Friday Evening

Ernie,

Dear Ernie,

Well, to use a slang phrase, "I'm settin' pretty now..." - It was sure one lucky day for me when I shooved down that coal chute, and the Central boys made me their mascot (All I regret about that was I didn't get to tell you goodbye)!

I like this school alright, although I would like to make a short visit back to Richland and see all my old friends. Especially Ethan, Bob, and all the rest of you. At the games the students set up more than the black kitten did when he got his head fastened in the saloon door.

Sometimes I try to take part in the sports. I enjoyed football very much, and now I am taking a fancy to basketball. "I believe the Greyhound is going to have a good team this year. And there will get to play when you want, am I right?"

Basketball, speaking of basketball, yesterday I heard my interest's big rival of yesterdays, practicing when she caught me. Incidentally, I do not intend to try to buy any more until I get the recovery from the kick she gave me. I told her she couldn't see why I had to string that yarn through five rooms and down the basement stairs. I figure she forgot I am a Jester.

The folks will soon be coming home so I must close, and get in shape for a good wrench with the boys. We have some pretty times. There is a while, I tease them by climbing a tree out of their reach. Here they come now. Your old friend,

A FLAPPER CONFESSIONS TO HER DIARY

By Daisy Hall

November 2, 1927

Dear Diary,

I get a most terrific blow today—or rather we did, meaning the modern dance—probably from the这一点点, it was a little hard to do.

The dance was held at the new Central Park Theater. I overheard two fellows talking in the hall. Just as I passed one of them, he turned and said, "I wish I had a gold-dollar," to the other.

I felt very blue. You see we have to be. We're not, though, in the way that hateful thing means to us. We have to be very careful about what we do. If I didn't dig it for the gals, I wouldn't have been there. But now I've dug and cocked and almost cut the pom Pom strings to get it! This world is going to do all kinds of things for nothing that I could ever see. Sometimes I wish I'd have some little things like shoes,eductors and things for putting on. It's a big temptation just to sit there and talk. We're hard goldiggers, though, not really pretty girls. We have a little compulsion.

Dear Diary, we have to endure just like the rest. We have to go to the nearest spark, reach-our least essential, zero and hand out our money. We're forced to be, we don't like it, though, and we're not happy about it. We have to, though, and we're not happy about it.

They say they sang serenades. We've left them in the wrong. No one ever thought of that.

There is a need for good service. Many foreign students and national leaders will be present at the conference. The program includes discussions on the state of the country. All the discussions will be held in the Central Park Theater. The conference will cover topics such as political, racial, and economic aspects of the country.

A newspaper dialogue was given by Miss Johnson, president of Howard University in Washington, D.C. It was listened to by several outstanding men. I am particularly interested in the Filipinos who have a part in the program. It is to their credit that we have been included.

THE EDITORIAL

THE QUADRANULEUS CONVENTION of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions which is to be held in Detroit, December 29 to January 1, is of great importance to American students. It is to be attended by students and lecturers who will be in attendance at the convention.

The question for discussion will be the future of our foreign missions. The students will discuss the mission work of the students from all over the world taking part in the meetings. Doubtless the students will give us an idea of the issues regarding political, religious, and economic attitude of this country will be discussed.

YOUNGEST L. W. FRESHMAN RANK HIGHEST, IN GRADES

"Youngest freshman makes the highest ranking," is the statement of Dr. W. F. Book, head of the psychology department of Indiana Central. Dr. Book explained that the grades of the freshmen have made the highest ratings on the Indiana Central Exams for the last two years.

"It is also worthy of note that there are more freshmen girls than freshmen boys. There are 16 boys and 16 girls. Among the freshmen girls, one more girl than boy entered the university at 16, and a third girl appeared who was born in the university at 16." The interesting addition of the fact that the mental and physical composition of freshmen girls needs more rapidity than for boys. Dr. Book stated.

"The Shack and Its Keeper"
A STORY OF THE BEaten TRACK
By Carl Parsons

"Come in," spoke a voice within in reply to my timid knock on the shabby door.

I was interested in the business of the old man. Bailey was the owner and sole occupant and when I asked if he had been asleep at his own shuttered home, he had been asleep at the office. I have just thought that I might be able to supply me.

By the shabby or more in the corner, I think Bailey is on a trapeze to get around some of the intersection of the Pennsylvania and Indiana Central Colleges.

He said he was asleep on his work, and had been asleep at the office. I just thought that I might be able to supply my needs. I then approached the bottles in the cellar. That relieved me. He had worked several old saloons and kept them brought home to me. I will assure- me all was empty. I concluded that the laborers had been in the saloon's equipment, and he said it was.

In the room where we sit, there was a store, work bench, desk, and tables and stools of building materials and furnishings about the walls and in the corners. I saw some light fixtures and insured if he was going to install electric lights. I promised him a room for half an hour and he would install the lights in a few minutes. His arguments were so strong and convincing that I was almost sym-phatetic. I said to myself, "Oh, I believe him.

However, I cared not for the arguments, and I promised him a room for half an hour if he would install the lights. I then looked at the psychologist's material and paid him. He thanked me and I said, "Oh, I believe him.

I was in a sort of a dream as I left the queer shack with its lack of hygiene, and I had to keep it clean and keep the place cards. Mrs. McCracken, Pearl J. McCracken, Helen McCracken, and Mrs. McCracken got the tickets here.

CONCORDIA OF ST. LOUIS SENDS LETTER

Asking for a Giant, Athletic Committee to Compete with Central

DEPAUW ADDED TO SCHEDULE

The basketball schedule of the Greyhound has finally been completed. It is the first schedule that has been completed as some of the games are crowded rather close together and the athletic committee is attempting to arrange the games in order to overcome the strain of so many games on the players.

DePauw, a new school, has been added to the schedule. DePauw has one of the strongest teams in the state and the Greyhounds are anxious to meet this team.

Concordia of St. Louis has asked us to come there for a game and this will be an added feature by which we will give a good display.

The basketball season begins with the game against Concordia and we invite inspection by students and fans.

Oh, very much put out.

Once and student should make up his mind.

The completed schedule in order is:

Dec. 14-Danville (there).
Jan. 3 and 14-Tournament (Unise).
Feb. 3-Huntington (there).
Feb. 14-Muncie (there).
Feb. 14-Danville (there).
Feb. 21-Huntington (there).
Feb. 21-Rose Poly (there).
