The Lithuanian Republic, who declared their independence from the Soviet Union March 11, is beginning to receive the choke hold from Mikhail Gorbachev. Gorbachev, the man who intends not to use military force to bring the republic back into the Soviet fold, announced Wednesday that all Lithuanian citizens must turn in their guns. Gorbachev also instructed the KGB to strengthen controls on the republic's border.

Gorbachev also temporarily banned the sale of firearms in Lithuania and by force. If he does use force, it would be a only way Gorbachev regains his republic. Lithuania will have them confiscated.

If Gorbachev can persuade the Lithuanians to surrender their firearms, he would definitely go back and bring the republic back into the Soviet fold, announced Wednesday that all Lithuanian citizens must turn in their guns. Gorbachev also instructed the KGB to strengthen controls on the republic's border.

Studies in music and theater, as well as those who play a role in the Soviet Union, are not going to be able to get involved in the activities. Although some of the students and the University Chaplain, traveled to Pine Creek, IN, for their annual spring retreat: "I would definitely go back. It was very peaceful staying in the woods. Although some of the facilities need to be repaired, our lodge was nice," Robert Rohrer said.

The first session on Friday night was the making of egg bags, a bag full of positive notes. Saturday began with everyone's own ideas on the subject. At times, the audience had to refer to the program to figure out exactly where the action was taking place. Costuming was clever and highly appropriate, although sunglasses were needed to protect the audience from the glaring yellow and lavender polo shirts and madras plaid.

Preppies is a refreshing change of pace for the theater department. It is especially appropriate in the college audience that wants to be entertained. It makes students step back, take a look at their own life, and compare it to this play that takes a funny, satirical look at American society.
Letter to the editor: Tuition deposit or investment capital?

I received my annual letter from the business office requesting my tuition deposit for academic year 90-91. As I read it, I wondered to myself why the university requires a tuition deposit. Is this annual ordeal really necessary to keep the university running? I also want to know what the university does with the money all summer. Does the university invest this money or just let it collect interest for the entire summer?

The problem with the deposit is that if a student doesn't pay it they are dropped from all their classes for the fall semester. This could be a problem if a student needs a class that is full in order to graduate. Students who are on scholarships are also required to pay this deposit even if they do not owe the school one red cent! Students seem to have a real incentive to pay the tuition deposit by the required date. In fact they really have no choice in the matter if they want the classes they signed up for in the first place.

It seems to me that the university has found itself a nice little way to increase its cash surplus over the summer months. Because of the cost of summer courses the money couldn't be used for summer school expenses.

My only logical conclusion would be that the university needs additional investment capital. I am not fond of the way our university invests its money in corporations that don't divest themselves from South Africa anyway. So this additional capital squeezed from the students really upsets me. In fact I could almost call this extortion of our student body. To extort is, according to the American Heritage Dictionary, "to obtain money or information from another by coercion or intimidation." If losing classes that were signed up for early during the previous semester isn't intimidation, then what is?

School of Nursing charters honor society

Sigma Theta Tau International is an organization whose main purpose is to recognize superior achievement, facilitate leadership development and support scholarship in nursing. In order to become a member of the Lambda Epsilon Chapter, students must be enrolled in the baccalaureate programs. Students must also have a minimum of 3.0 GPA and be in the upper 35% of their class. Recommendations by either faculty or other Sigma Theta Tau International members are also required.

"It's not just a student organization," said Associate Professor of Nursing Kathryn Flandt, BSN, MSN, SCN. "You may be invited to join as a student but many of the members are alumni and community leaders. Once you're a member, you're a member for life."

Faculty members in the School of Nursing or those who have a graduate degree in nursing may also be invited to join. "It's considered an honor to be a member," explained Flandt. "You can't just join, you must be invited."

Being a member of Sigma Theta Tau will "increase academic credentials," said Flandt. It's a chance for the nursing service and nursing education to work together.

