Phyllis Cook and Charlotte Downin Named Co-Editors of Reflector

Phyllis Cook and Charlotte Downin have been named co-editors of the Reflector during the 1969-70 year. Mrs. Leonard Pearson recommended the girls, and they were approved by the Publications Board and President J. E. Eckerly. Phyllis Cook is a history major from Indianapolis. At Northwest High School, she was copy editor and editorial editor during her junior year. In her senior year, Phyllis was editor-in-chief of her newspaper.

After attending Butler during her freshman year, Phyllis transferred to I.C.C. and commutes from Columbus, Indi-...
The Editors Speak

"I am too busy!" I say, but it is because I have too many things to do. "I have to study for a test." Since we have been chosen as editors of the REFLECTOR, we have been busy with the students here as well as the students when we have asked students to help with the newspaper. In the issue of May 7, we did the entire newspaper in a few days after we received our appointments from the Publications Board and President Esch. We wrote and edited the stories. We put headlines on them. Then we read the proofs and did the layouts.

This is a student paper — not a faculty paper, nor just two students' paper. We need your help to make it the best paper possible. If everyone helped and did his share, there would be a few fewer people there is nowhere. And in many colleges, students fight for the opportunity to have a voice in their schools. Why do those of Indiana Central run away from these responsibilities?

Our country was created by men like Nathan Hale, Paul Revere, Patrick Henry, George Washington, and Benjamin Franklin, who were not afraid to stand up and be counted. Many of the men who welcomed responsibility, men who were proud of their patriotism. Think what they might have had they been too busy:

Nathan Hale said, "I do not want to go, but I must do what I am told to do."

Paul Revere said, "What do you mean by ride through every Middlesex village and farm, and in the middle of the night keep your eyes open?"

Benjamin Franklin said, "What we really need is ambassadors."

George Washington said, "Gentlemen, I am honored. But try something else."

"I am too busy!" "I am too busy!" "I am too busy!"

To do this we must maintain - 'The Alumni Office operates on a different front: continuously to serve the needs of IC alumni. The presidents and other leaders on over 10,000 alumni and maintain a flow of communications with them.

To do this we must maintain a democratic press. About campus "activities and individual students' papers. We need your help to make it the best.

By Dean M. Ransburg

It may seem a bit unusual for students to learn about the work of the Alumni Association in the REFLECTOR. Yet, what better way to announce the fact that IC is coming a good alumnus than while still a student, over which you will be at some time in the future, be alumnus of Indiana Central for influences? As an influence, I am one in the dictionary; "a person who has attended or has ben graduated from school, college or university."

Many of our most active and loyal alumni did not graduate from Central because of circumstances. This is understandable. But there were others who did not have to graduate to be alumnus. Our office maintains two categories of alumni — those who graduated, and those who did not. For an alumnus, it is not having a diploma. It is being a part of the voice of the students. Sand up and be counted, just as you are doing now. The Alumni Office is in the hands of Johnson, Leonard E. Raymond, Leonard E. Raymond, and the Alumni Association's Board of Directors. The past-president and the president-elect sit as ex-officio members. This group meets on the campus four times a year and represents a variety of general and specific constituencies. All are elected by the voting alumni.

Without using every column of this paper, it is impossible to carry all the stories that are published. For instance, the solicitation of financial support to the Alumni Office. I have attempted to carry all the things that are good for your school. There is an open invitation for volunteers to visit the Alumni Office in the weeks to come. We are always eager for suggestions on how we can increase co-operation between student and alumni bodies. Though we cover a broad spectrum of activities, we really feel that the Alumni Office's job is to encourage a young man to make Indiana Central realize her full potential, and to solicit your assistance in achieving that goal.

AWAY

by John Woodard

"A nation divided cannot stand." These words are in the Bible. The President of France said, "I am humble, but I am honest. Lincoln in our tragic Civil War, I feel that one side cannot stand, cannot grow if they be divided.

Newspaper, black and white, and communities have been as divided as our nation. The United States is a divided nation. America has a duty, an obligation to work toward making things better. I feel that we can have harmony among the races if we work for it.

There is something that everyone can do. It doesn't require a great deal of time, nor does it require anyone's precious money. That something is a change in attitude, a change from prejudice to tolerance. That tolerance is a disease in the family of mankind, an attitude which accepts people regardless of race, creed, religion, or the color of their skin."

AWAY is your new campus organization which has as its purpose working to change the attitudes of the campus.

