President Good responded to these speeches of praise saying, "I had mingled emotions as I sat here and listened..." He emphasized that the speakers who had already spoken had brought us to the point where we all knew we were going in the right direction. At that time, it had been his privilege and responsibility to move the students and directors of the work along and to convey degrees upon one another and students. He assured us that his interest in the work would be continued, and that he would be working with us in the improvement of the work.

Chapel Programs

There have been many speakers for chapel this semester who have been very successful in changing our viewpoint. Little of the local Y.M.C.A. spoke to youth in our modern world. We have had many successful speakers.

Dr. O. T. DeRuer, director of the Youth of Chicago, spoke to us on the subject of "The Value of Music." A former student of Indiana Central, he is now on the faculty of the University of Chicago. Miss Enright has completed training for missionary work, and has been informed that she may expect sailing dates shortly.

Dr. George W. Commons, president of the University of Chicago, spoke to us on the subject of "The Future of the World." He discussed the importance of education in the history of nations in the world, and the role of the individual in this process.

Dr. Ralph D. Simons, a former student of Indiana Central, spoke to us on the subject of "The Value of Art." He stressed the importance of art in the life of an individual, and the role of art in society.

Dean O. W. Cash, chairman of the Board of Trustees, spoke to us on the subject of "The Budget of the School." He discussed the financial situation of the school, and the need for careful budgeting.

Dr. Ziegler, Dr. Williams
Speaks to Student Body

Our World Student Friendship Pro- ject was greatly facilitated by the meeting of the students of this college and the students of the University of Chicago. Dr. Stanley D. Williams, the Director of the Student Friendship Society.

It was our privilege to have these men on our campus today and yesterday.

Dr. Ziegler spoke in chapel yesterday. He stated that this was the third of the series of chapel programs that we have held this year. He pointed out that the students have been attending these programs far more regularly than in the past.

Our students have been very successful in carrying out the programs of the Student Friendship Society. They have been attending these programs in record numbers.

Once in Chicago, we stopped at Geer's Aunt Bessie's to get our boxes. It was almost midnight when we got there. We were exhausted after the trip, but we were happy to be in the city again. We went to the Adler Planetarium, which was opened after a long delay. We spent the next day in the city, and we were very pleased with our visit. Pickles!

In nearly every ten-cent store the candy is in a pickle jar. Someone has clamped to something else. I was mightily impressed one day to notice the 'sweet' counter bedecked with sour things—pickles! Now everyone knows that this is the result of the war, and many are complaining. Yes, many are turning to pickles or sour pouches whatever you like, because of their outlook on the war just like the much loved candy-counters. While on the other hand cert.ain events, even war mothers are changing from grouchies to sweet things. It is mostly up to you. Now the ten-cent store cannot help it if their fronts become "pickled", but you can. Let's keep our personalities "sweet" not "sour" and bitey.

William Allen White

Americans remember many things about William Allen White. They grieved with him when his daughter, Mary, was killed and he wrote his classic story of her death. They were proud of him when he commanded the crusade in his Emporia (Ks.) Gazette against the deplorable political conditions in his state, throughout the years in which he saw America become modern, he earned the respect and affection of all.

Refusing offers from larger metropolitan newspapers, he devoted his life to the editorship of the Emporia paper. The witt, understanding, incisive human nature that distinguished his editorials and the honesty with which his newspaper presented the news made the Emporia Gazette one of America's greatest newspapers.

Perhaps no other person except Wlll Rogers represents so well the spirit of America in her period of "growing pains" as William Allen White, editor.

We talk about a "moral order," but forget it has to root in moral lives.

Why Don't They—

Institute a faculty skip day?
Post a schedule of chapel programs—the week?
Teach each student to empty his own waste basket?
Furnish a student lounge for day students?
Have a special library where students may go for whispering instead of studying?
Why don't YOU write more letters to your friends in the service?

From President Good's 30th Anniversary Letters:

'It was something of an assignment—a very pleasant assignment—to assemble the more than 200 letters in book form received by President Good on the occasion of this thirtieth anniversary of the first year of his administration from bishops, general church officers, conference superintendents, the United Brethren college presidents, and from nearly all the college and university presidents of Indiana. The college trustees, faculty members, and alumni of the college joined in an outpouring of letters to the quarter-century. President Good's President Good has rendered Indiana Central and the cause of Christian education generally. The following quotations from the letters of some of the bishops and general officers are typical of the spirit and mood of the letters. GRACE NOTES

By AGNES JORDAN

Another Saturday night, and here is a real live dance, with real live music, at the Longview Grange. And the weather was perfect for a dance, too. The music was supplied by the Longview High School Band, and the dance was a great success.

The Longview Grange is located on the outskirts of town, and the building is spacious and well-equipped. The dance floor is large and inviting, with plenty of room for everyone to dance and socialize.

The music was a mix of popular songs from different eras, and the band did a great job of keeping everyone on the dance floor. The band's leader, Mr. Johnson, is a skilled musician and a great teacher, and he did a fantastic job of leading the band.

The Longview Grange is a great community center, and it's great to see such an event take place there. The Longview community is fortunate to have such a wonderful facility and such talented musicians.

The Longview Grange is open to everyone, and they hold regular events, including dances, concerts, and other community gatherings. So if you're looking for a fun and lively event, be sure to check out the Longview Grange.
