Flash!!

The Central Club is sponsoring Frost-Thompson, the winter dance, tonight at the Columbia Club. The Barnes-Rosecrans Orchestra will provide music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the 10th floor ballroom. The cost is $3 per couple.

---

Odetta To Perform For Series

Odetta has captivated audiences in night clubs all across the country. From the “Hoboes” in San Francisco to New York’s “Blue Angel,” in the capitals of Western Europe, in which she has frequently returned by demand, she has conquered the barriers of language and cultural background as she has entertained her audiences.

Odetta has a unique interpretive style. While singing, she weaves her voice around the words of the songs. In the second half, she will return to her original work published in a literary magazine.

---

Evening Division To Offer Course In Salesmanship

A course in salesmanship will be offered by the Evening Division of Indiana Central College’s Art &” a part of its spring semester classes. The courses in being presented in cooperation with the Sales and Marketing Executives of Indianapolis Inc., which will provide books, tutoring, and the 10th floor ballroom. The fee is $3 per person.

---

Kolitschew Elected Physics Chairman Of Science Academy

Dr. Marvin Kallins, 41, new physics chairman of Indiana Central College, was elected chairman of the physics section of the Indiana Academy of Science at its winter meeting.

---

ICC Extends Win Streak

The girl is slumped in her chair. Adult friends call them “Young Joyce Brittenham and Carol Turley. And “Future leaders of America.” And “Future leaders of America.”

---

Freshmen Elect Stone President

Denise Stone of Terre Haute, Ind., has been elected president of the freshman class of Indiana Central College. Chosen with him were Dennis Streeter, Kewanee, Ill., vice-president; Mike Nieman, Urbana, Ill., secretary; Robert Goto, Indianapolis, Ind., treasurer; and John Alford, Marion, Ind., campus representative for the Freshmen Class of 1963-64.

---

Greyhounds Crush Franklin Five For 8th Straight Victory

Indiana Central’s Greyhounds outreihn Franklin Jan. 7, 65-43, to extend their win streak to 8 games and go into the Hoosier College Conference. The win was the Greyhounds’ first over Franklin after two wins. Central is 2-0 in league play and 11-3 overall.

---

IC Extends Win Streak

The girl is slumped in her chair. He is asleep. She is a big girl. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college students. She is a college student. They are college student.
Anthony Answers

Are ICC Student Needs Being Met?

Dear Tom:

Tonight I was talking to a freshman girl. She is definitely not one of the guys. She is very neat in dress, appearance, etc. I asked her how she makes ends meet.

Her answer was:

"I like It. Well, I want to live like a normal person and not have to worry about whether or not I can make up my mind. My parents are both working and I have to do some things so that I can make some money..."

I then asked her how she felt about her social life.

"I live in high and I have a school that I don't want to go to. I don't seem to have anything.

"Oh, I like the students, but I've got to be here in this dump on Saturday nights...

I think we should have more dances and social events.

"Oh, yes. I want an education. I know ICC is rated very high specifically, but I want something more.

Tom, this hurts me. I'm not kidding. I've heard this so many times. On our campus they all say the same thing. This school is lousy. These kids are kept from transferring to another school. I know many girls and boys who have done the same thing and for the same reasons. No matter how many students there are in their high schools and they could be the leaders in their colleges, yet their education is lousy. We need this kind of element to plan and lead at Central. They are needed to be leaders and not just followers. I'm just starting. Fill your pipe and go back to your study to make something of yourself.

Why are we losing them? This school is dead. I mean dead on the wooden floor. The students who stay here for prayer meetings and hymn singing, etc. are not candidates for school. We plan here most of the time. I would like to commend you and Bob Durbin on some of your work. It is a start, but you need help. I know the kind you are getting is not the kind they should be. We need to find out why many of our students have gotten into trouble about drinking. What clubs, etc. are they joining? How are they planning, publicity, and an apathetic attitude. Many of our students are "duds."

They don't know how to have a good time.

They don't dance, date or do anything else besides learning. I don't feel that they should try to teach these students. Their needs are being met. Many of them are our planners and leaders. No wonder our social program stinks.

Anthony

Dated: Jan. 22

Reflection

In lieue of an editorial in this issue, we offer this article from the Manchester College newspaper, Spectator, as food for thought about the current situation.

