Dr. Bartle Is Chosen Commencement Speaker

Dr. H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City, Mo., a man of varied interest and almost as many careers, will speak at the 60th annual commencement at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 5. His graduation ceremonies will begin at 6 p.m. in the Physical Education building.

For 27 years, Dr. Bartle was chief executive of the Kansas City area Boy Scouts of America. He is interested also in many other youth movements, such as Boys’ Clubs, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Y’s and others.

His concern for youths led to his forming the American Humanities Foundation, which helps young people prepare for professional leadership in youth-serving organizations. Indiana Central is one of four colleges where the foundation has cooperated in establishing departments for this training.

Dr. Bartle was mayor of Kansas City from 1935 to 1941. He has spoken before countless church, civic, educational, professional, and other organizations throughout the United States. The son of a minister, he is a Presbyterian elder and frequently fills pulpits. He was a graduate of the Marshall Valley College at Marshall, Mo., in 1935-36. It was the first to establish a humanities department.

While attending the University of Chattanooga, he participated in football, track, and baseball. He also worked part-time as a reporter for the Chattanooga Times. His education was interrupted by combat service in World War I, in which he rose to the rank of major.

He returned to the university and then attended Hamilton College of Law in Chicago, earning bachelor of law and doctor of jurisprudence degrees. Other colleges and universitie have awarded him honorary doctorates of laws, humane letters, civil law, and literature.

Dr. Bartle’s law practice led him into specializing as legal counsel for banks. He was consulted by banks and other businesses in organizing during the Great Depression. He has been a member of Rotary International since 1930, and is affiliated with several other service clubs. He has received honors from many of them.

He also is a director of trustee of several businesses, banks, and other corporations. Dr. Bartle and his wife, Margaret, have one child, Mrs. John J. Taylor of Kansas City.

1969 ORACLE Wins Honors

The 1969 ORACLE won the following honors in the annual judging announced at the Indiana College Press Association at Hanover College, Sunday, April 19. They are: First Place – best academic coverage; Honorable Mention – best layout, best event coverage, and best advertising section.

The judging was in three sections based on student enrollment. The ORACLE was in the 1,000-3,000 category.

Baccalaureate Speaker is Bishop Armstrong

Bishop James Armstrong, head of the Dakotas Area of the United Methodist Church, will be the baccalaureate preacher at Indiana Central College on Sunday, June 5, at 11 a.m.

Dr. Armstrong, always popular with college audiences, was a frequent speaker at Indiana Central during his 10 years as regional minister of the 3,200-member Broad- way United Methodist Church in Indianapolis.

He was elected to the episco- pacy by the denomination’s North Central Jurisdiction last July, making him the first Bishop Methodist Bishop in the United States.

Bishop Armstrong was born at Marion, Ind., in 1904. He earned a bachelor of arts degree from the Florida Southern College and a bachelor of divinity at Emory University. He did his graduate work at the University of Chicago and Boston University. Florida Southern and De- Pare University awarded him honorary degrees of divinity.

While in Indianapolis, Dr. Arm- strong also lectured at Christian Theological Seminary. He appeared on radio and television programs, and was active in numerous civic affairs as well.

Dr. Armstrong was a delegate to the 1964 and 1968 General Jurisdictional Conferences of the United Methodist Church, and to the World Council of Churches last year. He is a member of the General Board of Christian Social Concerns, the General Board of Evang- elism, and the Television, Radio, and Film Commission of the Unite- Methodist Church.

Four To Receive Honorary Degrees At Commencement

A department store executive, two United Methodist ministers, and a federal judge will receive honorary degrees at the 60th annual commencement at Indiana Central College on June 5. The graduation exercises will be in the Physical Education building.

Daniel F. Evans, president of S. L. Myers & Co., with headquarters in Indianapolis, will receive a doctor of laws degree. The Rev. J. Allen Horne of Indianola, Iowa, superintendent of the Central Illinois District of the United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Phillip J. Stone, minister of the First Church at Terre Haute, will receive degrees of doctor of divinity. The chief judge of the United States Court for the Southern District of Indiana, William E. Steckler, will be awarded a doctor of humane law degree.

