WALKOUT BRINGS INITIATION TUG-O-WAR, OCTOBER 28

Around the campus, September 21, marks the beginning of formal initiation of the freshmen. Shortly after 5 p.m., big and little sisters and big and little buddies will start for their separate destinations.

The girls will hike to Long Acre. There a picnic supper will be served. After a short program, the freshman girls will be told what they will have to do for their formal initiation the following day: Initiation. Initiation rules will also be read from the campus handbook with a warning against any violations.

Meanwhile, the boys will be doing the same thing at Garfield Park—picnic supper being entertained, and starting formal initiation of the freshman boys.

After the hike back to the campus, the two groups will meet around a bonfire. There will be group singing and a time of good fellowship.

Just as the walkout begins initiation, so the tug-of-war. October 14, may end it (the freshman hop). The freshmen and sophomore teams will each choose twelve of their strongest men.

Now everyone has engaged in a game of tug-of-war in elementary school. This is the same game with the slighter form from before. The tug- of-war is held over the creek at Long Acre. Naturally, the team that has won a little wet cheer up! It is tradition that the winning team can jump in the creek. If the freshmen win, the green Skeeters will no longer be seen around the campus. If the sophomore win, there will be green on the campus until Thanksgiving.

Following the tug-of-war, the students return to the campus for supper. About 7 or 8 p.m. everyone gathers in the auditorium. There each class puts on a geared show. These shows are judged by a committee and the winning class is presented with an award.

160 Frosh Invade The Campus Classes Began Wednesday

President Opens Convocations: Speaks On “Power to Become”

To the tune of tests, tests, and more tests, 160 new students became acquainted with Indiana Central campus and each other. Frosh Days began September 9, as students greeted one another suitcases in hand, coming from coast to coast and a few from other continents.

At 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning, they met in the Administration Building to take entrance, IQ, and classification examinations which lasted for most of the day. In the late afternoon, freshmen met with their dormitory matrons for their first meeting as a dormitory group. Dormitory procedures and problems were discussed for questions to be answered.

The day was climaxed with a Frosh-Win-Rust sponsored by the S.C.A., under the leadership of Ilene Mays, chairman of the freshmen committee. Don Dow was master of ceremonies and other upperclassmen acted as judges and entertainment before the rust. President Roth and Professor Weber spoke briefly.

Still ruling the campus, the frosh-class began Sunday by attending church and Sunday School and then an informal tea at Willmore Hall, under the sponsorship of the Y.W.C.A.

Monday and Tuesday were picture-taking, registration, and X-ray days, with time to really get acquainted.

Freshman Days marked the return of the upperclassmen and the beginning of classes.

Dean of Women Office in Wilmore

Miss Mary Hicky, head of the Home Economics Department since 1938, is now mothering the Willmore Hall girls.

Having lived in Wilmore since she came to Central campus, she knows the ins and outs of dormitory life.

Miss Hicky’s home is in Monticello, Ind., and prior to coming to Indiana Central College, she taught in Illinois high schools for ten years.

After spending a week at Penn State College, State College, Pa., she returned to campus. She has taken the room formerly occupied by Miss Myron Grizzles.

Indianacentrals

Indians Plan to enter Indiana Central College, if you are out in the cold world, and if you're already here, you've caught it and are beyond help.

Separate feelings are widely felt by Indians about the middle of August when literature starts coming regarding the fall semester.
Campuses very congested, but by now, they will spread as a spirit of friendliness and goodwill, always topped with a big smile. Places of convenience are the dining hall, bookstore, administrations building, and student council.

Treatments
Four years of studying consist of term papers, finals, and the general process of maturation. A good portion of recitations, student games, extra-curricular activities, and student body and faculty. This has been a busy week for all of us. There have been lines of students waiting to register, get their semester exams, and have X-rays taken. I believe all the freshmen lived through the necessity exams, though some looked worried.

