Kryter for convo

Dr. Robert J. Kryter, a retired chemical engineer, noted lecturer, and world traveler will give two lectures in convocations. On Wednesday, October 18, Dr. Kryter, an alumnus of I.C.C., will speak on, "Experiences Behind the Iron Curtain," and "Experiences in the Communist countries and how these countries have changed since then." In his second address, which will be given on Friday, October 20, he will use the words of "Ehrenreich Without Hysteria." Dr. Kryter will explain some of the misconceptions of pollution that are prevalent today; and will also tell what we must give up if we plan to control it.

Dr. Sease quoted in Congress by Rep. Bray

"Can a small, church-connected college on the outskirts of a growing metropolis survive in the urban crunch which is sparing the growth of a major, public urban university? The answer is an emphatic yes," according to Dr. Gene E. Sease, president of Indiana Central College. These were the opening words of a newspaper article written by Harley Bierce, which appeared in the Sunday, September 24th, 1972 issue of The Indianapolis Star. The most striking feature of this whole article is that it was quoted by Representative William G. Bray of Indiana, in Congress, on September 26, 1972. Mr. Bray stated his remarks in this way, "Mr. Speaker, there is a great reservoir of the academic strength and growth in the smaller colleges in America. One of the best of these is found in Indianapolis, with Indiana Central College. The following article...tells why." Then he went on to read Mr. Bierce's article.

"Nautatorium" and "Technological Resource Center"

Work is scheduled to be completed on the new addition to Lilly Science Hall by December 15, 1972. Undoubtedly many persons are interested in exactly what building plans are projected for the future. Recently Terry A. Taylor, editor of the Reflecter, interviewed Dr. Gene Sease and asked him what building will be the next to be built.

Dr. Sease, first of all said that he wished to make clear the fact that it is his policy to begin construction of new buildings only when he has definite commitment for all funds necessary for construction.

Dr. Sease then indicated that the next building added to the campus will be what he calls "Nautatorium." The Nautatorium will comprise an indoor Olympic size swimming pool to be built at the rear of Schwitzer Center. The purpose of this new facility will be primarily academic. It will be used to train swimming instructors, and to train students in water safety. The pool will of course be made available to students for recreational activity, and the college is tentatively planning to produce a swimming team.

Next on the agenda will be a new library building. Dr. Sease strongly indicated that the library would be much more than just a place for books. It will be what he called a "Technological Resource Center". That would include the present education laboratory, the Television Laboratory, and the Language Laboratory. Dr. Sease said it is clear that our present library is quickly outgrowing its site. The new Technological Resource Center will be located across the parking lot from Schwitzer Center just east of Dexter Avenue.

Bowman and Ball appointed editors of 1972-73 year book

Rick Ball and Ralph Bowman have been appointed editors of Indiana Central's 1972-73 yearbook, the ORACLE. Rick, a senior from Alliance, Ohio, is majoring in human relations and minoring in business. His co-editor, Ralph Bowman, is a junior majoring in business administration and minoring in economics.

Two other positions on the ORACLE staff have been accepted by freshmen Dave Davis and Beverly Dave. Dave has accepted the position of photographer. He is a human relations major and hails from Crawfordsville, Ind. Beverly, an accounting major from Michigan, Ind., has accepted the position of secretary.

Matt Welsh speaks at ICC convocation

Governor Matt Welsh expressed a favorable opinion of the questions directed to him during Wednesday's convocation. He briefly told various other questions asked him immediately following his speech.

Governor Welsh said he was concerned about the effect of the motorcyle license branches. However, he did firmly support political participation in the state. He stated that he would try to initiate better service within the department, by having the branch offices remain open during the lunch hour. Also, he would try to extend the hours past 5 O'Clock as well as opening the branch offices on Saturdays.

Do you feel that the new constituency of young voters will benefit your bid for re-election? A. "I feel that the trend of the young voters will not sharply benefit either candidate by virtue of age or major. The vote, he predicted, of the young voter would adhere basically to the trends of the "adult" voters.

The same question was posed again in relation to the nondenominational democratic ticket. Governor Welsh contended that his prior view was also applicable to the national ticket.

Man in Nature

The Division of Science and Mathematics will offer the Honors Course "Man in Nature" this fall, the first of a four-hour credit on a pass-fail basis or for a grade. The course is directed by Dr. Robert H. Brooker, Chairman of the Division, and is taught by several members of the division faculty. The course may substitute for part of the science requirement and may be taken as an elective by science department majors and minors. The course is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Man in Nature is an experimental course and changes each time it is offered. The participants in the course take an active role in selecting and presenting various topics. It is their duty to bring up-to-date information on several controversial areas in science. Topics can include contraception, drugs and drug addiction are discussed by experts in that area.

Members of the student body who think that they might wish to enroll should submit a request to the Honors Council. Any member of the faculty of the Science Division can answer questions concerning the course.

When asked if he supported McGovern's original choice for a vice-presidential running mate, McGovern has previously been Assistant Governor replied; "That was strictly McGovern's choice." He preferred not to talk about the "future environment" pertaining to that question.

