Tyson's prosecutor holds high profile background

By Sarah Myers
Editor-in-Chief

When it comes to picking the best man for the job, Marion County Prosecutor Jeffrey Modisett made the right choice when he asked private attorney J. Gregory Garrison to assist in representing the state of Indiana in the court case against heavyweight champion boxer Mike Tyson.

Tyson, 25, is charged with one count of criminal confinement, one count of rape, and two counts of criminal deviate conduct. The woman he allegedly attacked was an 18-year-old contestant in the Miss Black America pageant. She claims that Tyson raped her in his room at the Canterbury Hotel in downtown Indianapolis on July 19. Tyson was in Indianapolis helping to promote Indiana Black Expo.

The trial is set for January 27, 1992, at Criminal Court 4 in Indianapolis. If convicted on all charges, Tyson could face up to 63 years in prison.

Garrison, who has been in prosecution since 1972, has participated in several high profile cases and has never lost one. One of his past cases was a capital murder case. For example, he prosecuted the man who killed the pharmacist at Brach's pharmacy in 1978.

Garrison is accustomed to dealing these types of cases which have intense coverage by the press which is another reason why he was chosen to participate in Tyson's trial.

"The media coverage for this case was awfully intense at first, but it was unavoidable due to the type of case it is and the people involved," said Garrison. "I hope we don't have a carnival atmosphere surrounding the actual trial."

It may seem difficult to prove rape cases, but in all general sex crime cases, there is direct evidence, circumstantial evidence, and scientific evidence which can lead to conviction, according to Garrison. Direct evidence is that which the witnesses can testify to upon their own observations. "It's like someone saying, 'I saw Smith shoot Jones twice,'" said Garrison.

Circumstantial evidence involves witnessing the event after it occurred. "This would occur if the witness heard two gun shots and looked up to see Smith with a gun in his hand standing over Jones' dead body. Scientific evidence includes all laboratory-type work performed, such as blood work or physical examinations.

"I am very honored to have been invited to participate in this specific case," said Garrison.

Tyson's attorneys include Indianapolis attorney James Voyles and Washington D.C. attorney Vincent Fuller, who defended John Hinkley, Jr., in the attempted assassination trial of former President Ronald Reagan.

Last week Tyson's attorney asked a judge to dismiss rape and sexual deviate conduct charges against Tyson. It is not unusual for these types of motions to be filed on broad issues, according to Rob Smith, spokesman for Modisett in the Nov. 8 issue of The Indianapolis Star. More than likely, all indictments will stand.

