Miss Virginia Chaillle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chaillle of North Vernon, Indiana, and Lt. Ernest Clendenning, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clendenning also of North Vernon, were united in marriage in Ossian, Nolana on Fri-the school schedule was not interrupted because of the change in administrative personnel. The devotion and zeal with which all are carrying on their in these first days is worthy of the highest praise.

The plans for the spring graduation are now practically complete and we are looking forward to those activities as an occasion for meeting many of the alumn and friends of the school. A limited number of courses will be offered in each of two semesters. The term of enrollment is indicated. We are planning for a substantial increase in enrollment for the fall term.
As we look toward the future we are impressed that the school has been granted opportunity for practically unlimited service.
The service which we will be able to render will be limited only by our ability to provide the proper number and type of courses and to provide them on a basis which will command the highest respect in the academic world. There can be no doubt that the future period will see a very greatly in-xcreased demand for college trained men and women. Schools all over the nation are preparing for an influx of students.
Then there are the places in which we live which require a much larger percentage of highly educated persons than did the more simple modes of life of past generations.
People are aware of this requirement and are making plans to prepare themselves to meet it.

The responsibility for the education of the student and his adjustment to a college situation which is shared by all educational institutions. But beyond that general reponsibility the church related or Christian college has still more to consider.

A memorial service for Lt. W. K. Bremneran was held on Sunday, 21st February, at 1 p.m. in the Colorado Springs Masonic Temple. The service was attended by approximately 300 people, including friends and family. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. John Bremner, who was also the officiating minister for the service. The service was attended by about 300 people, including friends and family. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. John Bremner, who was also the officiating minister for the service.

After the service, a reception was held at the Masonic Temple, where guests were welcome to share memories of Lt. W. K. Bremneran. The reception included refreshments and a chance to meet and talk with other attendees. The event was well attended, with many people coming to pay their respects and honor the memory of Lt. W. K. Bremneran.

Following the reception, attendees were invited to visit the Colorado Springs Masonic Temple, which is a historic building in the city. The temple was open for tours, allowing guests to learn more about its history and architecture. Attendees were also able to view the memorial plaque dedicated to Lt. W. K. Bremneran, which is located inside the temple.

The event was a touching tribute to Lt. W. K. Bremneran and a fitting conclusion to a day of honoring his memory. The gathering was a testament to the strength and resilience of those who knew and loved him, and a reminder of the impact he had on those around him. The event was a fitting tribute to Lt. W. K. ON AND OFF THE CAMPUS

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Koos of the Indiana University Board of Trustees visited the campus on March 24 and 25 with their son, Bill, a freshman. Miss Elizabeth Koos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Koos, also visited at that time. She is a senior at Indiana University and is majoring in Business Administration.

Benedictine College, which is located in Atchison, Kansas, is a Roman Catholic college founded in 1858. The college has a student body of approximately 1,200 and offers undergraduate and graduate programs in a variety of fields. The college is located in the heart of the midwestern United States, and is known for its academic excellence and strong sense of community.

The college is also home to the Benedictine College Press, which publishes a number of books and journals on a variety of topics, including theology, philosophy, and education.

Four students from Benedictine College visited the campus on March 24 and 25 to attend a conference on the science of religion. The conference was held in the science building on the campus and was attended by approximately 200 people. The conference was sponsored by the Department of Religion and Theology at the college and was organized by the college's dean of students, Dr. John J. Flaherty.

During the conference, the students from Benedictine College gave presentations on various aspects of the science of religion, including the role of religion in society, the relationship between religion and science, and the impact of religion on human behavior.

The conference was well-received by the attendees, who were impressed by the depth and breadth of the discussions. The students from Benedictine College were also able to network with other students and faculty members from the campus, and were able to gain a deeper understanding of the science of religion and its role in society.

The conference was a success, and the students from Benedictine College were pleased with their experience. They were able to learn from the attendees and be inspired by the discussions, and were able to gain a deeper understanding of the science of religion and its role in society.
We are most grateful to the many alumni friends who gave us the encouragement and support that the Butler University students needed. Our success is a reflection of the efforts of our staff, faculty, and alumni.
