Enrollment Up Despite Earlier Predictions

Administration Pleased with Increase in Student Body

Despite fear on the part of many colleges and universities that enrollment for this fall term would be down, American youth have flocked to the ivy covered halls all over the country and in many instances have exceeded the enrollment figures set by college university officials. Such is the case at I.C.C. Enrollment for the fall term far exceeded the expectations of the administration.

A total of 355 students are now officially registered. Such enrollment nearly doubles that of the feminine students with 224 men and 131 women now attending classes.

The campus student percentage has increased over last year’s figure of approximately 40%. This year 145 students from Indianapolis and Marion County are enrolled at Central. This is a decided increase from the 99 of last year’s enrollment. It is of interest that about 98% of the camp’s enrollment has jumped from approximately 17% to the present figure.

The campus welcomed 116 new students. A number of these were transfer students. Thirteen states are represented as well as at least three foreign countries.

Students four thirty diminutions are present on campus with the Evangelical United Brethren taking the membership lead with 117 students.

Despite world tension, this promises to be a bigger and better year for Indiana Central College.

I.C.C.’s NEW PEP TEAM WARMS UP

Yell leaders for the coming sports season were elected by the student body after tryouts during the past week.

Bob Miller, senior; Minis Antionopolis; Mary Glazier and Carolynn Bennett, freshmen were chosen.

Minis a second year student at I.C.C. is from Greece now living here in this country.

Here's hoping the new crew can really make the fans at our athletic events.

Mary Harrell: “I found the freshman orientation days very helpful. They were kept just full enough to prevent any home- sickness as well as doing a lot of explaining for us freshmen.”

Victor Hill: “The orientation program for freshmen was very impressive and gave us historic knowledge of I.C.C. as well as bridging the gap between high school and college days, with its suggestions and helpful hints.”

Jim Duncan: “Orientation helps me realize what your duties are at a freshman. It makes you realize what your purpose is at Indiana Central College. You meet new friends. It gives you a general outline of what objectives you want to accomplish. I think it is a good opportunity to relieve all the first year student worries and frets about college.”

College just wouldn’t be college without its sports. We all love them. Some of us participate in them, and there are some of us who just enjoy them from the side lines. Whatever it may be, we all agree that they are good for us. And, on Indiana Central’s campus the followers, alone, don’t take the spotlight. No stare, the girls are given equal opportunities. For those of you who enjoy basketball, the Whippets are coached by a good chap, who is a good coach and a super conductor of speech, fresh man English, and physical education. The gem of the Whippets is that they kill and their trips to other colleges and universities are as breathtaking as they are exciting. Basketball doesn’t appeal to you, there is always the W. A. A. This is composed of the girls of the college and it sponsors many kinds of intercollegiate sports throughout the season. The most popular of these sports is volleyball, and the badminton tourney. The girls, who so often are out and about for you what fun we can have, are most interested in watching the volleyball on our next Wednesday night as we start the season out with field hockey.

Day of Prayer Set for Oct. 4

October 4 has been set aside in the community and on the campus as a day of prayer. The S.C.A. in co-operation with the W.S.W.S. group of the University Heights K.B.B. church are planning a complete program for a day of prayer. A prayer service at 6:45 a.m. will open the day’s worship. This service will be led by the Religious Life Committee of S.C.A. The W.S.W.S. will close the day’s proceedings with another prayer service at 7 p.m. During the day the two groups will serve with other groups. The church will be open all day for student and community use.

Rings and Rattles

Poor little Cupid must be resting his wings after the strenuous day’s work he has given him. Many more marriages and engagements took place this summer; but since space will not permit, we’ll save them for future issues.

Pure bedlam must have reigned in Fort Wayne the week of June 30th. It is said that at this time that many of our most prominent citizens invaded the vicinity of 1118 Liberty Street to avoid the marriage of Alver Baldwin (20) to Dave Shaw (23). Among those participating in the wedding festivities were Joe Clark, Rev. Mrs. Dick, Don Ray, Arnold Spilly, Joanne Baldwin, and Dr. Robert Cramer. By now things seem to have returned to normal and the happy couple is at home in the Barcacks while Dave attends school here at J.C.C.