WICR 88.7 FM much more than a campus station

By Jason Schwendenmann
Photographer & Staff Writer

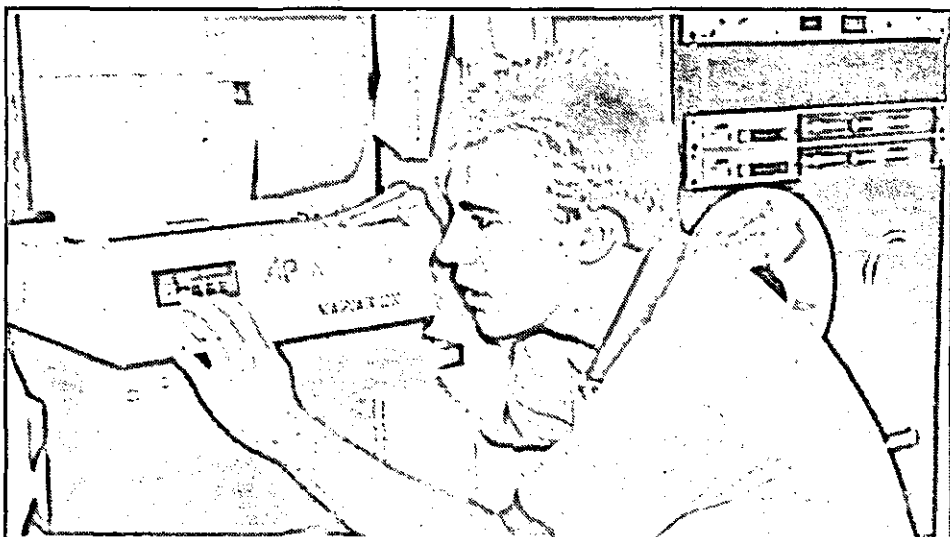

WICR is more than a campus radio station. Its messages are broadcasted to a 50 mile area surrounding Indianapolis and 20,000 listeners each week support the station through Fine Arts programming to the tune of $120,000. Most of the University's students are unaware of the operation and versatility of WICR 88.7 FM. Many of the opinion views expressed in the opinion poll show this.

The first thing that must be made clear is that WICR is a public radio station and therefore must gear its programming towards the public listening audience who support the station. The Fine Arts Society (FAS) of Indianapolis raises this $100,000 through underwriting as well as on-the-air fundraising. This pays for the First and Second Programs as well as other FAS and American Public Radio programming. The students work at the radio station for credit and for stipends during the school year on time supported by $110,000 from the University.

Ed Roehling, WICR general manager, mentioned that the talent the students show is excellent and the incoming freshmen this year are some of the best he has come in contact with due to their high school experience. Student management includes Jason Heath, Operations Manager, Elisa Bowen, News Director, Angel Sherry, Music Director, Kevin Conrad, Sports Director, Brian Sheehan, Underwriting Director.

Minimal social activities cause concern

I realize that this is a small college, but I am saddened by the fact that everyone calls this place a "suitcase college." No one sticks around on the weekends if they can possibly find a chance to leave. As editor of this newspaper, I have a lot of students ask me what can be done to keep students on campus.

I just recently visited Western Illinois University which is four and a half hours away. There's a big difference in the size of U of I and WIU, but that shouldn't stand in the way of holding events here on campus. WIU has over 16,000 students, but I can still make a very valid comparison. I stayed there the entire weekend and I had a blast.

On Friday night, I went to the Rocky Horror Picture Show in a place called the Union Building which is somewhat similar to Schwitzer Center except it's built on a much bigger and better scale. It only cost a dollar to get in and I have never had an experience that could even compare to this one.

On Saturday night, I went back to the Union Building to see Pink Floyd: The Wall which only cost a dollar to see, too.

Why can't U of I show movies like these two in the Auditorium? I realize that The Rocky Horror Picture Show can get a little messy, so maybe it could be held in the basement of Schwitzer on the cement ground. I was a freshman the first time I saw Rocky Horror for the first time and it was held off campus, of course. The campus newspaper even ran a small ad explaining what item to throw every time certain actors participated in certain events.

I know that purchasing the video tape for public use costs money, but isn't that the reason a small admission fee is charged at the door? I think anyone would pay a dollar to throw rice and toilet paper and be allowed one evening of absolute craziness on the campus of U of I. OK, so charge two dollars to make up for the mess that must be cleaned up after the movie is over.

U of I shows movies like Silence of the Lambs which is alright except for the fact that the movie was shown on a week night. It's the weekend which must be spiced up in order for students to appreciate the social aspect of this university.

I had an idea suggested to me just the other day that I think would go over well on this campus due to the fact that this campus is very small and students generally know each other. All the "class clowns" on campus (and the students know who they are) should get together some weekend and each take turns being a stand-up comedian. Admission could even be charged for this. Judges, such as faculty members, could be present to award prizes to the best comedians. I know a lot of students that would stick around to see that.

If any of students have suggestions on what other activities could be held to promote the betterment of weekend social activities, I hope they either write or mention something to me about what can be done. If enough of us voice our concerns, the administration will stand up and hear us. Complaining that weekends are boring will get us nowhere. Let's get some activities started. Just do it!

CAMPUS VOICES

What would make you more apt to listen to WICR?

