Westfield Points The Way In Illinois Conference

The Victory Campaign has been making steady progress in the conference in a manner that forecasts complete final success. Just as finally in the contest with the various enemies, the Westfield Points have the victory written large in the Conference, so in this contest with the great army of Satan there will be the same victory. It is unimportant whether the Westfield Points are ahead or behind in the contest; the Conference as a whole is progressing in the contest with the devil. We are all going to the same destination, and except in the speed with which we progress, there need be no difference in the results.

The Conference is the same, and the same God is with us. The same Spirit is guiding us. The same power is working in us. The same results will be the outcome.

Our work is the same. Our cause is the same. Our Master is the same. Our ultimate destination is the same. The only difference is in the rate of progress. And that is the only difference which need cause us to compare results.

Westfield Points The Way In Illinois Conference

The Victory Campaign

It is unquestionably true that some hellish forces are afoot and violets are being fought against. The contest is going on, not only at the Conference level, but at every level of our church. Everywhere the resistance is being made and the contest is being won. The time will come when the victory will be complete.

The Conference is marching forward in the same direction. The same principles are being applied. The same methods are being used. The same results will be the outcome.

The Conference is the same, and the same God is with us. The same Spirit is guiding us. The same power is working in us. The same results will be the outcome.

Our work is the same. Our cause is the same. Our Master is the same. Our ultimate destination is the same. The only difference is in the rate of progress. And that is the only difference which need cause us to compare results.
The Reflector
Published Semi-Monthly Throughout the School Year by Indiana Central College, Indianapolis

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF
Anonymous
Associate Editor
Anonymous
Assistant Editor
Anonymous
Editorial Writer
Anonymous
Art Director
Anonymous
Sports Editor
Anonymous
Photographer
Anonymous
Secretary
Anonymous
Feature Writers
Anonymous

Address All Correspondence and Contributions to: The Reflector, Indiana Central College, Indianapolis

EDITORIAL

No one would claim that the student body and faculty of Indiana Central are perfect or that our campus is all it should be because we have tried to make conditions here better, but it is worth everything to us that it is our aim and purpose to constantly strive to hold the best traditions of the college and to develop standards and practices on the campus thoroughly Christian.

Because of what the college group as a whole stands for, and because of the high values that we receive as students here, we feel that we have been here before us do not hesitate to give Indiana Central credit for strengthening the best elements in their lives, and we can congratulate each other on the fact that we are. We are grateful to all who have gone before us who have had a part in making the college so worthwhile.

While we appreciate these benefits provided by others, we also recognize our responsibilities in keeping the conditions on our campus at the high level maintained in the past, and we assert that they are owed to those who have been the strength of the college. We are grateful to them all.

With that in mind we cannot help but be interested in the Victory Campaign which is now under way. Future generations of students will have occasion to thank Bishop Dennis, President Good, the conference superintendent, the faculty, and the people who have contributed to the extension of facilities and strengthening the college, while at the same time reaching another goal in providing aid for the students of the church who need it so much.

$500,000 seems like a lot of money to a student, but when the best people out of a hundred thousand join together to make this a success, then it is seen that it can be done without undue sacrifice. Of course the money will be raised largely in gifts ranging from $100 to $1,000. Even these gifts seem rather large to those who view them apart from the needs of college. We are grateful to all who contribute.

Now, after twenty-three years we are rallying the forces again for another long, forward step. As compared with twenty-three years ago we have a constituency now that is much larger and stronger. The name Indiana Central is known for its great service and high standards. The opportunities that lie ahead of the college are far more apparent than they were twenty-three years ago.

President Good has said it is obvious that the Victory Campaign is now being organized, with the special time in Illinois Conference just ahead. Meanwhile as much as possible will be helped by field men to secure their pledges.

We are anxious to have all people interested in the college and its work toward improvement. We recognize that all members and loyal friends of the church, together with all other friends of the college join them in bringing full success in this campaign. Also folders have been prepared and are being sent out telling about the college and its achievements. In some of the conferences there will be at least one conference the special time in Illinois Conference just ahead. Meanwhile as much as possible will be helped by field men to secure their pledges.

Another thing of which we are proud is that there are but a few students who have practically no knowledge of the college. As we practically nothing about the college in 1918, it should be feasible to secure $250,000 now to complete this joint campaign than it was to secure $250,000 for the college alone in 1918.

The big question is this: The value of the campaign is recognized. The resources are in the hands of the people.

The movement for advance is organized. Loyalty and individual giving will bring success. All loyal and forward-looking friends of the United Brethren Church and Indiana Central College will desire to do their share full to help bring success.

A Faculty Member Speaks

In my thirty years of teaching, I have never been a member of any faculty group that was more devoted to the aims and more conscious of the aims and purposes to which they had devoted their lives than the faculty of Indiana Central.