We invite you to and urge you to assist in the work. Let's pull together and lend our support and guidance to this project.
Dr. Wolf Receives Alumnus Award

DEPARTMENTAL DEBRIEF

Art Department

The Indiana Central College Art Department has just received a confirmation from the American Art Clay Co. (AMACC) of Indianapolis, that the program of this year's ceramics kiln was valued at more than $15,000. The kiln will be a most welcome gift because of the necessity for it and the efficiency in firing clay works produced by I.C.C. students.

An exhibit of students' artwork done during the current school year is to be the final one in the Central College's Administration Building.

It opened Sunday, May 11, and was open (and free) to the public between 2 and 6 p.m. that day only. The remainder of the first week—May 12 through Friday, May 16—will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. After that, the gallery hours will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Monday through Friday.

The exhibit will be open on Saturday, May 17, and on past Commencement Day, Sunday, June 1. Early in the day it will be moved to the Student Union, where the students can take their work home with them.

The display included a variety of objects produced by two dozen Indiana Central students and potential for contributing to the program of the Art Clay Co. Donation of the kiln is a mark of excellence for the Central College. It is supported by the Indiana Central College Art Department.

Indiana Council

Mrs. Suzanne Trotter Weaver and Dennis W. Wolf, both seniors in the Business Administration Department, are members of the Indiana Council for Social Studies as the outstanding teachers in training at Indiana Central College.

Mrs. Weaver lives at 320 W. Kindel Street. She is a graduate of elementary education. Wolf, of 855 Fornay Rd., New Lebanon, is a mathematics major.

The account continues for the entire year the council selects each year a commendation of the best college or university in the state two outstanding students who plan to teach in the area of social studies, secondary level. Eligibility requirements for the award include two years of outstanding performance from the professor's subjective evaluation, teaching, participation in campus life, and potential for contributing to the state's work.

Mrs. Weaver was nominated by Paul T. Alexander, Indiana Central's Business Administration Department chairman. Wolf and Weaver will receive one-year memberships in the National Council for Social Studies and the Indiana Council for Social Studies.

Buxton Hall

Buxton Hall will be available for summer housing of I.C.C. students in summertime, and it is anticipated that students will be returning to I.C.C. in the fall and are remaining in Indiana Central.

The dormitory will close on Sundays and reopen on Monday each week. Students are allowed to clean-up before school opens in the fall.

The cost for eight weeks will be $72 and $105 for twice weeks. Meal tickets will be available for dinner and lunch on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and lunch and lunch on Friday. Breakfast will not be served. The cost for breakfast and two lunches will be $20.

Meal tickets are required to buy meal tickets. A deposit (non-refundable) must be paid in the accounting office before signing up for a meal ticket in the Office of Dean of Students. All fees must be paid on or before Friday, June 9, 1969.

Biography Major

Alan L. Cole, a biology major at Indiana Central, has been awarded a baccalaureate degree from I.C.C. on June 10, 1969. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cole of Freetown, Indiana. Cole is majoring in biology and is attending Indiana University, Bloomington, with plans to attend medical school.

Fresenius School

Dr. William H. Wolf of Indianapolis, Indiana, has been named to receive the Central College Outstanding Alumnus Award for 1969. According to an announcement by Dr. Arlo L. Schilling, N.C.C. president, the following citation was used: "Dr. Wolf is currently professor of political science and history at I.C.C. He received his B.S. in 1933 and S.T.M. in 1933, both from North Central College, and the presidency of Phi Beta Lambda, an organization of students sponsors an annual educational Association.

Dr. Wolf is one of the only members who have contributed to the community in any way. It is estimated that he has taught in colleges and universities in the state and has been a member of the Phi Beta L.ew Lambda, an organization of students sponsors an annual educational Association.

Spring Concert To Be Presented on May 25th

The Indianapolis Civic Orchestra and the Indiana Central College Symphonic Wind Ensemble will present a combined spring concert in the college's Ransburg Auditorium on Sunday, May 25, at 3 p.m. The public is invited, and it will feature the orchestra in Robert Spencer's arrangement for Piano in A Minor, Op. 54. The orchestra also will perform "Ballet D'entertainment, Henry VIII," by Camille Saint-Saëns.

The second half of the program will feature the Symphonic Wind Ensemble playing "The Mad March," by Kenneth Alford; "William Byrd Suite" (selected from the Fitzwilliam Virginal Book), transcribed by Gordon Jacob; "Fanfare and Allegro," by Clifton Williams; "Meditation from Thais," by Jule Massenet; and "Overture, Poet and Peasant," by Franz von Suppe. Miss Jo Ellen Spencer, an Indianapolis junior majoring in music, will be trumpet soloist in "Carnival of Venice," by Herbert L. Clarke.

