Central Council officers choose for 1973-74 year

Central Council officers for the 1973-74 school year were elected in Friday's general election.

Kevin Hanni, a junior from Wabash, Indiana, was elected Central Council president. Kevin, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hanni, is a pre-law major, history and business administration major. He served on ICC's student court and as president of the Student Council this year. Kevin is active in track and cross country.

The Council's vice-president will be Alan Peczkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Peczkowski of South Bend, Indiana. Alan, a junior, is an English major and psychology minor. He is active in the Student Organization Relations, Alpha Phi Omega, and is a licensed announcer for WICR, ICC's radio station.

Sophomore Sue Humabarger, a business administration major, was elected secretary of Central Council. Sue is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George Humabarger of Indianapolis. She served as secretary of her class her freshman and sophomore years.

Ron Hall, a sophomore, math education major from Indianapolis, was elected vice-president of religious activities. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hall, of Indiana Central baseball and is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The Council's new vice-president of social activities is junior Gary Robinson. Gary, an elementary education major, is the son of Mrs. Virginia Robinson. Gary is the student manager of ICC's dining hall, a WICR disc jockey, an APF historian, and he is active in the drama department.

Indian Central College will host a news media seminar on Saturday, March 31.

The seminar, co-sponsored by ICC, Sigma Alpha Chi, and the Indiana Collegiate Press Association will serve as the ICFA's annual convention and in conjunction with ICC's celebration of the Reflector's 50th anniversary.

"We are inviting the print and electronic media from all over the state, plus those from Chicago, Detroit, Louisville, and Cincinnati," said Lou Gerig, ICC Director of Public Relations.

Peter Bridge, the New Jersey newspaperman jailed because he would not reveal his sources to a New Jersey grand jury, will be the featured speaker at the evening banquet honoring the Reflector.

"ICC is getting a chance to be a part of an issue that is very close to the journalist's heart—the shield question," commented Lou Gerig, ICC President.

"We are ready to have a chance to host this because of the lead in the seminar this year," he added.

Among the journalists taking part in the program are Bob Greene, a Chicago Sun-Times columnist; Wendell Troggs and Wendell Phillips, Indianapolis News editors; and Bryan Moss, a photographer for the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Randall West, a 1964 graduate of ICC will make a presentation in the photo-journalism session. Randy is the managing editor of the Cordon Democrat.

Reflector editor Terry Taylor feels that the seminar is an opportunity for three groups of people. First, it will benefit the college by making our facilities available and secondly, it will help the Indiana press by mingling students and professionals together, and thirdly, it will make the Reflector known to other student organizations.

Peter Bridge to speak at ICC media seminar

Peter Bridge, the New Jersey newspaperman jailed for 30 days because he would not reveal his sources to a New Jersey grand jury, will be the featured speaker at the Indiana Central College Media Seminar, March 31.

"I'm looking forward to coming to Indiana Central and being with the students and press in Indiana. The shield question is getting a fine-sounding, and the strengths and weaknesses of each argument put forth by the media and government are becoming better defined. With a White House personality in the program, the opinions will be balanced."
Editorial

Do something about meat prices

In case you weren’t aware of it, prices on everything (including tuition) are rising. A lot of you complain about it but few, if any, of you are willing to do something about it. The government is at present refusing to put controls on food prices, and so prices of almost all foods are rising by the week. Meat prices especially are out of control.

I feel that something about this. One thing we can do is boycott meat—if no one buys meat the price will have to come down. Those of you who have your own households can personally help to drive prices down through your shopping practices.

Those of us who live in dorms can also take action as a group. We can ourselves try to control our eating habits. If we can resolve to eat meat substitutes on just one day we can do much to show meat producers disfavour with prices. If we don’t do anything now tuition and fees will continue to rise—and it will hurt you, not business.

If you feel something should be done on this and other matters let your loyalty be heard before Central Council. Ask that a resolution be passed and forwarded to the Dining Hall suggesting a meatless day.