In regards to McGovern's present choice of a vice-presidential running mate, however, he emphatically agreed.

Briefly recapitulating the crux of the former governor's speech, it could be concluded that among his top-ranking priorities is drug abuse alleviation, with management of the Indiana school system.

I would like to take this opportunity to project what? I think is necessary, to make clear the need for making pertinent of this nature available to the student body.

Honors Day Program to be Held Today in Chapel

Dr. George J. Warheit, Associate Professor of Sociology and Psychology at the University of Cincinnati, will speak at Indiana Central's Honors Day Program Friday, October 13. The program, which will be held in the auditorium, will honor over 100 Indiana Central College students who achieved academic excellence last year.

Dr. Warheit will be returning to his home campus where he graduated Cum Laude. He received his B.D. from United Theological Seminary (also Cum Laude) and his Ph.D. from Ohio State University, and has been a minister at Congregational Churches in Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio. Dr. Warheit has been Research Assistant at the Disaster Research Center of Ohio University and Director of Research and Planning of the United Church of Christ in Ohio. From 1963 - 1965, Dr. Warheit was Research Assistant at the Disaster Research Center, Ohio State, and Associate Professor of Sociology and Head of the Sociology Department at Lincolnwood College, Illinois. He is currently the last Superintendent of the Congregational Conference of Ohio and Director of Research and Planning of the United Church of Christ in Ohio.
Oracle is in your hands

This is another one of those "if you want it, here it is, and get it" editorials. And what do we presume that you want this time? We presume that you want a yearbook. Right?

First of all, to avoid any misunderstanding, this year's returning students, according to the faculty advisor, Mr. Swank, will receive a copy of last year's Oracle. We do not know when it will come in, but there will be one.

However, this editorial does not concern a yearbook which will soon be coming. It does concern a yearbook which has barely just begun, and we do mean barely. One week ago today four students were accepted for the major yearbook staff.

So what are we asking? Very simply, we need a good staff. Surely some of you ICC students were on yearbook staffs in high school. Even if you can only help sell ads that would be helpful, but we do need experienced people.

Sure this year's ORACLE is late. Sure it always seems to have the same old faces in it, and sure we can all not be satisfied. But if you want to make sure we have a yearbook (and a good one) get off your fancy and help.

It's like a lump of clay in your hands. You can shape and mold it into something beautiful, or you can leave it as an ugly lump of clay. Either way, it's in your hands.

R.F.K.

Due to Technical Problems

To understand anything you must understand its history. This is the true, accurate, complete source of the problem. Students are constantly complaining about the yearbook. Why? Because it's late. Why is it late? Because it's technical. Why is it technical? Because there are no technical people to help out with it.

There are many problems with the yearbook. The biggest problem is that it is technical. The paper is not completely typeset, but that is not the real problem. The real problem is that the people who work on the yearbook are not technical people. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders. They are not computer people. They are not typists. They are not Hansarders...
Faculty Profile

This week faculty profile is featuring Mrs. Walter, a former president of Mt. Holyoke College, located in South Hadley, Massachusetts. That school was the oldest institution of higher learning for women in the United States. She was also a member of the class of 1955 at Columbia University.

Mrs. Walter's teaching career at I.C. began in the 1961 academic year in a full-time basis. Her field is English.

Last year Indiana Central granted Mrs. Walter an educational income (following a sabbatical leave) to pursue her doctorate. She would like to quote her experience with gratitude: "I am deeply grateful to Indiana Central for granting me an educational leave last year, enabling me to accept a fellowship."

The topic of her dissertation is "Literature and the Seminar," and Mrs. Walter then is naturally looking forward to having an opportunity to give instruction in a Chaucer-oriented course. Presently she is teaching the freshman honors course in English and Literature for sophomores, and freshman English.

Mrs. Walter is involved in a wide variety of interests, ranging from clothing design to cryptology. For those of you interested in cryptology (study of secret writing) her book on the subject can be found in the library.

Perhaps the most distinguished of a long list of organizations, which Mrs. Walter is a member of, would be the Indiana Indiana association of Professional Women, which Dr. Echel was a former president. Mrs. Walter is also a member of the "English Speaking Union" and holds the position of president for the M.I. Holyoke Alumni Association of Indiana.

There seems to be a lot of conversations lately about the "Ms." title for women. Since it does seem to be a long-term one, Mrs. Walter's opinion of the issue. Initial response was to point out that it has been used for a long time. Many people are subject to the misconception that its use is to in some way enhance the women's liberation movement.

Food Rap

Jack Rogers, director of dining hall service, has announced that the Indiana Central Dining Hall and Food Committee will conduct a food service survey on Wednesday, October 18.

ICC students who have opinions about the dining hall and food service will have a chance to voice their opinions by answering a questionnaire at the Canteen on that date.

Rogers said that it is important that all students take part in the survey "because it gives us good feedback when deciding what students prefer."