Correction:

Dr. Stephen Graham was incorrectly listed as the teacher of the year in the last issue. Dr. James Conrad was the actual winner. We regret the error.

Opinion Poll

Have you ever felt you were graded unfairly by a professor?

- PalgeBaika, Freshman
  "Yes-like on essays they have their own biased opinions and disagree on your interpretation of a subject and they take it off your grade."

- Diane Swiger, Sophomore
  "Not really that I can remember."

- Elsa Bowen, Sophomore
  "No, I've never felt that I've been graded unfairly. However, I know of people who have felt that they were."

- Tamara Burris, Freshman
  "I have a night class where the professor took off 20 points on a 25 point essay test without telling me why."

- Marc Hamm, Freshman
  "No-I've haven't even been given a reason to think so."

'Indianapolis Report' up and running

By Blake Walker

Sports Writer

Indianapolis Report is a live half-hour newscast that is produced and directed by U of I students every Thursday afternoon at 4:30 on both Comcast Cable and American Cablevision.

According to Kevin Conrad the newscast includes local, state, national and world news, as well as weather and sports reports.

Four students serve as on-air personalities for the show. Cindy Tague and Sally Couch are the news anchors. Scott Haney does the weather and Kevin Conrad does sports.

Although only four students are actually seen on the program each week, it takes about 15 people to produce the show. Several students put a great deal of time and effort into preparing for the show each week. The set has to be prepared, equipment has to be checked and scripts have to be prepared.

A number of people are included in the production process. Wilfred Tremblay is the faculty advisor for the show. Brian Whitman is the executive producer. Scott Haney is the producer. Steve Dabrowsky is the director. Jim Elliot is the technical director. Tammy Osborn is the floor director and Matt Trimmer, Pete Martin and Ramon Carrera are camera operators.

Sophomore Matt Trimmer thinks that the show is offering students a chance to get valuable experience. "It gives us the opportunity to work in a production atmosphere, and it gives us the advantage of learning how to handle the problems involved with putting on a show," said Trimmer.

Trimmer says that when the newscast first aired the crew experienced some problems. "Nobody knew what to expect," he said. "We had problems working together."

Both Trimmer and Conrad say that Indianapolis Report has improved over the course of the semester. "Everything runs pretty smooth now," said Trimmer.

Donate blood for life—beat Butler

By Elisa Bowen

Staff Writer

Give blood and win the "Top Dog Race for Life." Red signs, bearing this message, can be seen all over the U of I campus. It is time once again to compete with Butler to see which school can get the most blood donated. Last fall the Bulldogs beat us, both in football and in blood donations. We need to come from behind to be victorious this spring.

The blood drive will take place Tuesday, April 3, from 11 a.m.-7 p.m. in lower Schwitzer. The process will take donors less than an hour from start to finish.

Anyone desiring to give blood must fulfill a few requirements. The donor must be at least 17 years of age, in good health and weigh at least 110 pounds. Donors are asked to eat regular meals, especially breakfast. Blood may be donated every 56 days (8 times a year).

The process consists of three easy steps. First, there is a general health history interview. Next, a mini-physical takes place. During the physical, blood pressure, pulse rate, temperature and the red cell count will be checked. Finally, the donation takes place. It is important to know there is no way AIDS can be contracted through giving blood.

"We have to draw 500 or more units a day to keep up with needs," said Nancy Howell, Field Representative for the Central Indiana Regional Blood Center.

Your donation can help. Give blood and save a life.

IND. STATE AFRICAN VIOLET SOCIETY

The Indiana State African Violet Society will meet for their spring show at the Meridian Inn, 16 and Meridian Streets, Saturday April 7 from 4 p.m. until 5 p.m. It is open to the public. There is no admission charge. For more information contact Mrs. Roland Ector at (317)782-5931, Mrs. Judi Nuest at (219)766-2172 or Mrs. Robert Vollmer at (317)988-0063.