TAT

Editorial

Let’s work together

The one clear conclusion that can be drawn from the recent election of Central Council president is that co-operation is necessary. The election was very close. Of nearly 600 votes cast, only a dozen separated the candidates. The candidate who lost, George Hinterthaler, had indicated the need for some kind of a campaign to get out the student vote. It is agreed that the new president, Kevin Hanni, will take this to heart and work with George and other concerned students to investigate and help to alleviate the problems of student life here at Indiana Central. If nothing else is done we can only look forward to more student apathy and an increasing exodus each weekend. Let’s work together.

TAT

You deserve a break today...

Have you ever felt the financial pinch of working at a job for minimum wage? If so, you know that is difficult enough to earn some spending money, especially on a part-time basis.

This condition affects many college students; therefore, the National Student Lobby is promoting a campaign to boycott all McDonald’s hamburger stands, because their McDonald’s president openly supports legislation that would set a lower federal minimum wage for youth. This boycott may seem an insignificant or possibly silly action because their hamburger president openly supports legislation that would set a lower federal minimum wage for youth.

The condition affects many college students; therefore, the National Student Lobby is promoting a campaign to boycott all McDonald’s hamburger stands, because their McDonald’s president openly supports legislation that would set a lower federal minimum wage for youth. This boycott may seem an insignificant or possibly silly action because their hamburger president openly supports legislation that would set a lower federal minimum wage for youth.

If you feel something should be done on this and other matters let your loyalty be heard before Central Council. Ask that a resolution be passed and forwarded to the Dining Hall suggesting a meatless day.

TAT

REFLECTOR

Published weekly by Indiana Central College, Indianapolis, Ind.
Second class mail permit paid at Indianapolis Indiana.

Editor

Editor in Chief

Mr. Terry A. Taylor

Assistant Editors

Mr. Erland Erickson

Mr. Keith Edwards

Women’s Sports Editor

Barbara Condon

Features Editor

Mr. Walter Howet

Human Affairs Editor

Mrs. Virginia Burks

Photographer

Mr. John C. Young

Art Editor

Mr. Vern Jenson

Secretary

Mr. Beverly Forbes

Editor’s Note

Mr. Lois says: My neighbor is so thin that he gets a backbone and stomach ache in the same place.

Go Ride The Music

Go Ride The Music

By TAYLOR H. MARTIN

It has been a while since I wrote one of these articles for the Reflector, but it all hasn’t been my fault. It’s been lost at the printer’s a couple of times and then I just plain forget to write it. Oh well.

Tedd Rundgren. “Who’s he?” you’re probably saying. Well, everyone who enjoys music has had their lives touched at least once by this multi-talented man. He has produced and engineered the Band, Great-Speckled Bird, Paul Butterfield, and Fahey. He has had hits with different groups and names Nazz, which he helped foster, had a big hit with Open Sky Eyes, with Hunt, which was totally made up of him on all instruments: he had We’re Gonna Get You A Wand and as a solo he has had Be Nice To Me and I Saw The Light. Yet, even though he has had all these things to his credit, people still ask, “Who’s Ted Rundgren?”

Well we at least say what his personality is like when you hear his new album A Wizard-A True Star: HE’S ABSOLUTELY NUTS!!! He starts off his album with Never Land from the musical Peter Pan and clams it with Cool Jerk. Both sides have at least 25 minutes music on them and all of it is good, with the exception of Dog Giggle which is properly named. And to be true; it is the best album I have heard in three years. It even has a song dedicated to Salvador Dali.

I could describe every cut, but that would be ridiculous, because there is just too much music. It is the best album in three years, and it’s about time someone learned there is other music out there.

A Wizard-A True Star-Tedd Rundgren—Bearsseal Records BR213.

Stump the Chumps

For a copy of The Best of Bread, answer the following questions: Keith Emerson, Greg Lake, and Carl Palmer all came from bands which they helped faster, had a hit with Open Sky Eyes, with Hunt, which was totally made up of him on all instruments: he had We’re Gonna Get You A Wand and as a solo he has had Be Nice To Me and I Saw The Light. Yet, even though he has had all these things to his credit, people still ask, “Who’s Ted Rundgren?”