José Zapata, Senior, Physical Education

"I would like to hear more reggae like Bob Marley and Peter Tosh. I also wish there was more Spanish programming."

Andrew Stevens, Sophomore, Education

"I wish they would play a wider variety of music that's upbeat instead of so much classical music. They should have interviews with special musical guests, too."

Hiromi Otake, Freshman, Art

"I wish they would play good music like songs that have meaning and a good beat."

Aaron Rinehart, Sophomore, Sports Information

"They need more student broadcasts after 4 p.m. because most students are still in class before 4 p.m. Better reception of the station would be nice, too."

Gary Ferguson, Junior, Education

Health Corner

Are you at risk for AIDS?

By Lynn Petty, RN
University Nurse

"I thought this would never happen to me." I just heard Earvin "Magic" Johnson tell the world that he is HIV positive. He does not have AIDS, but he has tested positive for the antibodies to the virus that causes AIDS. This virus can, at some point in the future, be responsible for a full-blown case of AIDS.

Magic Johnson has retired from playing professional basketball for the LA Lakers, and now wishes to be a spokesperson for AIDS/HIV. It was on his physician's advice that he retire, as the vigors of being a professional athlete are too hard on his immune system; the system that the virus attacks. He now wants the world to know that they too are at risk. Are you?

Do you know what the risks are? Have you ever had unprotected sex? Then you are at risk. Do you abuse IV drugs or have unprotected sex with someone who does? Do you have multiple sex partners (either homosexual or heterosexual)? These behaviors put you at risk.

Casual contact cannot spread the AIDS virus. It is not spread by: hugging, hand shaking, bathroom facilities, swimming pools or dishes, utensils, or food handled by a person with AIDS. You cannot get AIDS by donating blood.

If you would like more information, please stop by my office or call the AIDS Hotline at 543-6200. For anonymous testing, call 630-8767 or Planned Parenthood at 788-0396.

Not knowing what the risks are put you at risk. Not changing old behaviors when you know the risks will put you at even greater risk.

A person can be HIV positive and not know it; they can pass this virus unknowingly to others. Magic and his wife face many difficult decisions. They must use condoms, (even for oral sex); no anal sex; they must decide about children. (Editor's Note: The recent announcement that his wife is pregnant was followed with the word that both the mother and the unborn child tested negative.) His wife will probably undergo on-going testing to see if she continues to test negative. Just being HIV positive means lifestyle changes.

Bottom line — abstain from sexual intercourse. If you can't, then make sex as safe as possible. Use latex condoms which contain the spermicide nonoxynol-9, and know how to properly use condoms. These condoms are available in the Health Center. Any student who even thinks they may say yes to sex should have a condom and use that condom. Condoms not only protect against the AIDS virus, but can protect you from Hepatitis-B, Chlamydia, Gonorrhea, Syphilis, HPV, Trichomonas and Herpes. Watch for upcoming articles about these sexually-transmitted diseases (STDs).

Do what Magic now says, "Have safe sex."

VIS offers volunteer opportunities for students

By J.D. Hamilton
Staff Writer

The Volunteers In Service (VIS) program here at the university has many opportunities for students to get involved in different agencies for the upcoming holiday season. This program sponsored by the Office of Community Services is widely publicized around the campus. Over 40 students and staff attended the VIS Day earlier this fall.

Participants received an overview of VIS and brief presentations by agency directors who told of the purpose of their agencies at a Volunteer Fair. Tables were staffed by agency representatives who displayed brochures and volunteer job descriptions. Some of the agencies included Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Indianapolis, Department of Parks and Recreation and the newly created Service Into The Streets, along with many others.

Some of the opportunities that students have in the coming weeks include Christmas bell-ringers for the Salvation Army. Ringers are needed for Nov. 25 at Greenwood Park Mall and the Marsh Supermarket located at the intersection of Hanna and Madison Avenues.