SPRING CONCERT

The U of I Concert band will present their spring concert April 6, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. Pieces by Chov, Bach, Smith, Scriabin, Weber, Holsinger, McClenny, Anderson and Webber will be performed by various artists. Admission to the concert is free. Anyone interested in participating with the concert band contact George Wetmer at (317)788-3255.

AIDS AWARENESS

Campus AIDS awareness is an important issue for college students to think about.

AIDS can be contracted whenever there is an exchange of bodily fluids, which include blood, semen, and vaginal fluid.

Saliva is a less risky fluid, because there is little blood in saliva. The amount of blood in saliva increases if a person has problems such as bleeding gums and even increases just after you brush your teeth.

Students should be aware of AIDS conditions during some everyday situations, such as a nosebleed.

When such situations occur, you should be very careful and avoid coming in contact with the fluid.

Mathioudakis shows by doing

By Ella Bowen
Staff Writer

Teaching by showing and showing by doing is the philosophy that Miki Mathioudakis, adjunct theatre professor, uses when teaching her courses.

After graduating from Ball State University with a BS in speech and theatre, Mathioudakis continued her education and received her masters from the Christian Theological Seminary. She is a licensed minister.

Why did Mathioudakis decide to teach?

"I want to open their eyes to this whole other world that so many of them are not familiar with," said Mathioudakis. She hopes that in the future students will take the opportunity to go to a theatre and see what is happening. Mathioudakis helps her students better understand the theatre by allowing them to act in class.

Besides teaching, Mathioudakis is also an actress and director. She has been in several plays around Indianapolis. Mathioudakis recently finished "Els Astrada" at Theatre on the Square. She is currently working on "Hello Dolly" in which she plays the lead, Dolly.

Other plays she has been a part of are "Your a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and "Snoopy" in which she played Lucy, and "Our Town" which was performed at the Civic Theatre.

Mathioudakis will soon be doing a one-woman show entitled "Mary Magdalene" at various places around the city. This show has been well-received by audiences of all ages. Photo courtesy of Miki Mathioudakis.

Interactive theatre group that she and a therapist started seven years ago. The group, Picture This, does small plays to groups and then opens the floor for discussion. Currently they are doing a play on AIDS education for at-risk adolescents in which Mathioudakis plays a 15-year-old girl who has to make a choice about sleeping with her boyfriend.

Her advice for those who are seeking a career as an actor or actress is to "do it."

"The important thing to know is that it is usually not a personal thing when you are not cast. Don't hold it against yourself. Audition as much as you can," said Mathioudakis, who tries to do at least three plays a year.

"I want to take a group of English speaking actors over to Greece to do Greek theatre in English on the ancient stages for tourists," said Mathioudakis. This is what she calls her dream. Until she is able to get the funding to go over seas, look for Mathioudakis around town when she is showing by doing.
Seminar offers opportunities to meet pros

By Kevin Conrad
Staff Writer

U of I Sports Information Director Joe Gentry, Journalism Professor Terri Johnson and Kevin Conrad, freshman communications major, hosted the Amateur Athletic Union James E. Sullivan Memorial Awards High School Journalism Seminar at the Westin Hotel last week.

The seminar was sponsored by Lilly Endowment, who paid expenses and covered the cost of cash awards to the high school students writing the best stories based on the press conference with Sullivan Awards finalists.

Winner of a first place award was Ron Povinelli, Cathedral High School. Second place winner was Chris Otto, Broad Ripple High School. Third place winner was Tom O’Conner, Brebeuf. As hosts, U of I organizers recruited former U of I Sports Information Director Chris Denari, now director of sports marketing and development for Butler University, Steve Woodward, Olympic reporter and writer for "USA Today," and radio and television sports reporter Tom Carnegie, former news director with Channel 6 news and Voice of the 500 for over 40 years. They presented information on how to cover the press conference and gave tips on interviewing, writing and reporting. Gentry and Johnson supervised the writing exercise and judged the entries.