Evans earned a bachelor’s arts degree from Wabash College, of which he now is a trustee, and a master of business administration degree from Harvard University. He is a director of the Indiana National Bank of Indianapolis, the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, the American Rotary Federation, and the Indianapolis Urban League. He is chairman of the Commission on State Tax and Financing Policy, a past president of the Indiana Retail Council, and a former president of the Methodist Hospital.

Dr. Armstrong is a Lutheran, a director of Community Hospital, a member of the Scottish Rite, the Shrine, the Scottish Rite Club, and 23 of the Free and Accepted Masons Association of Knights of St. John, Sodality Rosicruciana, and an honorary member of the International Supreme Council of the Order of the Knights.

Judge Steckler is a former United States District Judge, a former trustee of the United Methodist School, and a former trustee of the Methodist Theological School in Indiana.

He is a member of the Indianapolis Athletic Club and of the American, Indiana, Indianapolis, and Federal Bar Associations. He is also a member of the Methodist Theological Seminary. Dr. Armstrong received a doctor of divinity degree in philosophy and religion at Indiana Central College in 1934 for his bachelor of divinity degree at United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, in 1944. Since then he has served pastored at former Evangelical United Brethren (now United Methodist) churches at Al- bert, Westfield, Scoftor, and Lom- bard, III., and in Edwards, Ill.

He has served as a conference superintendent and as bishop at Dixon, Ill., in July 1967. With the denominational union of a year ago, he was assigned as superintendent of the 14th Judicial District last summer. He was a delegate to the last two EUB General Conferences. His wife, Marcella Charlotte Moore, was a classmate at Indiana Central.

They have two sons and a daugh- ter, all in their teens. His father, Lester H. Moore of Danville, Ill., is a former trustee of the college. Judge Steckler has been on the federal bench since 1950. He re- ceived a bachelor of law degree in 1936 and a doctor of jurisprudence degree in 1938 from Indiana Central University.

He holds an honorary doctorate of laws from Wittenberg University and the Order of the Osf from the IU Law School. He received law at Indian- apolis from his admission to the Indiana bar in 1936 until ascending the federal bench. He was a member of the Indiana Election Board about 1944 and public counselor of the Indiana Public Service Com- mission in 1949-50.

Dr. Armstrong is a member of the Methodist Church, and to the World Council of Churches last year. He is a member of the General Board of Christian Social Concerns, the General Board of Evangelism, and the Television, Radio, and Film Commission of the United Methodist Church.

The Business Office has written to parents calling their attention to the deposit which is required of all new and returning students by June 1 of each year. The amount of this deposit has been increased to $100 this year. This does not mean an increase in costs. Business Manager Leo S. Miller explained, since the deposit will be applied to first semester charges at registration.

Students who have questions about this matter or difficulty in also worked part-time as a reporter for the Chattanooga Times. His education was interrupted by combat service in World War I, in which he rose to the rank of ma- jor.
Circuit Key-Hole

Having returned from Flat Rock with many good ideas and many sore muscles, the members of the executive board have set about the task of making specific plans for the coming year. We are currently compiling our budget and making appointments to committees. Incidentally, there are a number of openings on committees, and we still need some committee chairmen. We would appreciate having volunteers for these positions so that we would not have to “draft” people. Therefore, if you have any interest in working on any committee PLEASE contact the Central Club or drop us a note via campus mail.

I would remind the officers of all campus organizations that all elections on campus must be held by May 16. The results of all elections should be reported to the secretary of Central Club so that the information will be available to the various publications which will list this information.

I also want to congratulate the seniors on the culmination of four years of hard work. I’m sure that we underclassmen will miss you, nonetheless, we thank you for the contributions which you have made to Indiana Central and we wish you the best of everything in all of your future endeavors!

Three Circuit Riders To Speak About I.C.C.

Mike Cecil

Indiana Central’s Admissions Office has again employed “circuit riders” to speak with interested students about the College. This coming summer three young men — David Henry, Carl Herber, and Tad Ransberg — will present the College to the students of Indiana.

