Christmas Queen Court Honored At Winter Dance

Candidates for the title of Christmas Queen, who were crowned December 15 at the Circle K Winter Dance, are:

Miss Katie Honnold, the only senior candidate for Christmas Queen, is a physics education major and a math minor. Blond-haired, blue-eyed Katie from Peotone, Illinois, is a member of P.E.M.M. Club, is a sophomore on the women's basketball team, and is a member of the Christian Study Club. Among her activities is playing piano and guitar. She plans to become a teacher. Excellent at her choice, Katie responded, "I feel that it is an honor to be a member of the court."

Miss Debby Modlin, from New Palestine, Indiana, is a junior at I.C.C. She is majoring in English and planning to be a teacher. Debby is very active in campus life — being a member of I.A.Y., S.E.A., Philalethea, and Phi Mu. Her ambition is to learn water skiing and she especially enjoys water skiing. Blond-haired, blue-eyed Debby is a cheerleader for the Greyhounds. Under being asked to be a member of the court, Debby replied, "I feel that it is an honor to be a member of any queen's court. Now I can't wait for the dance. I'm as excited about it as I am about going home."

Brown-eyed Judy Plymate, a physical education major from Greenwood, Indiana. Judy enjoys all sports, especially participating in team sports. Judy enjoys ice-skating, gymnastics, and especially cheerleading. Here on campus. Judy is a member of the P.E.M.M. club, the Social Activities Co-Chairman, the Sophomore Class, and cheerleader for the Greyhounds. Judy says, "I was surprised to be asked. And I think it is an honor to be in the queen's court."

Miss Jo Ellen Spencer, a native of Indianapolis and a sophomore music education major and voice minor. Among her activities is being a member of MENC, band, orchestra, and choir. She also enjoys being a member of a Madrigal group at Trinity Episcopal Church. When asked her thoughts as being chosen for the court, Jo Ellen replied, "I never thought I was the 'queenly' type, but it has been a lot of fun so far and I've enjoyed the planning with the other candidates very much."

Miss Margaret Klemme, smiling freshman candidate, is from Brookville, Indiana. A nursing student, "Crickett" is a member of Kappa Delta and also plays piano, organ, and guitar. She finds baseball to be her favorite sport. Although bullfighting is a close second, to it. Under being asked to be a member of the court, Crickett says her first words were "Are you sure you have the right girl? Seriously, such an honor as to be chosen representative from the freshman class to be in the queen's court bestowed quite an honor upon me. I felt extremely flattered."

Dr. Wynn of Colgate First Sutlin Speaker

An annual chapel program at central was held Wednesday, January 10, the first of which will be held the 17th and 18th of January, The next speaker will be Dr. J. C. Wynn, Professor of Religion at the College of Liberal Arts, Colgate University.

Nursing Director Is Commended

Miss Virginia Sims, director of nursing education at Indiana Central, has received a letter from an official of the National League for Nursing, congratulating her on the first nationally accredited associate degree program in Indiana and the fourth in the United States.

The letter reported that the League approved Mrs. Sims' appointment as a consultant of the National Accreditation Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. She will serve with accrediting teams visiting colleges seeking accreditation or federal funds for associate degree nursing education programs.

Total Of 25 Million Goal Of Fund Campaign To Aid I.C. Students

Dr. L. L. Huffman, president of Central's board of trustees, has announced a campaign to raise $1 million among the members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Indiana and Illinois. The intensive campaign has been designated EPIC — Endowment Program Indiana Central. It is the first phase of a development program extending to 1985 and expected to produce a total of $25 million.

Dr. Huffman stated that "we are undertaking this EPIC program so that Indiana Central can continue to employ more and better teachers and increase assistance to worthy and needy students." The immediate goal will be added to the present endowment.

Dr. Huffman is serving as general chairman. Honorary chairman of the program is Dr. Jonathan Breden. Indiana Central, head of the EUB's West Central Area. Bishop H. R. Heininger of Minneapolis, head of the denomination's Northwestern Area, will serve as the honorary chairman for Illinois.

Preliminary meetings to set up the organization have been held, and others are planned between now and Sunday, Feb. 18, which will be Indiana Central College Day in the EUB churches of the three conferences affiliated with I.C.C. — Indiana North, Indiana South, and the Southern District and Canton and Galesburg groups of the Western District of Illinois.