Both the orchestra and the wind ensemble are directed by Lowell Borroughs, associate professor of music and chairman of the music department.

COUNCIL KEY-HOLE

Congratulations to all of the newly elected officers of the classes and organizations on campus. If there is any way in which the Council or I can be of assistance to you, do not hesitate to contact me.

I am looking forward to next year, and I hope to see most of you back in the Fall. Until then, HAVE A HAPPY!

Washburn Replaces Armstrong As Baccalaureate Speaker

Lambdach Elected Officers

Elections were held by Lambda Chi for the 1969-70 school year. The officers elected are as follows: President, David Boggs; Vice-President, John Hunziker; Treasurer, Tom Parish; Secretary, George Gendron; Sergeant at Arms, Dennis Shoemaker. The officers assumed their duties at the annual formal dinner held at the Kopper Kettle in Muncie, Indiana. The organization will begin next year with twenty-six members.

Awards Day Honors I.C.C. Students

The election by the Indiana Central College faculty of 32 seniors to Epsilon Sigma Alpha, the school's most honored honor society, was held today at the annual Awards Day ceremony.

Numerous other awards and citations were presented to junior and senior students in recognition of their academic excellence and service to the Indiana Central College community. Students were recognized in the areas of music, art, literature, and sports.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Names listed are from Indianapolis and Indiana cities, unless indicated otherwise.

Verna T. Adler, Decatur; Joseph F. Barnett; John A. Beebe, Warsaw; Bondy; Daniel D. Bickley, Lafayette; Clark J. Boles, Indianapolis; John T. Everitt, Mason City, Ill.; Jane E. Floy, Indianapolis; James C. Foster, South Bend; Sara B. Kostas; Howard W. Lapp; Terry E. Hewitt; Shirley S. Lehew; Melanie A. Mangee, Crawfordsville; Marjorie B. Morse, Greencastle; Margaret E. Meyer, Terre Haute; Thomas A. Schroeder; John Mark Shock, Indianapolis; Paul C. Sheehy, Goshen; Beatrice A. Trestler; Susan Trotter Weaver; Robert F. White, and Sharyl Wilson, Goshen.

Epithem Sigma Alpha also announced that award-winning trips were awarded to two seniors for next year. Daniel J. Sheehy, senior, will attend Chicago and Boston in late May and early June. Prior to the formation of the United Methodist Church in 1968, Bishop Washburn was executive secretary of the former Evangelical United Brethren Church Commission on Church Union. He was the principal organizer of the EUB's final General Conference in 1968 and subsequently was assigned to Minneapolis, with headquarters in Minneapolis.

Bishop Washburn was born in Aurora, Ill., and attended elementary and high school there. He graduated from North Central College in 1938 and Evangelical Theological Seminary in 1940. Both are graduates of the summer school program at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1951. Sheehy is positive that this will be one of the best opportunities of his life.

English Club Elected Officers

The English Club elected officers for the coming year on May 8. They are president, John Balch; vice-president, Ted Tyler, and secretary-treasurer, Nancy Bittner.

Congratulations to Juniors on outstanding performance of class Talent Show

Vicki will fly from Indianapolis to Edinburgh for a six-week stay from July 7 to August 16. At the school session she will be attending ten hours of lectures a week. These morning lectures will be on the eighteenth-century architecture and thought of the reigns of William III, Queen Anne and the earls of George.

The setting in Edinburgh, where the eighteenth-century architecture of the New Town and the University's own Old College, provides a congenial repose for the study of an age of classicism and enlightenment.

The extra-curricular activities of the program include special recitals, visits to galleries, and coach trips.

I.C. Baseball Summary

By Steve Cochran

A good but disappointing record — this explains the 1969 baseball season for the I.C. Greyhounds. With only two games remaining in the Hoosier Collegiate Conference, the Greys had pounced out 13 victories against 8 defeats. But the big disappointment was the fact that the batters finished 6-6 overall in the H.C.C. competition. Their bats had been set much higher, as an experienced club returning from last year — goals such as winning the I.C.C. and a chance in the A.A.A. playoffs in St. Joseph, Mo.

The season started out with a pitching trip to Beloit College, Tennessee. The Greyhounds were supposed to be a baseball trip, turned out to be a basketball trip, as the rains washed out every scheduled ball game. So, as the rains dropped, the squad had to settle for intrasquad basketball in the Beloit fieldhouse.

