Girls' Athletics Receives Boost with the Contest of the Girls' C Association

The girls of Indiana Central gained recognition in athletic circles during the past month. As a result of their efforts, the first female basketball team has been organized. The team, which consists of twelve girls, is made up of students in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Pen is Mightier Than the Sword

According to Webster, an ink drop is "a liquid globule of fluid or viscous mass, as in writing and writing." Yes! If you are the only one who has been given some supernatural power to write the history of this area and you are on campus in one year, you might get a broader conception of the meaning of these words.

Central Heads Conference

Those high-flying Greyhounds still lead the Indiana Collegiate Conference as it comes down to the straightaway. In fact the Greyhounds have scored another victory over the cheapest and most dangerous rivals of the Conference crown for the past three years. The other two cabinet members of the Conference, Evansville and Terre Haute, play for a second clean sheet and for a first clean sheet, we feel technically we are the sole winners of the Conference.

COMING TO SPIRITUAL RETREAT

Spiritual Retreat Near

We are expecting the week-end of March 12 to 15 to be one of the high lights of the school year. During this time we hope to have many of the seniors and junior on the campus to share with us in the Second Annual Spiritual Retreat this will be a time for serious, self-discipline, and instruction. We are privileged to have Bishop F. L. Nelson as our main speaker. Besides being our new bishop, Dr. Nelson is widely known as an eloquent preacher and experienced leader in the field of youth work. The discussion groups have been chosen to help answer many of the problems which perplex us in these trying times. Some of these groups are capable of leading each of their groups in intelligent Christian thinking. These leaders and their discussion topics are as follows:

Rev. G. T. Bessemer of Decatur, Ind.—"Youth's Part in the Manitowoc Program of Today"
Rev. L. A. Brown of Hammond, Ind.—"Christian Youth in the World Community"
Rev. Craig Brandenburg of Evansville, Ind.—"Let's Go Fishing with the Masters"
Rev. Paul Milhouse of Decatur, Ind.—"The Place of Work in the Work of the Church"
Rev. H. C. Schlaf of Terre Haute, Ind.—"Sharpening My Personal Religious Life"
Rev. Homer Acher of Richmond, Ind.—"How to Climb the Mountain of Work"
Rev. Prof. F. A. Weller of the Indiana Central Bible Department—"Making the Most of My Friendships"
The aim of the spiritual retreat is perhaps best expressed by our theme, "That I May Follow Him." It is our hope that because of this week-end spent apart from the rush of everyday life, we shall be enabled to follow Christ more fully in the days to come.

Hilarious Leap Week Ends Tonight

A great event was scheduled for Thursday evening, February 6, at 7:30 in the old theater. A real "Golden Rule" was being enacted when the show opened. "A Little Girl's View of the World," written and directed by the sophomore girls, brought the house down. Entertaining refreshments were served and the proceeds were given to the Victory Bond drive.

1. All dates shall be made by the director of the drama group.
2. All dates contracted by telephone shall be null and void.
3. There shall be no "dutch-treat" dates. All dates shall be responsible for all debts on a date.
4. All dates shall be given to the director of the drama group for payment of the same in person.
5. The girl shall bring her date to the proper dormitory and return to her own within the given hours.
6. The girl shall be responsible for taking care of her date.
7. The date shall enter the theater.
8. When leaving a bus or streetcar the girl shall go first, the date shall follow after her. This applies to parking lot, also.
9. In the dining room the girl shall assume the place and duties of the hostess.
10. The girls shall seat the fellows at the table.
11. The freshman girls shall stack the dishes and pour the water for the fellows.
12. When leaving the table the fellow who hosts shall go first.
13. The fellows shall present the "Golden Rule" when showing the door.
14. Exception: The girls and fellows shall continue to enter the dining room as before.
15. The students entered into the spirit of the thing. The evening of the 6th in the dining hall a group of boys taunted the eligible bachelors. Dick Throckmorton, with "It's one minute to twelve, Cook!" That was followed by a table of girls saying, "Don't be mar- rying boys!"

