Annual Spiritual Retreat Nov. 26-28

COMING TO INDIANA CENTRAL CAMPUS

C.O.M. A. Holds Service At Wheeler Mission

On Monday evening, October 25, a group of the Indiana Central Ministerial Association had charge of the evangelistic services at the Wheeler City Rescue Mission. A quartet, composed of Helen Jean Whailey, Agnes Jordan, Gena Moos and Chlo Culp, with Jeanine Miller as the accompanist, sang several selections. Dean Miller was in charge of the meeting.

Evangelistic Conference

The opening session of the Evangelistic Retreat for White River Conference was held at the University Heights U.B. Church on October 25 at 9:00 a.m. with Bishop Fred E. Dennis presiding. Sessions were led by the Conference Superintendent, Dr. William S. Hirst, the first speaker, and Dr. F. M. Montgomery, pastor of the Brookside Church in Indianapolis, who read a paper on the evangelistic basis for our church. Reverend Lorin Sitton of Hammond then spoke on "Personal Visitations Evangelism in the City Church." He gave some interesting experiences which he had in his church at Hammond. An open forum followed.

"Reverend D. H. McIlvick from Indiana Conference was the first speaker.

Dr. Brewbaker to Be Speaker-Evangelist

Dr. Charles W. Brewbaker, widely known pastor, evangelist and lecturer of Dayton, Ohio, is to be the principal speaker at the annual Spiritual Retreat. The theme for the retreat is "I Am the Way." There will be a conference according to consider "I Am the Way to Peace" and "I Am the Way to Abundance.

The Evangelism Committee of the S.C.A., under direction of Agnes Jordan and Virginia Blake, with sponsor Professor Davis, is planning a program for the Annunciation Hall. The Retreat is usually held in the spring, but this year it is planned for the month of December holidays. The first service will be held Friday evening in the college church. The retreat committee is expecting quite a few visitors on Sunday afternoon.

Major Production to Be Mystery—November 19

Stand by! Alpha Psi Omega is presenting a new kind of mystery play. November 19, which doesn't depend on gunplay or stage action. As usual, the play is a study in char- er, of humor and funny people, starring William Brett as Lt. Clay.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic society as Gamma Theta chapter of Indiana Central College, met and organized in September as follows: Director, Helen Coffy, Business Manager, Martha Hughes; State Manager, William Brett; Faculty advisor and director, Dr. Culp.

Alpha Psi is already busy giving apprenticeship activity in chapel plays and in preparing for the major production to be given November 19.

A Student's Faith

What are YOU doing in college, anyway? What would one of our friends in the service say if he knew what our daily schedule consisted of? Why are we here and not there? Do we know we are here? Are college students necessary? What would the great men of all time think of people who drift and dream from one class to the next and only live on weekends?

With so much going on in the world and when every person is finding his important place in the world, why are we allowed to stay in school? With these convictions looming before us and in spite of the lightening strokes of criticism, we, as American students, must face them. With a faith in "Education is a nation's first defense," we are here to defend that faith and our country.

Sharp Talk

"But I shouldn't talk," a certain person said the other day; after two or three critical velocities of animated chatter. "Yes, you should talk, not SPEAK or GOSPEL! A major art in life is being able to talk nicely—by nicely I mean correctly and clearly. We're out that unnecessary chatter and make words count.

On second thought, maybe we shouldn't talk. What we say and how we say it usually broadcasts what we are. "Let's watch that sharp talk," said a fellow, with feelings—usually a senior. We may never know how deeply our words are heard so speak softly. The Psalms says, "A man hath joy by the answer of his mouth; and a word spoken in due season, how good it is!" It behooves us everyone, to speak with diligence and care.

Busy-ness

Why should people be so busy? Why hurry, scurry, hustle-bustle here and there? Are they running in circles? These are simple questions, but universal and sincere. People really think they are overburdened, and there are many things to be done at one time. There are just so many hours in a day! And there are so many meetings, thirty minutes apart! Maybe this is good for us. It is difficult to be efficient and business-like, but it is worth it.

THE REFLECTOR

THE LATEST

By PENNINGTON

So Sorry!

Angry Father—What do you mean bringing my daughter in at this hour?

Bill Griffin—Why do I have to be here at work by seven?

Sound Logic

Some people grow old gracefully, Others keep disgracefully young.

Crammed Quarters

Mr. Mogle—Is your kitchen small?

Mrs. Olive Kraft—Small! Why, it's so small we have to use condensed milk.

Woof Woof

Puppy love has put many a man in the dog house.

Prose on Poetry

Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall, Humpty Dumpty had a big fall, All the kings horses and all the kings men, Came riding by side saddles—the classics.

No Foolin'

Mrs. Callin—All men are fools.

Dale Callin—Yes, we made that way so all you women wouldn't be old maids.

Quite a Night

Clyde Dew—That certainly is a sure footed horse you sold me yesterday.

Johnny Wells—How did you find out so soon?

Clyde—He kicked me in the same place three times.