Over and over again in our faculty meetings and in private conversations with faculty members, I have heard expressions of pleasure, as one expression of the development of Christian character in some student. I have also heard expressions of concern as some student showed signs of low development academically or spiritually.

These expressions of joy and concern were many times wishes that we might have better facilities with which to work, so that we could get a better understanding of our problems. We have been limited in the extent to which we can accomplish the goals of the college. The development of understanding of academic work is essential. Dual life is based on scientific laws.

If the church is to grow in leadership and service, these principles must be carried through the college and church service. This ever broadening field of possibility for college and church will be best facilities with which to work.

Dennis Good, President

President's Notes

The idea of making the college the mission of the people of the church is a significant one. The regard in which the college was held was not enviable. The income was insignificant. The institution was practically unknown to a great majority of the constituency. It looked hopeless.

But we rallied the forces. We worked with those who were interested in it. We used every means at our command. We spent $500,000. We told the people what we thought could be done and what we could do to make the college known, to mean to the church if they wanted to help in meeting the college needs.

They not only saw the tremendous importance of the college, but joined in the campaign in such a manner as to show their vision and loyalty to the church as well as their willingness to sacrifice to train students for the church.

Now, after twenty-three years we are rallying the forces again for another long, forward step. As compared with twenty-three years ago we have a constituency now that is much larger and stronger. The name Indiana Central is known for its great service and high standards. The opportunities that lie ahead of the college are far more apparent than they were twenty-three years ago. Now here in the Victory Campaign is an opportunity to show our appreciation to the church for the educational work that it has done for the church.

The name of Indiana Central College is known to all the young people of the church. Those who have been here before us know that the college is a great institution. They know that it is our aim and purpose to hold the best traditions of the college and to develop standards and practices on the campus thoroughly Christian.

With that in mind we cannot help but be interested in the Victory Campaign which is now under way. Future generations of students will have occasion to thank Bishop Dennis, President Good, the conference superintendent, the faculty, and the people who have contributed to the extension of facilities and strengthening the college, while at the same time reaching another goal in providing aid for the students of the church who need it so much.

$500,000 seems like a lot of money to a student, but when the best people out of a hundred thousand join together to make this a success, then it is seen that it can be done without undue sacrifice. Of course the money will be raised largely in gifts ranging from $100 to $1,000. Even these gifts seem rather large to those who view them apart from the needs of college. We are grateful to all who contribute.

Now, after twenty-three years we are rallying the forces again for another long, forward step. As compared with twenty-three years ago we have a constituency now that is much larger and stronger. The name Indiana Central is known for its great service and high standards. The opportunities that lie ahead of the college are far more apparent than they were twenty-three years ago.

President Good has said it is obvious that the Victory Campaign is now being organized, with the special time in Illinois Conference just ahead. Meanwhile as much as possible will be helped by field men to secure their pledges.

We are anxious to have all people interested in the college and its work toward improvement. We recognize that all members and loyal friends of the church, together with all other friends of the college join them in bringing full success in this campaign. Also folders have been prepared and are being sent out telling about the college and its achievements. In some of the conferences there will be at least one conference the special time in Illinois Conference just ahead. Meanwhile as much as possible will be helped by field men to secure their pledges.

Another thing of which we are proud is that there are but a few students who have practically no knowledge of the college. As we practically nothing about the college in 1918, it should be feasible to secure $250,000 now to complete this joint campaign than it was to secure $250,000 for the college alone in 1918.

The big question is this: The value of the campaign is recognized. The resources are in the hands of the people.

The movement for advance is organized. Loyalty and individual giving will bring success. All loyal and forward-looking friends of the United Brethren Church and Indiana Central College will desire to do their share full to help bring success.

A Faculty Member Speaks

In my thirty years of teaching, I have never been a member of any faculty group that was more devoted to the aims and more conscious of the aims and purposes to which they had devoted their lives than the faculty of Indiana Central.

Over and over again in our faculty meetings and in private conversations with faculty members, I have heard expressions of pleasure, as one expression of the development of Christian character in some student. I have also heard expressions of concern as some student showed signs of low development academically or spiritually.

These expressions of joy and concern were many times wishes that we might have better facilities with which to work, so that we could get a better understanding of our problems. We have been limited in the extent to which we can accomplish the goals of the college. The development of understanding of academic work is essential. Dual life is based on scientific laws.

If the church is to grow in leadership and service, these principles must be carried through the college and church service. This ever broadening field of possibility for college and church will be best facilities with which to work.

Dennis Good, President

President's Notes

The idea of making the college the mission of the people of the church is a significant one. The regard in which the college was held was not enviable. The income was insignificant. The institution was practically unknown to a great majority of the constituency. It looked hopeless.