On Wednesday night, Feb. 11, at 7:30, in the library, Sadie Hawkins Day was celebrated. This day is always a surprise and who doesn't like surprises? The group dressed in the oddest costumes and mostly represented nothing in particular. It seems though that Painter represented someone. Just who was the Smallest Man was the big event of the week. It is to be repeated the 18th as an old tradition of the dining hall. The waitresses and the gentlemen of their choirs will present a program of songs and recitations, tabled, decorated by the boy's own hands and girls' hands, the formal outfits, the boys' and girls' formal outfits, come and you'll enjoy it.

Always know the rule before the big event. The boys and girls are consulting the rule book. They are throwing the peat at midnight tonight, Friday, girls, we liked it, didn't we? Or did we really care any way?
STUFFED RELIGION

Too religious” is one of those unwise, misleading phrases that makes a Christian a fool. It's a sort of a threat that one who says, “A Christian should never use in speaking of another... No one can ever be too religious. His religion may be of the wrong kind; it may be oned-sided and unbalanced and tending to extremes in some certain things; but that is not the same as being “too religious.” If your religion is true; that is, if it is the genuine Christian religion, you cannot have too much of it; and if it is false, then it is not the quantity but the quality that is wrong. Among false, elements in that which preaches true religion is patriotism. You see it illustrated at its worst in the Pharisee's prayer in Luke 18:11,12:

“It may express itself in many ways, but there is always present the element of pride in one's own spiritual attainment and the element of unmerited condemnation of others. Sometimes of the ‘holy, holier than thou’ attitude. No true Christian will defend it, for in the supreme test of the Crucifixion, when it is said, it is indefensible; but we do need to be cautious lest we in turn condemn someone for being ‘holier than thou’ in any way when we are trying sincerely to help others to reach “higher ground” in a spiritual and material way.

This in turn, is often more of a form than the spirit, and the letter. Each man be fully assured in his own mind that his own is true; that his own is the pure, undiluted, unadulterated, unwatered-down religion that he claims to believe in, and that he aims to lead those who are in the path of that religion, with the emphasis on pure love even in the consecration.

JOUSTING

By I. C. U.

St. Valentine has been getting plenty of publicity around here of late, with Leap week just-closing up and the old Saint himself to close in.

While going through the Dormitory hall the other day, I found an open juice on the floor, and I think it should be closed along.

LADY MINE

Lady mine, most fair thou are: With youth's beauty all aglow and red; Til thy head is like thy heart.

This has staved my kisses off, From all thy charms, dear lady, Thy head is strangely soft, People they say heart, strangely hard.

Nothing has kept us apart — I had loved thee, I had wed— A hand thou had a tender heart Or a harder head.

But I think I'll bear Love's smart Till the wound has healed and red, Or thy head is like thy heart.

John — That girl doesn't seem very intelligent.

—No, she didn't pay any attention to me either.

This Too

Kaye — All my life I have been saving my money for a man like you.

Do you love me dear?

—Yes, I do dear.

Would you die for me?

—No, my net, in no untying live.

Jane — Did you say Dale isn't very amiable?

Mary — No, he couldn't even entertain a doubt!

Have you noticed how much larger the classes are this year, Kaye?

—Yes, I was surprised that the Junior was as large as it was.

Even that isn't as large as the Sophomore. This year it is about the size of the average class.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Some are born with black eyes, while others have to fight for them.

WHAT ABOUT LIQUOR?

Why doesn't the government find some war-time use for the stuff that goes into the manufacture of alcohol, and declare a priority upon it? Could it be because the tax derived from the sale of liquor figures too greatly in the net income of the government?

Right now the government needs money to carry on its vast war program. It has authority to levy taxes and to raise the excise taxes already imposed on liquor. It has levied higher taxes to build inadequate war machine. It has, by no means, the authority to impose duties on alcohol. The fuel that will be needed will be provided from that source will finance the building of so many war industries, war machines, and war plants that the physical examiner might not have to close his eyes physical examiner might not have to close his eyes...

TIME OUT
By Carl Lester

By the time this column is placed before the majority of our readers there will only one game left on the Indiana Central 1941-42 Basketball Schedule. Although the Centralites are not yet at the end of the road they are feeling optimistic over the outcome of the final game of the conference championship and gaining a still higher rating in the national's listing basketball.

As for looking toward a higher rating in the national standings that is making quite a lot. Already in the past season, the Greyhounds have been selected ninth in the nation, and Lusenhusen, one of the greatest handshoppers in the country, recently pushed them up to the fourth position.