Music enthusiasts leave Rambusch Auditorium following the band and orchestra concert December 10.
The Editors Speak

Education = Brainwashing?

After twelve years of thought-dominating elementary and high school teachers, I anticipated the alleged open-mindedness and objectivity of college professors. Having now spent a year and a half on the Indiana Central Campus, I'm beginning to doubt these qualities exist in the majority of our professors.

I am not challenging the knowledge and experience of the capable faculty. But, I do wonder if the student's chance for personal interpretations, forming convictions, and expressing views is a thing of the past.

...And To All...

I hope you have a nice time over Christmas vacation. There will be so many things for you to do, so don't waste a minute.

Be sure not to miss any of the shows, parties, gifts, games, food, sleep, and just plain fun two weeks away from home.

Fill each day with all of the thrills and relaxation you can, because semester break won't be nearly long enough, and then you'll have to wait until Spring Vacation.

Oh, yes... if you have time... think a few minutes about the Christ child, and maybe even thank Him for making this vacation possible.

In Defense Of Involvement

by RICHARD BOYCE

President of Religious Activities

From time to time we are called upon to make decisions, and many times we are forced to make decisions. It is not always a matter of major import, but rather minor and insignificant decisions to us may seem to be a vital and far-reaching decision to others. Such seems to be the case in regard to the decision to help and I gave it to myself and to the Central students who have visited other campus student centers have surely noticed that in their student centers music is often listened to the type of music offered to us.

Dear Editor,

Since the student center is for the students, why don't the students have the right to choose the type of music they want? The Central students have visited other campus student centers and have heard music of all kinds and have enjoyed different music. I am not saying that the music of the student centers is better than the music of the Central student centers, but it is a fact that the music of the Central student centers is not the same.

The Editor

The letters of the editor may be read in the Indiana Central Times, published on the Indiana Central Campus, Monday afternoon of each week.

EUB Church Provides Majority Of Centrals

EUB Church to Contribute Largest Denominational Group to College

The EUB Church is the largest denominational group at Indiana Central. According to the 1966-1967 student directory, 128 students are affiliated with the EUB Church.

The EUB Church is a member of the United Brethren in Christ denomination. Unlike many other denominations, the United Brethren in Christ have a strong commitment to education. They believe that education is a way to spread the gospel and to help people understand the Bible.

The EUB Church has a strong presence on Indiana Central Campus. They have a strong campus ministry, and they are active in the on-campus Christian groups.

Members of the EUB Church are encouraged to participate in campus activities. They are also encouraged to share their faith with others. The EUB Church is an active and vibrant part of the Indiana Central Campus community.
U.N. VIGIL

Two Central Students Express Patriotic Duty

by Cathy Knecht

At the United Nations this past weekend there was a demonstration sponsored by the Quakers. They attempted to express their beliefs on the Vietnam war, conscription, war taxes, and taxes was a quiet, earnest approach to these problems. But beyond these grievances it was an affirmation — an affirmation of a world community. Kathy Van De Walle and I participated in vigils lines at the United Nations Plaza where we stood beneath a wall engraved with the Old Testament passages.

They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.

A certain dedication was required of a participant. One stood for a two-hour shift, observing the restriction on noise and traffic that was placed on the group, holding a sign which was headed with "Human Rights..." while one group member offered information on the group's stand to the passers-by. Many individuals voluntarily imposed a fast on themselves for the duration of the vigil.

Hippies? No Participants. Included many older and middle-aged individuals who have been dedicated to and working toward the fulfillment of these principles for many years. Among these were Horace Chapney and Betty Grassman, Phoenix crew members who spoke to the group (and some public) on the second Phoenix project, expressed their own convictions, and informed those gathered of new Quaker projects to promote human rights and world brotherhood.

Protestation was varied — violently opposed, enthusiastic, and, all too often, indifferent people passed our way. One early morning shift was picked by several dozen eggs by a passing group. Since our group stood across from the United Nations building, it was simple to point out to ambassador from the various countries present, that the eggs were intended for them to deliver to the ambassadors from other countries.

Feminine Frolics Fill Dormitories

by Carole Yoder

Knock! Knock!

"This is Mom, open the door!"

