Fun, Festivities Fill Homecoming Weekend

"Happiness is . . ." will be the theme for the festivities of Homecoming. This year, it includes the football game with Central College, decorations on campus, and the Homecoming Dance Saturday evening.

Karen Bertels, Constance Dorville, Debbie Media, Loolia C., and Barbara Singer are members of the Homecoming Court this year, and one of them will be crowned queen at the ball game Saturday evening.

Karen Bertels is a junior majoring in elementary education. She graduated from Manual High School in Indianapolis and is a member of the Student Education Association. Karen lives in Kranert Hall.

Also a graduate of Manual High School is Virginia Chandler, a business education major. She is a commuting student and works part-time as a student assistant in the business department. Connie is secretary of the senior class and was Central Council secretary for the school year 1965-66.

Debbie Meding graduated from New Palestine High School. She is a sophomore majoring in business education and lives in Kranert Hall and is a member of S.E.A. and Alpha Phi Omega.

Also a sophomore, Lucila Sauer graduated from Mount Healthy High School in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is an elementary education major and lives in Kranert Hall. Lucila is a member of S.E.A. and Alpha Phi Omega.

Barbara Singer is a nursing student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Singer of Indianapolis. Barbara, a junior, graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School for Girls. She also lives in Kranert Hall.

Although there will be no Homecoming parade this year, there will be a competition for decorations as in previous years. Instead of being limited to a particular weekend, organizations will decorate various parts of the campus.

Decorations will be judged in three divisions. One of these is most creative, another is most educational and the other is dormitories. In the dormitory division, the first prize will be $30. Prizes for the competition among organizations will be $50, $30 and $20 respectively. First and second prizes among classes will be $50 and $30.

Jurying of the decorations will take place between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The names of the winners have not yet been announced.

For the first time the Alumni Association and the senior class are co-sponsoring the Homecoming Dance. The dance is open to all students at Indiana Central and alumni of the college. John Ransburg, senior class president, has announced that the Trojan Band will provide the music, and tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis. Tickets may be purchased at the door from Dave Sauer. Tickets will be $1.00 from 8 to 11 o'clock on Saturday night.

S. Hiatt and R. Huey To Represent at Philadelphia

Sarah Hiatt and Richard Huey will fly to Philadelphia Thursday evening. They are one of five students who will be one of ICC publications at the National College Press Association's annual conference this year.

Mr. Leonard Pearson, public relations director for the college and Teddy, his dog, will also attend.

Students from colleges all over the nation will meet to discuss similar problems in the educational field, college newspapers and yearbooks.

Sarah, Rich, and Mr. Pearson will have plenty of sightseeing, and return to Indianapolis with good news.

Sarah, sophomore, is news editor of the Reflector, and Rich, senior, is editor-in-chief of the Gargantua.

Central Exhibits Paluzzi Paintings

Indian Central will be host to an exhibition by Claudio Paluzzi, an Indianapolis artist, during October. From the 3rd to the 21st, Mr. Paluzzi's paintings will be on display, without charge to the public, in the college art gallery.

Although skilled in several media, Mrs. Paluzzi favors ceramic portraits of children and the use of collage techniques. Half of her ceramic paintings have earned her sculpture awards, and she also has been commissioned to do portraits.

The artist, a mother of three daughters, says that it was her own children who gave her the idea of portrait sculptures. She considers children a rich source of subject material.

"Working with children is relaxing therapy when painting reaches a dry spell," stated Mrs. Paluzzi. "And painting is good relaxation when children or daily living gets difficult."

Mrs. Paluzzi attended the John Herron Art School in Indianapolis where she earned her bachelor of fine arts degree. She also spent three years in study at Indiana University.

She has studied painting in Rome, and has had exhibitions at Purdue University, New York, Richmond and Indianapolis.

Did You Know . . .

. . . that there are almost a thousand students on the Indiana Central campus this fall? The dormitory division is overcrowded with 478 women and 490 men. With this overpopulation, the freshman class heads the list with 523 students. Next come the sophomore class, with 488, the juniors with 484, and the seniors with 148. Forty-eight students are yet unclassified. Seventy-two men and women have enrolled in the graduate division.

There are approximately 12.9 students per professor here at ICC.

CENTRALALARE CENTRALAS

One of the most outstanding groups on the Indiana Central campus is the Centralals. This is a group of twelve singers who perform here for the whole body, but also travel to nearby places to entertain and represent ICC.

