HUNTER TO SPEAK

Religious Emphasis Days will be observed at Indiana Central College during the week of November 14–19. In connection with the New Life Mission, which will be held at the University Heights United Methodist Church, the speaker for the week will be the Reverend George Gill Hunter, III.

Rev. Hunter is a staff missionary with the General Board of Evangelism of the United Methodist Church. He has lived in the community for five years and has been in charge of the New Life Mission.

Academically, Hunter is the product of more than ten years of higher education. He holds the B.D. degree from Florida Southern College, the B.D. from Emory University, and the Th.B. from Princeton Theological Seminary; he is presently a candidate for the Ph.D. degree from Northwestern University. At Florida Southern, Hunter received a junior all-around record in leadership, athletics, and scholarship and was named the 1960 Homecoming Student. At Emory’s Candler School of Theology he was student body president and graduated cum laude with a double major in Systematic Theology and New Testament Theology. At Princeton, he did his master’s studies in theology and ethics. Hunter’s program at Northwestern is in public address and communication theory, with special emphasis in the advocacy of the message of Christianity to the outsider.

Hunter writes: “We are perceiving that four crises have emerged in almost every local church in America. These crises are seen at the points of cost, commitment, community, and compassion. By these means put into a dilemma of safety, they are known only by the men in the mission. These crises are in the mission, and it is time to work to meet them.”

Presidents Ball

Scheduled Dec. 3

The paintings and silvotype drawings of Gerald Boyce, Professor of Art at Indiana Central College, are currently being featured in a display at the Gallery, 202 North Grant, Bloomington.

The display, which opened one week ago and will run through Nov. 27, also includes an exhibit of African art from the collection of Charles and Joan Bird.

Boyce, who has been associated with ICC since 1955, is a well-known artist, both locally and nationally. He received his B.S. degree from Milwaukee State Teachers College, his M.F.A. degree from the University of Iowa, and has done advanced study at the Milwaukee Art Institute, the Guatemala-American Institute and Indiana University.

Gallery hours are 9-10:30:00 a.m.
HODGEPodge

Well, gang, the days are getting bitty here at good ol’ ICC. It is time to give up the skinny look and start thinking about how to deal with winter. Winter is one of the most beautiful and exciting seasons of all. I can hardly wait to get outside and help fill my fellow grounds and build a snowman...or maybe even a snowhound (Snoopy?). Speaking of hounds, don't you think the Whippets have finished another season with four wins and four losses...a great improvement over the previous season? They have really been on a roll. I hope you have a minimum question. Just what would you define as a snippet?

Mr. Hallin Whisker, Chevrolet dealer in Morgantown and graduate of the class of 1951, is shown presenting a new car warranty to President lesseur Leo Miller on Mr. Whisker has agreed to help the college a new nine-passenger Chevrolet wagon at his cost and then replacing it each fall with a new model at no additional cost to the college.

End and Nancy Geyer. I personally don't know all that much about football, but it sounds as if we are beating everyone we best. We scored 3 against Ossion, 4 against Butler, 6 against Anderson (where two of my favorite guys go), by the way, and last but not least we scored against DePauw three times. And do you know that the Whippet is single every one of them? Now I will give you specific names: the Whippet is a member of the girls' sports team and has just finished field hockey for the season. This year, the team consisted of: Freshmen: Valerie Rigsby, Sue Wiley, and me. Juniors: Kendra Early, and Rita Robbins. Seniors: Tina Morris and Nancy Geyer. I am sure that by next season, we might be able to put together a completely successful team of ladies who are only losing two of our members to the crazy world of college, so that the Whippets will be in even more play than they are now. Now you are my personal view that it will be even better.

All school. I haven't decided what era's company. Some people may think that the Whippet's are a world with Keith! For luck. And I feel that congratulations should be extended to this hard-working group of girls. I must confess that there were a few arguments in the hallway, but secondly, you are getting your just desserts. Replacement for freshmen? Quixote is. Last but not least, why was it this year as it was in your field hockey, and it is my personal view that it will be even better.

Well, there is not too much more to add to HodgPodget except to say that I certainly have been away from football's lately. This week, my cousin, Susan Phillips...education major at Ball State, will have to face up to the fact that she is no longer a teenager. Yes, she is at the old age of twenty years. Her birthday is exactly one year away. I am sure that you will miss her, but she is good luck with Keith! For luck. And I feel that congratulations should be extended to this hard-working group of girls. I must confess that there were a few arguments in the hallway, but secondly, you are getting your just desserts. Replacement for freshmen? Quixote is. Last but not least, why was it this year as it was in your field hockey, and it is my personal view that it will be even better.

This brings me to a little thing that I'm staring at a birthday club. Here's how you can enter. If your birthday falls in January, in February, enter this year with the interests, and anything else during the month of December (trip it in my mailbox, digit? That way, I will be able to remember all of you in a special birthday issue during the month of December. If you happen to have a birthday club, you will tell you through the media of HodgPodget when to expect a special issue. Well, my closing words are now that you are over the hump of mid-term, you can enjoy your rest and recover, but don't forget about mid-YEAR.

