New Faces on Faculty and Staff

Information acquired from the ICC Public Relations Office reveals that the number of freshman faces on the faculty and staff this year is a large one. The total is 53.

Perhaps some bits of information concerning these new persons would be enlightening to both the faculty and student body, as well as to interested alumni.

Miss Hazel Herter, of Indiana University, is assistant professor of English. She is a graduate of Tufts College, and recently received her Master's degree.

Miss Marcella Bunting, assistant English professor, is from Newton, Kansas. At one time she was a music teacher at a girls' school, and at another time an instructor in Santiago, Chile.

Another assistant professor of English is Miss Elizabeth Herr, from Bedford, who comes from Vassar College.

Guy H. Shadleger, of Butler, has been appointed professor of chemistry. He is a graduate of Hamilton and Johns Hopkins University.

G. P. (Patty) Little, on the staff of the Indianapolis Star, and a graduate of Indiana University, is now an instructor in journalism.

John Rider, ICC Class of '47, and a native of Martinsville, is currently engaged in the music department at Northwestern University.

Mrs. Edelmann, of the music department, is a graduate of Northwestern University, and holds degrees from Bryn Mawr and University of Illinois.

William Miller, of Lowell, Indiana, assistant professor of art, has degrees from Cornell and the University of Mexico.

Robert F. Cramer, of Terre Haute, is an assistant professor of art and design. He received his degree from Indiana University and Teachers College, Columbia, and attended the University of Notre Dame.

Angela M. Wason, Athletic Director and coach, holds a position at Franklin Township High School. She is a graduate of the Class of '42.

Eugene T. Underwood is assistant professor of Spanish and French. A former lecturer and teacher at Butler University, he has degrees from Butler and Duke University.

Karen G. Stahl, former president of a girls' school in Lexington, Kentucky, earned degrees from Lawrence College, University of Wisconsin, and the Ohio State University.

Allan P. Schirmer, vocal music instructor, was Assistant Professor of Music at the University of Minnesota.

Big Bud Little Sis Walkout Takes Centralites To Longacre and Garfield

"Oh! My aching feet" said the freshmen fellows as they started back from Garfield Park in their tan feet. This year, after several years of the reverse, the men went to Garfield Park and the girls went to Longacre for the War-Daze on Wednesday, September 19.

After each upperclassman had called for his Little Buddy and Little Sis, and the counselors had kept them waiting, the groups started on the walk to their respective parks. Pnicie supper was served to the upperclassmen by the Frosh, after which each group had a short program of singing and stunts. From long-expectation, we learned that Mike Colman believes, regarding miracles, a word to the wise is sufficient. Yet McCracken likes her green because green blends with other colors. Norah Brown has a list of "good reasons" for coming to college; and that Moe Smith believes in freshmen initiation after he met the Board of Education.

Everyone walked back to campus for a bundle and program

Oracle Editor Named

Miss Betty Moore was elected editor of the 1948 edition of the ORACLE at a recent meeting of the junior class. The nomination of the staff will be announced at a future date, according to the official school yearbook.

Opening Game Proves Thriller For 2800 Fans

Indiana Central opened the 1947 homecoming conference grid schedule Saturday night with a rousing 19-14 contest of Canterbury College before a crowd of 2800 fans in Southport High School's house.

The Greyhounds displayed a fine assortment of deceptive plays from the T formation. Bill Fiedenberg and Paul Kichor directing the quarterbacking, they once were the Can- terbury Knights able to provide a serious threat and that blew up with a fumble on the Central 10 midway in the final period.

Central tallied ones in each of the first two quarters, and twice in the final stanza. The first marker came midway in the opening period after Stan Klos recovered a Canterbury fumble on their 20. John Rider and Paul Dunge picked up a first down in two tries, but two heavy losses pushed the ball back to their own 8. Klos then slapped a pass to end Bob McBride to recover the lost and Dunge crashed through tackle on a hand-off and galluped 25 yards for the touchdown behind perfect blocking.

The second score was set up by runs by Mandolf Kistler and Marlon Burton which advanced the pigskin from the Canterbury 42 to the 28. Mandolf Kistler again Paul Kichor got the range and Mandolf Kistler cut across center to McBride for the touchdown.

The only thrill in the third period came when Mandolf Kistler of Central attempted to intercept a pass but juggled the ball and was given a clear field ahead of him.

In the final period, Kistler grabbed a Canterbury aerial on 86 and ran it to the Knights' 40. Then he teamed with Fiedenberg and Bunge to advance the ball to the 14 in three plays before Bill Clark and Mandolf Dunge picked up his right end for the score. The final mark-er came as Central, at 8:00 of the fourth period, turned a fumble into a 62-yard touchdown, taking the score 19-14.

Field House Scene of Big Mixter

The Indiana Central field house was the scene of the annual Big Mixter, Saturday night, Sept. 29, with Charles Jennings as master of ceremonies. After dividing into several small groups, named by long titles, several games were played and contests held.

All the students divided into their groups and took part in a hugely hilarious carnival of events, containing scriptural verses as classes, were passed around. These students fed along trails in and around the administration building which terminated at the treasure, a box of candy, which was placed on a window sill in the chapel.

After the treasure, hunt the group regathered in the field house for a few pop songs.

As in previous years the typical freshmen for this year are an- nounced at this occasion. They were Carolyn Gaynor and Howard Wester.

Also honored, this evening was Herbert Talmadge, who it seems had the mistake of buying a picture (Continued on page 4)

Welcome Back

Welcome back! How many times we have heard these words since returning to the campus this fall. However, one hearty welcome is in order. It is nice to meet all of them, as follows are living in Butx Hall. Mother Cunningham passed away during the summer. Her cheerful smile and kind word is no longer to be seen and heard—her memory will linger with us always.

