Welcome Aboard!

September and school have an uncanny way of turning up almost simultaneously every year in this land of the free and home of the brave. This is a fact which makes some people question both their bravery and their freedom. But the time has come again here at Central so, ready or not, you shall be caught. Welcome Aboard! We hope that everyone will sail smoothly through the school year ahead. Notice that we didn’t say sail easily. We do not expect it to be too easy, nor do we want it to be.

Things that are worthwhile require effort. The making of an honest effort toward the achievement of a goal is the finest kind of exercise in which one can engage. It is a real thrill and challenge.

For the returning students there will be the reunions with other students and with faculty members. There will be exploratory excursions to see what has happened to the old Administration Building and the new Schweitzer Center since June. There also will be the falling into the generally familiar routines of daily schedules.

For our freshmen, here for the first time as student citizens, the entire package will be new and different. But these kinds of new experiences give a real zest to life. We are glad that each one of you came, and we will do our best to make the sailing smooth. You will soon find that Central is really a great institution in spite of anything the sophomores may say or do!

We expect 1965-66 to be the finest year that Indiana Central has ever had. It certainly should be because it will be built on the foundation of all the 60 years that have preceded it. Let us pledge to each other our very best in all of our endeavors so that the experiences of this year in learning, in fellowship, and in loyalty shall be richly rewarding for all.

L. LYND ESCH, President