This is the first year U of I has been involved in the program. Johnson noted that our new sports information major in the communications department makes this a very exciting program for U of I staff and students to be involved in and hopes more students will be able to attend and participate next year. U of I students help the high school students with interviewing, writing and reporting and get a first hand views of what a major nationally important news conference is all about.

In addition to "USA Today," several major national magazines and sports networks, and all local television and newspaper and sports reporters attended. The award honors the most outstanding amateur athlete in the previous year. This year eight of the ten nominees attended.

Two were competing in Europe. The winner, Janet Evans, a swimmer, also held a press conference after her honor was announced and the students got to also attend that.

Johnson noted how rare it is for any but the top sports reporters to ask questions of world class athletes, and particularly to mix along side sports reporters from local, statewide and national media. "This experience is a rare opportunity to see firsthand what it is like to be a reporter and to meet and mix with top athletes and sports writers. It is quite an honor to participate," said Johnson.

U of I office of admissions staffer, Bob Burchfield, provided packages of information, notepads, pens, and other material for the participants. AAU provided handouts on the awards and the athletes. Lilly En- dowment provided the dinner for all the participants and paid for the facilities use.

Lithuania, because according to the Kremlin, Lithuania is still part of the Soviet Union. But Lithuania says they have already left, therefore Soviet’s laws do not apply.

It looks like Gorbachev has put himself in a corner. He let the nationalist spirit build in Lithuania and it is too late to crush it (without military force). Lithuania has waited 50 years for their independence and there is no way they will stop now.

Gorbachev is trying desperately to hold onto his power. If Gorbachev loses Lithuania without a fight, chances are other republics such as Latvia and Estonia will follow. The Soviet Union, the largest country in the world, is on the brink of shrinking.

Many people, including Lithuania’s President Vytautas Landsbergis, feel the ghost of Stalinism is walking in the Kremlin. They feel Gorbachev is heading back toward dictatorial rule.

Gorbachev has done a terrific job of unclenching the fist of communism. He has given the people freedom that they have never had. But did he make these changes for the people? Or was it that the economy was struggling and the only way for him to stay in power was to give in to the people?

Does Gorbachev intend to give the people power? Or does he intend to use the people as a stepping stone to dictatorship? Is the ghost of Stalinism really walking in the Kremlin? You tell me.
Banquet honors winter athletes

By Elisa Bowen
Staff Writer

The Winter Athletic Buffet was held Mar. 14 in Schwitzer Dining Hall. The buffet signified the end of seven athletic seasons: wrestling, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's swimming and diving, cheerleading and crimson steppers.

U of I honored the achievements its winter athletes displayed. Heavyweight wrestler, sophomore Greg Mathews, competed in the NCAA Division II Nationals at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside. He received a bronze medal, the best ever, by a U of I grappler, which granted him All-American honors. Mathews also broke the school record for the most wins in a season (40-3).

The women's swimming and diving team sent seniors Michele Hathaway and Stacey Phillips to the NCAA II Nationals in Buffalo, New York.

Hathaway finished 13th in the 50 meter freestyle as she was selected to the All-America team. Phillips, a three-time national qualifier, finished 23rd in both the one meter and three meter dives.

The men's basketball team saw senior Gary Paul move into the 2,000 points club and claim the second spot on the school's all-time leading scorer charts. Paul was also selected to the first team All-Great Lakes Valley Conference. Jamie Whetstone, the team's other senior, Mathews was the MVP.

The captain of the men's basketball team was Paul. Whetstone received the KRMA Award and junior Kyle Perslinger was chosen MVP. Simkow was elected the captain and MVP of the women's basketball team. Sophomore Leah Ann Adams was the KRMA recipient.

Greyhounds blank Purdue Boilermakers

By Blake Walker
Sports Writer

The Greyhound baseball team under the direction of first-year Coach Mark Peterson is off to a 4-4 start.