Then it was back home, and rain again for the Tennessee trip. Then the weather cleared, and the Greyhounds proceeded to win 4 straight games, behind superior pitching. Only a loss to Earlham prevented a perfect 1-0 mark. After a 1-0 win, the straight victories followed, and the bounds stood at 19-7.

It was downhill after that, 5 straight losses, and 2 of them were heartbreakers for the Taylor team. (Taylor went on to win the conference, with a record of 16 and 2). A chance breaking the playoffs still prevailed with 4 consecutive losses.

It was the last straw, and the hounds proceeded to make a great deal of credit for making the squad realize its true potential and pulling it to its good level. So to all the Fayers, I say congratulations on a very fine and successful season. Good Luck next year.

Speaking Of Sports

By PAUL GLASIE

Indiana can be proud of its Indiana Pacers, who came from "no man's land" to win the eastern division championship of the American Basketball Association. The Pacers were down 13 to 33, but they rallied to win the contest in a score of 133 to 131. Coach Bobby Leonard, of the Pacers, deserves a great deal of credit for making the squad realize its true potential and pulling it to its good level. So to all the Pacers, I say congratulations on a very fine and successful season. Good Luck next year.

With the month of May upon us, Indianapolis has been turned into the racing capital of the world, as people from far and near fill our city to capacity to witness the 500 mile race. Drivers such as A. J. Foyt, Mario Andretti, and Bobby Unser, promise to make this year's 500, the fastest and most thrilling one of all.

In regard to sports at I.C.C., it has been a very good year. Bill Bright's hounds capturing the conference spot in the conference, in cross-country; Coach Voets' excellence winning the H.C.C. conference championship; and last, but not least, Coach Voets' making the A.A.A. playoffs, and advancing to Kansas City before being ousted by the Pacers of West Virginia.

With conference titles yet to be decided, in soccer, baseball, and track, I would like to wish the team good luck throughout the remaining season, and to congratulate them for jobs well done in their respective seasons.

Great Moments In Sports

The 1969-70 sports year has provided many moments of fun and excitement, such memories that I can never forget are: 1. Bobby Uster winning the 500; 2. The United States dominating the Olympics, and 3. Detroit defeating St. Louis in the World Series. There are many more great moments in sports that are worth mentioning. Here are a few that have been mentioned by I.C.C. students:

Robert Williams: Indiana Central defeated Hanover, to advance to the playoffs in Kansas City. Marlo Millesen: Representing I.C.C. in the N.A.A. Wrestling tournament in Kansas.

Denny Walker: Fritz Holl recovering from long season injury to lead the hounds to a second place standing in the conference, to participate in the Little State Track and Field meet. The hounds only scored six points in the rough competition, but they turned in some fine performances.

Dennis Walker established an unofficial school record in the men's run with a time of 4:35.55. (This is not a school record because Walker placed fourth in the race, and a school record requires 3 watches to be officially.) In the 440, Greg Cook blasted off a sizzling 49.9 quarter to place fourth, and Gary Romesser ran a quick 4:02 two-mile race to place fourth.

Weekend Sports

On Friday, May 16, the golf team defeated Hanover and has a great chance to capture the 1969 H.C.C. championship. It was a very close match, with the score being Greg Bixler, Buck Bichlman, and the rest of the squad were Gary Bixler, Jack Martin, and Ed Owery.

The Greyhound tracksters were defeated by the Hoosier Southern, but they placed 5th in the 5th track meet in which they participated. Two teams had easily finished third, but to increase the score of Greg Cook, and Joe Ante, the Greyhounds.

In the meet, the Greyhounds were 9th in the conference, and Gary Romesser broke the record in the 2-mile by some 5 seconds, as he covered the distance in 11 minutes and 6 seconds. The old record was held by Bob Bielke.

In the mile, the Greyhounds' 4-2 mile broke the record by a little over a second. The old record was held by Dick Everhart.

Bar Tender
Women's Sports

The women's track and field team hosted a track meet against Indiana State University and Huntington College. The women winning places in the meet are as follows: 400 relay; second place, Hamlin, Martin, Vining, and Baumann. 100- yard dash; third place, Janet Baumann. Softball throw; first place, Diana Norton; third place, Karen Hamilton; fourth place, Diana Norton and Kathy Luedke. Dick Martin, Diane Buncy, Linda Stover, and Karen Hamilton presented certificates to Karen Hamilton, Kathy Luedke, and Diane Buncy.