One more eligible bachelor, whom we all thought might have had his bow to the bow, is now engaged. Miss Mary Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Robinson, Rosella Robbo. Due to housing conditions, her and Mrs. Bartman, went out as a couple, but then they found the Proctorville, Ohio neighborhood a fine way to start off married life.

Paul Baisenman must be expecting a prolonged illness. He hired the track at Northeastern for this summer free of charge. The new Mrs. Baisenman was Miss Mary Toner.

Both June Vanatta (23) and Mary Smith (23) have been chosen as a central with stars in their eyes and rings on their fingers. June got her ring in the first week of summer, while Mary was given hers by Uncle Bob on the 15th of July. Bob is assistant coach at Northeastern. Bill is serving with Uncle Bob in the Army, but he plans for the future have been made, although June suspects she will be getting married before the end of the summer. Warren Keyser (34), or "Do" to most of you, sealed his bargain with Doris before school started, which means one less cute blond in the social hour. Doris is back at school; while "Do" is working. They also have no definite plans for the future.

Another eligible bachelor will fall by the wayside on November 13. Warren Forrest is the knot. The future Mrs. Parris is from a small town in the southern school. Her name—Cita Dier. Here’s hoping Forrest stays with her until she can get down on her knees and say, "Oh, I want to be around your gym floor.

The Carlson Schuster (34) Bob McKinney (31) wedding takes place Saturday, September 18th at 3:30 p.m. in the Brookside R.C. Church. Bob, who has been Carlson completing his senior year while at the same time scoring high marks and a happy future to both.

Before closing we’d like to pass on a word of advice. A young man with the initials of Jerry Spiller recently put a diamond on the finger of a Central summer student. For further information, ask Jerry.

The Editor Says...

A serious threat to the health and welfare of our servicemen overseas and our people at home faces the American family today. This is the acute shortage of whole blood and blood plasma.

The Red Cross and blood banks all over the country are crying for blood because they realize how dangerously low their supplies are.

Now the big problem is supplying our armed forces. Plasma and whole blood are urgently needed on the front lines.

Now would be an excellent time for all of Central’s ablebodied students to give a pint of blood to show their appreciation for the tremendous job that our armed forces are doing and so we can still attend classes.

Many of our former students are now serving Uncle Sam. It might be one of them that will owe his life to you because of your blood donation.

It’s a protection too on the home front. It’s painless and painless. Don’t hesitate, do it today.

Homecoming is a wonderful way to celebrate the occasion of being a young lady who is chosen to reign as its queen. Just ask Jeannie Denenberg, the junior class representative and she herself regards it as her most thrilling experience since she started here at J.C.C.

Our Coed of the Month is a 3rd Junior whose present life goal seems to be to continue her education.

This may even be, new, as many of us know, that Jeannie for the full two years she’s been at Central, for Jeannie has changed, her, very good, goal is something that has been at risk during the course of a year. At various times this goal has been to aspire to be a Sociology Major, a high school teacher, a grade school teacher, and now finally she wants to pursue a career in Public Relations.

Jeannie lives in Dayton, Ohio, has lived here in Indianapolis mostly of her life. She at Central beginning her journey into Central in 1947. Just recently she has returned to the state of the crime, Dayton, when her father, Bishop Dennis, was transferred to the same post in the E.U.B. Church. Jeannie has been active in many organizations here, among them the Choir, Philhellenic, and many others. Last year she served as Secretary of the Sophomore Class.

For the interest of our male readers, Jeannie is either married, engaged, or going steady. She likes all sports, particularly baseball and basketball. She enjoys music, dramatics, swimming, and handcrafts. But, beware, fellows, yes, he’s come back to us this year, and as the newly elected President of the O.T.M. Association, this year promises to be one of the greatest ever.

The ED and Coed of the Month

After spending at Indiana Central he really gave the basketball fans an eyeful with his playing. It hurt, but when he did return he was reinstated at the Armed Service in 1950, but now he’s back here again: with us.

A Physical Education major, it is not difficult to see why he was so popular, both on and off the courts. Basketball, around athletics, particularly basketball and baseball.

Jerry sincere, but this handsome basketball player is sort of a shining star already—been enjoying married life for two years now.

A member of the F. A. T. W. (Womens Fins to the Wartime) coaching and teaching high school his career.