A sudden silence filled the room around the slowly opening door.

"It really is you, Mom!"

"Do you girls know some people are trying to sleep? I think you had better clean this shaven cream off your door, and do it quietly. It's about time you grew up, without your mother taunting you and giving you attention."

The girls quickly obeyed. But, after all, it was 10:30 p.m., and a soul just has to release itself sometime.

Feminine frantics are not alien to Kramnit and Trimble Halls. It is pressure who are too great, something to give in to, and this is usually composed. Even to have a blanket be a traumatic experience. Depending on the deepness of your friendships or ennui, one may expect a complete tea-pee spread, or a trip to the library, sometimes on the issue of the mood of the group made the effort to speak to ambassadors from a few countries on the issues that our group was raising. These felt that they could not openly decry the United States on the point of the Vietnam war.

The groups which participated were a responsible, dedicated few (125 had registered at last count) who were there because the inadequacies caused by nationalistic institutions (ex. the draft) trample on the individual's conscience. There were varying degrees of rationality from a revolutionary-far-leftist on down the line, but I'll have to agree with Kathy's statement that it is her patriotic duty to "the democratic form of government our country proclaims to express her personal convictions."

BOOK REVIEW

The Passover Plot

by Kathy Puyar

In "The Passover Plot," Dr. Hugh J. Schonfield investigates and pronounces an answer to the major theological question since the time of John the Baptist. After forty years of study and analysis, Dr. Schonfield endeavors to present the real man — Jesus Christ — and his purpose.

The personality of Jesus introduced Schonfield, a Jewish scholar, while still a student at Glasgow University. The author's theories are based upon research in biblical, extra-biblical materials, and in the Jewish community in believing that the original Hebrew root attributes the Messiah, and additional per Perhaps most important, Schonfield attributes Jesus' success to his own personal planning and skill. The essence of the "Plot" should be discovered by each reader, and, therefore, will not be revealed here. Having read many stirring religious books of this book, I truthfully found it difficult to become involved in one man's theory could have initiated such acid commentaries or such explosive enthusiasm.

Christmas Joy

by Caroline Pippet

"Twas the day before Christmas and all through the town all the people were scurrying and dashing around.

The people were buying those last minute presents and playing games and making things pleasant.

The children were playing with their new toys.

And anticipating tomorrow with all its new joys. But of all that joy so long ago of a child born and a new day.

On a winter's night he came to the earth.

In a humble stable was his birth.

But what is it now the day of his birth is marked through all of this earth.

But do we remember this to this day.

For the miraculous birth of that little boy.
Indiana State Sycamores
Put Hounds “In The Shade”
For Season’s Second Loss

An estimated crowd of 1,000 watched the Indiana State Sycamores hand Indiana Central’s Greyhounds their second season’s loss on Tuesday, December 5, 84-78.

The Hounds, led by the third ranked Sycamores for the first seven minutes of the game, were losing by tied five times, the last at 15-15 on Ron Gresk’s jump shot. Jerry Newsom, the Sycamores’ little American, peeled off a straight, a point as the Hounds fell behind by eight points. “Little Al” Williams hit two quick buckets for Central, but the Sycamores’ Steve Hollowbuck matched him with two jumpers of his own to give State a 42-31 lead at the half.

ISU sprang into a 15-point lead at the start of the second half on the driving of Newsom and 6’9” Rich Mason. The Hounds were defined in the second half by the lack of a “big man,” but did a respectable job on the boards despite Mason (13 points) who had 46 rebounds to go for 29 for the taller Sycamores, but couldn’t cope with Steve’s 46 points and 15 rebounds, and only 10 points.

The Sycamores were led by Steve Hollowbuck who made his first move, and in fact, statistics wise, it is hard to do any better. The December 5, 1967 issue.

Indiana Central’s Greyhounds were a respectable job on the court. According to the following schedule:

Hounds To Meet North Central
In Tournament

Marion will clash with Indiana Tech and North Central will collide with Indiana Central on the first night of the Capital City College basketball tournament in the Indiana Central gymnasium December 14.

This will be the seventh annual meet, which began in 1959 and has been held every season except last. Central’s Greyhounds and Marion’s Knights have played in every Capital City tourney, and Central entered winner all six years. Indiana Tech and North Central will be playing in the meet for the first time. Tech is at Fort Wayne and North Central is a sister Evangelical United Brethren college of Kansas City, Missouri.