A food collection to benefit Health Net (Barrington Heights), Shepherd Community Center and Citizens Multi-Services Center will be Nov. 15-24 during the University's theatre department production of Grapes of Wrath. Also, many boxes will be placed around campus to benefit this cause.

Employees in the Office of Community Services at 788-3303 can provide more information about VIS.

Grapes of Wrath

The journey approaches completion

By Daryl Lee Ewick
Feature Editor

The director reads a letter to prospective cast members inviting them on a journey, "a journey that will take us as far back as the Jewish exile and the depression of the 1930s and bring us through the fall of the Berlin Wall and the dramatic changes in the Soviet Union." That was the beginning. A nervous cast, technical crew, and production staff work till all hours of the morning to pull off the show. That's the beginning of the completion.

John Steinbeck's novel The Grapes of Wrath is the basis for the second production of the U of I theatre department. The show was adapted for the stage by Frank Galati and won the 1990 Tony Award.

U of I's production includes over 40 actors from the campus and local community as well as a river as part of the set.

ravaged home for the promised land in California. Along the way, they face many obstacles.

However, the basic message of the show is one of the triumph of the human spirit. Todd Jones, the actor playing Tom Joad, quotes from The Bible, "The meek shall inherit the earth."

A pivotal scene in the show occurs when the migrants start to riot for better wages.

"I think that scene is important because it shows there is only so much that a human being can take and there's only so low that the human spirit can sink before it starts to strike back," said Julie Brinson, a cast member.

Many might assume that a show set in the great depression would be outdated, but as Alice Larson, another cast member, states, "I don't think any play that deals with the minorities' battle against an unjust society is ever outdated."

"There will always be the oppressed. Today, it's the homeless, the downtrodden, the street people. Tomorrow it could be you; so never forget those who are less fortunate than you," said Jones.

As an effort to reach out to the less fortunate, the cast and crew of Grapes, along with Volunteers in Service (VIS) are encouraging audience members to bring canned goods to performances. The goods will later be given to local charities to distribute.

The Grapes of Wrath will run from Nov. 15-17 and Nov. 22-24. Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8 p.m. Sunday matinees start at 3 p.m.

Tickets for The Grapes of Wrath can be obtained from the box office in Ransburg Auditorium. Box office hours are from 12:30 to 4 p.m. on Monday through Friday. The office will be open one hour prior to each performance. For reservations call 788-3251.

Located in Buxton Hall, the state-of-the-art studios include a paperless, computerized AP news room. John Lyzott is the chief engineer. FAS has several full-time staff members as well as on-the-air talent.

The tower is located in Pike Township and one of the weakest broadcasting zones because of the "shadow" of downtown buildings is, sadly enough, our campus, according to Roehling.

Student programming from 12:30 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, "Spanning the Decades," is a call-in show. Student DJs will play anything requested that is available within the format. Other student programs include all football, men's and women's basketball and baseball games. Students do a regular sports discussion program weekly. Sunday morning experimental student programming offers opportunities for students to air special programs like new age, heavy metal and other non-traditional music programs.

In addition, a talk program called "Conversations" weekly discusses topics of local, national and international interest. Other programs include British Broadcasting news programs, American Public Radio shows, USA Radio Network feeds, Indiana Today and other locally produced programs. This broad-based format is called Block Programming which includes a wider variety of offerings than most commercial stations.

1992 marks the 30th anniversary of WICR. The Feb. 7 celebration will include an open house at the station, a dinner at the Holidome and use of the Mozart-painted FAS sponsored bus to carry visitors and others to the dinner. The celebration is open to all interested persons.

Since the age of nine, LL has been interested in rap with a string of solid hits behind him. He recorded his first 12" in 1984 which was entitled, "I need a beat." Since then he has consistently cranked out rap records with rhyme, rhythm and reason.

His second LP, Bigger and Deffer, sold three million copies while LL was still a teenager. He made an appearance on Saturday Night Live due to the new stardom of his album, and was even named one of the "Ten Sexiest Men" in rock and roll by Playgirl.