Dave, a sophomore at I.C.C., is a history major with tentative plans to attend law school. Although a graduate of Fort Wayne South Side High School, Dave attended three years at John Adams High School in South Bend. At Adams he was a member of the student council, choir, and the football team. At I.C.C., he is a freshman class officer last year and was a member of both Choir and the Central Club. He is one of the regular backbone hands for programs and activities in Ransburg Auditorium.

A member of the United Methodist Church, Dave is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. Lyn Henry, Ft. Wayne, and has two younger brothers, Mike and Daniel.

Carl Herber is currently in his freshman year at Indiana Central and is pursing math and physical education interests. He hopes eventually to coach in college sports. Carl graduated from LaVille High School where he participated in basketball, baseball, cross-country and track. Active in 4-H, Carl served as vice-president of the state 4-H organization last year. Carl is a member of the Church of the Brethren and has served as president of the state-wide youth fellowship of that church.

At Indiana Central Carl is participating in athletics, also — mainly basketball and tennis. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and of a singing dray- up team whose members call themselves the “Wondering Ones.”

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Herber, Lakeland, Carl has an older brother who attended Taylor University, a sister now attending Emmanuel College, and a sister in the high grade.

Tad Ransberg, the third “circuit rider” is also a freshman at Indiana Central and a physical education major. He plans to coach after graduation, preferably in college. One of Tad’s main interests is baseball, and he hopes to participate in college. I.C.C. baseball Coach Bill Bright was influential in Tad’s decision to attend Central. When he was asked about his best positions, Tad mentioned pitching and center field.

R. Nelson Discusses Board of Trustees

William Sayers

One of the most popular of the student council goals is to get the president of the student council appointed to the Board of Trustees. However, an interview with Dr. Roland T. Nelson, Chairman of the Department of History and Political Science, revealed some information about the president.

But first, let’s take a look at the Board of Trustees as it is now. It has 44 members, consisting of ministers, laymen, and superintendents of the United Methodist Church; alumni of the college, and several members-at-large.

However, it is only an ex-officio member of the Board of Trustees. What most students do not realize is that the faculty has no members on the Board of Trustees.

The Board of Trustees, established by the faculty to an Academic Affairs Committee, currently consists of the members are Mrs. Walter, Prof. Boyce, Dr. Deuel, and Dr. Slc.

They will serve staggered five-year terms. The Academic Affairs Committee advises the Board of Trustees, but the members of the committee are not members of the Board.

The Board of Trustees functions only to establish policy with the advice of the administration and be changed to “Man in Literature” in the future. The Board, mows, only twice a year, and in that time real decisions are made, and students stand the need of help.

Knowing this, it seems a little presumptuous for the student body to ask for a privilege not extended to any other members of the college.

Perhaps, inclusion of student on the Academic Affairs Committee may be appropriate, but, inclusion of a student on the Board of Trustees is not possible.

Naturally, the faculty would be dissatisfied if the students received privileges that is did not have.

This terrible discrimination would probably culminate in a faculty action, or a faculty sit down strike. At least, that is the opinion of Dr. Nelson.

Editor’s note: The reflector welcomes student comments and membership on the Board of Trustees.

Changes Planned For Honors Program

The Honors Program, which is now in its third year, at Indiana Central, presently has four honors courses in operation. A fifth, a science course called “Man in Nature,” is being planned to start next year.

A speaker for the Faculty Honors Council was recently interviewed by the I.C.C. on up-to-date information on programs that has been made so far and on changes planned for the future.

Q. What changes are being planned in the Honors Program for next year?

A. The first semester freshman honors course “Man in Drama” will be changed to “Man in Literature”; it will include other types of literature as well as drama and will parallel the first semester freshman English course “English Literature Through Shakespeare.”

Q. What changes will affect students ready in College are being planned?

A. A new course is on the drafting board, to be offered for the Board of the second semester of the year. The Natural Science Division is planning an exciting survey of developments in various sciences under the title, “Man in Nature.” This course will feature well-known speakers from the Division and Honors Council are proposing that it be offered for the fall semester.

We are hopeful that the experiment will prove successful, but we hope that it will prove worthwhile. If it does not, it will be discontinued. If it does, it will be continued.