They will be a big part in the Centralas auditioned. From these auditions they get the most selected personnel. This year's Centralas is made up of the following people: Supranus, a sophomore from Indianapolis Tech majoring in education; Crissi Adams, a junior from Indianapolis Southport majoring in elementary education; Charles A., a freshman from Indiana Central majoring in English; Jimmerson, senior in marketing in psychology; John Littler, a sophomore from Franklin majoring in psychology. The art component for this group is Loojo Verduin, a sophomore from Indiana Central majoring in elementary education. Music only four people from this group are returning from last year: Sue Reddick, Don Crooks, Pat Toder, and Loojo Verduin.

Tie-Top Tragedy

Forty-Two Face Franclic Moments

As They Begin Student Teaching

Forty-two Indiana Central student teachers are getting "on the job training" this semester at various Indianapolis and Marion County public schools. These students whose goals are education after graduation, are asked to fill out a form with first and second choices of teaching field, school, and critical teacher. Indiana Central then manipulates their classes to allow them to use part of mornings or afternoons for practice in teaching.

Student teachers don't just teach. They must first attend orientation meetings, have discussion sessions with their critical teacher, and observe two weeks before they actually take over a class. Then duties such as making lesson plans, grading tests, supervising playgrounds and study halls, attending PTA and faculty meetings become theirs.

Dr. Todd, Director of Student Teaching at Indiana Central College, states the purpose of student teaching as: "to bridge the gap between classroom and theory with the actual act of teaching."

Elementary student teachers for the first semester are: Jane Curby, No. 43; Connie Fennier, No. 65; Jo Ann Fick, Mary McCeland; Ann Gillette, Judith Gillum, Bluff Avenue; Patricia Gunter, No. 65; Patsy Houl, Southport Elementary; Joan Hornbach, No. 20; Guy Jackson, Southport Elementary; Mary Helen Knaus, Moorehead Elementary, Joanna Laindale, Steven Decatur; Lois McArthur, Abraham Lincoln; Kate Perry, No. 43; Judith Scott, No. 72; Marilyn Scott, No. 23; Dorothy Smothergill, Bluff Valley; Ruth Stump, Athens Valley; Carl Tidby, University Heights; Carolyn Watson, No. 65; Brenda Wrobo, Moorehead Elementary; and Esther Williams, No. 15.

Elementary Social studies student teachers are: Maxine Aly, Peru Central; Sandra Armstrong, No. 28; David Reis, No. 54; Marcia See, Southport Elementary; and Maxine Miller, Peru Central; Allen Romund, Franklin Central; Betty Turley, No. 28; Carl Trusty, No. 10; Janie Van, Peru Central; and Betty Van, No. 12.
The Editors Speak

Happiness Is...

H—having Dixie back to help us celebrate.
O—organizing groups to work on decorations.
M—maintaining enthusiasm and spirit at the game.
E—enjoying every event connected with this annual weekend.
C—competing among classes, organizations, and dorms for money prizes.
O—winning a heated pool for an after-the-game swim.

Despite any problems, we are working out as planned, and weather of Indiana and they must be patient. However, another problem that arises. Since Greyhounds are very sensitive animals; that is, they cannot be exposed to the winter weather of Indiana and they must be properly cared for; Dixie must have her doghouse heated or she must be brought into a building during the winter months. Heating the doghouse is not feasible because of the added cost and the difficulty of maintaining a constant temperature in her house; and health regulations prevent moving her into one of the buildings on campus.

Therefore, it was decided that we should have Homecoming Day. To avoid possible problems, we chose a home for her with someone near the college. For this reason, a plea was made to the student body to find a home for her. Thus far, we have had three responses, and they are therefore able to bring our mascot back to school.

But our job is not yet finished. If you are interested in keeping Dixie in your home, please contact the Council. The Council will pay for the cost of expenses and other incidentals which may be incurred during her care. The task will be much easier for everyone if five or six will share in providing a home for our mascot.

Dam That Steady Flow

While many of us people who think we should deal with problems according to the example of Jesus of Nazareth, i.e., "Myth-machers," according to Rev. Davis, realized last spring that we would probably have less moral resistance to any examination that we did not expect to find their incursions in an established coterie.

However, following a chapel presentation which was reasonably valid, Rev. Davis confided to friends that he was not surprised to find that many students had moral resistance to any examination that they did not expect to find. Also, we did not expect to find a miracle condemned in an established coterie.

But our job is not yet finished. If you are interested in keeping Dixie in your home, please contact the Council. The Council will pay for the cost of expenses and other incidentals which may be incurred during her care. The task will be much easier for everyone if five or six will share in providing a home for our mascot.