LL has won 10 Soul Train Music Awards and was nominated for two American Music Awards and five New York Music Awards, winning the Top Rap Act category.

To top it all off, L.L. also led a "Just say No" To Drugs Concert in New York City's historic Radio Music Hall at the request of then First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Cross country finishes strong

By J.D. Hamilton
Staff Writer

The men's and women's cross country teams finished sixth and 10th of 22 teams at the NCAA Division II Regional at Southern-Illinois at Edwardsville.

The men overcame a course "that was the tougher than any course we have ever run before," said senior Mike Oppy. "It was unbelievable with snow mixed with mud on the ground to go along with the course design."

The men's sixth place finish was the team's best-ever in the regional.

"This is the best team ever put together in my years here at U of I," said Coach Tom Hathaway. "The guys just ran a great race."

Junior Chris Johnson saved the best for last by finishing ninth which enabled him to be named to the all-region team and a candidate for Academic All-American.

Oppy ran to a 25th place-finish. Followed by sophomores Mark Logan (30th), Dan Richwine (41st) and Mike Zimmerman. Oppy was the lone senior leader of the 66-24 harriers.

"This was the last collegiate race that I take place in," said Oppy, "and it ended on a great note because I helped put the best team together ever here at U of I."

The women also finished with a school-best record with a 78-12 mark, despite running Saturday without junior Michelle Faulkner and freshman Beth Walter Sophomore Missy Mahnesmith led the lady greyhounds with a 33rd place despite having the flu earlier in the week. Senior Jenny Klehm finished (39th), junior Tammy Baker (50th) and freshmen Tracy Smith (55th) and Jenny Greenlee (59th).

Oppy and Klehm, the two seniors who ran Saturday are "Great leaders as well as great runners and they will be missed," said Hathaway.

Oppy, a Crawfordsville (Southmount High School) native and Klehm, a former Carmel Greyhound, began their careers together at Vincennes University prior to their two-year tenure for U of I.

Swim team drowns Butler

By Jason Schwendenmann
Staff Writer

The U of I swim team played host to Butler last Saturday. The women's team continued their winning tradition against Butler by defeating the Bulldogs 121-109.

"It was the greatest win that the women's team has ever had," said Coach Seemann Baugh. "It showed the outstanding effort and potential of the swimmers."

The women's team dominated Butler by winning 8 out of 13 events.

Senior Linda Jongkind beat her best time by three seconds and took first in the 200 meter freestyle. She started the rally that brought the team back from a 25 point deficit.

Sophomore Jenny Double had three personal records, a 2:26.5 in the 200 individual medley, 1:07.5 in the 100 breast stroke (three tenths of a second shy of the school record) and a 59.8 in the 400 freestyle relay.

Sophomore Kristi Hamilton won the 200 individual medley, the 100 breast stroke and the butterfly.

Going into the meet last Saturday, the U of I diver's knew they had to go after the Butler diver's and that is just what they did.

Junior Susan Scheffler took second on the 1 meter board and on her first time ever on the 3 meter placed third. Sophomore Shannon Maxwell had a personal record of 198.30 and took third in the 1 meter dive.

The men's team also was victorious with a score of 133 to Butler's 82. Sophomore Kirk Wright set a personal record and placed first in the 100 breast stroke with a time of 1:01.9. Wright also won the 100 butterfly and placed second in the 50 meter free style. Other first place finishers where Sean Dwyer in the 200 individual medley with a personal record of 2:03.23 and Tarik Albert in both diving events. Albert also set a personal record of 188.78. Second place finishers were Doug Dejong in the 100 meter breast stroke with a personal record of 1:02.08 and Junior Captain Jon Dills placed second in both the 100 and 200 meter free style. Baugh said "Jon really did a good job of motivating the team." Baugh also mentioned three freshman and their efforts: Rick Fee, Joel Rea, John Voelker. "They are really working hard and add a lot to the team," added Baugh.