Beye and God bless you.

GHOST TOWN ON THE MOVE

In the past two years Indiana Central has initiated changes that have prompted some to say that it is a progressive school. It has inaugurated a new president who has had the remarkable quality of not only genuinely liking students, but also of being genuinely liked by them; it has dedicated a new football stadium; and it has initiated a new curriculum that enables a student to have more freedom in pursuing his education. All this has helped to make ICC a "school on the move." Unfortunately, it did not earn this title for reasons alone.

It does not take a person long to notice that every Friday at about 4:00 p.m. there is a mad rush of students back to the dorms as a mass exodus begins. There is the sound of chaotic suitcases—which could probably be heard on the floor was right—followed by the deashing blast of engines and the screaming of tires as three-fourths of the campus vacates ICC. Yet, the situation is not as bad as it seems. The problem is that there is something wrong with open visitation—which is how there is such activity.

Open visitation was attempted on a trial basis last year and worked successfully. So far this year there have been no major problems. Of course, there are a few who seem to be using the hours to go to parties, and to do all the other activities that can be done on a college campus. These arguments are not new; they have been around for many years. But perhaps it is time to consider whether or not they are justified. We have heard from ICC's staff on the topic of open visitation. This is a dramatized account of a man's decision on the topic of open visitation. Although it purports to be a dream about the future, this is actually a report on the present balance of nature. It will be a picture of man's future, if he continues to destroy his environment.

The American Wilderness (NBC Educational Enterprises; 1971; color) Man needs space to relax, and Indiana Central can offer an abundance of natural beauty. Our technological society exerts great pressure on wild areas in terms of development and raw material for industrial purposes, such as theくらい recreation is. This film, photographed in the wester United States, shows that they must be preserved in spite of these pressures. Once destroyed, they cannot be legislated back into existence.

"Spirit of the Opera" Opens at Museum

The "Spirit of the Opera" opened at the Indianapolis Museum of Art November 9th in a series of exhibits on behalf of the City of Indianapolis from the Musée des Arts of the Eiffel Tower in Paris. The exhibition, which is free, will continue until December 31st. The films, which are free, will be shown in the museum lecture hall on Friday evening November 12th at 7:30 and again on Saturday November 13th at 3:00 p.m. The ecology problem series is a result of the recognition of increasing public concern over the ecological crisis confronting the world.

YEARBOOKS ARE IN

The 1971 edition of the Oracle, Indiana Central's yearbook, has been delivered at last. According to this year's editor, Carol Highsmith, distribution will take place next week. Only those who were full-time day students during both semesters last year are eligible to receive a free copy of the "71 Oracle." Those who qualify may pick up their yearbooks in the Office of Student Services (Schwitzer basement) on Monday, November 13, from 8:45 to 11:00 in the morning or between 3:00 to 6:00 in the evening. On Tuesday, November 14, and Wednesday, November 15, distribution will be from 9:00 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Only Wednesday, November 12, those who attended school for only one semester last year may purchase yearbooks for $5. If any are left. Those who did not attend ICC at all last year may purchase any remaining books on Wednesday for $10.

P E A C E

P is for people where peace should begin, and it is for the need we want to end.

E is for, as for all, not just me or you.

I is for, as for all, and it is your turn through.

E is for eternity, this peace to last.

Let's make peace of the now; not the past of the peaceful.

Dear Friends:

With the recognition of the People's Republic of China as the legitimate representative of all Chinese people in the U.N., many Americans of any age and some of us are calling for a U.S. reduction in funding of the United Nations.

Because the regular budget of the world organization has been approved, new legislation will only affect the voluntary contributions of U.N. programs such as UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization), WHO (World Health Organization), and UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund); programs which affect the lives of people who are not fortunate enough to be born in a wealthy nation.

Such programs eliminate the causes of war. By cutting U.N. funding, the U.S. will only hurt its image in the world community in an irreplaceable way.

We encourage you with the authority of your student senate or assembly to write your senators and congressmen and Senator Fulbright of the house foreign affairs committee and the senate foreign relations committee.

Night letters are very inexpensive. Please write these people today. Legislation is being drafted, which can set the United States into a most vicious and endless cycle.

You're not alone in this action, this is not only a student action. We're working with businesses, labor, and government leaders through the United Nations Association of the U.S. here in New York and throughout the country. Together we can make an effect in the next two weeks.

Again, time is running out, please act now.

Sincerely,
Mike Shower, President

"Top Dog Award"

Alumni of the Butler B-Men's Association and the Indiana Central Letterman's Association will inaugurate a football "Top Dog Award" to spark interscholastic rivalry between the Butler Bulldogs and the Indiana Central Greyhounds. The presentation of the rotating trophy will be made to the victor of the November 20th game in the Butler Bowl.

