Come Along To The Central Council Retreat

Central Council Retreat is a time for students, faculty members, and College administrators to discuss the many aspects of life at Indiana Central, and to make plans for the coming year.

This year the retreat is being held at Tumbling Waters Cave, where there are facilities for swimming, sports, hiking, and overnight heated lodges. There are only a few simple preparations which must be made on your part. The most important thing is that you sign the check on the council office door if you are going, also indicating whether or not you can drive and if you will be staying Friday night. All expenses will be met and all food furnished by Central Council. You need to bring only a blanket, a swimming suit, and an overnight article if you are staying Friday night.

So, get your things together and sign up for the trip, for this will be your chance to have some discussion with college administrators, faculty members and others about what's happening here at Central. The time will be Friday, May 21st and Saturday, May 22nd.

"Raindrops" Theme

Raindrops was this year's theme of the May Festival here at Indiana Central College. This year the festival had a three-fold purpose. It was to pay our mothers a well deserved tribute, the second was to say thank you and good-bye to last year's May Queen and third to say hello to our new May Queen. The May Festival is presented each year by the Health and Physical Education Department.

The master and mistress of this year's festival were Dr. John Swank and Mrs. Joanna Sease. The show was an array of acts which paid tribute to our outgoing queen. The queen to which we paid good-bye last night was Mrs. Billie Vinion. Billie's court consisted of Micky Gordon, Debbie Sholes, Susan Tedenshek, and Jo Anne Voss. The attendants to Queen Billie were Jennifer Huffman and Eric Fowler. Steven Hamilton paid a tribute to the queen by singing "Close to You," made popular by the Carpenters.

The "C" Association presented the Queen with a gift of a present. At the show were Pete Leeds, Diane Norton, Dr. Robert Cramer, Annette Krueger, the Stage Band conducted by Linda Smith, Cynthia Stith, and numerous others who didn't participate but took a hand in putting the show together.

At the very end of all the events we introduced the candidates for May Queen. They were Miss Janie Bryant, a music major from Anderson, Indiana; Laona Goddington, an Elementary Education major from Indianapolis, Indiana; Susan Klingerman, a Chemistry major from Kalkert, Indiana; Linda Sager, an Elementary Education from Portland, Indiana; and Linda Smith, a biology major from Wood, Indiana. Linda Smith was chosen as the May Queen for the 1971-72 academic school year. Her escort was her brother Charles C. Smith. Her attendants were Grace Gibson and David Edmonds; her cousin, Brian Borroughs sang "For All We Know," in honor of Queen Linda.

We also must note that Linda is the first black student to reign as May Queen and this should give all the blacks of Indiana Central College something to be proud of as well as all the other students here at Central. We have chosen a beautiful person to do a beautiful job of representing our school at all its functions.

Let's support her and wish her the best of luck in the coming school year.

Noboby Ever Dies of Overpopulation

Those of us who are deeply concerned about population and the environment—"econuts," we're called—are accused of seeing herbicides in number; it will do as well as any, for we will never know. The nameless ones who died, "unimportant! people far beyond the fringes of parasites as the "cause of death" of millions of people. It is well speaking, a delta belongs to the river and the sea; man obtrudes there at his structure, left no trace of their existence. Pakistani parents repaired the crowded, no sane man would bring his family to such a place. Ecologically, malnutrition is an important antecedent of death in all these categories; growth, man has ignored it and wasted it. Man has driven the wonderful natural wealth and beauty of the earth. There seems to be some interest in this cause at individual, medical, and governmental level. It is probably one of the most worthwhile causes going today. The unfortunate people, it is that Central environmentalists are either phony or else just as allied to utilities and industries and governments that they condemn.

How long has it been since you drove down Bangladesh and gave your campus a good look? I don't mean a look to see who is on the sidewalk or whose car is on the horseshoe. I mean particularly the lawns in the horseshoe and in front of Schwartz Center. The administration must be flexible enough to change our name to the name we rightfully deserve: Indiana Central University.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The environment seems to be foremost in the newspapers and magazines these days. More people than ever are beginning to understand the particular hand we're screwing to the top of their lungs about the gross injustices that Individuals, industry, and governments are to the natural wealth and beauty of the earth. There seems to be some interest in this cause at Individual, medical, and governmental level. It is probably one of the most worthwhile causes going today. The unfortunate people, it is that Central environmentalists are either phony or else just as allied to industries and governments that they condemn.

Chinese Speaks on Socialist-Realism

BY FORREST BRUNER
Many of us in the United States proclaim themselves to be Marxist-Leninists. Let me assure you that they are wrong. The very reason they think they are pro-Marxist is the fact of our being forced to live in all their activities. In order to aid our readers (so totally the SDS, White Panther Party, and others) in discerning a few enlightening examples of basic Marxist-Leninist policy as received over Radio Peking on March 17, 1971.

