters.

PERSONALS

Miss Geraldine Klinkman, '22, and Miss Helen McFarland and many of the visiting friends in Residence Hall.

Frances McNamara, Julia Judd, Mrs. Hume, Mrs. Quillitt, Mrs. Hume, Miss Dunn, and Miss Riley have been entertained at the Hotel Arcadia.

The new president of the college had a birthday and was pleasantly sup- rised by the Faculty, who presented him with presents. The students wish President Good many more years of happiness and prosperity.

OKEE CLUB TOURS NORTHERN IOWA

(Copied From Page One)

The Okee Club, under the guidance of Fred R. Price, has been successful in obtaining a number of interesting and entertaining trips, such as visits to the Des Moines water tower and the little church, to the hotels, and so on, was the club more fully appreciated and enjoyed by the students. The following nights spent the night from two to ten miles out in the countryside, and were treated to a regular man- nersed meal at a local hotel.

Some of the Okee Club dignitaries were present as Sunday school teachers, in their little church, the walls, and somehow was the club more fully appreciated and enjoyed by the students. Y. C. A. SENDS DELEGATES TO DE PAUW

During our spring vacation the state Y. C. A. Officers Training Conference was held at DePauw, on Friday and Saturday, March 26 and 27. This is the same conference that for the past three years has been held at Indiana Central.

The local organization sent three delegates: Elizabeth Merriman, Clarence Schell and Wilbur York. They report a good time and a fine inspirational conference. W. W. Mendenhall, state student secretary, was one of the speakers. He, with the assistance of the delegates, worked out the following definition:

"Y. C. A. is a movement to encourage men and an opportunity to study what life is all about." —