Alumni and supporters of both grid teams are sponsoring the first annual "Top Dog Luncheon" which will be held at the Mural, Shrine Club, 330 N. New Jersey on Friday, November 19th. The world's first Top Dog Luncheon, originally proposed on the platform of the Republican National Convention as a "porkers' package."

Alumni and athletic fans of both schools are cordially invited to attend the luncheon. Cost is $5.00 per person. Reservations may be made by sending payment, along with name and address to the Alumni Office, Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana 46201, or to the Alumni Office, Indiana Central College, Indianapolis, Indiana 46227.

Love Means

So what does it all mean? The answer is probably in one of McKeon's own poems: "If you had listened hard enough—you might have heard—what I meant to say: Nothing."

But whatever they meant to say, they say it over and over and over again.

Maybe love means you never have to say...
Eads & Eads
Snob Hanover

An unyielding defense, some hard-nosed running and the aerial team of Phil to Mike Eads enabled Indiana Central's inspired Greyhounds to subdue the 7-3, last Saturday.

The Hounds trailed all afternoon in the frigid,neck-to-neck contest, but it took just an amazing day late in the third period to spur Central on to the game-winning take. Taking over on their own thirty-five as a result of Hanover's loss of the ball on downs, the Hounds sent quarterback Phil Eads rolling to the left. With the Panther defenders in hot pursuit, Phil lofted a pass down the sidelines in the direction of brother Mike. There were a lot of hands around with other passes, but Mike beat the competition with an unbelievable leaping grab at the Hanover 23. From there, it was old reliable Dick Sidebottom who made the 13 and then the 3, where the ball rested at quarters end.

The first play of the fourth stanza saw quarterback Eads fumble, but the alert Sidebottom grabbed the ball in mid-air and dove inches shy of the goal. Phil Eads then scored on a sneak and John Shinney's PAT made it 7-3 with 14:31 showing on the clock.

Hanover's only score came at 8:13 of the first quarter on a 20 yard field goal by Deane Anderson. That in itself was an accomplishment as far as Gardner and crew made a shambles of Hanover's offense all afternoon. Offensive line John Sims came up with two interceptions; and numerous defensive stunts, including Dough Semenick, Gary Baker and Larry Schenbra, all meshed their talents in beholding Hanover.

Offensively, the return of Sidebottom to health was a big factor in ball control, as Rick plowed through the holder 103 yards in twenty carries. Central's record now stands at five and four compared to two and six for Hanover. The Hounds are equal to their best season in six years with games at Earlham tomorrow and the big finale at Butler next Saturday.

Quakers Next on Hound Card

What do you say about a football team that's winning; that they are blocking and tackling and getting the breaks; that those defenses and offenses are beginning to yield?

Eich Segal were writing this, he might also add that Indiana Central fans are going back to a "Love Story" with their Greyhounds. Central is currently sporting a 3-4 record and looks to Earlham this weekend for another win.

IC hasn't had a winner since 1965 when the Hounds won six, but six years is a long time to wait for a better than .500 season.

Looking at Earlham, the Quakers are sporting a slate of 5-1 after a 14-6 victory over Rose-Hulman Saturday. Earlham started the season off at a torrid clip with wins in their first three contests over Principia, Wilmington and Franklin.

In Coach Rick Carter's next four ball games, however, his squad came up short three times with losses to Anderson, Taylor and Manchester. Hanover was the only victory for the Richmond club in that period. Earlham closes their season when they play IC on Saturday.

Quarterback Ralph Merz highlights the Earlham offense as one of the finest passers in the NAIA and the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference. The senior signal-caller's favorite target is split end Mike Pretorius, who leads the league in receptions last season with 37 so far this campaign. Senior center Jerry Estridge, plus John Walthall and Bob Cupp leads an experienced unit on the line.

Bears Making Believers Out-of-Foes

By JOHN SARGO

The Chicago Bears are making a run at the division championship! No kidding—Gate Sayers must be carrying the whole team on his back—right? Wrong! Galloping Gale, possibly the game's greatest broken field runner, is on the bench with ailing knees; while his inspired mates have deserted the basement for the dizzying heights of first place in the NFC's brutal Central division.

Though the Minnesota Vikings were still a game up pending the results of last Sunday's action, the Bears seem to have assembled a steamroller quite capable of going all the way. Here's why: We've got裁es. Mr. animated, loved, and most of all feared, the man must crack a dozen bones every Sunday, and you can be sure they're not his. Don Shy—traded, released, waived—but not finished. He got a chance in Chicago and he's made the most of it. Picking up crucial yardage on the run, he keeps the defense honest for one of the finest passers in the league Randy Dick Gordon. Disgruntled with Bear management throughout his career, Gordon leaves his gripes behind come chance in Chicago and he's made the most of it. Picking up crucial yardage on the run, he keeps the defense honest for one of the finest passers in the league.

Coach Rick Carter's charges have the job at hand.