A new breath, a new cry, a new life, a new consciousness—each entered the world simultaneously as a part of Jack, but the most precious of Nature's gifts was consciousness. This was the only gift Jack ever gave to anyone. He knew how to preserve the beauty and uniqueness of his self. So Jack decided to put his gift in a box where the world could not reach it easily. This was the box that protected the gift that was to be the maze that Jack was to build.

Jack felt so relieved when his gift was safely encased that he began to consider further security from the threat of his gift. So Jack took stone and put it on the bottom of walls around the box. The walls formed many purposeless halls with darkly-colored windows and false bottoms. He placed over his wonderful gift, which was now pitifully twisted, distorted, broken, a constant stream of blood from every part of their tortured, maimed bodies. Of course, this was not the end. The war had only just begun.

Dated: Jan. 18

On Politics

By SEYMOUR MADPEL

It is Hungry, 1964; the bloody revolt for freedom has nearly expired. The Russians have defeated the Hungarian rebels near Budapest; they are met by rills, stones and Molotov cocktails. They are met with the same determined people, willing to die for freedom. In every country there is a people who are fighting the enemy. Some have no real weapons. They use stones to pelt the enemy troops, or clubs against the enemy's bayonets and bullets. Most fall, and many die; but they do not give up. They continue, they are hit again and again. And the enemy, the hate-filled, determined, sick men; men condemned to be by the enemy, the hate-filled, determined, sick men; men who are always to fight for freedom because we want to.

They have suffered enough under the government devoured by man's nature.

Old men, barely able to walk, are under the gun. They return to Budapest, are shot by the police. Women fight beside their husbands or fathers; they return to Budapest, are shot by the police. Children fight beside the tannin, the machine guns; men, women, children die of starvation for freedom because they want to.

It is over. But the blood bath continues. The Hungarians who did not fall before the onslaught faced the firing squad. They are the 30,000 Hungarians of all ages and both sexes crammed in agony as the Hungarians were crammed in prison under the worst imaginable conditions.

Seven prisoners escaped; seven prisoners were shot. The other prisoners are in complete despair. They were cut in half during the period before the escapes were repressed. The Hungarians have hit the nail on the head. The rebels are preparing to reorganize. Those who did not fall continue to fight. They continue to fight because we are fighting for our freedom. We are fighting for freedom because we want to. So we fight on, as we have fought through the ages, to make our will prevail.

One thing we must remember is that the fact of an institution of higher learning is education. However, there must be some type of social program. You have hit the nail on the head when you speak of the dead weekend. The Central Council, through Inter-Club, has prepared the best schedule we have ever had, but this is not enough.

I agree. We are losing many students who are capable of becoming leaders, but they are not going into planning, publicity, and an apathetic attitude. Many of our students are "duds."

They don't know how to have a good time.

They don't dance, date or do anything else besides learning. I don't feel that they should try to teach these students. Their needs are being met. Many of them are our planners and leaders. No wonder our social program stinks.

Anthony

Perhaps this is why so many of our students have gotten into trouble about drinking. What clubs, etc. are they joining? How are they planning, publicity, and an apathetic attitude. Many of our students are "duds."

One thing we must remember is that the fact of an institution of higher learning is education. However, there must be some type of social program. You have hit the nail on the head when you speak of the dead weekend. The Central Council, through Inter-Club, has prepared the best schedule we have ever had, but this is not enough.

I agree. We are losing many students who are capable of becoming leaders, but they are not going into planning, publicity, and an apathetic attitude. Many of our students are "duds."

They don't know how to have a good time.

They don't dance, date or do anything else besides learning. I don't feel that they should try to teach these students. Their needs are being met. Many of them are our planners and leaders. No wonder our social program stinks.

Anthony

Dated: Jan. 18

Reflection

In lieue of an editorial in this issue, we offer this article from the Manchester College newspaper, Spectator, as food for thought about the current situation.

A new breath, a new cry, a new life, a new consciousness—each entered the world simultaneously as a part of Jack, but the most precious of Nature's gifts was consciousness. This was the only gift Jack ever gave to anyone. He knew how to preserve the beauty and uniqueness of his self. So Jack decided to put his gift in a box where the world could not reach it easily. This was the box that protected the gift that was to be the maze that Jack was to build.