Q. Are there any honors courses that are not members of the Board of Accounting?

A. There are five honors courses, each of which substitutes for some required course in the Honors Program. One such course is “Man in History” substitutes for History 101. To qualify for “grading,” one of the student must pass satisfactorily (B- or better) in any of the four courses (and complete the four courses of academic credit) an honors course, even though the course is not on the Board of Trustees.

Q. A student is required to sign up for the full honors program and must take four honors courses next year at Indiana Central. Is this a student is required to do this in any three honors courses which he has chosen?

A. Any student who is on the honor roll (900 index) is automatically invited to sign up for whatever honors course he wishes to take in his major, but the student must pass satisfactorily (B- or better) in any of the four courses (and complete the four courses of academic credit) an honors course, even though the course is not on the Board of Trustees.

Q. What are the requirements for graduation with distinction?

A. In order to be an honors student, a student must pass satisfactorily (B- or better) in any of the four courses (and complete the four courses of academic credit) an honors course, even though the course is not on the Board of Trustees.

Q. What are the qualifications for an Honors Program?

A. Any student who is on the honor roll (900 index) is automatically invited to sign up for whatever honors course he wishes to take in his major, but the student must pass satisfactorily (B- or better) in any of the four courses (and complete the four courses of academic credit) an honors course, even though the course is not on the Board of Trustees.

Q. Is there any way a student can graduate with distinction?

A. A student can graduate with distinction by taking a science course on the honors list, but the student must pass satisfactorily (B- or better) in any of the four courses (and complete the four courses of academic credit) an honors course, even though the course is not on the Board of Trustees.

Q. What are the qualifications for a student to participate in the Honors Program?

REFLECTOR
NEW ALBANY Dentist and Indianapolis Educator Nominated for President-Elect of the Indiana Central College Alumni Association. Dr. Joseph H. McBride, a member of the Class of 1937, has been nominated for president-elect of the Indiana Central College Alumni Association. Nominations for the position of president-elect will be announced on Alumni Day, May 14. Dr. McBride will install next year.

The nominees are Ronald L. Haack, president-elect of the New Albany, the dentist, and Richard L. Dunbar, social studies teacher at the American School in Seoul, South Korea. The two nominees will be announced May 21 at the Annual Alumni Banquet.

The board of directors are: Fred Bell, 414 S. Wabash, Indianapolis; Delmer P. Cockroft, 2311 N. Madison Avenue, Indianapolis; Miss Ann Buchanan, a former De- catur Township (Marion County) teacher; Willard T. Harmon, direc- tor's degree at Indiana University with a major in Fine Arts; John N. Good, Greenwood; Miss Marcia M. Cornett, a retired teacher at Indianapolis Central High School; Carl E. W. Fields, 2315 R. B. Jordan Memorial Highway, Indianapolis; 1414 E. Washington. American Art Clay Company purchasing agent; Dr. Maynard W. McCauley, 1133 E. North Street, Indianapolis; Dr. William L. Clavering, a choirmaster; and R. Glenn Steiner, a former Indiana Central College advisor. Dr. McBride, a specialist for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.
On May 4, at 2:00 p.m., in Ramberv Auditorium, the Southeastern Players, under the direction of Richard Williams, presented "In White America," a documentary play concerning the blackman's history. However, "In White America" traces the history of the American blackman from the days of the slave trade to present. Its accounts are not always flattering to White America, but they are documented history. The play's basic format could be represented as follows:

Nurse Corps Program Offers Financial Aid

The U.S. Army Nurse Corps is looking for prospective candidates. Nurses who would be interested in joining the Corps and participating in the Nurse Corps scholarship program are encouraged to apply.

DEPARTMENTAL DEBRIEFS

HUMANITIES

The Humanities Department has just added two new programs for the latter part of April and early May. The first is: Field Trip to the Southeast Community Center; Mr. Arnold Woodson will address the Finance Class on the College Capital Campaign. The second is: The Army Corps in the Neighborhood; an ex-soldier will address the Finance Class on budget control; Mr. W. R. G. R. S. will talk on "How to Get Into the Nursing Profession." Counseling Class on "College Counseling Service." Mr. W. R. G. R. S. will address the Finance Class on budget control; Mr. W. R. G. R. S. will talk on "How to Get Into the Nursing Profession." Counseling Class on "College Counseling Service."

