New Money Maker

Selling popcorn seems to be an unusual way to make the money for a college education, but it is working very well for a group of students in New York City.

Some fifty of them have been working the last few weeks for a new firm called Pop-A-Doodle, which furnishes them with small carts, uniforms and the ingredients for making popcorn and pays them a 20 per cent commission on their sales.

On weekends their commissions have reached $10 to $20 a day. Week day sales, while not that high, have also been substantial.

They go wherever people congregate, shopping centers, parks, athletic events, school areas, and just busy street corners.
The demand for popcorn — at a quarter for a large bag — is phenomenal, and lots of New Yorkers have been buying a bag as a cheap and healthy substitute for lunch. One big advantage of the Pop-A-Doodle job for students is that they can work on their own time, days, evenings or weekends. Another is that no training or experience is required.

The company is now opening distribution-shops in all parts of the U.S. and it will soon have many jobs available for students, both men and women. Anyone interested in applying for one of these positions is asked to write to Pop-A-Doodle, Inc., 60 East 86th Street, New York City.

An Activist

Whitney M. Young, Jr.

America will deeply miss Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League. The late civil rights leader suffered a heart attack March 12 and died at a beach in Lagos, Nigeria. He was buried with other black leaders attending a meeting sponsored by the African-American Association.

Called a moderate in the Civil Rights Movement, he will long be remembered as an activist. An articulate spokesman, he not only defined America's problems but worked diligently to solve them.

President Nixon, in responding to the tragedy, dispatched an Air Force plane to Nigeria to return the body to the States. He also delivered the eulogy at Mr. Young's burial in Lexington, Kentucky.

Instead of delivering the eulogy, I think the President's words would have been more meaningful if he had arranged a conference with minority leaders in an effort to deal with their problems. After all, it was in this area that Mr. Young gave so much of himself.

Former Central Student Dies

Former Central freshman Margaret (Peg) DeKruyter was found dead in her home Saturday night after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes. Also found dead were her parents Mr. and Mrs. John DeKruyter. Her brother, David, and her stepbrother, Joseph Walters, are in serious and fair condition respectively in Marion County General Hospital.

Apparently Mr. and Mrs. DeKruyter had had an argument on Friday night and Mrs. DeKruyter took blankets and pillows out to the car to sleep. Evidently some time during the night she turned on the car for warmth. Carbon monoxide fumes seeped through the kitchen door adjoining the closed garage and filled the house. When police arrived the ignition was still on and the gas tank was empty.

Peg was found in her upstairs bedroom, Mrs. DeKruyter still on the front seat of the car, and Mr. DeKruyter on the kitchen floor, apparently overcome while trying to find the source of the fatal fumes.

The two boys' lives were saved by a crack in the window in the basement room where they were sleeping, which allowed enough oxygen in to sufficiently dilute the fumes.

A family friend, Mrs. Grace Lester, who had been trying to telephone the DeKruyters all day Saturday, finally aroused young Walters. He told her that he was "awfully sick" and that he thought his father was dead in the kitchen. She asked her to please call the police.

Peg was a freshman music major at Central first semester this year, but transferred to Indiana University second semester. Apparently she spent most weekends at home.

Opening April 22

Romeo and Juliet

Seldom, if ever, in stage history has so much learning and action been packed into the telling of a tender love story as is done in Romeo and Juliet, the tale of the squabbling Montagues and Capulets, whose intrigues are resolved only with the deaths of the son and daughter from each of the hostile houses. Adventure is piled on adventure in the Bard's lyric recounting of the sudden love of Romeo for Juliet Capulet (unhappily betrothed to another), the lovers' secret marriage, Romeo's banishment for killing the bride's cousin, and the tragic trial at Juliet's tomb less than a week after the lovers' meeting, when Romeo takes his life in the belief that his beloved is really dead.

Romeo and Juliet was originally produced about 1595, and its immediate popularity has never waned over the 400 intervening years. The revival of O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra" will be presented in June.

The revival is of the thirteen act trilogy which marks the 150th anniversary of its original production in New York. This will also be its first professional revival in the East. Note also that Players present Romeo and Juliet on April 22, 23, 24, 25, and May 1. Tickets are now on sale at the Hamberg Auditorium box office.

New Alumni

Director Named

Dr. Gene N. Steil, President of Indiana Central College, today announced the appointment of James L. Brummers as Director of Alumni Relations, effective July 1. He succeeds Dean Hamborg who has been the director for the past seven years.