"The other day, one freshman came out of the YNCA lounge rubbing a significant spot, Quest, 'I've just had it.' He had a green bentonite on his lower leg. I wonder . . . Oh well, let's not worry about that. He'll learn!"

"It looks as though there is a heavy snow schedule now until next June. However, we like it that way. A fine college spirit is being manifested. Let's keep it up. From here it looks like a great time ahead for us."

We're all in this thing together.
This is our college; our school year; our opportunity. Every member of the faculty, staff, and student body pulling together will make this the best year yet. I'm willing, so the administration. I believe you are
And the Public Relations Office can help us, we will. Best wishes for Central's best year.

Sincerely,

Director of Public Relations.

It is not easy to go away from home, live with strange people, and adjust to the life on a college campus. But we're doing it.

Now that school has started, it will be very easy to be ordinary and make new friends. And we often find the belief that since someone has to fill that position, why they should. This is not always the case.

Satisfaction is not conducive to progress when students become complacent. There must always be a challenge to something greater. In this world, there is always danger. It is necessary to know what you and would like to do. The best way for you to get into the system is to make use of all the information. You have a contribution to make to the activities of the campus and by using it will be able to develop it. Wouldn't you seek out the person who can who can give you a job? The happiest people are the busiest.

It isn't easy to participate in extracurricular activities, do good work, and see the best that you can. It isn't easy, but it can done. Will you?

Gospelspe Tour Illinois

Holding evening services on 48 of the 76 days from June 26 till September 4, five Centrals spent their "vacation" holding evangelical services in eastern Illinois.

Known as the "Gospelspe," the five were Jim McCoy, Tom Tervel, Richard Keller, Bill Rogers, and Bruce Hiltunen. Keller and Rogers are freshmen this year.

Three churches served by Rev. M. L. Linn during school last year were on the 10-day itinerary, as in addition to the Normal Blountville Chapels, with Bill Rogers as pianist, finished the tour with a two-week union meeting in Robinson, III., with nine churches cooperating.

Slarkidays

August 30 was the date that Mary Kathryn Gehr was born at St. Francis Hospital, Beech Grove.

She is the daughter of Prof. and
M. L. Gehr.

Dorothy Lynn Clarson also ar-vived at the hospital September 2. Prof. andMrs.
Ruth Clarson are the parents of the baby girl, who weighed 8 pounds and 4 ounces at birth.

The faculty and student body wish to extend their sympathy to Fred Heine whose mother passed away this summer.

THE PRESIDENT SAYS ... Central Calls
September is here. It came in crisp and cool and, with a su-denness which was almost startling, you realized that summer was past and September was here. The feeling that we all so anxiously anticipated in June is history now. The students went several weeks when the exams were over. Some could not wait even for the commencement and were already out of school.

There is the memory of happy hours spent with the gang in the dorm or the campus cupboard; the interesting and intriguing discussions in the classroom; the days when we pondered over the questions we had not thought of before; the kids in the vacant lot with the football ball and the others in the bandstand with the football band and the honor squad that will already be practicing for the first game. We wonder what Bill and Mary did all summer and if, perhaps, the professors may have motived a bit with age. As the autumn wind blows through the trees and the leaves rustle restlessly, there is a restfulness born within which will not allow us to stop again turns toward Central.

The call of Central extends for wide and students are gathering from nearby and far away. They will be here from Jerusalem and Brazil; from Africa and Hawaii, as well as from states across our entire continent. For some the experience will be entirely new.

New surroundings, new people, new changes, new procedures, but soon they will all be as much a part of the whole as the frills of the friendship which is so characteristic here.

We are all anxious to hear the voice of the call. It is the nearly all of last year's students' back, and we extend a hearty welcome to this fine looking class of freshmen. It looks like a good year ahead. Such a fine confusion of registration and new students will be over, and we will be settled happily into the routine of another year in Indiana Central. Let's all do our part to make it the biggest and certainty that Central has over had.