1. “By taking part in Bologna elections, a Marxist-Leninist Party will corrupt itself . . .”

2. “Agricultural revolution is necessary for any Marxist-Leninist Party. This is true of all the parties, the Vietnamese exception.”

3. “This last statement is false in the sense that the majority of our people are not revolutionaries. However, such groups do exist as the bombing of the United States employing and thousands of lesser known buildings attests. Our guilt lies not in open support of these groups, but in our refusal to understand the profound act of lawlessness.

In conclusion, let me extend my heart-felt thanks to the members of the commune for all they have done on behalf of China. Of great help by way of information in the writing of this article.

interests, has had experience as an educator, physiologist, college president and farmer. His long association with Indiana Central College and educational distinction of being one of the five members of the graduating class of 1913. He taught in an elementary school before he went to Indiana University to obtain a masters degree. In 1913 he went on to Princeton University where he received his PHD here in the field of education.

During the Depression era, he returned to Indiana to organize an Emergency Education Campaign. However, the campaign failed due to the classes and pre-school classes to help employ many of the teachers who were out of work. Later he joined the faculty of Central Normal College in Danville as Supervisor of Instruction. Rapid promotions came his way and eventually he was made President of the college. Under Dr. Hightower’s leadership the offerings of Central Normal were expanded included business and pre-professional courses, thus making the college more relevant.

He has also served as a clinical psychologist and has organized programs of pastoral care and counseling. He will receive the degree, Doctor of Letters.

A RUDIMENT OF LIFE
You’re a rare rudiment of life To be so small and so weak Be your blowout extensive And your nectar fertile Like that

Inded such a rare beauty They shall gaze upon you And watch your extinction On earth ‘n hellish

Close not your rudiments by night Nor withdraw your sense of being Become not weary of life’s vine Caused by death or contention Whether on life’s vicence because Yours is a battle to plac Your days, months and years shall fall Thus another biography shall be written

Outstanding College Athletes Named

Six Indiana Central College students have been chosen to appear in the 1971 edition of OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA. Selected from the local school are: Rick Allen, 2205 E. Stop 10, Indianapolis; John G. Davis, Salem, Ind.; Phil Eads, Franklin, IN.; Mark Whitman, New Albany, IN.; Charles Yancey, 4133 Matthews Ave., Indianapolis; Ron Young, Newington, Newington, IN.

Announcement of their selection was made by the Board of Advisors of OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA, in annual awards volume published to honor America’s finest college athletes.

Coaches and athletic directors from individual colleges and universities across the nation nominated the winning athletes on the basis of their displayed abilities, not only in athletics but also in community service and campus activities.

Other criteria for those selected for OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ATHLETES OF AMERICA included strength of character, leadership both on and off the playing field, and scholarship.

According to the late Coach Vince Lombardi, those chosen as Outstanding College Athletes distinguish themselves because necessary traits for leadership have been learned on the playing field.

These traits, Lombardi said, are “sacrifice, self-denial, love, gentleness, humility, and the perfectly disciplined will.”

The program’s Board of Advisors is chaired by James Jeffrae, Executive Director, Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

I. C. Adopts New Calendar in 1971

Indiana Central College will initiate a new calendar for the fall semester opening on September 13. Called the “Indiana Central Plan,” this new calendar will consist of four 9-week trimester programs.

The feature which distinguishes the flextimer from other college’s interim or trimester programs is the provision which will allow students to take a quarter hour course for 2, 4, 6, 8, or 10 weeks in length. This offers a variety of options that can be arranged to meet the needs of both students and professors. Credits for these programs is allowed on the basis of one hour per week.

Although the entire summer session will be known as the flextimer, most full-time day students will be concerned only with a 4-week summer session immediately following the spring semester. Beginning with the freshman class of 1971, all students will be required to enroll in at least three of the 4-week periods during their four years in college. Shortened semesters this is necessary to meet graduation requirements. Present students, of course, will enroll in the special periods only as required to complete their work. Students who want to accelerate their educational program may arrange to graduate in three years by enrolling in all three 11-week semesters per year.

The feature making this plan unique is that the student will not be required to plan courses for more than 4 weeks at a time. This offers a variety of options that can be arranged to meet the needs of both students and professors. Credits for these programs is allowed on the basis of one hour per week.

Working together for over a year a faculty- student committee sought to devise a plan which would allow for greater variety in course offerings, and give marked flexibility in time and duration, as well as location of class meetings. Thus was born the flextimer. Designed to provide exciting opportunities for creativity, it will utilize, as fully as possible, study abroad, special field trips, seminar classes, experimental courses and various projects for individual study.