The 'Hounds travelled to West Lafayette Wednesday to take on Purdue. They knocked off the Boilermakers 3-0. "Our confidence level should be increased after the Purdue game," said senior center fielder Todd Hottell.

Hottell has led the team in hitting for the past three years and is leading again this season with a .435 batting average. He also leads the team in home runs (two), RBIs (19), and slugging percentage (.782). The team captain also became the school's all-time doubles leader when he hit a two-bagger against Grand Valley State.

Men's Golf "fore"sees finals

By John Duffy
Guest Writer

Pay attention Indiana, Purdue, Notre Dame and Ball State to a new powerhouse emerging in Indiana. No, your baseball programs are not in jeopardy, but your golfers, they might get left on the putting green.

The men's golf team is currently vying for their second straight trip to the NCAA Division II Nationals. May 15-18, at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

With a 94-9-2 record the team's chances are looking good. They are currently ranked 10th in Div. II standings, the highest ranking ever for the men's golf team.

"This is definitely one of the top teams I have been associated with in my 23 years as head of this program," said Coach Ken Partridge. The team is led by captain and All-American Steve Krieger. Krieger leads the team with a 73.4 stroke average for eighteen holes.

"If the selection committee goes by numbers only, we should be a cinch," Krieger said.

"This team has a nice blend of youth and experience," Partridge said.

Juniors Todd Clark and Mike Moxingo bring three years of varsity experience.

"This team won its third consecutive Great Lakes Valley Conference Championship in the fall (a school record) and should break the school record for wins. They definitely deserve their ranking."

Rounding out the starting five is Kyle Brunnemer (soph) and Scott Richardson (fresh).

Men’s Track

The men’s track team won on March 20, 115-41, over Vincennes. Brian Burkhard (hammer throw) qualified for nationals. First place finishers were: Brett Burkard (shot put and javelin), Sam Kozma (200 and 400m), Jeff Commont (110H hurdles), Matt Furthmiller (Discus), Eric Davis (Triple Jump), and Ron Byers (5000m). U of I also took first in the 400 and mile relays.

Women’s Track

The Lady track team opened their season with an 88-56 triumph over Vincennes. Leah Ann Adams (high jump) and Share Edwards (600m), and 1500 meter runs), Nancy Mahan (100 meter hurdles), Suzy Parke (400 meter hurdles), Suzy Parke (400 meter hurdles), Suzanne Walker (400 meter run), and Jenea Field (5000 meter run) were individual victors.

Men’s Tennis

The men’s tennis team smashed IPFW Wayne 8-1 Sunday. Single winners were: Paul Buck, Smallsiysoy, Jeff Conrad, John Venter, Marc Hamm and Phil Knust. Lysysoy and Conrad won at number one doubles and Venter and Hamm won at number two doubles.

As a whole we played really well,” said first-year Head Coach Joe Gentry. “Our freshmen also played especially well today.”

The team is 2-2 overall and 1-0 in the GLVC.

Women’s Softball

Sunday the softball team won two against defending GLVC champs, Kentucky Wesleyan, 10-0 and 4-0.

Tricia Neely spun a one-hitter in the first game. Cherrie Berndt picked up the victory in the nightcap as she tossed a three-hitter.

Kathy Miller, Julie Josefovsky, Cindy Simko and Ginette Dunn had the only extra-base hits on the day as they all stroked a double apiece.

On March 13th they lost two to Indiana State.

They face IPFW on Wednesday.

Bulimia Nervosa. Some people try so hard to control their weight, they lose control.

It's a disease that often goes undetected, because the symptoms are usually kept well hidden—and for good reason. Bulimia is characterized by an obsession with diet and body image, as well as an ugly binge pattern. What starts as a strong desire to lose weight can ultimately end up in a deadly cycle of overeating and vomiting. Its victims are out of control. At Winona, we offer the professional help and care a person needs to break the cycle and take control of her life. If you, or someone you know shows signs of an eating disorder—call us. There's nothing beautiful about watching your life go down the toilet.