The Chapel Trio Is Family Affair

Move-outs—watch that curved envelope, stop and get some aspirin—look seat driving—how far do we have left? These are an example of the explanations that Russell Costa hosted every morning this summer. He is a part of the family—Russell Costa and the I. C. C. Girl's Trio.

The trio is composed of Anna Hilt, alias, Barbara Hold, contralto, and Gertrude Fields, sop-nrano. Frida Myers was the accompanist. They traveled five weeks starting June 4 and ended July 16. They made stops in Indiana and Kentucky, but most of their time was spent in Indiana and Kentucky, and the churches in that area.

Russell Costa from Sterling, III., was the driver of the car and the entire family went in the big happy group. (What is it like traveling with five women for six weeks, Russ?) The kids had nicknames for their family—

Alumni Luncheon

The annual Indiana Central Alumni Luncheon will be held at the time of the State Teachers Association, will be served this year in the Gold Room of the Hotel Washington 2121, College Bldg., October 25. As I have, gone, this is the time to serve the luncheon- lunch

Grandmother Hilt, Father Costa, Mother Myers, Baby Trudy and Aunt Annie Hilt. "The Boys"—The Rev. Clarsons—was later christened

Saturday.
STUDENT SCOOPS SUMMER SCHOOL:
PICNIC HELD AT NOBELVILLE

What is summer school like? The next time it seems to you that your summer class is dull, remember that you are not the only one who feels that way. Just imagine that class was on hour and fifteen minutes long. That the temperature approximated the NO. 3 smelting over the years. For that is chemistry in the classroom. Teaching is in the classroom. Teaching is in the classroom. Teaching is in the classroom. Teaching is in the classroom.

Cupids Column

Hi ya, guys and gals: Look what happened to Mr. Cupid and his starts this summer. Seems he has always been one of the popular, since the while of the rest of us were taking a powerful vacation.

To start Cupid's day-hoy, Ger- chie Chancellor and Woody McBride were married in New York. They are living in the children's barracks. Bill Fisher and Ruth Ellen Davis were married in Yosemite. June 5 and now live in a easy little trailer on Castle Avenue. June 12 and now live in a easy little trailer on Castle Avenue. June 12 saw the marriage of Jane Turley and Roy Schock. Jr. June 5 and now live in a easy little trailer on Castle Avenue.

To keep Cupid working over- time, there were nine engagements during the summer months. June saw the engagement of Ada and John. There were eleven engagements. John and Edith Mendekes, who were married on September 4 at North Manchester. Don is coaching at a boys' school in Chattooga, Tenn.

Involved in Football

By Don Weed

Two weeks before school opened, Coach Niesen gave the call to action and lettered 32 men to make a lively squad for 1949-50. Reporting were twenty-one new squad members. What is good football? What makes a football team weak or strong? How does a fellow know he's good in football? These questions are thrown among coaches, officials, newsmen, and fans, but very few who are intimately connected with the game know the answers to these questions. No. 58.

Re: Hoosier Conference

By Bryant Soper

The name "Hoosier College Conference" or where will Central College be located is often talked about.

Indiana Central College along with Anderson, Earlham, Franklin, Hanover, Manchester, Rose Poly, and Taylor form the conference. To become a member the schools must participate in football, basketball, baseball, and track. The conference also has an annual cross-country run and tennis and golf meet. The championships in football, basketball, and baseball are decided on by votes. For example: team A beats team B, team C beats team A, while team D, cross-country, golf, and tennis champions are decided on by a point system.

The championship in each sport is awarded a trophy and an invitation to the team to the conference gathering the most points during the year. "Points" are accumulated from scored victories against basketball, track, and baseball: first, 24 points; second, 20 points; third, 18; fourth, 16; fifth, 14; sixth, 9; seventh, and eighth, 6. Tennis, golf, and conference basketball is decided on by having the top team getting 9 points and each place decrementing 1 point.

Indiana Central capped the basketball and baseball championships last season. The Greyhounds will again make the attempt to win the conference this year. The Hoosier Conference won the over-all trophy.