COFFEE HOUSE
FRIDAY- 8-12 - LIVE MUSIC
SATURDAY-8-12 GREASER DANCE
SUNDAY-11-1 MARK WILLIAMS
MONDAY-11-18 DANCE

IN THE BASEMENT OF WILMORE
FEATURING SUBMARINE SANDWICHES
Too Few blacks at ICC?

Abdul's opinion

The first week of school has always been very exciting for me for various reasons. It's thrilling to see the freshmen running around trying to find their way around campus and how to do certain things. Earlier in the week color and fascination were added to the already staggering freshmen when President Seal performed the "Greenie Beanie Ceremony." From that point on we knew those who were new and with occasional gaps like sophomores asking freshmen to do simple chores, things went on great. This year of course was just what guys have been praying for. And boy did we have a whole lot of good looking freshmen!

Aside from all those happenings, I have been especially surprised by the shortage of black students on campus.

Definitely some pertinent questions need to be asked. Who's fault is it really? Looking at Central in retrospect, there were quite a few blacks on campus but most surprisingly, apart from those who graduated, all but an insignificant number are back on campus. Did they just flunk out or did they just quit? I am sure there are students who did not make it to Central academically but even at this, how about those who made it but chose to go to some other school? Those of us black students now at Central do not want to feel we are the chosen few. We might have gotten used to the conditions here but how could these conditions be improved so as to cater for new students? We have to be aware of those students who come in to sniff the air and are ready to go just to the other side of the fence. Our fault on both sides, the black students and the administration.

I am not advocating for a change of values or standards to satisfy a small group of students. One hand I think a black student should be well informed about ICC before accepting it. Some people, change is immaterial, but to others change is a must. Thus some think while they are here, they could affect a change but soon find that they have been predestined by people who make the rules but are not in the game. Those of you who will succumb at this, don't forget that ICC is not the world nor the whole ICC.

To the freshmen out there, have it in your minds that if you want to make it to ICC you have to do it the right way. We need you here as much as any other school for the experience is worth living through. ICC will never know how you feel until you have told her so. I have all reason to be critical of those of you, who will be wandering because I think any relevant educational institution should have something to offer to everyone.

Therefore, to the brothers on campus, I say we should all get out to get some of the brothers and sisters outside to attend ICC and also encourage those, who are about to slide to reconsider their decision. If there is a problem of black and white at ICC which I can see is true there is, the problem would not be solved by us running away from it. Surely we don't want ICC to be washed out of the country club, and I am pretty sure the administration does not want it this way either.

Abdul

W.I.C.E. tries to provide programming for everyone on campus. A basic schedule according to Taylor Martin speaks and drama major Jennifer Nowerman director is:

Monday-Friday
4:00-4:30--Easy Listening
6:00-6:30--Middle of the Road (Easy Rock)
8:00-9:00--Free Form (Hard Rock and Jazz)

Saturday
8:00-10:00--Rock
12:00-2:00--Easy Listening
2:00-4:00--Metropolitan Opera
4:00-6:00--Easy Listening
6:00-8:00--Middle of the Road
8:00-12:00--Free Form

The Indiana Pacers started this season's work-outs amidst discussion by fans about off-season activities. Last year, they can come to Indiana Pacers and Bob Netolicky to Dallas. Those discussions (mostly unfavorable) has not been exhaustive and offensive about the Pacers chances to take the ABA's title.

Addition of Donnie Freeman to the Indiana squad was indeed, a welcome one. He is a very deep in the front court. His quickness and competitive backcourt man needed in the lineup. If he has an "off" night, he can still run in his whole game along.

Rookie Don Buse has been the Pacers' surprise of the season. As expected his defensive play has been extremely good, but he has also shown himself to be a good scorer for a rookie. He will compliment Bill Keller and Jon Cummins then to Bill Mount's position more than adequately.

Bubba Ferrier should be able to give Mel Daniels some relief in the middle. He does well on the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

The Pacers finished the season with a disappointing record thus far. The season's a long way from over with seven more dual meets remaining. It will be interesting to see the Hounds runners with a third place finish at the Big-Little State meet. Those of you runners for Central was Rick Stover--eighth, Steve Davis--nineteenth, Barry Beyer--twenty-sixth.

The Hounds record following the dual meet competition, first in the Washabb Hukum Kanar, first in the DePauv Cross Country Meet, and third in the Marion Invitational. The cross country team will look forward to next Friday when they compete at the Big Little State meet on October 14, the Big Little State at Purdue on October 27, and the ICC Meet at DePauve on November 4.

Indiana Central's Harriers continued their winning ways. September 28 at the Hounds traveled across town to defeat Butler, 23-0. Central captured six of the first ten places in the contest on their way to a 2-0 dual meet record.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.

Rickey Green is a great weapon in the middle. He does well in the boards making them a very strong team. He does well as a team player and a good role for a rookie. He should hold the line for the Pacers.

Saturday, September 30, the Harriers traveled to Greensville, Indiana to compete in the Annual DePauv Cross Country Meet. The third in the Marion Invitational. The third in the Marion Invitational.