Finally, then, if we are going to have a mascot, we must effective present her at student activities in order to produce the desired effect of increasing school spirit and enthusiasm. The first opportunity will be Homecoming Day. If any one or any organization has an idea of how to present Dixie, please notify me so that the necessary steps can be taken to realize this idea. I hope you will join me in trying to make Dixie truly our school mascot.

Can It Be Real?

Holy Walt if it isn’t scenes of Disneyland. Buxton Hall is in chaos again this year. Following an organization meeting which ended in a farce, certain events need to be cancelled. Since officers were not elected, there were no secretary. It is not clear who really appointed them, but they were original in many ways. Buxton Hall, traditionally a senior men’s dorm, now has two seniors and two juniors as officers.

Surprisingly two of them were officers of Wilmore last year. It would seem that the "powers that be" simply looked into last year’s Oracle (page 38). Unfortunately not all of last year’s officers from Wilmore were eligible for Buxton. Since one got married and the other still remains in Wilmore, Buxton also has a three-man dorm council (one fro mloor floor). The surmise is that it consists of one senior and two juniors, but that the second and third floor residents have yet to be assigned to the second floor.

We are still on the move. Which way hasn’t been yet determined. It appears that the men of Buxton Hall (average age 20-21) are irresponsible enough to warrant a dorm supervisor in the form of an alumnus doing graduate work.

And friends the waters are still turbulent at Buxton on the Otterbein.

Nonsense Rhyme

Whatever’s good or bad for both must be better than the moon.

There’s grace in either love or hate;

But, O, beware the middle line

That purrs and never shows a tooth!

But, O, beware the middle line

That purrs and never shows a tooth!

That never pulls the lips apart;

But, O, beware the middle line

That purrs and never shows a tooth!

A pinch of fair, a pinch of foul;

And bad and good make best of all;

Beware the smooth ambiguous smile

That never pulls the lips apart;

But, O, beware the middle line

That purrs and never shows a tooth!

Reason’s a rabbit in a hutch

And ecstasy’s a wonder’d ghost;

But, O, beware the nothing-much

And welcome madness and the most!

Testing Service Schedules Exams

Seniors who are preparing to take their college entrance exams may find the following information useful. The exams are offered at the Testing Service on different dates at various locations throughout the United States.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: January 7, March 16, July 1, and October 7, 1967. The testing will be given at nearly 50 locations throughout the United States and Canada.

The results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of the criteria for the selection of new teachers and by several states for certification and licensing of teachers. Some colleges also require all seniors preparing to take these examinations to be on campus during the testing period.

Leaflets indicating school systems and state departments of education which use the examination results are distributed to colleges by the Testing Service.

On each full day of testing, prospective teachers may take the Common Examinations, which measure professional knowledge and general cultural background of teachers, and one of three Special Area Examinations which measure mastery of the subject area of teaching.

Prospective teachers should contact their school systems in which they seek employment, or their college placement office, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which dates they should be taken.

A Bulletin of Information containing a list of test centers, and information about the examinations, as well as a Registration Form, may be obtained from college placement officers, school personnel departments, or directly from the Testing Service, Box 911, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Cheerleaders Create Enthusiasm At Games

September 24 marked the debut of Indiana Central's cheerleaders for the 1966-67 school year. The five members of the P.E.M.M. Club, SEA, and is dance committee co-chairman. After graduation she plans to teach physical education in high school. Angie "loves" cheerleading and feels that if the boys can get on the field and light, at least the remaining students can show that they are behind them by yelling. Angie says that her ideal man is "one who has goals, a good personality, likes sports, has feelings and understands others, and will treat me with respect and kindness. His physical make-up makes no difference."

Nancy Coffman, one of our freshman cheerleaders, attended our Lady of Grace Academy, Indianapolis. She lives with her parents Mr. and Mrs. William Coffman, one brother, Steve, and two sisters, Susie and Cathy. In high school she was in many activities and was treasurer of her Junior Class.

Swimming, camping, ice skating, horseback riding and playing the piano are a few of Nancy's interests. Johnny Mathis is her favorite singer, and The Lettermen is her favorite group.

She is majoring in nursing, and after working as a registered nurse for awhile, she plans to be an airline stewardess. Nancy has been enjoying cheerleading and the "fabulous" school of Indiana Central.

The ideal man to Nancy is "the guy who believes in himself and is honest. He should have goals and try to succeed in life. He should be polite and the kind of guy a girl could be proud of."