But we rallied the forces. We worked with those who were interested in it. We used every means at our command. We spent $500,000. We told the people what we thought could be done and what we could do to make the college known, to mean to the church if they wanted to help in meeting the college needs.

They not only saw the tremendous importance of the college, but joined in the campaign in such a manner as to show their vision and loyalty to the church as well as their willingness to sacrifice to train students for the church.
An Appreciation of Indiana Central College

Few of the students here on the campus have ever written about how many times past appreciate Indiana Central College. The reasons are numerous, but one of the most obvious is that it is the only university in the state of Indiana that offers a degree in business education.

The campus is located in the heart of Bloomington, Indiana, and is surrounded by beautiful parks, lakes, and forests. The architecture is a blend of modern and traditional styles, and the campus has many state-of-the-art facilities, including a state-of-the-art library, and a state-of-the-art gym.

The faculty and staff are all dedicated to helping students achieve their goals, and the campus has a strong sense of community. The campus is also home to many student organizations, including the student government, the literary magazine, and the student newspaper.

In conclusion, Indiana Central College is a wonderful place to be, and I am grateful for the opportunity to study here. I highly recommend it to anyone considering a degree in business education.

The Reflecter
Page Three

PREHISTORIC GROWTH OF I.C.C. SINCE 1918
(Continued from Page 1)
call from all leaders is for helping them to become better leaders for full cooperation. It is recognized that this will be a difficult task with a program of this sort, but it will require the exceptional and special abilities of all the students who have, or are, sharing the experience. It is hoped that this can be done. It will be a challenge, but one that will be worth the effort.

Just as those who have in 1918 contributed to the development of Indiana Central College, those who will give now will usher in another great advance for the college. Let no one of you say that you are not a member of the college, every alumna and alumnus that you have contributed to the growth of the college in some way, since it is as every friend of the college join now in bringing full success in this campaign.

It is our best efforts.

WAR AND DEFENSE
(Continued from Page 1)
...that the spirit of democracy and of freedom will always be present in the hearts of those who set themselves up as the world's leaders.

While this war is being waged, and terrible sacrifices are being made, it is important to remember that after all some of the most important concerns will not be settled by bombs and bullets. The shores must be defended and the airwaves must be defended, but there must be a balance. We cannot let the war destroy our Christian civilization and at the same time destroy our Christian civilization.

It will be well if, during this war, the Christian forces in America rebuild the colleges and universities to spiritual and moral values. High ideals and high Christian ideals must be kept up and the Christian ideals must rise to greater heights than ever before.

During and immediately following periods of war more than at any other time, those who are responsible for the direction of the colleges and leaders are needed to give direction to the college and to inspire the college to render greater services in the future.

There are tremendous possibilities for the development of the colleges in the future. In the past the colleges have extended its services and in the outstanding opportunity during this quinquennium in the development of a new program of activities.

The Victory Campaign opens the fall semester, and continues all fall and winter. It includes the work of Indiana Central College to share in its growth and development and the more intensive and effective service given and sacrificed in the past must be possible in the future. There is nothing so pressing at the present time to the present generation of students in the present generation of teachers in the school rooms and in other positions of service.

The Victory Campaign will help the college render a much larger service at this critical time than ever before. This is not the time for redoubled effort to bring about the initiative and to further its work.

It will help in the spiritual defense of our country.
The Victory Campaign

The noble manner in which our people are responding to the Victory Campaign not only expresses their determination to bring full success to the two great causes for which this Campaign is being waged, but gives promise of the deepening of the spiritual life of all of us who share in the sacrifices that are involved in reaching our goal. When we started in the Minnesota Conference, the pastors and people there set a standard of giving that challenges all of us.

One of the most important aspects of the Victory Campaign is the appropriate recognition and care of the aged, faithful servants of God. Let us arise and do our utmost in this cause.

The Victory Campaign is timely for three reasons: first, it makes it possible for the Christian College to do the heroic in sacrificial giving. The completion of the Ministerial Pension Fund and the construction of the new Central Auditorium are major goals for the Victory Campaign. The Laboratory of Christian Leadership and the Auditorium are the ideal places for the ministry of college students. These projects are designed to further the ministry of the College in its work at Districts.

The Victory Campaign is an excellent opportunity for the churches to give in a large way to the College. The colleges are the very heart of the Church-to-properly train the young people who train there to serve our day in the spirit of Christ. The Victory Campaign presents an opportunity to give to the College in a way that will produce an immediate and substantial benefit to the College and thus to the Church.

The Victory Campaign is for Victory! and it is the hope of everyone. Let us arise and do our utmost in this cause.