Brummers, a 1964 graduate of Indiana Central, has taught physical education and English and coached basketball, baseball and football at Butler Junior High School in Lawrence since 1966. In 1967 he organized a program of summer park activities in Lawrence and has administered the program for the past four summers.

During his senior year at Indiana Central, Brummers was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. He has continued his education and will receive the Master of Science degree in Education from Indiana University in June.

He holds memberships in the Indiana State Teachers Association and the National Education Association. He is a graduate of Martinsville High School.

Brummers, the son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Sauer, Central's 1967 Homecoming Queen, has two children, Dean James, age 2, and Kyle Lee, age 3. They presently reside in Martinsville.

When the Call Comes

You're a Man of the World

As a Combat Soldier

Part II

today's Action Army offers an opportunity for more education

After every training test, they weighed and measured for height, they descended to another level, over freezing fife into a larger room andoned to talk for an hour sitting at desks. Well, a doctor will treat them right. Just the word, "doctor," makes them feel a little better. A doctor is someone whose very presence makes a person feel important. If a doctor comes when you are sick then it must be true that you get better. But if a doctor comes when there is a calm, capable hand on your wrist, then that boy counts!

Brian Thompson

The Pen and the Gavel

At press time, there will be a new slate of Central Council officers, so it seems fitting that I should remind me in my final PEN AND GAVEL about my activities during this past year.

The word "central" is often defined as a point from which all tend to be selected from. But does anyone really define a "central" point from which all tend to be involved? I believe that the Administration's final analysis of any change or program comes down to the student body's interaction with the change. This policy makes it especially important that non-Central Council members be involved from the beginning.

My only wish for next year is for the continued interest of all those who have helped me, plus new interests from those who find it easier to work with the new Central Council officers.

College Theatre Festival Open

WASHINGTON — A new rock musical, "The Birds," opened the third American College Theatre Festival to a packed house at the George Washington University Center Theatre. Walter Kerr's English adaptation of the Aristophanes play was presented by Cleveland State University, one of the colleges and universities to be selected from across the country to perform in this year's Festival. Other rock songs for the Greek choral chants of "The Birds," and these, along with extensive background music, were "The Screamers" played by "Woodsmoke," a six-member Chicago rock group.

The opening night audience were Senator Vance Hartke of Indiana, Gerald Freedman, director of the original off-Broadway production of "Hair," Rep. Kenneth Gray and Rep. Thomas F. Riehle of Illinois; Rep. Albert Johnson of F. Hayley. Paul; Larry Wynn of Kansas and Rep. Roger H. Zillon of Indiana; Ralph E. Decker and Mrs. Joseph Shover, trustees of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts; William C. Blair, Jr., General Director of the Kennedy Center; George London, the Kennedy Center's Artistic Administrator, M. A. Selinger, vice president of American Express; James Bass, vice president of American Oil Company and Dorothy Berts Marvin, for whose University of Illinois Theatre Institute, the Kennedy Center is named. A gala party with rock music by Keith Kilgar's Second Stage followed the performance.

"The Birds" was presented twice on March 22, at 2:00 and 7:30 p.m., at the Center Theatre. Each performance was followed by the first of two Festival series at Ford's Theatre with William Windom, the next performance being on March 23 at 7:30 p.m. The Festival will continue at both theatres through Sunday, April 1.

Workshops and critique sessions led by Gerald Freedman will be held for all of the Festival companies, who will spend six days in Washington. The students will also attend performances by other companies and be given a tour of the Kennedy Center, which is presenting the Festival with the Smithsonian Institution.

Also performing in the Festival, in order of appearance, will be State University of New York at Albany, "Harry, Noon and Night"; University of Kansas, "Audrey II"; Illinois University, "The Caretaker;" University of North Carolina, "Wooyock;" University of Idaho, "The Rivals;" Northern Illinois University, "The Scarcrow;" University of Evansville, "The Trojan Women;" Occidental College, "The Balcony of Saki Merabi;" University of Massachusetts, "The Clouds."

Each production will be given three performances. A complete schedule of Festival performances with ticket prices is enclosed.