I guess the best way we can put our feelings into words is to say, "Welcome back, Woody!"

She doesn’t like comics or horror, and she doesn’t like too much watermelon makes her sick.

All things told, our Coed of the Month, Jeannie Denenberg, is an all-around gal. Just ask anyone at Central. Incidentally, we’re glad you decided to come back this year.

The President Says...

The Thrill of September

In spite of all of its unparalleled beauty September, which usher in the fall season, is generally regarded as a sad and somber month. There is supposed to be an air of sadness associated with the ending of summer and the prospect of winter. But here at Indiana Central, the thrill of September in such fashion are more than just acquainted with life on a college campus. There is no more gay thrill and living place in all the world than Indiana Central is in September, for it is the world’s finest young people gather every year. They bring with them all of their natural gaiety, carelessness and enthusiastic naiveté. The melancholy noise of the clock on the landing is not heard for the sound of youthful feet and the air is very charged with activity. Those who have been here before have as many experiences to share. Much has happened in three months and everyone seems to have taken all up on these events. The college campus will be able to give us those things which are past for these young people have their eyes on the future, they are new class of people and any building will be put in a holiday mood. Everything seems to come to life in a day.

Frequently we hear pessimists bemoan the degeneracy of our age. They repeat in deep-toned solemnity the question which has been repeated with each generation since man was first conscious of himself. What is it that we are doing? They point to many incidents to prove their conviction that the entire world is rapidly going to the dogs. But surely there is no reason why one should have less fun in college in September than at any other time. We have been here for a college campus in September. Such an experience is a real tonic. In June we parted with a choice group of graduates who can never repeat and found that one we couldn’t help but wonder who, if anyone, would be able to take, higher classes, and if their going would leave behind a vacant place and indeed it did. But then September came, to the campus. New faces, eager, intelligent and enthusiastic, came to fill the lost in this world. With pride they donned their "Green Beanies" and said to the Sophomores, "Move up a notch; this is our place. And so the rounds are rolled and the life and campus organization moves ahead as a new school year begins. Last year is not forgotten but this year is being lived with enthusiasm. September brings a thrill on the college campus. It is the thrill of dynamic, purposeful living. The thrill of a consciousness that a man’s life does not consist in the abstractions of worldly life but in those spiritual qualities which force him to seek and strive for truth and nobility. In all the history of the world there never before has been a day when more students are in the lives of young people than they are today. And there’s no reason why they should not visit our campus in September. It’s a real thrill.
Grad relive College Days

This is my story. For three hundred sixty-four days of the year I’m a student, hidden from the moping, long-haired gallow of the crowd, but on this day of days it is my turn to come into the foreground. All other days I exist but today I live and drink again from the cup of life filled to the brim and overflowing. This is the best day of my life, I am a Dr. with academic robes and hurry to the campus of minute of this day. I anxiously await the arrival of the first cord of Grads, and in their liquor black Buick drives to a halt before the administration building, I step back and listen with pride as these old grads review the progress that the school has made in such a short time. Oh, yes, I just recognized the couple. Why’s that the man is an old classmate of mine who I haven’t seen for several years, and he was in hand in hand down those same paths back in—well, let’s see—but that was too many years ago to even think. John’s flat is where he now, but just as weasely as ever, and Mary is the same sweet girl who walked with him, except for that time that she stepped out with Tom. Ah, yes, those were good times.

Hey, if I don’t get a huddle-on, I’m going to be late for this big event. I can see, from the crowd picture, my way to Destiny Hall from here on my right. A rather rath of the battle of brawn and brain. As I settle myself in the midst of the crowd and find a few and a hunk of the crowd as the pigskin flies through the air for the kickoff and the team begins its fight for time and points. They’re really knocking themselves out today and just think, they’re doing this just for me. They’re doing this just for us, the huddle-fight—pally—score and there’s the whistle for the end of the first half. I find myself sitting on the edge of my seat, as I have only a couple of inches less than I had at the beginning of the game. What am I doing sitting here? I should be out there where they’re lining up the foos. My big moment is approaching. I’m just as nervous as the girls are. When I think about the times that I have walked up the dias to the throne on one side of the queen and the president of the I.C. Association on the other, it seems silly to still get all worked up over it after year. It still offers me the same thrill it always did though. Now he’s playing the center and we have a new queen! Long live her majesty the queen! But the ball is down and the huddle is on, the band is playing and on the field come the foos, the stretched out foos to the judges. The judges are reviewing the foos as they pass by and are eagerly watching for my O.K.
Central Clashes With Grizzlies
In Homecoming Highlight

September 23 — The Indiana Central Greyhounds, successfully opened their I.C.C. campaign with a 14-7 triumph over the Taylor Trojans. This was sweet re-venge for a 19-6 lacing I.C.C. absorbed from Marion last year.