Sharon Roberts is another freshman cheerleader. She has lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roberts, and her younger brother, Bill. She has come to Central from Southport High School and is a member of the Tri Hi and Student Council Representative. Her ideal man is an attractive young man who enjoys the lower elementary grades.

Sharon lives at Indiana Central. From the very first day, everyone was so friendly and has made me feel welcome. Central may be a small school but it has the greatest student body."

R. Koech Initiates African Students' Exchange Program

Many are not aware of the educational opportunities for foreign students. A few of these opportunities are the following: Richard Koech, a junior, has started a program which enables students to be placed in over 20 colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Sorority pledges for this African Christian Overseas Study Program inform African students of American academic requirements. Students accepted must meet these requirements and must return to Africa to work.

Richard wants to extend this program by speaking at churches, business clubs and other meetings. He hopes to help almost 100 students next year. It is his desire that both African and American churches will give mission funds to aid this educational program.

Anyone wishing to help Richard should contact the Central Hall or should get in touch with Bob Coleman at Wilmore Hall.

Professor Scott Previews Season

As I'm sure many music lovers know, the Messiah, the Centralia Choir has been preparing and performing this work for many years. It is the only mass group that has performed at the Centralia Choir has been preparing and performing this work for many years. It is the only mass group that has performed at the Messiah each December.

The Centralia Choir has been performing the Messiah each December.

Summer activities made their mark on ICC students and faculty in various ways. However, one of the most noticeable of these is the slightly altered Dr. Nelson. Upon first encountering him in the hall, it is evident that something is definitely changed about him. On closer examination, it is certain that this distinguished, leonine professor, whose trademark was his long, wavy hair, now has a butch.

"How did all this come about?" was the question I asked him of course, but then I'll get to that later. The only thing that one can say about it is that he seems to be most definitely not so much in our aid programs, the music he is playing, and the way his hair is being cut, but more in our responsibility to continue providing for Africa and the need for us to be able to destroy the idea of democracy in action.""
Keep your eye on the 1966-67 REFLECTOR. There are a lot of changes taking place and you probably will not notice them at first.

By next issue the REFLECTOR should have a new masthead. P. R. Brown will be the new publisher. Peter's class is now in the process of design. It is our hope that six designs will be chosen and then two will be used as permanent mastheads. It is really too bad to look at the REFLECTOR's from the past years and realize how long it has taken for them to look as good as they do in the general looks of the paper.

A new feature of the REFLECTOR will be a page which will be dedicated to the memory of Mike Bertram, president of Central Council. We will write a comment about recent happenings on our campus that are of special interest here.

The departments are finally going to have a part in the REFLECTOR. We are asking, beginning next issue, each department to submit articles about the work of departments and administration that would be of general appeal. This should make the paper a campus publication that will bring in a lot of dull uninteresting events. We feel sure that the students, faculty, and administration will cooperate and we are out to prove it this year.

To produce the type of paper that you can be proud of, we need your help. We still need reporters very much. Students are invited to help in making this year's REFLECTOR one that will be a part of your college experience. If you have any suggestions, please give us your comments. If there is something that you would like to see happen in the paper, there is nothing you do like in this issue or any of the followings.

Make the REFLECTOR a means by which you can evaluate the college. Make suggestions or praise. The staff is doing quite a bit of changing in order to make the paper a means of showing you more efficiently how easier to look at, and more complete.

Porter Review Grooves Unique and Authentic

"Great!" "Really unique!" "Tremendous!" These were some of the comments I overheard after the Porter Review Grooves went "on show." The Decline and Fall of the World As We Know It, that I performed in the audience who came to hear some of their old time Cole Porter favorites, was entertaining and outstanding. However, the basic purpose of the show was to acquaint the audience with the Porters of the past whose names are heard numbers. It was indeed refreshing to see a witness of such versatility in talent.

The choreography was exciting and imaginative with just enough variation and style to keep interest alive. The revue included many unique and talented dancers. If you make it, as Professor Lawrence F. Fisher, speaker and dramatist professor, will predict the play. Members of the cast include: Peter Brown—Tom Torer, Hector—Gilbert W. Fuller, Gustave—James F. Harrington, Edgard—William B. Lewis, Lily—Lois Zetter, Downy—Juliette, People's less known.