Jack felt so relieved when his gift was safely encased that he began to consider further security from the threat of his gift. So Jack took stone and put it on the bottom of walls around the box. The walls formed many purposeless halls with darkly-colored windows and false bottoms. He placed over his wonderful gift, which was now pitifully twisted, distorted, broken, a constant stream of blood from every part of their tortured, maimed bodies. Of course, this was not the end. The war had only just begun.
Honesty Abe

By JERRY DEARTH

Let's face it. We play almost every day. It's called "judge our fellow humans." You and I have arrived at this current time in history and you are to give a verdict of guilty or not guilty. It's 7-0. We have a decision. At the Muskegon Central High School's basketball players parents' meeting on December 17th the "Hurrying Hounds" pouted their third straight defeat by nerding the ICMC 42-35.

Pains, wrestling at 123 for the boy team and 115 for the girls, lost 21-35 in the second period. Steve McRae moved up to the 190-pound class and won by a 7-0 decision. Moore leading 4-0, Girard, second period. Moore got his 1000th win in the second period. Steve McRae won by a 10-2 decision in the 178-pound class. Barnes, wrestling at 191, suffered a red card (technical.) When he was pinned in the second period, Lynott won a close decision 4-2 in the 171-pound class.

Central's rugged crew will travel to St. Joseph's tomorrow in an attempt to win their fourth straight match.

Jack and the Giant Retold by ICC

Central played the role of good kids who don't want to win. The University of Nebraska-Omaha's 66-59 over in overtime, Dec. 14, at Louisiana.

If there is any lesson to be learned from this victory even more impelling for Central students is the lesson of the Northeastern Iowa Mental Retardation area. Troy might seem to emphasize sports this year, but It doesn't matter. It does-
REFLECTOR

Could Universe Be In Steady-State?

By JOHN HOUGHLIN

This week we will conclude our study of the steady-state hypothesis with a discussion of the evidence that supports or opposes it.

The study of a steady-state universe was introduced by a group of astronomers at the University of Cambridge in 1936. The most prominent spokesman for the steady-state hypothesis is the University's Professor of Theoretical Physics, Sir Fred Hoyle. The steady-state hypothesis holds that the universe is expanding and that galaxies are formed by the continuous creation of matter. This leads to a number of conclusions. For example, the universe had no beginning and is infinitely old, and the density of matter is constant throughout space.

These conclusions have been challenged by other astronomers, including the late President John F. Kennedy, who said that such busy professional life is rounded off by his love of the arts. Hamill has recently developed a new theory about the origins of the universe. He believes that the universe was once very small and that it expanded rapidly in the first few moments of its existence. This theory is called the Big Bang theory.

In concrete terms the Central Council is seeking to realize this higher image of itself through its current activities. These include both immediate and long range events. On the immediate level we are establishing a basketball team and an exchange with Anderson College (game time is Jan. 30) and moving to the new building and we are taking an active concern in the campus development program. On the long range level we have decided to begin printing a weekly "Campus News and Views" publication announcing forthcoming events and have direct student representation on the Campus Development Committee. (Tom Anthony was elected to be the representative of the council and to promote more student participation in the meetings of the Central Council and its committees.) We ask you to apply to our work with your cooperation.

Chapel and Convocation

Critic's Corner

"Romanoff" Good Entertainment

By DEANNA BAUMER

The performance of Peter Ustinov's "Romanoff and Juliet" gave us a revealing glimpse into the world of the Russian nobility. The dialogue was sharp and witty, and the acting was excellent. The play is set in the 16th century and is about the political intrigue surrounding the Romanov dynasty. The lead characters were played by George C. Scott and Delfina Cordero. The production was directed by Tony Richardson.

The play, although primarily a comedy, has a number of serious themes. The Romanov dynasty was a family of power and wealth, and the play explores the conflicts that arise within such a family. The lead characters are played by Bob Denby, as the American ambassador and Dick Evans, as his wife, who were not very convincing. In addition, the play was somewhat long and the pace was slow. However, the acting was excellent and the production was well done. Overall, it was an entertaining play and I would recommend it to anyone who enjoys history and drama.

Anthony Answers

(Continued from Page 3)

The last edition of the Reflector is the final letter to the editor. This is more than it contained all last year's space estimates. The students have decided their friends are not the ones to express their opinions to. They might have decided that to get things done they must do something. I hope so.