Taylor hit pay dirt first, scoring on a pass play in the second quarter. Don Granitz intercepted one of Bob Woods passes on Central's 40 yard line and returned it to the 21. After two unsuccessful ground plays, Granitz hit Joe Hawkins with a tailback for the second quarter touchdown. After this, the Greyhounds had the ball, they threatening to go all the way. Taylor 2, Central 7.

Taylor then carried over right tackle for 23 yards, on three successive running plays. Millerbrook, Shaw, and John Preston drove down to Taylor's 5 yard line.

Shaw then carried right tackle for the score. Abe Curtis converted, and the score was tied, 7-7.

Less than a minute later, Dean Hansberg intercepted a Granitz pass and with excellent blocking sped to the 2 yard line before being hauled down.

After a five yard penalty for off-side, Billy Crowe swept around right end for the last remaining yards and the touchdown. Carter again converted, and I.C.C led 14-7. It proved to be the last scoring as neither team threatened seriously again.

Actually the score doesn't show the superiority of Central's offense machine.

They outplayed Taylor 250 yards to 35 yards, and had a 12-5 edge in first downs. Everytime the Greyhounds had the ball, they threatened to go all the way. Taylor had a little better mark in passing. Granitz attempted 25 and connected on 13, good for 140 yards in gains. Woods attempted 31 and hit on 5 for 103 yards.

Outstanding for Central were Shaw, Crowe, Woods, and the offense and defense lines.

Shaw and Crowe averaged nearly seven yards a run for each. And Woods averaged nearly five yards on his running and passing.

The offensive line displayed some fancy blocking and teamwork in breaking loose runners into the secondary. Time and line again tore big holes in the middle of Taylor's line, enabling our backfield to pile up yardage.

The defense line also played a heavy role in stopping some very unorthodox Taylor offenses.

Considering that was the first game of the season for the Greyhounds, and it was the first taste of college, for some of the new members, it was a well played game for Central.

Old Men: Prove Tough Competition For Varsity Squad
Our football team may come up against faster and better conditioned teams, but they won't meet a heavier or more spirited team than the Alumni, who provided the first opposition for the varsity. The varsity soon found that they had all they could handle.

Bob Woods, quarterback for the varsity, proved to be the difference between the two squads as he set the tempo for the Alumni to defeat the "old men" 14 to 6.

A 22 yard pass from Woods to Walt Stahlhut brought the ball to the Alumni's 30. After a ground play failed, Woods faked an end run and hit John Preston in the end zone for the varsity's first tally. Jim Duncan converted on his third attempt after two Alumni offsides penalties.

The Alumni lost no time in getting back into the game with a 63 yard drive at the start of the third quarter. Halfback Bill Clark covered 35 yards on a sweep around left end to set up the touchdown plunge by Marion Ducker.

― A 30 yard pass from Woods to freshman end Willis Oldham brought the Varsity their final tally. Oldham also converted.

"The Alumni this year, again, but the game ended with Burleson being stopped on the Varsity's 15 after receiving a 20 yard pass from Bill Friedenberger.

"Plans are being made to make the Alumni game an annual af-fair. Members of the Alumni team, who also included ex-students were: Harold Schulte, 50; Jack Owens, ex-53; Chick La-Russa, 50; Stan Klos, 50; Henry Marlin; 51; Roy Turley, 50; Fred and Alvin Oldham; 46; Vern Chandler, 51; Bill Friedenberger, 49; Paul Eicher, 50; Chick Dill, 50; Bob Whelier, ex-53; Bill for two years, Bur-leson, 52; Jim Harvey, ex-52; and Alano Niedenius, 47.