Look Twice Girls

Jean Polk—Do you believe in love at first sight?

Lois McKain—Well, that all depends on who's in sight.

Really

She was only a taxi drivers daughter, But you auto meter.

Windy

First soldier—You are a brave man to parachute down in a gale like this.

Second soldier—I didn't come down in a parachute, I went up in a tent.

Maybe

There was a Scotchman who bought only one beer. He ordered if one side of the horse went the other was sure to follow.

Could Be

Come on, Liz, there's the air raid siren! Wait a second, I got to go back and get my face paint.

What do you think they're dropping, sandals, witches.

Dick Smith—Waiter, this soup is spoiled.

Waiter—Who told you?

Dick—A little swallow.

Hostile Host

Cannibal King—Yes, everyone eaten.

Home Sweet Home

"You know we keep it very quiet and orderly here," said the landlord to the tenant. "Do you have any children?"

"No,"

"A piano, radio or victrola?"

"No."

"Do you have a dog, cat or parrot?"

"No, but,"

"I do have a fountain pen that scratches a little sometimes."
SERVICE HONOR ROLL
Students From Indiana Central College

Men in Service

Here are the addresses of your friends. The addresses are absolutely correct. If you write some man in this list and you should not be able to reach him immediately and we will see that you get the latest address we have for him. Some addresses have been corrected after we have a chance to see the person. Your address is not exact, notify us. We will greatly appreciate it if you give me the latest address wherever you are moved.

If there is any service we could give you we will be glad to have your suggestions.

W. EARL STONEBURNER

"If you know of any change in address, get the correct address to Dr. W. Earl Stoneburner.

WALTER BRENNEMAN

WALTER BRENNEMAN, 41, and Dwight McCooll, 12, Navigator and Fuse, Make Records

Word was received in early September that Dwight McCooll, 12, was missing in action in the African Theater of Operations. This information was received via a radio message from the base at the college other than the original announcement.

Since the announcement of McCooll's being missing, we had received a similar message concerning Walter McCooll flying a flying fortress that took off with two other planes of the same type. The report was that the Fortress had to turn back before the objective was reached because of a mechanical defect.

A burst of fire was seen to be coming from the front of the Fortress and a large explosion was heard. The Fortress went out of control; no one was seen to bail out and no parachutes were seen to be fired. The Fortress hit the sea, bounced once and sank immediately. Some debris was being washed ashore which gives reason to hope that no one was lost. No one was willing to say that one man was seen on the debris. Just before the news was received he had written his first lieutenant's comments on a letter he had written to the Silver Star.

Dormitory Open House Included Refreshments.

New Hall Dormitory held open house from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. on Friday, October 8, 1913. Each room was decorated and furnished by the students, and many friends of the college were present. The refreshments served were mainly sandwiches, and were served in each room.

The program in the Recitation Room began with piano selections by Marcelino Chocquart. Talented Geneve Shimer arranged and introduced the student recitals. The trio of Julia Gerson, with both piano and violin, sang "I Love a Paradise" and "Melody and Me." The program ended with the organ recital of Bertram Winckler.

The chance to appear with such illustrious musicians as Shimer and Winckler is sure to be a highlight of this event for many students.

Bits

New Books

Approximately one hundred and twenty-five books on psychology were selected from the library of Dr. Cummings, former chairman of the psychology department, for the students to read. The selection's inclusion in the program was due to the interest of music and psychology students.

The college's music program is eagerly awaited by many students, and the addition of this selection to the library will surely be a welcome addition.

Boys Good Housekeepers

Open house in Bailey Hall was held on October 8, 1913, with many students and guests in attendance. The event included refreshments and tours of the rooms, which were clean and neat. After the program, a radio program was developed and broadcast to the students.

The radio program was well-received by the students and was considered a great success.

Alumni News

It is evident that my serious mistake of the last note was not noticed, for no one has called my attention to it. After the notes had gone to press, I realized that the speech of the classes of 1900, 1911, etc., were due for a reunion next commencement. My mistake is one that "tempus solus" is faster than I can keep up. Of course, half the people in the world is the same thing, and this should hold remains true next fall, and the meeting of the classes of 1913 and 1912 should be expected.

It would be very helpful if each member of those classes who are unable to be present at the meeting would write in to me the interesting facts about himself and his family. I would be grateful to have this in writing and lighten the burden of the College.

Selena A. Barlow, President.

Rho Chapter

Rho Chapter of Sigma Nu, national honor society in Indiana, was held on October 8, 1913. The meeting was well-attended by the members and included discussions of the chapter's activities and plans for the future.

Evangelistic Conference

Evangelistic Conference was held on October 8, 1913. The conference was well-attended and included discussions of the need for conversion and the importance of the church in the community.

Folio Over for Season

Since there are no few boys attending this year's classes have all been brought to bear on the Folio. The first term was completed on October 17, and the Folio is now being prepared for publication. The editorial staff is working hard to ensure that the Folio is a success.