However, any team must always be on the alert for teams like Ball State when they're batting for a conference crown. The Centralites can not be out of the running in our varsity. Such players as this year's crop of players are not so consistent a year round as they are at the present time.

It's been a struggle to switch in on the first string about the floor, we've seen him only a few times on the practice court. He seems to have come into account for the variation in his game. At any rate, he is the present With six victories against one lone defeat. He is the present With six victories against one lone defeat. He has been a great disappointment to the players. We've seen him only a few times on the practice court.

Central Captures Final Home Tilt

Central's powerful Greyhounds, who have forgot how to lose, finished their home season February 7, by handing an aggressive Central Normal crew a 50-31 shellacking on the old C.I.U. height court. Bill Harmon, flashy second-scorer, is now leading the scoring charts of the Indiana Central College. The Illinois hoopsters held their own until early in the first half but then the Central offensive began to roll. The 26-1 halftime advantage was increased to 24-1 point lead midway in the second period, and Central maintained that margin for the remainder of the tilt.

James Millikan's line-up was formidable one, and the team were more evenly matched than the score would indicate. Both outfits fought for every point and the Greyhounds used every trick in their bag of magic to finish on the long end of the score.

James Millikan U.

Central's "Galloping Greyhounds" added a fighting James Millikan five to its long string of victories, by out-shooting the Decatur boys 52-25. Millikan used his only floor advantage held by Millikan was not enough to match the scoring threats of the Indiana Central's Raffle. George Crowe, Central's flashy center, piloted eight field goals into the nates to lead the evening scoring with sixteen points. Nicson came second in the scoring list, with eleven points, connecting on four spectacular shots from the field and three tosses from the charity stripe. Wixom, Central's freshman forward scoring zero, and McClintock, Spartan giant center, each contributed seven points to take high honors for the visitors.

Last season the Manchester team was one of the Greyhounds, 51-42 in the box seat and 41-29 away. McClintock, Patonelli, and Burrill will be back with the visiting team's first five. Patonelli, Manchester sophomore guard, was the visitors' season's constant, because of an injury, but he will get on the court and playing again, after the inevitable the greater part of the game. It's rumored that a football game was played this week. The half-score was 24-11 in the Greyhound's favor.

Indiana Central Defeat Manchester in Decisive Manner

The, high-powered Greyhounds soared through their twenty-first consecutive victory recently when they knocked off a formidable Manchester team by a margin of 52-25 score in the local gymnasium. The Centralites grabbed an easy advantage, 24-1 point lead midway in the second period, and Central maintained that margin for the remainder of the tilt.

Intra-Mural Going Strong

"Cub" Holrahun is now leading the scoring in the Intra-Mural Basketball League by five points, although he has played only five games the six games total of the second high score, Lee Pace. In his five games, Cub has scored 56 points to build for himself a 19.2 average for the season.

In the team standings Harry Nelson's team has the list at the present with six victories against one loss, suffered at the hands of the Spartans in the first game. One last loss is all that is needed to hold the first position. Ota Sparks' team is in second place with five wins and one loss.

The third position stands at an even tie with two teams, the War Room being the first to be dropped in the power bracket. The War Room scored three and four against the descending teams.

S. C. A. NOTES

S. C. A. was privileged to hear Dr. J. Edgar Kilipp, a returned missionary from Japan. He explained the founding and steps of organization of the Japanese Church and the why of the withholding of many missions. He stated that at one time there was light in the darkness, and an ideal was that was being considered that he is competing in a squad that is now at its peak. We are eager to watch out for the new aspirants loads of luck and hope the squad make the grade in short order.

Basketball on the campus has been progressing along fine lines so far, too. Don Saylor, Intra-Mural Sports manager, reports that "Cub" Holrahun has been pouring the points through the hoop at the rate of 18.2 points per game for the lead. Cub is now a senior. It looks as though we'll have to accept him again this year on the All-Star Intra-Mural Team, a position which he has held since his junior days. Ali Pace stands in second place with the game average of 15.1.

The highest individual score in any game of this season's Intra-Mural League was the 29 points scored by Cub Holrahun in the game which was the perfect record of last season's conference champions in the national's listing basketball.