Nurses who would be interested in applying for the scholarship program are encouraged to apply.

MATH AND PHYSICS

On May 9 and 10 there will be a meeting here in Schwerin Center for the introduction of the Mathematics program. In this program, the interest of the student is high, and senior high school math students are encouraged to consider this program. Dr. Kollie and Dr. Gomme attended the Indiana Academy of Sciences on April 24. Mr. Kollie represented the Science Teachers at that meeting.

Volunteer Work Is Where It's At

Where the action is these days can be in volunteer work here in Indianapolis. It's a little different from college for kids in high school, or from the usual "four years of college" sort of thing, but it's a time piece and a way to get something done, instead of with a classroom. The Volunteer Bureau of the Community Services Council of Metropolitan Indianapolis is looking for people willing to cooperate in organizing groups of volunteers for educational, health and social welfare.

College students, for instance, are needed for national, regional and local programs at neighborhood centers and for tutoring, field trips for culturally deprived children, and in tutoring programs.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUSS

A message of farewell was delivered by the dean of women, Mrs. Rosemary Peterson.
As we briefly mentioned last week, Indiana Central's gridiron team would cross town Sept. 20 to play Butler University in the Butler Bowl. As Coach Ed Dwyer said, many people wonder why he scheduled the cross-town from Frankfort, Indianapolis, and Anderson, while losing deals to Mason, East Terre Haute, Miami, and the Pacers. (and everyone else in the East). By saying they have some good games on the schedule, it's true. Butler will miss play against the Pacers, the fact that Butler didn't consider itself to have basketball, football, or track. Marian has superb athletic relations, and the schools in the major leagues consider Indiana Central a junior college. As we briefly mentioned last week, Butler athletic teams. Again, against Oakland for the championship.

Indiana Central and Marian, ship. As we briefly mentioned last week, Butler athletic teams. Again, against Oakland for the championship.

A couple of seasons back, a game between Butler and Indiana Central Alumini was played with proceeds going to charity. IC won going away...

The Indiana Pacers of the ABA played their fifth play-off game at the Central gym April 29 and beat Miami to move into the best-of-seven championship series against Oakland for the championship. A crowd of less than 2500 showed up, mainly because everyone in town figured there'd be such a huge crowd they couldn't get a seat. Speaking of the Pacers, the fact that Butler didn't allow the Pacers to play their play-off games gives it another black mark on the Central basketball program. In the State Fair Coliseum the Pacers (and everyone else in the city, too) tried to convince Butler to let them rent the 15,000 seat big house. No dice. So, the Pacers went to Anderson for two games and the same to Central for the clincher.

The Greencastle tennis team defeated Marian, April 25, 61. Everyone won his singles matches, including newly recruited Mike Kelly. Mike helped out at the last minute so that the team didn't have to forfeit one match. Below is a list of individual victories.

- Ron Young 6, W. L
- Dave Schaefer 4, 2
- Andy Lee 5, 1
- Ralph Klingerman 2, 3
- Mike Conner

The record is now 1-4. Paul Young, Dave Schaefer, Andy Lee, Ralph Klingerman, and Mike Conner.

The Hoosiers and the Pacers have received a great deal of criticism for their performances this season. The Pacers have several key players out with injuries, and the Hoosiers have been inconsistent. However, both teams have shown improvement in recent games.

Women's Sports

Members of the softball team are participating in the diamond tournament of Joanne Alexander this spring. So far in the season the women's teams have been successful. Members of the women's teams are Margi Meyer, Diana Norton, Bonnie Lewis, Kathy Reary, Linda York, Barbara Clevenger, Kathy Kline, Kris Kline, Judy Barnes, Tippi Stanford, Carol Smith, Caroline Pippert, and Billy Vibon. The women have been defeated by Purdue 11-0, Indiana State 4-3, and Indiana State 8-2, but St. Bonaventure 5-4.

Also during this spring the track and field teams have been busy. During the season the women's teams have been successful.