The "poor boy—rich girl" theme that appeared in Porter's other musicals is played out in Juliette and Gustave's romance. Eva and Juliette are philo-sophical about many things, whereas the news as they show us how "love isn't what you think it is." The Thieves' Carnival concerns the fiddleness of love and the meaning of riches. However, it goes a little beyond the surfaces in places as when Lady Hurl reflects on her wasted life to Eva. "Ah, you finish up like me, an old woman covered in diamonds who plays at intrigues in an effort to forget that she has never lived."

In the play, Anouilh exploits the interplay of the real and the make-believe for comic effect. Peter Brown, Hector, and Gustave, a company of thieves who array themselves in various disguises, mislead the for his acceptance by The United States has been postponed as a result of his work which began after the success of Thieves' Carnival.

In addition, this new diagnostic test is inexpensive. To screen an entire school or university class costs only about one dollar per student. Before the introduction of the new method it would have been almost unheard of for so large a number of students because conventional diagnostic techniques were too expensive and too time consuming.

Deny Students Absentee Ballot

Of the 1,500 students at Indiana colleges and universities who will be eligible for the first time to vote in their election of a representative by voting in the 1966 General Election on November 8, teams of students have found it too difficult to take the time to do the required process for absentee ballots. They will be effectively disfranchised.

In 1965, the Indiana General Assembly passed a package of amendments to the Indiana election laws which, signed into law by the present governor, denies Central students the opportunity the right to vote in the General Election, to vote on issues, to vote on candidates. The result is that "love isn't what you think it is." Thieves' Carnival concerns the fiddleness of love and the meaning of riches. However, it goes a little beyond the surfaces in places as when Lady Hurl reflects on her wasted life to Eva. "Ah, you finish up like me, an old woman covered in diamonds who plays at intrigues in an effort to forget that she has never lived."

Harriers Have 3-0 Record In Fall Season

Rum! Rum! Join in the fun! The Indiana Central harriers stretched their season's record to 3 wins and 2 losses. The Greyhounds defeated HCC rival Hanover; a 17-16 victory over Marian; and in a triangular meet at DePauw, it was Indiana Central 32, Hanover 23, and Butler 7.

In the high school day Hanover meet sophomore standout Fritz Hohlt traveled the middle of the line very good time of 20:41 on a very muddy day and was chased across the finish line by freshman teammate Gary Osborn whose time was 21:12. Rounding out the scoring was Harold Brown, Mike Grosskopf, and Lee Rund.

The Greyhounds' score of 32 was held by DePauw in the Ilokum Karum, Indiana Central was hoping to turn the tables on Terre Haute, but lost Saturday at DePauw in their homecoming event. Running without the services of Fritz Hohlt who was injured, managed a hard-fought close 22-22 tie with Butler a distant third with 73 points. Junior Harold Brown, Freshman Mike Grosskopf, Junior Lee Rund, and Senior Steve Coffman finished in that order for Indiana Central.

The Greyhounds repeat as conference champs?? Two meets this week, the Earlham Invitation and the Terre Haute meet with Taylor Saturday should give some indication of where the Greyhounds' strengths and weaknesses lie.

The homecoming meet Saturday, October 15, starts at 1:30 p.m. A staunch squad of formerIndiana Central greats such as John Jarosinski, Stan Brewer, Dennis Grider, Wayne Moxing, Jerry Jarosinski, Dave Coifman, and Earlham's Steve Coffman, will start at 1:30 p.m.

The Greyhounds Dig Out Of Their Doghouse

The Greyhounds seem to be lacking an effective offense, even with an impressive 3-0 victory over Rose Poly two weeks ago. Most of the Greyhounds' scoring has come from the Rose Poly game resulted from defensive interceptions and fumble recoveries. In the last two games (Hanover and Chicago Illinois) the Greyhounds have been outscored 42-3.

Last week the Greyhounds played host to Hanover and were defeated 19-0. It was a complete turn about of the week before because it was all Hanover. The ICC coaching staff said that at that point the Greyhounds were ready for the game in the middle of the week, but had lost their incentive and spirit when Saturday's game time came around.

Hanover scored early in the game on a fumble recovery, The Greyhounds could not come back after the early blow. But the Greyhounds did show the never-die spirit by holding Hanover scoreless the second half. All three Hanover touchdowns were in the first half.

This week the Greyhounds made the journey to Chicago to meet the Chicago Illinois. The Chicago Illinois had never beaten the Greyhounds and they were out for victory.

The Greyhounds fought hard, but lost 21-4 against the big, mean Illinois. ICC was hampered by injuries and many penalties during the course of the game.

Let's hope the Greyhounds can come back strong next weekend for the tough Taylor Trojans to give us a victorious Homecoming and get themselves out of the Doghouse.