Teather productions by 20 colleges and universities were screened by region for the committees for the 1971 Festival. The ten finalists were chosen on the basis of regional nominations by a committee representing the American Educational Theatre Association (AETA) and the American National Theatre and Academy (ANTA), producers of the Festival. Actress Peggy Wood, former President of ANTA, is honorary chairman of the committee. Professor Robert C. Kase of the University of Delaware is chairman, the Executive Producer of the Festival is Donald.

Indiana Central Council Meeting

The meeting was called to order by President Mark Shurn. The minutes were corrected and approved. Mark Whitman reported that we have a balance of $2,740.84 with no outstanding bills.

COMMITTEE REPORTS
Ron Young reported that there will be a square dance Friday night, and also a matinee sponsored by the Sophomore Class. On March 31st there will be a dance featuring "The Soul of Broadway." The last school dance there were only 40 people in attendance. From now on, anyone wishing to sponsor an activity should first contact Ron in order to prevent any conflicts. Ron will try to change the date of the square dance.

John Tolley submitted a report on the activities of the Religious Committee.

Kerr Berg reported for Uniford. There will be a meeting this week concerning how changes for women. A poll is now being taken in the women's dormitory on whether Freshman women should have the same hours as upper class women. A vote is also being taken on whether all senior women should have no hours or it should be only for those over 21. There should be a final decision made by next week. There has also been a guard change for the dorms. Further information will be sent out on this when details have been finalized.

The Body Politick

By FORREST BRUNER

Not only are the individuals within a nation entities; so also is the nation itself. The separate persons within a nation on mass make up the Body Politick. As the nation faces well, the individuals within that nation as a whole will fare well. If a large enough number of persons within that nation do not fare well, the nation cannot fare well. Thus, the life of the Body Politick effects each individual, and that individual effects the life of the Body Politick.

Now, the persons within the Body Politick are working in harmony, the nation functions near its optimal capacity and the system is healthy. If a large number of people are continually working at odds concerning matters related to the vital life functions of the Body Politick for a long period of time, the nation will die. For this reason the Body Politick must establish rules, laws and enforce them (police, courts, armed forces, etc.) or it will cease to exist.

This brings up the question of how much power the individual is to have and how much control. The individual is too large a number and does not control most of the power and leave little to the individual. Others, such as the United States, try to establish a working balance between the power of the individual and that of the Body Politick. One thing is certain: if the individual is given too much power the Body Politick will perish, and with it will be placed in a perilous position.

This is the situation in the United States there is considerable disruption within the Body Politick. As long as it is in accordance with the laws, it must be allowed. When it is not in accordance with the laws the Body Politick has not only the right but the obligation to eliminate it. Every person within the nation by living in it has tacitly agreed to obey the laws of the nation. Therefore; no person has the right to disobey the law. If he cannot abide the laws he has the right to leave or to work in illegal ways to change them. However, if he elects to stay he is obliged to obey as long as the laws have effect. The nation that fails to adequately enforce its laws has broken faith with every person of the Body Politick.

HAPPY EASTER TO ALL

this paper was once a read it and share it-so that others may live.

Mike Shurn reported that the student members on the Feeblemaster committee met with Dr. Sease. Mike has a 3 page clarification available for anyone who wishes to read it.

- NEW BUSINESS

Dean Smith has secured the dates of May 21st & 22nd for the Council Retreat. The cost will be $30 plus $2.50 per person at Tumbling Waters.

The committee for the Organization of the Year Award met and decided on some revisions for the award. They made the suggestion that a group of faculty members make the final decision, but it was pointed out by Mrs. Peterson that this award is made by Central Council so probably should be directly picked by the Council. Mike pointed out to the Council that the final decision was to be sent to him thanking him for his assistance in this matter.

A week of programs has been set up for Black Emphasis Week. Kerr Berg moved that Central Council support this Week of activities. It was seconded and passed. Lisa Johnson can be contacted for further information on this.

The Body Politick

A group of Central students representing the committee for the Peoples Peace Treaty informed the Council on the issues concerning this, and asked for ratification by the Council. After some discussion it was moved by Mark Whitman that Central Council endorse a student body vote on their beliefs concerning this resolution, and that any action taken from this vote of students be the only action until results of this referendum are made public. It was seconded and passed. The committee for the last school term will be given time to get information out to the students, and they will let the council know when they want the referendum votes taken.

This will be done in chapel in order to reach as many of the students as possible.

The Council has been invited to Dean Woodrow's home for the March 30th meeting. Dinner will be served after the meeting.