Well we at least say what his personality is like when you hear his new album A Wizard-A True Star: HE’S ABSOLUTELY NUTS!!! He starts off his album with Never Land from the musical Peter Pan and clams it with Cool Jerk. Both sides have at least 25 minutes music on them and all of it is good, with the exception of Dog Giggle which is properly named. And to be true; it is the best album I have heard in three years. It even has a song dedicated to Salvador Dali.

I could describe every cut, but that would be ridiculous, because there is just too much music. It is the best album in three years, and it’s about time someone learned there is other music out there.

A Wizard-A True Star-Tedd Rundgren—Bearsseal Records BR213.

Music News

Nancy Catt will present her junior recital this Sunday, March 20. On Tuesday, March 22, there will be a departmental recital. Watch for the events on nearby bulletin boards.

Seniors

All Seniors are reminded to bring the information needed to order caps and gowns to the business office as soon as possible.

Uncle Looie says: The best way to take an egg from under a chicken is to pull it.

Roper (Joe Catt) comforts his wife Margaret (Lisa Potter) who has just seen her father J. Allen (E. M. Allen) in prison. The scene is from the play "A Man for All Seasons," which is being presented in Humber Auditorium Friday and Saturday at 8:00 p.m.

"Then we're agreed — to satisfy all the demands of the various groups for representation on the committee, we must seek a gay, militant, Jewish, fem libber with black & Chicano parentage!!"
Taylor offered teaching assistance in Ohio

Reflection Mailbag: students rap

An open letter to all I.C.C. students. I would like to congratulate Kevin on his victory and hope he uses it for the betterment of the students. I must say though that I believe we at least fostered interest in this election which has never been done before. Popularity was not a question in this election, ideas were. Our ideas were not defeated though because 252 people can't be wrong. We may have lost by 22 votes, but we won a victory which will be remembered on this campus for a while. The victory we won is that some eyes were opened by this election. The administration, faculty, and students were probably more involved and concerned than ever before.

Above all, though, we cannot leave this place in its present state. What this school was five years ago compared to today does not matter. There is a cultural lag between this school and the outside world and its time this was changed. All through this election people called us radicals. Is it really radical to want to keep pace with society? Is it radical to want more social activities? Is it radical to request our rights? Is it radical to disagree with someone? I don't know, that's a question you'll have to decide for yourself.

We may have been defeated in the election, but we will do everything in our power to make our fourteen points reality. We will support Kevin when he agrees with us and arbitrate with him when he disagrees with us. You can scream the words "love it or leave it," but I will not hear them. For, I say if the school is right keep it right, if it's wrong make it right. Thank you for your support. George Hinterschler

Haven't you heard of the Education Laboratory?

You never heard of the Education Laboratory? You don't know where it is? You haven't taken a class there? Especially—please note. It is in Room 212 of Good Hall.

This is the Education Laboratory as a resource center for education students. The name of the Education Laboratory. In recent years we have changed not only our name, but also our image, and greater attention is now being given to the number and variety of materials.

The library houses in addition to public school textbooks, courses of study, units of work, vertical files of instructional materials, and many audio-visual aids. Here too, there is for purchase, bulletin board trim and backing and poster board in numerous colors.

You want to laminate and laminate a picture? Dry mounting and laminating materials and press can be done in the Education Laboratory as well as a Thermofax copy machine and a Duploplater and supply. Many of our library materials are posted in the laboratory.

It is possible to stain the lodge at Camp Marchcher completed several service projects last year. Alpha Phi Omega, in keeping with its goal's, has really been working hard a

Reflecter Mailbag: students rap

An open letter to all I.C.C. students. I would like to congratulate Kevin on his victory and hope he uses it for the betterment of the students. I must say though that I believe we at least fostered interest in this election which has never been done before. Popularity was not a question in this election, ideas were. Our ideas were not defeated though because 252 people can't be wrong. We may have lost by 22 votes, but we won a victory which will be remembered on this campus for a while. The victory we won is that some eyes were opened by this election. The administration, faculty, and students were probably more involved and concerned than ever before.