On Nov. 2 Baugh's swimmers were not so fortunate in a quadrangular meet at home. The men's team placed second losing only to Milwaukee.

Greyhounds fall to Ashland, wrap up season

By Zach Bolinger
Staff Writer

The Greyhound football squad went into Saturday's game looking to upset the Ashland Eagles, the nation's 16th-ranked NCAA Division II team, at Key Stadium.

The upset bid looked good for a while, but Ashland eventually overpowered U of I for a 21-7 victory to drop Indianapolis to 2-8 for the season. The Greyhounds ended the season with seven consecutive losses to finish with their worst record since 1969.

The opening kickoff gave hope to the Greyhound fans as sophomore Mike Gillock returned the kick a career-high 87 yards for a touchdown to give U of I the 7-0 lead. After the Gillock touchdown and an extra point kick by senior Mike Mozingo, it was all Ashland.

The Eagles tied up the score on a 56-yard pass from Marcus Lee to a wide open Vince Kinney. The remainder of the first half was a defensive battle as neither team could manage any points.

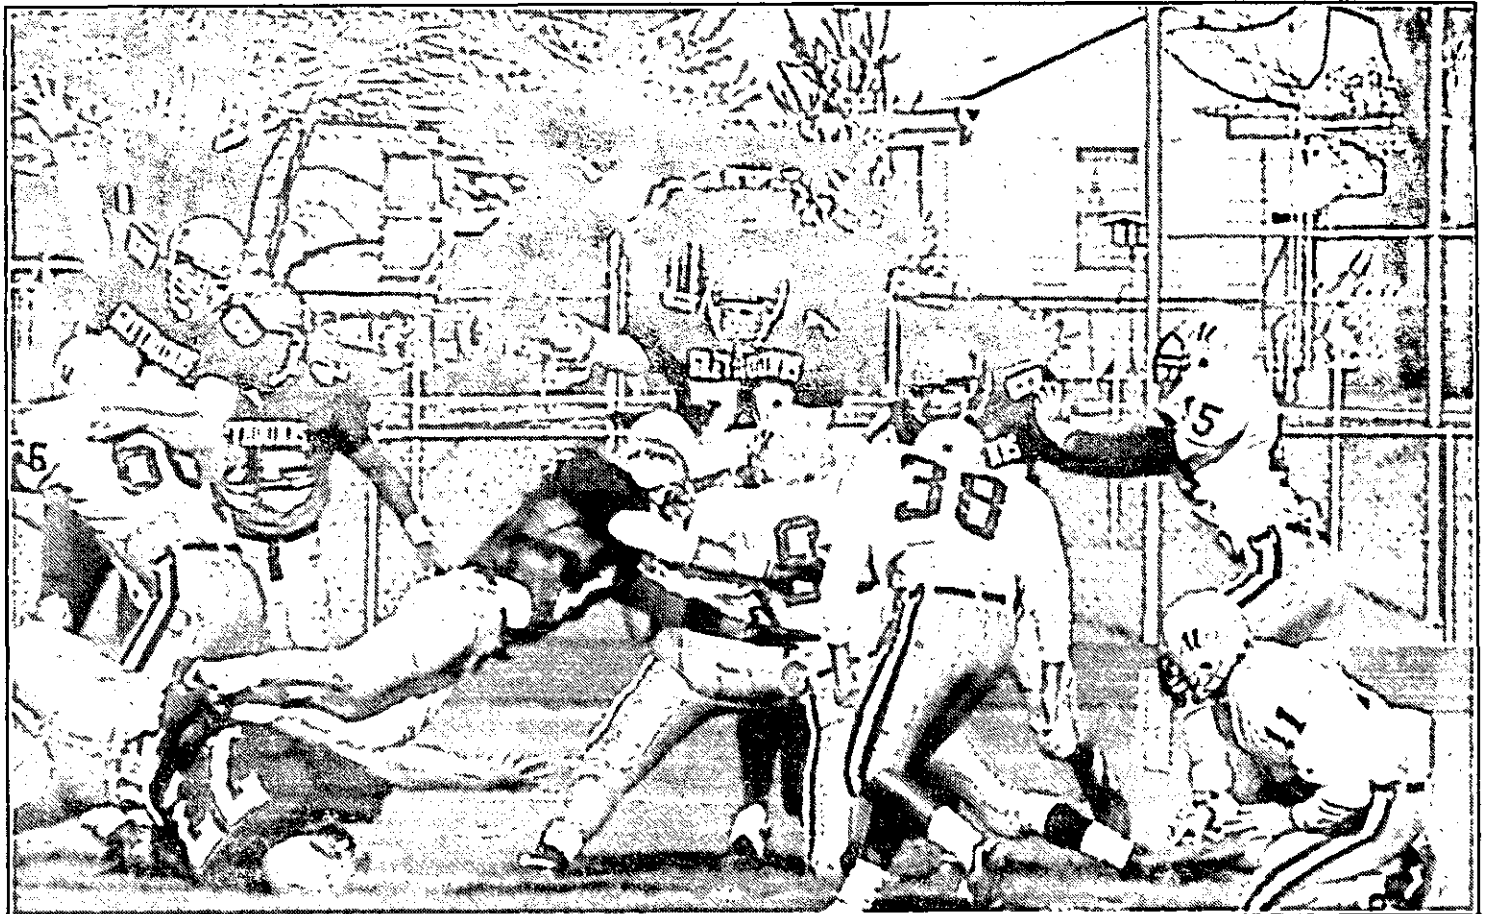

Senior Greg Matheis was continually in the Eagle backfield to pressure the quarterback Lee. With under two minutes left in the first half, the Eagles threatened to score but senior free safety Johnnie Stewart broke up two passes, one in the end zone.

On fourth down, the Eagle's field goal attempt was blocked by senior Rodney Latham. The block marked Latham's fifth of the season and ninth in two years.

The third quarter belonged to the Eagles as they scored 14 points in the stanza. In nine plays, the Eagles drove 62 yards and scored on a seven-yard run by Marco Manocchio to push the score to 14-7. Another seven-yard run by Tom Shiban finalized the score at 21-7 to give Ashland the victory.