Mother Cunningham’s life was always that of doing for others. She thought of her boys as her own sons. She was never too busy to stop and chat with us all, and when the going was tough she always had a word of encouragement for us.

The following are some of her favorite passages:

>"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have prepared a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

>"For we know, that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens… Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are in the body, we are absent from the Lord.…” We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord."

Let us hope that we can make our life as useful as she made hers.

WHAT WE NEED

“We do not need more material development; we do not need more spiritual development; we do not need more intellectual power; we do not need more moral power; we do not need more knowledge; we need more character. We do not need more government; we need more culture. We do not need more law; we need more religion. We do not need more of the things that are seen; we need more of the things that are unseen.” All of our learning and science, our culture and our arts will be of little avail unless they are supported by high character, unless there is a social and religious and moral foundation. Without that foundation, all our material resources are supported by moral and spiritual resources, there is no foundation for Progress. A trained intelligence can be a substitute for morality, character and religious convictions. Unless these abide, American citizenship will be found unequal to its task.”

Calvin Coolidge.

by Glaze

Well, here we are again. Another year and another Reflection. Oh, you lucky people!

School has been in session for about three weeks now. I wonder how many people are ready to give up and go home. The line forms are getting longer and more than two to one. It is a pity, for if we wait for the last minute, will probably be disappointed since the time was very few. It doesn’t take long for things to get organized, though, once you’ve started out.

As far as I know and I do know, because I’m the guy who tries to keep around and pitty any other people’s business. I find that few other people are interested in what is going on and that is the reason for the writing of the Reflections.

Students and faculty have quickly established the regular routines and the normal college functions are moving efficiently and smoothly. The student body of 450 is a substantial increase over last year and larger than any previous year since the two-year normal was discontinued. In the third year, boys and girls will probably be disappointed since the girls are outnumbered by the boys more than two to one.

Student morale is high. The S. C. A. has already launched a new and progressive program of activity. The Student Council is going to work in real earnest, as it accepts its share of responsibility in the field of student government. The band both looked good and sounded well at the first football game. The cheer in Chapel gives one a real inspiration. And that first football game, we really enjoyed that. All the other campus organizations are getting their programs under way and there is a spirit of real optimism among faculty and students give themselves to the serious business of College Education. Yes, we are off to a good start. Let us give our best to make your semester the best in the history of I. C. C.

OFF TO A GOOD START

The Fall Semester at I. C. C. is off to a good start. Since thanks are in order for all of the members of the faculty, staff and student body who labored so diligently and cooperated in such a splendid manner in going afield. The fall program really started with the two-day faculty institute on September 4. These two days gave opportunity for the new members of the faculty to acquaint themselves with the others and to some extent with the institution. Plans, programs and responsibilities were thoroughly discussed so that when the freshmen arrived on Saturday morning everything was in readiness for their “Daze” of tests and orientation.

The new dormitory matrons took hold of their work like veterans and most of the students were comfortably settled in their rooms. The student body was well satisfied, and the staff was too busy to stop and chat with us always.

Buxton: Hal, Mother Cunningham passed most of all by those fellows living in Butx Hall. Mother Cunningham’s life was always that of doing for others. She thought of her boys as her own sons. She was never too busy to stop and chat with us always. When we need help, she always was there. She knew how to encourage us.

The music department is hitting its stride with the various organs. The department is getting ready for the public appearances they will make throughout the year.

This year the department is putting into effect the bigger and better program which has been set up for the coming year so that the students in a more efficient way than ever before.

The first public appearance of the band was at the Canterbury game. Arrangements and lack of more preparation, the whole student body must assist in making these groups bigger and better. The band needs more woodwinds and brass; the choir and chorus need vocalists and more string players that will make themselves known, an orchestra will be put into effect.

Plans are being made for outside programs. These concerts are being planned to arouse in you a new interest in music and your interest will be put into effect.

Attendance at these occasions will be appreciated, and chorus need vocalists; and if instrumentalists were in pretty numbers, we will have.

The marriage of Edie Allison, to At the Present time she was a student at Central. The marriage took place Septem'ber 29. Edie's home was Septem'ber 29. The marriage will be celebrated in a beautiful manner. The wedding will be on the 29 of September, in the Gymnasium. The program was very nice and I was very happy for them.

This summer has proved true to the tradition of life at Central, and to the students. In the words of a student, "We will miss these good and kind souls who have been with us so long, and I am sure that you will too."

GREYHOUNDS

Your Sports Whistle-Return letterman is he, Who is studying for the ministry, I wouldn’t say he’s fat nor thin, But I do know that he’s from Wisconsin.

Well known to the freshmen is this lad, For with a pencil he did make them sad.

At the table, boy, can he put away the grub, But you know, it tackle, he is not scrum.

I know he doesn’t care for English Lit.

Now, can you guess, who is it, His first name is Bob and you will agree, That his last name must be ?

New Equipment Provides Work and Recreation For Central Students

Students, did you know the Y. M. C. A. has provided a student lounge for your use this year? It is equipped with a number of comfortable chairs and tables. There are free chess and checkers, and a good selection of books, provided for the recreation of students. The students may use this lounge for studying, social gatherings, meetings, eating, and lounging.

This is sponsored by the Southwestern Branch of the Y. M. C. A. The Red Cross and a number of other groups contributed to the fund.

To close the festivities, Frank Rider, publicity director for Indiana Central, showed slides of several students in action in various capacities last fall, after which refreshments were served.

Let’s all co-operate with the headquarters and let the team know that we are really behind them.