On Friday night the first night’s losers will play for third place and the winners compete for the championship.

Taylor Hands Greyhounds
Season’s First HCC Loss

Last Saturday night, the 9th, saw Central lose to undefeated conference foe Taylor, 106-94, in a rough and tumble game that ended in the favor of the Knights. In fact, statistics wise, it is hard to do any better. The central Greyhounds shot a very respectable .484 from the field and hit on 64 percent of their free throws. The team made only 16 errors in the entire game.

Taylor used their full-court press and began chopping the Sycamores’ game. The press definitely bothered Indiana State as they began playing their second game, and a little shabby at times, and numerous errors (14 by ISC and 12 by ISU) resulted from over-anxiousness on the part of both teams. Central cut State’s lead to nine, 82-73, but a basket by 0:01 second left gave ISU its final margin of victory.

Newson led all scorers with 29 points. He was supported by Mason and Hollowbuck with 12 each, and Mike Phillips with 10 points.

The Greyhounds were led by Ron Gresk who was making his starting debut, made a fine showing with his play-making and all-around hustle, as were Russell and Swank.

The loss dropped Central’s record to 0-2, while State evened theirs at 1-1.

Whippets Are Overcome
In Thrilling Overtime

The I.C.C. Whippets have begun their second season under the direction of Mrs. Joanne Alexander. Senior Pam Jones was elected captain for her final year on the team.

The girls met their first foe on December 5, at 4:00 prior to the varsity game. Our ladies led the way against Indiana State until the last of the third quarter. Pam Jones began the scoring action for the game, and finished in the lead with 17.

The first half ended with Central in the front. Then the home team had problems getting the ball into the play area under State’s basket and gave them 4 fast points. With 9 seconds left in the fourth quarter, the score was 23-19, with Central leading, 21-17.

Dale Sidebottom prepares to take on a Taylor wrestler in the match December 7.

WRESTLERS WIN

IC GRAPPLERS HANDLE TAYLOR

Taylor’s wrestling team came to Central Tuesday, the 10th, with high hopes of defeating IC for the first time. These hopes were based on the fact that IC was forecasting over 100 points, and that last year’s HCC champion Steve Linnemann was not performing.

What Taylor did not count on was that Central’s newest boys this year would do well. For instance; Steve Palmore won by six points, Steve Acton by 2, and Tom Tudor pinned his man.

Besides the novices, Mike Watkins and Paul Winter, the key to the team was by decising his man’s 1967. Dale Sidebottom added five points by pinning his man, and Marlowe Mulden added five points by default when his man was unable to continue.

Jim Phillips had a tough match and lost by only one point after outscoring his man 3 to 4, but losing because of two points riding time. Bob Smith was pinned on his first out as a varsity wrestler. Lester Lull also was decisioned 3 to 0.

ADDRESS:

37-25 with Central trailing, Marg Moyer played it cool as she dropped in 2 in the foul line to tie the game.

The 3-minute overtime, however, was fatal to Central. Pat Martin fouled out with over 2 minutes of play to go; Kathy Leary shortly followed. State also lost a player due to penalties, but not before they racked up 7 points in overtime play to Central’s 1. The match ended in defeat for the Whippets, 48-40.

The team’s second game was the following Saturday morning at Vincennes University. The first quarter ended in I.C.C.’s favor 8-4. The second quarter began the real action. The playing was fast and rough, despite the few number of fouls called by officials, were done by U.V. Two Vincennes University players were injured as results from “head-on collisions.” The final buzzers sounded and our 6 bruised gals left the floor with 51-25 victory.

The Municipal Gardens team provided the Whippets with their second victory. Action took place December 12, on our home floor. The visiting team was composed of 9 high school girls who want to play basketball.

Scoring was low, due partly to the low percentage of netted free shots. The Whippets were behind 3-0 when Kathy Leary made a field goal. Then Pam Jones put the home team ahead 43. The final tally was 28-21.

Pam led the scoring with 12. Karen totalled 10, and Karen Hanni tied with Municipal’s Linda Emh for third place with 6. This was the first victory for the home team on their own floor for the season.