The Greyhounds finished 10th in the 11-team Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference. The two U of I victories came against Wayne State (35-13) and Saint Joseph's (28-10). After that victory, the Hounds offense managed only 46 points in its last seven games.

After his 39th consecutive start, Matheis tallied the team lead in tackle points, solo tackles, total tackles, sacks, tackles for minus yards, fumble recoveries and quarterback pressures.

Senior Rodney Latham #11 blocks an Ashland field goal on Senior Day. This was Latham's ninth block of his two year career as a Greyhound.

Matheis' 327 career tackles and 23 career sacks rank him ninth and fifth in school history.

Prior to Saturday, senior quarterback Mark Shepler, who was unable to play Saturday due to injury, ranked fourth in the MIFC in total offense with 134.5 yards, and seventh in passing efficiency at 92.3. Shepler completed 55 of 134 passes for 851 yards, 4 TDs and 8 interceptions. The starting signal-caller has also gained 424 yards on 116 carries on the ground.

Shepler finished with 10 passing touchdowns, 101 completions and 1,534 yards in passing yardage for his career. He ranks 10th on U of I's all-time list in all three categories.

Junior Josh Werling led the Greyhound receivers with 23 receptions, 299 yards and 2 TDs. Senior tightend Larry Wiley has caught a career-best with 20 reception for 236 yards. Wiley has 42 receptions for 600 yards in his career.

Gillock and Werling are tops in the league in punt returns. Gillock has compiled 12 returns for 137 yards and an 11.4 average. Werling has totalled 23 for 196 yards, an 8.5 average.

By allowing averages of 4.3 yards in punt returns and 13.7 yards in kickoff returns, the team set the MIFC records in both categories.