Above all, though, we cannot leave this place in its present state. What this school was five years ago compared to today does not matter. There is a cultural lag between this school and the outside world and its time this was changed. All through this election people called us radicals. Is it really radical to want to keep pace with society? Is it radical to want more social activities? Is it radical to request our rights? Is it radical to disagree with someone? I don't know, that's a question you'll have to decide for yourself.

We may have been defeated in the election, but we will do everything in our power to make our fourteen points reality. We will support Kevin when he agrees with us and arbitrate with him when he disagrees with us. You can scream the words "love it or leave it," but I will not hear them. For, I say if the school is right keep it right, if it's wrong make it right. Thank you for your support. George Hinterschler

Haven't you heard of the Education Laboratory?

You never heard of the Education Laboratory? You don't know where it is? You haven't taken a class there? Especially—please note. It is in Room 212 of Good Hall.

This is the Education Laboratory as a resource center for education students. The name of the Education Laboratory. In recent years we have changed not only our name, but also our image, and greater attention is now being given to the number and variety of materials.

The library houses in addition to public school textbooks, courses of study, units of work, vertical files of instructional materials, and many audio-visual aids. Here too, there is for purchase, bulletin board trim and backing and poster board in numerous colors.

You want to laminate and laminate a picture? Dry mounting and laminating materials and press can be done in the Education Laboratory as well as a Thermofax copy machine and a Duploplater and supply. Many of our library materials are posted in the laboratory.

It is possible to stain the lodge at Camp Marchcher completed several service projects last year. Alpha Phi Omega, in keeping with its goal's, has really been working hard a

Day for women

March 9th was declared International Woman's Day. The purpose of International Woman's Day was to raise money for medical aid in Indochina. Funds raised on that day were given to the Women's Hospital and Child Health Center in Hanoi or to be used for medical aid generally throughout Indochina.

International Woman's Day commemorates March 8, 1963 when women workers demonstrated in N.Y.C. for better working conditions and the right to vote. It is a day dedicated to woman's struggle for equality, freedom, and justice. "As mothers, wives, and sisters we must all work together to bring about the complete transformation of our world which has taken away freedom, dignity and the right to live."

Mme. Ngia Tha Thanh Saigon Women's Leader

Uncle Louie says: When one is run down, the best thing to take is the license number.

Students act against crime

Several concerned students recently took action to remedy Central's growing crime wave. The students, including反映者 from the Reflecter and members of Alpha Phi Omega and its Little Sisters, decided to do something about the theft of money and candy from students who planned to study abroad. On March 14, the group took up a collection in numerous places. At one point money was counted and it was learned that almost $31 had been received. This is almost exactly the amount that was taken from the foreign language students when the money was presented to Mr. Meir and Mr. Saltelare later that day, both expressed deep appreciation, not only to the group that collected all the money but to all those who contributed or expressed concern.
Gary Romesser: He just keeps right on truckin'

By JOHN LIKES

This is the first in a series of articles about various senior athletes. I feel that, for 4 years, Gary Romesser was a very fine athlete—check his three school records in track (mile, 2 Mile, and 1 Mile) and his Cross Country school record—these will attest to his ability. Secondly, he is a warm, friendly person—those who have ever known him will attest to that.

Romesser, as Gary is called, graduated from Southport in 1968. After looking over the various colleges, he chose Indiana Central for several reasons. First, and probably the most important, was the scholarship opportunities. However, Romesser states, "the coaches at ICC in my sport is what I was after, because they were easy with me and I appreciated that very much. I know what I stand with them."

Also found that, when he came here, there was a friendly atmosphere that suited him. What is the Program has steadily improved since I have been here.

However, I feel that it needs upgrading now more than ever to be competitive with schools of the same caliber."

Worm's stated that ICC is a very strong school, but definitely could use some sort of social improvement. "The students here seem to detach themselves from each other class and seem to isolate from each other as not to get involved in any extracurricular activities. College is supposed to be one of the best times of a person's life, but the social situation is that you have the opportunity to have a good time socially, either because they don't want to or because they don't have the chance.

Our talk then moved onto the sports and how they have affected Worm's life. "I started running track my junior year in high school and running has been one of the vital parts of my life ever since," stated Worm. "Central has the possibilities to be a powerhouse in their conference and on the National scene, but their program needs to be expanded greatly before this will happen."

Also feel that the trend in coaching has moved away from a more liberalized base, and that ICC should follow that trend in order to have better Athletic relations."

Worm has set his goals for this year, a conference championship for the team they've come to the point where if the players' ability. He keeps his eyes on kids as they come through the entire track system. Worm, his 6'2 senior forward who is a sure thing for the Illinois High School All-Stars, didn't play ball at New Albany until his senior year. Norm had a world of talent but couldn't corral to the point where he could fit in with four other ballplayers. Eventually, however, Overman convinced his prize pupil to do his duty, and you will see the results last Saturday.

Fan of the hat goes to Indiana's baseball squad after they won the 1st round of the College World Series by defeating the Ole' Ballbuckers.

"I tip of the hat goes to the ole' Ballbuckers."

Indiana Central's baseball squad will open its home season tomorrow with Franklin, weather permitting. Due to last week's snowfall, it will also be the actual opening day for the Greyhounds. This year's squad has a lot of potential, but there are some big shoes to fill. Their best players are gone, but the Greyhounds could hope their second ICC title in two years. So come on out to the ole' ball game.

A trio of the hat goes to Indiana's baseball squad for their truly exemplary performances in last week's Mid-East Regionals of the NCAA tournament. This particular writer has been rather skeptical of the Hoosiers and thought they would be out of it in the first round, but their performance in one of the nation's top sports was an example of the team's. Tomorrow's game with U. C. L. A. might very well be one of their best, certainly one of the nation's top sports performances.

One of the best in this year's game is that all 3 of the nation's top teams will be playing in this championship. All three are teams that have been greatly expected to do well in the tournament. However, the Greyhounds must come out on top, as the game is a must-win game for both teams.

Baseball opens with Franklin due to Louisville snow-out

Indianapolis Central baseball will open its home season tomorrow with Franklin, weather permitting. Due to last week's snowfall, it will also be the actual opening day for the Greyhounds. This year's squad has a lot of potential, but there are some big shoes to fill. Their best players are gone, but the Greyhounds could hope their second ICC title in two years. So come on out to the ole' ball game.

A trio of the hat goes to Indiana's baseball squad for their truly exemplary performances in last week's Mid-East Regionals of the NCAA tournament. This particular writer has been rather skeptical of the Hoosiers and thought they would be out of it in the first round, but their performance in one of the nation's top sports was an example of the team's. Tomorrow's game with U. C. L. A. might very well be one of their best, certainly one of the nation's top sports performances.

One of the best in this year's game is that all 3 of the nation's top teams will be playing in this championship. All three are teams that have been greatly expected to do well in the tournament. However, the Greyhounds must come out on top, as the game is a must-win game for both teams.

Baseball opens with Franklin due to Louisville snow-out

Indianapolis Central baseball will open its home season tomorrow with Franklin, weather permitting. Due to last week's snowfall, it will also be the actual opening day for the Greyhounds. This year's squad has a lot of potential, but there are some big shoes to fill. Their best players are gone, but the Greyhounds could hope their second ICC title in two years. So come on out to the ole' ball game.

A trio of the hat goes to Indiana's baseball squad for their truly exemplary performances in last week's Mid-East Regionals of the NCAA tournament. This particular writer has been rather skeptical of the Hoosiers and thought they would be out of it in the first round, but their performance in one of the nation's top sports was an example of the team's. Tomorrow's game with U. C. L. A. might very well be one of their best, certainly one of the nation's top sports performances.

One of the best in this year's game is that all 3 of the nation's top teams will be playing in this championship. All three are teams that have been greatly expected to do well in the tournament. However, the Greyhounds must come out on top, as the game is a must-win game for both teams.